ON THE COVER

Featured on the cover of the 2004 Denver Broncos media guide is an artistic rendering by Denver artist Jay Snellgrove. The cover is a celebration of quarterback John Elway, who is being inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2004. Elway becomes the first player to be enshrined into the Hall of Fame after having played his entire career as a member of the Denver Broncos. Snellgrove's work is done in pointillism, which is an impressionistic technique begun in France in the 19th century. Jay Snellgrove also did the 1996 Broncos media guide cover.

The Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre

On March 5, 1990, the Denver Broncos moved into the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre, the state-of-the-art headquarters for the National Football League team. The complex is named for the Broncos owner's late father and is the culmination of Pat Bowlen's desire to maximize a positive working environment for his team, which won back-to-back World Championships with victories in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII. This past offseason, the Broncos completed a $4 million renovation and expansion project, upgrading the facility to make it one of the premier complexes in all of professional sports. The construction project includes:

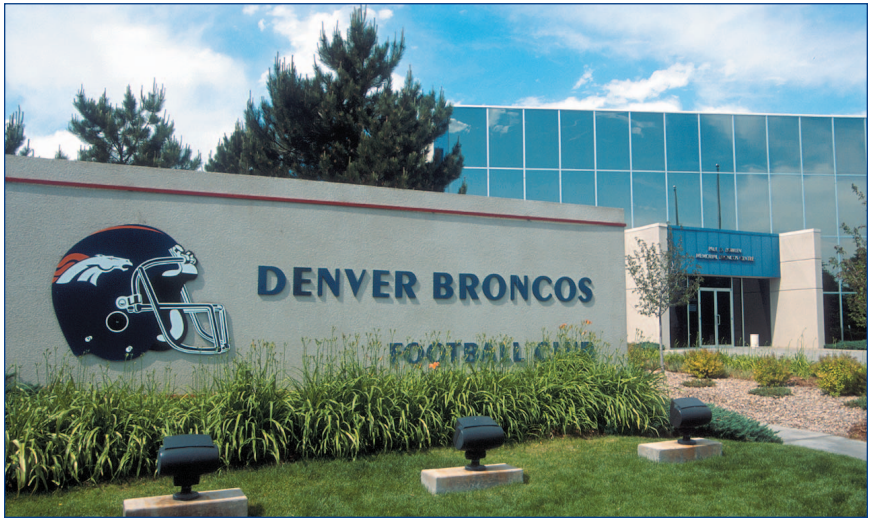
- The Broncos Conditioning Center, which houses the team's weight room and an indoor conditioning area, along with a new home for the field-maintenance departments. The weight room is nearly three times the size of the previous one at approximately 9,000 square feet, which gives the Broncos one of the most comfortable strength-and-conditioning environments in professional sports. The indoor conditioning area—covered with FieldTurf™, which the team uses on one of its three outdoor practice fields—spans approximately 18,000 square feet.
- A training room that increased in size, with additional hot and cold tubs for players' use.
- A cafeteria that seats approximately 120, allowing for the team to conveniently handle the food-service needs of players, coaches and staff during training camp and throughout the year. The cafeteria is part of the existing building, taking over the space previously occupied by the weight room.

The Broncos' facility—situated on 13.5 acres in the rapidly expanding Dove Valley Business Park in south Arapahoe County—also includes an administrative building and three full-size practice fields to go along with the Conditioning Center.

The Bowlen Broncos Centre is a two-story building totaling 90,000 square feet, well over three times the size of the team's previous facility. The ground floor houses the main entry, visitor's area, trophy display area and media room, in addition to the football-related facilities, which encompass the locker room, meeting rooms, training area, weight room, equipment room and video department.

It is on the second level, which is accessible through two stairways adjacent to the lobby area, that most of the administrative offices are located. These include the offices for Pat Bowlen, Mike Shanahan, Ted Sundquist and Joe Ellis, as well as those of all assistant coaches and football operations personnel. The second floor is divided into one wing for administrative offices and another for coaches and player personnel. The Broncos' extensive computer operation also is located on the second floor. The Bowlen Centre also includes a separate building that houses two racquetball courts for training and leisure use by players and staff members, as well as a team store.

There is ample practice space available for use by the Broncos on the three fields, two with natural grass surfaces and one with FieldTurf™, completed in June 2003. FieldTurf™ is a synthetic blade surface with a rubber and sand infill. One of the two grass fields has a unique design system that includes underground wiring to prevent the turf from freezing and thus allows the Broncos to practice year-round on unfrozen natural grass.



Pat Bowlen

President and CEO

Pat Bowlen in 2004 begins his 21st year as the President and CEO of the Denver Broncos, presiding over a franchise that is one of the crown jewels among National Football League clubs, whether judged by the measure of wins and championships, attendance, national television exposure or by his and his team's reputation locally and throughout the NFL.

Mr. Bowlen is the only two-decade owner of a pro sports team in Denver history. His stewardship of the franchise that serves as the soul of the city, and the state of Colorado, is marked by team achievement and personal success.

The Denver Broncos have grown from being Denver's first major league franchise in 1960 to Colorado's state religion, and Mr. Bowlen wants to continue that fervor for the coming season. His focus for 2004 is once again to have the Denver Broncos win a world championship.

The Broncos' president and CEO has fashioned a powerful reputation among his peers as a bold, dynamic leader who is single-minded in his pursuit of excellence, whether representing the Broncos, the city of Denver, the state of Colorado or the National Football League.

For many years, Mr. Bowlen's reputation as an outstanding owner has been well known nationally. In 1987, he finished second in the Sporting News' Executive of the Year balloting. In December 2000, ESPN conducted a fan poll asking which NFL owner would be the best for which to play. Mr. Bowlen finished first among all NFL owners with 44.7 percent of the more than 60,000 votes cast. Mr. Bowlen has been well respected for many years by fans, players, coaches, his peers and NFL executives.

Mr. Bowlen presides over a franchise that by any standard has been one of the NFL's most successful in his over two decades of club ownership (1984-2004). The Broncos are at the pinnacle of sports franchises by any definition.

Pat Bowlen was introduced as the majority owner of the Denver Broncos on March 23, 1984 and that announcement triggered a new era in franchise history. Mr. Bowlen and the Bowlen family acquired 100 percent ownership of the Broncos in July 1985, and currently his brother John Bowlen owns a minority interest in the Broncos.

Mr. Bowlen immediately put his own mark on the Broncos, establishing a solid administration and creating a positive atmosphere that was a major factor in the team's success both on and off the field.

Champions are built from the top and Pat Bowlen is a model of leadership in the scope of his drive and commitment. "I want us to be number one in everything," Mr. Bowlen has often said in a recurring theme that marks his management style. Everyone knows that it is the owner who provides the financial backing that is integral to a championship team, but many fans are unaware that much of the heart, soul and drive of this championship organization comes directly from Pat Bowlen.

He has made all his managerial moves with one goal in mind—to aggressively position the Denver Broncos for another run at a Super Bowl championship. No one sets higher standards for the Broncos than Pat Bowlen himself, whose goals have always been to have his franchise regarded as among the finest in pro sports with victory being the measuring stick for that success. Thus, the goal of this dynamic and energetic chief executive remains firmly set on repeating the World Championship seasons of 1997 and 1998.

Below is a chronology of the Denver Broncos success during Mr. Bowlen's ownership (1984-2004):

- The Denver Broncos won back-to-back World Championships in 1998 (Super Bowl XXXII vs. the Green Bay Packers 31-24) and 1999 (Super Bowl XXXIII vs. the Atlanta Falcons 34-19).
- Denver became the sixth NFL franchise to win back to back Super Bowls, joining Green Bay, Miami, Pittsburgh (twice), San Francisco and Dallas. The Broncos became the first AFC team to do it in two decades.
- The Broncos own AFC Championships under Pat Bowlen in 1986, 1987, 1989, 1997, and 1998.
- The Broncos have had the best home record in pro football over the past 30 years.
- The Broncos won a record seven postseason games in a two-year period (1997-1998).

- The Broncos had a record 33 wins over a two-year period (1997-1998).
- The Broncos had a record 46 wins over a three-year period (1996-1998).
- The Broncos became the second team in modern NFL history to go undefeated during regular season play at home for three consecutive seasons (1996-1998).
- His 1997-1998 teams performed the astonishing feat of going an entire calendar year without a defeat (12/15/97-12/13/98), a league record 18 consecutive wins.
- In 1998, Denver won a franchise record 17 games, 14 in the regular season, including a 13-0 start that resulted in Denver going an entire calendar year without a loss.
- The Broncos have dominated the AFC Western Division by posting more division titles (7), conference Championship Game appearances (6), and Super Bowl appearances (5) than any other club in the division.
- Under Mr. Bowlen's leadership, the Broncos have had 11 playoff appearances and just two losing seasons.
- Denver was the only AFC franchise to make three Super Bowl appearances in the 1980s.
- In addition to winning seven division titles, Mr. Bowlen's franchise has had regular season win totals of 14, 13 (twice), 12 (twice), 11 (four times), and 10 (twice). Eleven of the 12 best years in team history have come during Mr. Bowlen's ownership.
- When the Broncos won Super Bowl XXXII, they were the first AFC team to win in 14 years and just the second wild card to win a Super Bowl under the NFL's present playoff system.

Pat Bowlen also has enjoyed tremendous off the field success as well.

- In Mr. Bowlen's 20 years of ownership, the Broncos have played 22 postseason games, all of which have been sold out.
- The Broncos have had a string of home sellouts for 35 consecutive years, longest in the AFC and second only to Washington in the NFC.
- The home game sellout streak is now at 274 consecutive regular and postseason games through 2003.
- Denver has led the NFL in attendance during that 20-year period. The Broncos have drawn nearly 14 million fans to their home games from 1984-2003, highest in the NFL.
- Mr. Bowlen ushered in a new era in Denver Broncos football history in 2001 when the state-of-the-art INVESCO Field at Mile High opened. Mr. Bowlen contributed more than $150 million to the construction of the new stadium.
- Mr. Bowlen has worked closely with Head Coach Mike Shanahan in maintaining the Broncos' roster in the era of free agency, which has resulted in unprecedented player stability.
- In addition with his role with the Broncos, Mr. Bowlen was a key figure in securing the league's labor and TV contracts. He is currently Chair of the prestigious NFL Broadcasting Committee and is a member of both the NFL Compensation Committee and the NFL Finance Committee. He also serves on the NFL Diversity Committee and the NFL Ventures Committee.
- In his current role as Chair of the NFL Broadcast Committee, Mr. Bowlen was responsible for the negotiations on the NFL's $18 billion TV contract, the most lucrative single-sport contact in history.
- He was responsible for the Broncos' headquarters, the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Centre, a 90,000-square-foot modern office and training facility located on the team's 13.5 acre complex in Dove Valley, Arapahoe County. The facility is named after Pat Bowlen's father. The Broncos moved into the new facility on March 5, 1990. This offseason, an extensive remodeling and expansion plan was implemented, assuring that the team headquarters would remain at the top level of NFL training facilities.

Pat Bowlen was born in Praire du Chien, Wis., where he attended high school. He went on to the University of Oklahoma, earning degrees in both business (1965) and law (1968). After successful careers in oil, gas and real estate, he purchased the Denver Broncos in 1984.

He is president of the Denver Broncos' Charities Fund, and in that capacity, has donated more than $22 million to charitable organizations in the Denver area since the inception of that fund in 1993. Mr. Bowlen served as the Honorary Chairman of the Colorado Special Olympics for 19 years and was the organization's Outstanding Celebrity in 1993. Mr. Bowlen has served as the Honorary Chairman of the Colorado Family Classic to benefit St. Joseph's Hospital for 20 years and this is his ninth year as Chairman of the Capuchin Friars fund-raising dinner. He also chaired the 1989 Centennial Scholarship rally at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley and was Co-Chairman of the Rose Medical Center Critical Care Campaign from 1986-89.

In addition, Mr. Bowlen was elected to the University of Denver Board of Trustees in 1987. He is currently a member of the DU audit committee. His previous DU committee memberships include the Institutional Advancement Committee and Institutional Advancement/University Relations subcommittee. He was also named to the Colorado Academy Board of Trustees in 1991. A member of the American Ireland Fund Dinner Committee for the past 12 years and a Trustee for the Irish Community Center for five years, the Broncos' owner also is a member of Colorado Concern. He also serves on the Board of Trustees of the Hawaii Maritime Center and was the 1992 honoree at the American Ireland Fund Dinner.

Mr. Bowlen is a member of several other clubs and societies, including the Chief Executive's Organization, the Alberta Bar Association and the Law Society of Alberta. He was also a past member of the Young President's Organization.

Mr. Bowlen maintains an active lifestyle and exercises extensively as part of his daily regimen. He has competed in the Ironman Triathlon—an event in which one must swim 2.4 miles, ride 112 miles on a bicycle, and run 26.2 miles, all consecutively—as well as in other triathlon races and several marathons.

Mr. Bowlen has seven children, five of whom live in Denver with him and his wife, Annabel, and two adult children who live in Hawaii.

Mike Shanahan is one of just five head coaches in the history of the NFL to win back-to-back Super Bowls, with Denver's victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII, followed by its defeat of Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII. No head coach in the NFL has won more games than Shanahan's 98 victories over the last nine seasons, and he has compiled a 56-16 home record, including three consecutive undefeated campaigns from 1996-98.

MIKE SHANAHAN

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS / HEAD COACH

Mike Shanahan in 2004 completes a full decade as head coach of the Denver Broncos, and that decade of measurement against the game's all-time coaches places him among the pro football elite. He comes into 2004 needing just two wins to join the exclusive club of head coaches to post 100 wins in the first 10 seasons with one club, and the coming season will provide an almost weekly graphic of Shanahan's dramatic rise on that chart. The group that Mike Shanahan will join is listed below.

COMING INTO 10TH SEASON:
Mike Shanahan, Broncos	1995-2003	91	7	98	2

Every successful team has one key leader, and those organizations that have achieved the greatest success have an ultimate leader—an individual combining exceptional talent and organizational skills with the dynamic drive to lead others to success. One of the most brilliant minds in football, Executive Vice President of Football Operations and Head Coach Mike Shanahan is that lightning rod for the Denver Broncos championship history, and few coaches in NFL annals have spearheaded as much dramatic achievement.

When the success of a leader is achieved, and repeated, in an atmosphere of great pressure and expectations, that leader is elevated to elite status. Mike Shanahan has done that, and is universally regarded at the highest level by the football community, and there is no proof of merit like the record itself.

His stunning record as the Broncos' mentor places him in the legendary class of Vince Lombardi, Don Shula and Chuck Noll as the only four coaches with back-to-back Super Bowl championships. Lombardi, Shula and Noll already have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

No head coach in the NFL has won more games than Mike Shanahan's 98 victories over the last nine seasons, and his Broncos come into 2004 determined to return to Super Bowl contention—both of those qualities are directly attributable to leadership by arguably the finest head coach and most fertile football mind in the game today.

Those 98 wins by Mike Shanahan include seven consecutive in the playoffs (he is the only coach to have produced seven playoff wins in two years) during the 1997 and 1998 World Championship seasons, years in which he firmly established himself among the game's sideline greats. His postseason percentage is .700 on a 7-3 record.

Under Shanahan's superb guidance, the Broncos have had staggering accomplishments, the scope of which is dramatically outlined by the following:

- Posted the most wins in pro football history in a two-year period (33 in 1997-98).
- Posted the most wins in pro football history in a three-year period (46 in 1996-98).
- Won the most postseason games in history over a two-year period (7, 1997-98).
- Won 18 consecutive games over 1997-98 to tie the all-time NFL record for consecutive wins. The Broncos went undefeated for a calendar year during that streak, from Dec. 15, 1997, until Dec. 13, 1998.

- Been undefeated for three consecutive regular seasons (1996-98) at home, just the second team ever to do so.
- Posted a 22-2 record in its last 24 games during the back-to-back title years.
- The Broncos rank first in the NFL in points scored (3,664 points, 25.4 per game).
- The Broncos rank first in the NFL in rushing yards (20,150, 139.9 per game).
- The Broncos rank second in the NFL in total offense (52,137 yards, 362 per game).
- The Broncos' home record is 56-16 (.778) in regular season play.
- Denver is 57-2 (.966) when scoring 30 or more points (including 3-0 in postseason).
- Denver is 36-0 at home when scoring 30 or more points (including 2-0 in postseason).

He also has brought great stability to the Denver franchise with his 10 years here ranking as the third longest tenure by an active coach with his current team (trailing only Bill Cowher of Pittsburgh, who is in his 13th campaign with the Steelers, and Jeff Fisher of Tennessee, who is in his 11th season as the Titans' head coach).

However, whether measured by record or tenure, he does not rest on his laurels nor allow his team to, even though in the past nine seasons his overall record of accomplishment has been unmatched. His accomplishments since taking command of the Broncos are far greater than most coaches have achieved in entire careers, yet Mike Shanahan does not live in the past but puts all his ample talents and energy into success for the present, thus stamping the 2004 Broncos as a team with which to be reckoned in the National Football League.

Despite the almost unparalleled level of success attained in the last nine years, complacency and satisfaction are qualities completely foreign to Mike Shanahan, a brilliant coach and leader who is perpetually driven by the goal of taking his team back to the Super Bowl.

The Broncos stand as the perfect symbol of a team manifesting the personality of its head coach-maintaining discipline, focus, preparation, mental toughness, and physical effort-all qualities indelibly stamped onto the franchise by Shanahan, whose superb guidance directed the Broncos to those victories in Super Bowls XXXII and XXXIII.

Shanahan elevated his career and the Broncos to new levels in 1997 and 1998, as the intense and personable Denver Broncos head coach made his mark on Super Bowl history, coming into the 2004 campaign as one of only 12 all-time National Football League head coaches with two Super Bowl victories, and one of four members of that exclusive fraternity actively coaching (along with Joe Gibbs of Washington, Bill Parcells of Dallas and Bill Belichick of New England). Within that select group of 12 coaches, six have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame—the previously referenced Lombardi, Shula and Noll, along with Joe Gibbs, Bill Walsh and Tom Landry.

Following his magnificent 1998 season, the Broncos' coach was named AFC Coach of the Year by the Kansas City 101 Club and by the Touchdown Club of Columbus (his second time to be so honored by each organization).

He is the first coach in history to win two Super Bowl titles in his first four years coaching a team, and he is the only coach to have directed two different teams to a 500-point season (the 1998 Broncos scored 501 points, and Shanahan's 1994 San Francisco offense scored 505). The 500-point mark has only been reached seven times overall in pro football history.

The architect of San Francisco's offense in the 49ers' 1994 World Championship season, Shanahan not only can boast of three world titles in the past 10 years, but he is one of only 11 coaches ever to win Super Bowls with two different clubs.

His winning percentage is the best by any coach in Denver history—in 1998, he reached his 40th win faster than any coach in franchise history, and in 2000, he reached his 50th win faster than any coach in franchise history. Team President Pat Bowlen heaped additional praise on his brilliant coach by naming him Vice President of Football Operations during the 1998 campaign.

While his seal of leadership already had been permanently ingrained into the entire Broncos organization, Shanahan took his first steps in the direction of legend in 1997 when he joined Tom Flores as the only two coaches in pro football history to post four wins in one postseason.

In his third and fourth seasons at the helm of the Denver Broncos, Mike Shanahan not only led the Broncos to their first Super Bowl victories, but in 1998, he became the only coach in history to fashion seven postseason wins in a two-year period.

Mike Shanahan has that exceptional postseason record of 7-3—which added to a regular season mark of 91-54 give him a combined record of 98-56 (an outstanding .636 percentage) in nine years as head coach of the Broncos. Not only is that record the best among all coaches in Denver history, but his home record is a staggering 56-16 (.778) in regular season play, as referenced above. His winning percentage in six years at Mile High Stadium (1995-2000) was .813, and that mark is the third best by one coach, in one stadium, in NFL history.

Since Shanahan took over the Broncos' coaching reins in 1995, Denver has scored 30 or more points 36 times (twice in postseason) at home and 20 or more points 61 times (4 times in playoff action) at home in 72 regular season and four playoff games. Including road games, they have scored 30 or more points 59 times (including 3 times in the playoffs) and 20 or more points 111 times in the 136 regular season games and nine postseason games under him. As noted above, Denver's record in the 59 games in which it has scored 30 or more points under Shanahan is an amazing 57-2 (which includes 3-0 in playoff competition), including a 36-0 mark (which includes a 2-0 playoff record) at Mile High Stadium and INVESCO Field at Mile High.

A dynamic and disciplined leader who has completely revitalized the Denver organization during the past nine years, Shanahan is the focal point from which the entire organization takes its direction and energy.

Renowned for his organizational ability and recognized as one of the brightest offensive strategists in football, Shanahan has restructured both the team and the entire football operations department of the Broncos to deal successfully with the new personnel and financial dynamics of pro football.

Over the last 12 years (nine in Denver and the previous three in San Francisco) Mike Shanahan's offenses have finished No. 1 in the NFL four times, second twice, and third three times. In two of those campaigns, Denver was just 17 yards and 83 yards short of the No. 1 spot.

Since 1995, his first year in Denver as head coach of the Broncos, Denver has stressed the running game as one of the keys to football's most prolific offense. In those nine seasons, the Broncos have led the league both in rushing yards (20,150, with the Broncos as the only team to go over the 20,000-yard plateau in that period) and in scoring with 3,664 points, while ranking second in the NFL in total offense with 52,137 yards (just 48 yards behind Minnesota, which is first). In regular season games under Shanahan, the Broncos have averaged 139.9 rushing yards (best in the NFL), 25.4 points per game (best in the NFL), and 362 total yards (second, less than one yard per game behind the Vikings). As those statistics would indicate, this also has been by far the most prolific nine-year offensive period in franchise history.

In 1998, the defending world champions stormed to their second consecutive title with an offense that scored 501 points and finished third in the NFL in total yards while the defense had another spectacular postseason, allowing just 25 points and two touchdowns while sparking a remarkable 13:1 turnover ratio in the playoffs.

The 1998 Broncos set team records with 14 regular-season and 17 overall wins, starting off with a stunning 13-0 record and marking Denver as a team that went an entire calendar year without a loss. Ten Broncos were named to the Pro Bowl following that magnificent season, but throughout it all Shanahan's inspired direction was nationally recognized as the driving force behind the back-to-back World Champion Broncos.

In 1997, he directed a Denver offense that scored a total of 583 points (29.2 per game) during the entire 1997 season, the fifth-highest total in NFL history and the second-highest total in AFC history for a combined regular and postseason. Of course, in 1998 Shanahan's Broncos topped that mark by producing 596 regular and postseason points. The all-time high of 636 points came from the 1994 World Champion San Francisco 49ers, for whom Shanahan was the offensive coordinator.

He led his team to a 12-4 regular season record in 1997, marking the first time in franchise history that the team won 12 or more games in back-to-back seasons. His high-powered offense reached 30 points a franchise record nine times during the 1997 regular season and twice in the postseason. Denver also broke the franchise record for most points in a season (previously 391 in 1996) in just its 13th game of 1997 and broke the record for most touchdowns in a season (previously 47 in 1996) in just its 14th game.

The Broncos stormed through 1997 postseason play to their eventual World Championship with a home win over Jacksonville and subsequent road victories at Kansas City and Pittsburgh, defeating those Super Bowl contenders in their home parks on back-to-back weeks, and answering any lingering questions about the status of Denver as the best team in the American Football Conference.

It has been widely documented that the Broncos posted one of the greatest upsets in Super Bowl history, played in perhaps the best Super Bowl game ever, and ended the National Football Conference's 13-year domination in the NFL's Championship Game.

The Broncos posted their win—in fact, their four wins—in convincing style.

Under Mike Shanahan's steady control and forceful leadership, the Broncos had no question that they were the best team in football, and their postseason performance reflected that belief every step of the way.

In 1997 postseason play, Denver scored nine touchdowns in nine goal-to-go situations, including four-of-four in Super Bowl XXXII. Conversely, opponents started six drives in Denver territory in the postseason, netting just six points (two field goals).

Denver scored 13 touchdowns in 16 red zone opportunities in the postseason and of the Broncos' 46 postseason possessions, Denver scored 16 times (14 touchdowns and two field goals), accomplishing that feat against teams with a combined record of 51-16 at the time of each game.

The Broncos had posted the biggest win by a sports team in Colorado history, and one of the most significant in NFL history, all with Shanahan pointing the way. The Broncos entered the playoffs as a wild card, but their head coach never let the team's compass waver even slightly from the only goal he had ever set.

Under Shanahan's tutelage, the Broncos led the entire NFL in total offense in 1996 after having rewritten the Denver record books in 1995. Shanahan in 1996 led his club to a 13-3 record that was the best in the NFL as well as the finest record in Denver history, earning both NFL Coach of the Year (Touchdown Club of Columbus) and AFC Coach of the Year (Kansas City 101 Club) honors for 1996.

His team's performance in 1996 gave notice that this is a regime driven by a single goal, that of taking the Broncos to the pinnacle of pro football success. The Broncos were undefeated in October and November as they ultimately built their record to 12-1 in clinching their division title and playoff berth on Dec. 1, thus becoming one of the earliest teams to clinch in NFL history. In clinching home-field advantage on Dec. 1 as well, the Broncos joined the 1985 Chicago Bears as the only two teams in the past 27 years to accomplish that by Week 13.

While the disappointment of Denver's 1996 playoff loss to Jacksonville gripped Shanahan as much as it did the entire region, it also served to further his resolve to return the Broncos to that level once again.

In his first season as the Denver Broncos' head coach, Shanahan improved the team to a .500 record (8-8) and contention in the very competitive AFC Western Division, while immediately stamping the Denver offense with his signature as the most productive unit in the AFC, finishing third in the entire NFL. Under Shanahan in 1995, the Broncos had the best offense in franchise history, breaking team records in points scored (388), total yardage (6,040), total passing yardage (4,260), first downs passing (205) and highest average gain per play (5.7), while tying the team records for touchdown passes (27) and average gain per rush (4.5). At the same time, the Broncos' defense improved 13 positions, from last in the NFL the previous year to 15th under Shanahan's leadership.

Denver Broncos President and Chief Executive Officer Pat Bowlen named Mike Shanahan as Head Coach of his NFL franchise on Jan. 31, 1995, ushering in a new era for a team that has made five Super Bowl appearances under Bowlen's ownership. The Broncos' head coach has complete control of all aspects of football operations.

Shanahan, 51, came to Denver from the World Champion San Francisco 49ers, where he served as offensive coordinator for three seasons (1992-94). The 49ers' offense reached astonishing levels under Shanahan's leadership. San Francisco's three-year offensive averages under Shanahan's direction were the most productive in the history of pro football. His three-year averages included being No. 1 in total points (an average of 470 per year), total touchdowns (61), rushing TDs (24), passing TDs (32), third-down efficiency (49%), total offense (an average of 6,225 yards annually) and average yards per play (6.2 yards per attempt).

His three-year period as offensive coordinator included the 49ers setting numerous team records during Shanahan's tenure, highlighted by the first time ever that San Francisco led the NFL in total offense in consecutive seasons (1993 and 1994), along with remarkable records for most touchdowns (66), passing yards (4,302), total offense (6,435), first downs (372), completion percentage (70.3 %), and average yards per play (6.30).

San Francisco quarterback Steve Young re-wrote many NFL passing records and was named the NFL's most valuable player twice in his three years under Shanahan's guidance in addition to throwing for six touchdowns and earning Super Bowl XXIX most valuable player honors.

During his NFL career, Shanahan has been a part of teams that have played in nine AFC or NFC Championship Games, in addition to his six Super Bowl appearances, five with Denver and the Super Bowl XXIX game with San Francisco. In his nine seasons coaching at the collegiate level, Shanahan's teams participated in eight bowl games, winning two national championships.

A driving force behind the Broncos' offense for all three of their Super Bowl appearances in the 1980s (following the 1986, 1987, and 1989 seasons), he first came to Denver in 1984 as coach of the club's wide receivers. He served as offensive coordinator from 1985-87 and then returned to Denver as quarterbacks coach on Oct. 16, 1989, after serving as head coach of the Los Angeles Raiders in 1988 and through the first four games of the 1989 campaign. Shanahan inherited a team that was 5-10 in 1987 and improved it to 7-9 his first season. After starting 1-3 the following year, he was fired.

His second stint in Denver included not only the 1989 Super Bowl appearance by the Broncos, but the team's fourth AFC Championship Game appearance of the Bowlen era (1991 at Buffalo), with Shanahan again serving as offensive coordinator.

A native of Oak Park, Ill. (8/24/52), Michael Edward Shanahan attended East Leyden High School in Franklin Park, where he earned numerous honors. In a student body population of 2,500, Shanahan was voted athlete of the year as well as most valuable player in both football and track. He set a still-standing single-game school record with 258 yards rushing on 17 carries (a 15.2 average).

He received a scholarship to Eastern Illinois University, where he played quarterback and lost a kidney in the spring game of his junior year, which began his coaching career a year earlier than was intended. Shanahan also received his bachelor's and master's degrees at EIU. He began his coaching career at Oklahoma in 1975-76, and it won the national championship in his first year on their staff (1975).

Shanahan was Northern Arizona's backfield coach in 1977 at the age of 24, and the Lumberjacks averaged a school-record 391.1 yards that season. A year later, Shanahan returned to Eastern Illinois as offensive coordinator and helped guide his alma mater to the Division II title. The year before Shanahan's arrival the team was 1-10. In 1979 he served as offensive coordinator at Minnesota, where he implemented the run and shoot offense, with the result being that the Gophers set 40 school offensive records.

Shanahan moved on to Florida the following year, inheriting the second poorest offense in Division I football as well as a team record of 0-10-1. In Shanahan's four years the team broke many offensive school records and went to four consecutive bowl games. During his stint at the college coaching level, his teams had a combined record of 77-29-3.

Recognized as one of the most dynamic offensive minds in the game, Shanahan thus was an assistant coach in college at age 21, an offensive coordinator at the Division I level by 25 and at the NFL level at 32 in his first Denver stint.

Shanahan and his wife Peggy have two children, son Kyle and daughter Krystal. Kyle is a graduate of the University of Texas and is on the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' coaching staff, and Krystal also is a graduate of the University of Texas.

Broncos' Offense Clicks Under Shanahan — Since Head Coach Mike Shanahan took over the Broncos' coaching reins in 1995, Denver has scored 30 or more points 36 times at home (twice in postseason) and 20 or more points 64 times at home (four times in playoff action) in 71 regular season and four playoff games. Including road games, they have scored 30 or more points 60 times (including four times in the playoffs) and 20 or more points 114 times in the 141 regular season games and nine postseason games under him. As noted above, Denver's record in the 60 games in which it has scored 30 or more points under Shanahan is an amazing 58-2 (which includes 4-0 in playoff competition), including a 36-0 mark (which includes a 2-0 playoff record) at Mile High Stadium and INVESCO Field at Mile High. The team scored 596 total points in 19 games (31.4 per game) in 1998, which now ranks sixth all-time (second in AFC) for points scored in a regular and postseason combined. Not surprisingly, the team to score the most points in an entire season was the 1994 World Champion San Francisco 49ers, for whom Shanahan was the offensive coordinator.

Shanahan has coached in nine conference championship games, having won six of them (two as a head coach) and five of those six with Denver. His postseason winning percentage as a head coach is .700, on a 7-3 record, which ranks second only to Vince Lombardi (9-1, .900) among coaches with more than five playoff victories. He was 12-7 in the postseason as an assistant, including a 7-5 mark with the Broncos. Shanahan's postseason mark of 7-3 (.700) ranks No. 1 in terms of winning percentage among all Broncos head coaches.

Shanahan Ranks Among the Best in the Super Bowl — With Denver's victory over Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXII, Mike Shanahan claimed his second Super Bowl title in his first four years as Broncos head coach, tied for the fastest in NFL history to post two Super Bowl victories.

TED SUNDQUIST

GENERAL MANAGER

Ted Sundquist begins his 13th year with the Denver Broncos and third as the team's General Manager, having been named to that position in 2002 after 10 years in player personnel for the National Football League team.

One of the youngest major personnel executives in pro football, Sundquist holds the responsibility of negotiating player contracts and managing the football operations department's $110 million budget as well as overseeing the Broncos' entire player personnel department, both pro and college.

In addition to supervising pro and college scouting, Sundquist is responsible for salary cap and contract analysis, video and football technologies, equipment, operations, training and medical personnel, overseeing training camp and turf management. He is charged with establishing and implementing policies and practices within these departments of football operations.

Sundquist is involved in all areas of financial planning and with respect to personnel decisions related to the signing of free agents, the selection of players in the college draft, trades, waivers and other related football activities, including the long-range management of Denver's salary cap.

For the past eight years, when the Broncos have been one of NFL's most successful organizations, Sundquist has evaluated every draftable player and endorsed such standouts as Terrell Davis, Ashley Lelie, Mike Anderson, Trevor Pryce and Al Wilson. He has also had success with undrafted free agents such as Matt Lepsis and Lenny Walls.

As General Manager, Sundquist has also been instrumental in the acquisition of many notable free agents such as Jake Plummer, Nick Ferguson, Mario Fatafehi and Darius Holland in 2003, and John Lynch, Garrison Hearst, Raylee Johnson and Luther Elliss this past offseason. He also orchestrated the trade that brought five-time Pro Bowl cornerback Champ Bailey to Denver.

Sundquist spent six very successful seasons as Director of College Scouting after spending the 1995 season apprenticing under late college scouting director Jerry Frei. Sundquist was a pro and college scout for the Broncos in 1993-94.

Thus, at age 42, Sundquist has already established himself as one of the league's top player personnel evaluators. A testament to this first came in 1997 when Sundquist was selected to sit on the five-member Executive Committee of National Football Scouting, Inc. He is also a member of the selection committee for the annual National Invitational Camp and sits on the NFL's College Advisory Committee.

Sundquist's background is more diverse than most in his profession. He played collegiately at the U.S. Air Force Academy, participating on two bowl championship teams and being chosen team captain his senior season.

While stationed in Berlin as a flight commander for the 6912 Electronic Security Group from 1986-88, Sundquist supervised and directed 45 Air Force personnel as well as $35 million worth of equipment.

He also reported highly perishable defense information to Theater Tactical Commanders and briefed general officers and state department officials regarding flight operations.

Upon his return to the United States, Sundquist rejoined the Air Force coaching staff, with which he had worked during the 1984 season. Along with his varsity coaching duties, he was the head coach for the USAFA Preparatory School in 1990-91 and took an active part in scouting for the Falcons.

Sundquist also was a member of the U.S. National Bobsled Team from 1984-88 and competed in the Olympic Trials in 1988. A Texas native, Sundquist played at Spring Woods High School in Houston with major-league pitching great Roger Clemens.

From there Sundquist moved on to the Air Force Academy and eventually the University of Colorado, where he earned his master's degree in public administration in 1992.

Sundquist was born May 1, 1962, in Houston. He and his wife, Amy, live in Parker, Colo.

Gary Kubiak begins his second decade as an NFL coach and his 10th season as Denver's offensive coordinator in 2004. He is coming off nine highly successful seasons in which the Broncos' offensive unit has produced numbers unparalleled in the history of the organization, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

Kubiak, who owns three Super Bowl rings, is one of just 15 NFL coaches to win a Super Bowl with two different franchises (San Francisco, 1994) and one of just nine to win a title with a team from each conference.

He returned to the Broncos' organization in 1995 with head coach Mike Shanahan after the pair coached together in 1994 in San Francisco, where Shanahan was offensive coordinator. While with the 49ers, Kubiak was quarterbacks coach, and fellow Broncos assistant coach Brian Pariani (tight ends) was an offensive assistant with the team.

Kubiak's return to Denver—where he played quarterback behind John Elway from 1983-91—has been marked by extraordinary success. The Broncos have produced the National Football League's No. 1 offense twice during Kubiak's tenure (1996-97)—a first in franchise history—and have ranked in the top three overall in six of his eight seasons: No. 2 in 2000 and No. 3 in 1995, 1998 and 2002 in addition to the two No. 1 rankings. The total offensive numbers produced in Kubiak's first eight years at the controls mark the most prolific eight-year totals in club annals.

The Broncos set new single-season standards for touchdowns and points scored three consecutive seasons from 1996-98 and posted new records for yards per rush in both 1997 and '98. Denver has also scored 30 or more points in a game 55 times (including four times in postseason) in the 137 regular and postseason games since Kubiak's hire. In the eight years that Kubiak has been at the controls of the Denver offense, the club has accumulated the most points (3,664) and total yards (52,137) in the NFL and the second most rushing yards (20,150).

Denver has had 26 Pro Bowl selections from the offensive side of the football in Kubiak's eight seasons as offensive coordinator and is the only team in NFL history to produce a 3,000-yard passer (John Elway), a 1,500-yard rusher (Terrell Davis) and a 1,000-yard receiver (Shannon Sharpe, '96 and '97; Rod Smith, '97) two years in a row, doing so in 1996 and '97.

Last season, Denver's rushing attack ranked second in the NFL and finished seventh in total offense. With a new starting quarterback, Jake Plummer, at the helm, Denver was 9-2 in the games he started and ended the year with 10 wins, vaulting the Broncos into the playoffs for the first time since the 2000 season. On the ground, the offense set a franchise record with 2,629 yards rushing, and its 4.84 yards-a-carry ranks second all-time. The offensive line, anchored by Tom Nalen—who earned his fifth trip to the Pro Bowl—opened the holes necessary for running back Clinton Portis to rush for 1,591 yards and earn his first trip to Hawaii as a Pro Bowler. Wide receiver Rod Smith, for the third consecutive year, led the team in catches (74), and for the seventh consecutive year, led the Broncos in receiving yards (845). In addition, tight end Shannon Sharpe, finished second in the AFC among tight ends in receptions and receiving yards, and along the way, became the first tight end in NFL history to pass the 10,000 receiving yards plateau.

In 2002, Denver's offense ranked third overall in the NFL and second in the AFC. Portis was a big key to that success as Denver's second-round draft pick out of Miami was the league's fourth-leading rusher after compiling 1,508 yards and 15 touchdowns, while earning NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. Wide receiver Rod Smith was another reason the Broncos found success on offense last year. Smith again led the team with 89 catches for 1,027 yards-his sixth consecutive 1,000-yard season, a franchise record. Another bright spot was the play of rookie wide receiver Ashley Lelie, who caught 35 passes for 525 yards and is poised to become a great complement to Denver's other top pass catchers.

In 2001, Denver battled through serious injuries at critical positions but still produced offensive bright spots, such as Rod Smith's NFL-best 113 catches, which broke the franchise single-season record and earned him his second consecutive Pro Bowl invitation.

The 2000 season saw a rekindling of the offensive firepower that marked Kubiak's first four seasons, as the club set franchise records in three major offensive categories, bettering marks established earlier in Kubiak's tenure. The Broncos set new standards for total offense (6,554), passing offense (4,243) and first downs (383), and third-year quarterback Brian Griese and Smith earned their first career Pro Bowl invitations while center Tom Nalen earned his fourth consecutive trip to Hawaii. Additionally, rookie running back Mike Anderson broke numerous franchise records with 1,487 yards and 15 touchdowns to earn AP Offensive Rookie of the Year honors, along the way posting the best single-game performance by a rookie in NFL history (251 yards rushing) and the fourth-best outing overall in NFL history (now fifth). It was the second consecutive year a Broncos rookie running back had topped 1,000 yards, following Olandis Gary's 1,159 rushing yards in 1999.

Denver set six offensive franchise records in 1998, establishing new marks for total yards (6,092), rushing yards (2,468), touchdowns (62), rushing touchdowns (32), points (501) and first downs (347), as the Broncos scored 30 or more points in 12 of their 19 games. Davis was the NFL's rushing champion, gaining a franchise-record 2,008 yards to become just the fourth NFL player ever to top 2,000. Davis, named the league's Most Valuable Player, was joined by Elway, Tony Jones, Ed McCaffrey, Nalen, Mark Schlereth and Shannon Sharpe to give Denver an unprecedented seven offensive players voted into the Pro Bowl, and Elway closed his Hall of Fame career as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII.

Davis won the AFC rushing title (2nd NFL) with 1,750 yards in 1997 and went on to win Super Bowl Most Valuable Player honors en route to an all-time NFL record for rushing attempts and yards in a combined regular and postseason. Elway, Davis, Sharpe and Nalen earned Pro Bowl berths in 1997 while the offense set club records for points (472; 1st in NFL), touchdowns (55; 1st in NFL) and yards per rush (4.6), and led the league in total offense for the second consecutive year. The rushing total of 2,378 yards was the highest since the team record of 2,451 was set in 1978.

The Broncos led the NFL in total offense for the first time in 1996 after figuring third (1st AFC) in 1995 with a franchise-record 377.5 yards-per-game average. The '96 club set a new team record for total points (391) and tied the record for highest average gain per rush (4.5), which was set a year earlier, in Kubiak's first season. Davis led the AFC in rushing (2nd NFL), broke five team records, was named AFC Offensive Player of the Year and was selected to his first Pro Bowl.

Davis and Elway joined Sharpe and tackle Gary Zimmerman to give Denver four offensive players in the Pro Bowl. The 1996 Broncos offense, under Kubiak's direction, became just the fifth in NFL history—and first in Broncos history—to produce a 3,000-yard passer (Elway-3,328), 1,500-yard rusher (Davis-1,538) and 1,000-yard receiver (Sharpe-1,062) in the same season.

Kubiak wasted no time making an impact in his first season as offensive coordinator as the 1995 Broncos broke team records for points scored (388), total yards (6,040), passing yards (4,260), first downs passing (205) and highest average gain per play (5.7; tops in the AFC). Individually, wide receiver Anthony Miller topped the 1,000-yard mark (1,079) and set a franchise record for touchdown receptions (14), while Davis topped the 1,000-yard rushing mark (1,117) and finished second in the NFL Rookie of the Year balloting. Overall, three members of the Broncos' offensive unit—Miller, Sharpe and Zimmerman—were chosen to play in the Pro Bowl.

During the 1994 season, Kubiak coached the league's most dominant quarterback, Steve Young, in San Francisco. Young not only led the 49ers to a victory in Super Bowl XXIX, but he also earned Super Bowl MVP honors, as well as the NFL's Most Valuable Player award, besides setting numerous passing records during the campaign. He also became the NFL's all-time passer-rating leader and the first quarterback to lead the league in passing four years in a row.

Before his year in San Francisco, Kubiak coached the running backs at his alma mater, Texas A&M, from 1992-93. During his two seasons, the Aggies posted a record of 22-3 and played in back-to-back Cotton Bowls. His star pupil at A&M was Greg Hill, a first-round pick by Kansas City in 1994. Hill was second-team All-America as a junior (the Sporting News) and first-team All-Southwest Conference, as well as an All-SWC pick as a senior by the Dallas Morning News, despite missing four games. He rushed for 2,046 yards and 21 touchdowns in Kubiak's two years at College Station.

Before embarking on his coaching career, Kubiak played nine seasons (1983-91) as a quarterback for the Broncos. During that time, he was a member of three Super Bowl teams and appeared in 11 of the 14 playoff games played by the Broncos during his tenure. He played in 119 games for Denver (second all-time among quarterbacks behind John Elway), with five starts over that period (4-1 record). Kubiak completed 173 passes in 298 attempts for 2,020 yards with 16 interceptions and 14 touchdowns. He also rushed for 238 yards and two touchdowns, and his completion percentage of .581 is the sixth best mark in team history. Kubiak also holds the Broncos' second best single-season mark for interception avoidance (.013; one interception in 75 attempts), set in 1984.

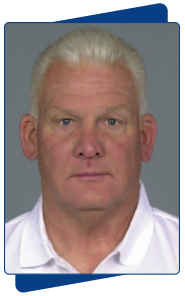
Kubiak's final performance in a Denver uniform was probably his finest moment as a Bronco when he relieved an injured John Elway in the 1991 AFC Championship Game at Buffalo (1/12/92) and completed 11-of-12 passes for 102 yards and added 22 yards rushing, though the Broncos fell to the Bills 10-7. He entered the game in the fourth quarter and drove the Broncos into Buffalo territory three times, including an 85-yard touchdown drive that cut Denver's deficit to three points. Kubiak was an eighth-round draft pick of the Broncos in 1983.

As a player at Texas A&M, Kubiak made the Player's All-SWC team in 1982 and earned appearances in the Blue-Gray and Hula Bowl all-star games. In 1982, he led the SWC (Southwest Athletic Conference) in attempts (324), completions (181), percentage (55.9), yardage (1,948), touchdowns (19) and total offense (1,885). As a junior, he set conference records for touchdown passes in a game (6 against Rice) and percentage in a game (19-21 for 90.5% against Arkansas) and ranked second in the SWC in passing (1,908) and total offense (1,986). He has a degree from A&M in physical education.

While at St. Pius High School in his native Houston, Kubiak made all-state, all-district, and All-America and set the state passing record with 6,190 yards. He lettered four years in football, basketball and baseball, and made all-state in all three sports in both his junior and senior years. He was also all-state twice in track.

Kubiak, 43, was recognized for his outstanding accomplishments with induction into the prestigious Texas High School Sports Hall of Fame in March 1999.

Kubiak (8/15/61) and his wife, Rhonda, reside in Greenwood Village, Colo., with their three sons, Klint, Klay and Klein.



LARRY COYER

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Larry Coyer is in his fifth season on the Broncos coaching staff and his second in the role of defensive coordinator. In his 34th year of coaching on either the collegiate or professional level, Coyer came to Denver in 2000 from the University of Pittsburgh, where he was defensive coordinator from 1997-99.

Coyer leads a defense that ranked fourth overall in the NFL last season, and with the additions of Pro Bowlers Champ Bailey and John Lynch at cornerback and safety, respectively, Denver's secondary instantly becomes one of the most talented and deepest in the league. Additionally, the Broncos retained Pro Bowl linebacker Al Wilson, who with 128 tackles (99 solo) led the team for the second consecutive year.

In addition to his role as defensive coordinator, Coyer will continue to coach Denver's linebackers, a unit that features as much talent and speed as any position on the team. Wilson, 2003 second-round pick Terry Pierce, 2004 first-round pick D.J. Williams and Jashon Sykes should give Coyer one of the league's top units to coach.

He will also rely on the talents of four-time Pro Bowl defensive end Trevor Pryce to help take Denver's defense to new heights. Joining Pryce on defense will be defensive tackles Darius Holland and Mario Fatafehi, as well as four-year starter Kenoy Kennedy and cornerback Lenny Walls.

In Coyer's first year in Denver, 2000, John Mobley and fellow linebacker Bill Romanowski finished Nos. 1-2 on the team in tackles (133 and 121), while Wilson ranked fourth (104).

While at Pittsburgh, Coyer directed a defensive unit that showed significant improvement each season, culminating in a 1999 showing that included top-five rankings in the Big East Conference in all major defensive statistical categories. Two of his standouts, safety Ramon Walker and defensive lineman Demond Gibson, earned All-Big East honors that season.

In 1998, the Panthers ranked third in the Big East in total defense, and over the course of the 1997-98 seasons, the unit amassed 62 sacks, the highest two-season total at Pittsburgh since 1990-91.

Before his stint at Pittsburgh, Coyer was defensive coordinator at Iowa State for two seasons (1995-96). That post was preceded by a one-year assignment as defensive line coach for the New York Jets in 1994.

Coyer's other professional coaching experience came in the United States Football League as linebackers coach with the Michigan Panthers (1984-85) and defensive coordinator with the Memphis Showboats (1986).

Additionally, Coyer was the defensive coordinator in 1993 at East Carolina, where under his guidance the Pirates improved in virtually every defensive category. He also served as defensive backs coach at Ohio State (1991-92), assistant head coach/defensive backs coach at Houston (1990) and linebackers coach at UCLA (1987-89). Before his stint in the USFL, Coyer was defensive coordinator at Iowa State (1979-83), Oklahoma State (1978) and Iowa (1974-77) and defensive backs coach at Bowling Green.

A 1964 graduate of Marshall University, Coyer began his coaching career at his alma mater in 1965 as secondary coach, a position he maintained through 1967. An additional coaching stint came at the acclaimed Massillon (Ohio) High School, where NFL Legend Paul Brown once coached.

A native of Greenbottom, W. Va., Coyer was born in Huntington. He and his wife, Jan, make their home in Aurora, Colo. Their son, Matt, was a member of an NCAA Champion soccer team at Indiana University. His son, Justin, was an Iowa all-state football player in high school.

RONNIE BRADFORD

SPECIAL TEAMS

Ronnie Bradford enters his second season with the Broncos but first in his new role of special teams coach. He replaces Frank Bush, who joined the Arizona Cardinals' staff as linebackers coach. Having returned to the city where he started his NFL playing career in 1992, Bradford brings to Denver a wealth of experience after finishing a successful 10-year playing career as an NFL defensive back.

COACHING EXPERIENCE

Denver Broncos
Special Teams Assistant 2003

In his first year as Denver's special teams assistant, Bradford helped guide a unit that finished fifth in the AFC in both punt return average and kickoff return average. The special teams were highlighted in Weeks 9 and 10 when Deltha O'Neal and Rod Smith scored on punt returns in successive weeks, marking the first time in NFL history that two different players have returned punts for touchdowns in back-to-back games. Denver's kicking game also continued to shine in 2003 when Jason Elam, who scored 120 points on the season, became the first player in NFL history with at least 100 points in each of his first 11 seasons. In addition, he passed the 1,300 career point plateau (1,313), becoming the fastest player in NFL history to accomplish that feat.

After playing in Denver from 1993 to 1995, Bradford made stops in Arizona (1996) and Atlanta (1997-2001) before finishing his playing career in Minnesota (2002). In that time, Bradford compiled 523 total tackles (387 solo), two sacks, 13 interceptions and 70 passes defensed. He played in 133 career games, while starting 99 of those.

Bradford, 33, was originally selected by the Miami Dolphins in the fourth round (105th overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft but was released during training camp. He was then signed to the Broncos' practice squad before being elevated to the active roster. That season, Bradford played in 10 games, starting three, and made his first career interception against Kansas City (12/12). In 1994, Bradford saw action in 12 games with Denver and in four games in 1995.

After one season in Arizona that Bradford started 11 games for the Cardinals, he moved to Atlanta, where he played five seasons. Bradford posted a career-high four interceptions in 1997 while starting 14 games. In 1998, he started 10 of the 14 games he played and helped lead the Falcons to Super Bowl XXXIII against his former team in Denver. Bradford's highlight of the game came when he intercepted a John Elway pass in the first quarter. Bradford left Atlanta and played his final year with the Minnesota Vikings, where he started 15 games.

A two-year starter and four-year letterman at the University of Colorado, Bradford was a first-team All-Big Eight selection as a senior. His extra point block was the margin of victory as Colorado edged Notre Dame 10-9 in the Orange Bowl to claim the national title.

Bradford, born Oct. 1, 1970, in Minot, N.D., was named an honorable mention All-American by USA Today as a senior at Adams City High School in Commerce City, Colo. He and his wife, Trish, reside in Denver and have three children.

Jacob Burney

Defensive Line

Jacob Burney is in his third season as defensive line coach with the Broncos, following successful stints with Carolina (1999-2001) and the Cleveland Browns/Baltimore Ravens (1994-98). He has coached 10 seasons in the NFL and has forged a reputation as a vocal leader for his players and one who takes a hands-on approach to his teaching.

Last season, Burney's defensive line was a major force for a defense that finished the season fourth in total defense in the NFL. Defensive end Bertrand Berry led the team with a career-high 11.5 sacks for -52 yards, and four-time Pro Bowler Trevor Pryce added 8.5 sacks (-47 yards). The defense only allowed 277.1 yards a game, which ranked fourth in the NFL and third in the AFC.

Similar results came about in 2002 as the line helped the defense finish the season sixth in total defense in the NFL and fourth against the rush. They were represented in the Pro Bowl by defensive end Trevor Pryce, who made his fourth consecutive trip after leading the team with nine sacks. In addition, the Broncos were one of the toughest defenses in the league last year against the run, limiting their opponents to just 93.1 rushing yards per game last season.

During Burney's tenure in Carolina, the Panthers showed a knack for creating turnovers with the defense posting 74 take-aways during the 2000-01 seasons, fourth-most in the NFL, with the Broncos leading that list with 81. In 2001, Burney coaxed a breakout season from third-year defensive end Mike Rucker, who posted a career-high and team-leading nine sacks. Under Burney's tutelage, Rucker developed into a full-time starter and set a record for sacks by a Panthers defensive lineman.

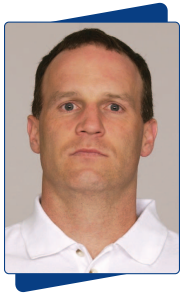
Before his tenure in Carolina, Burney spent five seasons with the Cleveland Browns/Baltimore Ravens franchise. He was hired by the Browns in 1994 and oversaw a defensive line that contributed mightily to a defensive unit that allowed only 204 points, nine rushing touchdowns and 3.6 yards per carry that season.

With Baltimore in 1998, Burney helped develop defensive lineman Michael McCrary into a Pro Bowl starter and contributed to a Ravens defensive unit that ranked sixth in the NFL against the run.

Burney, 45, enjoyed a successful 11-year coaching career on the collegiate level before entering the NFL coaching ranks in 1994. It began at New Mexico (1983-86) and continued with stints at Tulsa (1987), Mississippi State (1988), Wisconsin (1989), UCLA (1990-92) and Tennessee (1993). Each of those appointments was as defensive line coach, with the exception of the Mississippi State job, in which he coached the inside linebackers.

A standout player himself, Burney was a four-year starter on the defensive line at Tennessee-Chattanooga, where he helped the Moccasins to four Southern Conference championships and a four-year record of 33-9-2. He earned All-Southern Conference honors in each of his final three seasons and earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1981. Burney had tryouts with the Detroit Lions in 1981 and '82.

Burney, a native of Chattanooga, Tenn. (1/24/59), was a three-sport star at Tyner High School, earning all-state honors in football, wrestling and track and field. He and his wife, Madrinna Paton, have two sons, Jacob and Benjamin. The family makes its home in Centennial, Colo.



Troy Calhoun

Offensive Assistant/Special Teams

Troy Calhoun enters his second year with the Broncos and first as offensive assistant/special teams coach. Last year, he served as defensive assistant and coached the kickoff and punt returners after serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Wake Forest University (2001-02). In 2001 and 2002, Wake Forest finished with back-to-back winning seasons for only the third time since it joined the ACC in 1953.

In his first year on Denver's staff, Calhoun helped guide the NFL's fourth-ranked defense, which allowed only 277.1 yards per game. In addition, he worked with players such as Pro Bowl linebacker Al Wilson, who led the team in tackles with 128 (99 solo), and defensive end Bertrand Berry, who led the team with 11.5 sacks (-52 yards).

While at Wake Forest, Calhoun helped lead the 2002 team to a No. 1 ranking in the ACC in total offense (408.1 yards/game) for the only time since the ACC expanded to nine teams in 1992 and also led the ACC in plays (990), fewest turnovers (16) and turnover margin (+18). In addition, that team set numerous school records to include total offense, yards (5,305), points (356) and first downs (274). Of the 28 bowl teams following the 2002 season, Wake Forest was one of only two offenses with more than 240 yards in both rushing and passing as they amassed 497 yards in their 38-17 victory over Oregon.

The 2001 Wake Forest team was one of only seven teams in the nation to score more than 30 points in each of the final four games of the season. This included a 34-30 victory over Virginia, the school's first win in this series in 18 years, and a 33-31 win at North Carolina in which Wake Forest overcame a 24-0 halftime deficit.

Calhoun was at Ohio University from 1995-2000, where he helped turn the nation's worst program into a consistent winner. In the 10 seasons from 1985-1994, Ohio won only 17 games, including an 0-11 mark in 1994. As the quarterbacks coach in 1995-96, Calhoun oversaw the development of Kareem

Wilson, who was the 1996 Mid-American Conference Player of the Year. Calhoun was promoted to offensive coordinator following the 1996 season, and in his first season at the helm, the team finished with an 8-3 record that was the school's best season in 29 years and the first winning season since 1982.

The 1997 team defeated Maryland to register the school's first ever win over an ACC opponent in nine attempts. In 2000, Ohio defeated two bowl teams (Minnesota and Marshall) for the first time in school history and recorded the program's fifth consecutive season with a winning record in the Mid-American Conference. It averaged 31 points/game and set numerous school records, including total offense (418.1), passing efficiency (125.3) and first downs (246).

Calhoun was a graduate assistant at his alma mater, the U.S. Air Force Academy, from 1989-1990 and later returned to the Academy to coach for 1993-94.

The starting quarterback for the 1986 Falcons, Calhoun was one of only two freshmen to letter on the 1985 Academy team that finished 12-1 and ranked fifth in the country. He graduated from the Academy with a bachelor's degree and finished as a member of both the Dean's and Commandant's Lists for Academic and Military excellence. He also holds a master's degree in Business Administration from Oklahoma City University in 1992. He served from 1989-1995 as an Active Duty Officer in the U.S. Air Force.

Calhoun, 37, and his wife, Amanda, have a son, Tyler, and daughter, Amelia, and the family resides in Parker.

RICK DENNISON

OFFENSIVE LINE

Rick Dennison is in his 10th year on the Broncos' coaching staff and his fourth as offensive line coach. He took over that role in 2001 after spending the previous four seasons coaching the club's special teams (1997-2000) and two years as an offensive assistant (1995-96).

COACHING EXPERIENCE

10th NFL Season (10th with Broncos)

Denver Broncos

Offensive Line	2001-04
Special Teams	1997-00
Offensive Assistant	1995-96

Dennison oversees a unit that has annually been regarded as the best in the business, previously under Alex Gibbs and now under his tutelage. Anchoring the line is perennial Pro Bowl center Tom Nalen—who in 2003 earned his fifth trip to Hawaii. He is joined by returning starters Dan Neil, Matt Lepsis and Ben Hamilton to form the nucleus of a group that looks to continue the legacy of the Broncos' offensive line.

In 2003, the Broncos did not miss a beat, finishing as the AFC's third-best offense (7th overall), which included the NFL's No. 2 rushing attack. The line busted open holes for running back Clinton Portis, who led the Broncos with 1,591 yards rushing on 290 carries and 14 touchdowns. In addition, they welcomed the new starting quarterback, Jake Plummer, and helped him to a 9-2 record as he won more games in his first season as Broncos quarterback than anyone since Craig Morton directed Denver to 12 wins in 1977. Plummer finished the season fifth in the NFL with a 91.2 passer rating, and his ability to escape the rush allowed the offense to post the fourth fewest sacks (25) in franchise history.

In 2002, Dennison's line helped Portis, who rushed for 1,508 yards and 15 touchdowns, win the NFL's Offensive Rookie of the Year. Denver's offense in 2002 finished the season ranked second in the AFC in total offense and third in rushing.

In his previous role, the play of Dennison's special teams units was instrumental in the Broncos' success, highlighted by Denver's back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98. Dennison's coverage units held opponents to a tie for the deepest average drive start in the AFC in 2000 (26.1-yard line). One of Dennison's most outstanding performers, Detron Smith, was recognized in 1999 for his excellence in an often under-appreciated realm, being voted to the Pro Bowl as the special teams performer. It marked the third time in Dennison's tenure with the Broncos that he had seen one of his pupils earn a Pro Bowl invitation.

Kicker Jason Elam enjoyed the finest season of his six-year NFL career in 1998, earning his second Pro Bowl selection by setting a franchise record for PATs in a season (58 for 58) and converting 85 percent (23 of 27) of his field goal attempts. Elam also tied Tom Dempsey's 28-year old NFL record for longest field goal with a 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville Oct. 25, 1998. His career numbers continued to escalate as well as he became the all-time leading scorer in franchise history during the 1999 season while also establishing franchise dominance in field goals, field-goal attempts and PATs. He finished the 2000 season having converted an NFL-record 313 consecutive PATs dating back to his rookie season.

Punter Tom Rouen consistently performed at or near the top of the league rankings under Dennison's tutelage, posting a gross punting average of more than 46 yards-per-punt for the second year in a row in 1999 to lead the NFL. His career-best 46.9-yard average in 1998 ranked second, while Dennison's kick-return unit ranked sixth in the NFL, staking the Broncos to an average drive start of their opponents' 28-yard line.

Under Dennison's guidance in 1997, the Broncos' special teams played an integral role in leading the franchise to its first World Championship. Darrien Gordon tied for the NFL lead with three touchdowns on punt returns and ranked second in the NFL in punt return average (13.6) while Elam ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL) in scoring (124) and Rouen ranked fourth in the AFC (5th NFL) in net punting average.

As a unit, Denver's kickoff and kick coverage teams ranked among the league leaders as the Broncos recorded an average drive start of 28.6 (2nd AFC/4th NFL), while forcing their opponents to an average drive start of 24.4 (4th AFC/9th NFL). Denver also led the NFL in punt return average (13.5).

A former standout linebacker for the Broncos, Dennison joined the coaching staff in 1995 after spending the previous three years coaching at Suffield Academy in Connecticut. He served for two years in Denver as an offensive assistant, providing quality control work and assistance of all types to the offensive coaching staff before being promoted to special teams coach Feb. 12, 1997.

In Dennison's two years on the offensive staff, the Broncos' offense posted the most prolific two-year total offense numbers in franchise history at that time, including a No. 1 NFL ranking in total offense for 1996 and a bevy of franchise offensive records set in both seasons.

Dennison, 45, played inside linebacker for the Broncos from 1982-90, appearing in 128 games, including 52 starts and three Super Bowls. In 1989, he received the Ed Block Memorial Award for Courage. Dennison ranked second on the team in tackles in 1988 with 133 and led the team with three fumble recoveries.

Perhaps the best performance of his career came in a 1987 playoff game against Houston when he registered eight tackles and a quarterback pressure. He also had an excellent season in 1984 when he had 164 stops and a career-high three sacks in his first full season as a starter. Dennison was a free agent acquisition by the Broncos in 1982.

Dennison joined the Broncos in 1982 after a fine college career at Colorado State, where he was a second-team Academic All-American as a senior and earned three varsity letters. In 1979, Dennison received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering from CSU, followed by a master's degree in the same field from CSU in 1982.

Dennison, born in Kalispell, Mont., on June 22, 1958, attended Rocky Mountain High School in Fort Collins where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. His father, George, is in his 14th year as president of the University of Montana. Rick, his wife, Shannon, and sons Joseph and Steven, reside in Centennial, Colo.

KIRK DOLL

DEFENSIVE ASSISTANT/SPECIAL TEAMS

Kirk Doll begins his first season on the Broncos' coaching staff as the defensive assistant/special teams coach. He comes to Denver after a highly successful two-year stint as the assistant head/linebackers coach at Louisiana State University, where he helped guide the Tigers to a share of the national title last season.

Doll joined the LSU staff in the spring of 2002 after serving as the assistant head coach at Notre Dame for eight years. In his first year with the Tigers, Doll coached Bradie James to first-team All-America honors as the senior set a school record with 154 tackles in 2002. In addition, Doll assisted with an LSU defense that ranked among the best in the nation as the Tigers allowed 286 yards per contest, eighth best nationally.

While at Notre Dame, Doll helped lead the Irish to five bowl games, including an appearance in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in 2000. Among Doll's coaching responsibilities at Notre Dame were the linebackers, special teams and the kickers. In 2000, Notre Dame punter Joey Hildbold was a finalist for the Ray

Guy Award, which is given to the nation's top punter. In 1995, Doll helped Notre Dame reach the Orange Bowl as the Fighting Irish defense allowed just 270 yards per contest, the lowest figure at the school since the 1980 season.

Before his stint at Notre Dame, Doll coached at Texas A&M for six years, helping the Aggies to five bowl games, including three appearances in the Cotton Bowl. Doll helped Texas A&M lead the nation in total defense in 1991 (222.4 yards per game) and rank third nationally in 1993 (247.6). The Aggies ranked third nationally in scoring defense in 1993 by allowing only 10.8 points per contest. In his final three years at Texas A&M, the Aggies posted a 32-5 overall mark, including a 12-1 record in 1992.

Doll, 53, has also coached at the collegiate level at Arizona State (1985-87), Tulsa (1980-84), Iowa State (1979) and Wichita State (1975-76). Doll coached outside linebackers at Arizona State, helping the Sun Devils to a 10-1-1 mark and an appearance in the Rose Bowl in 1986. Doll served as the offensive line coach at Tulsa for five years, and he coached the tight ends for one spring as a part-time coach at Iowa State.

His coaching career has featured 14 bowl games, including appearances in the Rose Bowl, Orange Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Fiesta Bowl and Sugar Bowl.

Doll, a native of Wichita, Kan., earned bachelor's degrees from both East Carolina and Wichita State and played as both a defensive end and tackle at East Carolina for two years. He is married to the former Kathy Reding and the couple has three children, Kate, Kelsey and Kyle.

DAVID GIBBS

DEFENSIVE BACKS

David Gibbs is in his fourth season with the Broncos and third as defensive backs coach. He joined the staff in 2001 to coach the safeties. Gibbs came to Denver after four seasons as the defensive coordinator/secondary coach at the University of Minnesota.

With the offseason additions of Pro Bowl cornerback Champ Bailey and Pro Bowl safety John Lynch, Gibbs will direct one of the NFL's best and deepest secondaries, and the team will look to improve on its already top-notch defense. Denver finished 2003 with the league's No. 4 defense, allowing only 277.1 yard per game.

In his first three seasons of NFL coaching, Gibbs has established himself as a young coach with a bright future. With a pair of first-year starters at cornerback, Lenny Walls and Kelly Herndon, Denver ranked sixth in the NFL against the pass, and both players finished the season in the top-5 on the team in tackles (Herndon second with 78 and Walls fifth with 68). Third-year starter Kenoy Kennedy finished the 2003 season sixth in tackles, and Nick Ferguson earned a starting roll at the other safety position and ranked fourth in tackles with 72.

Gibbs brought 10 years of coaching experience at the college level to his new position but was no stranger to the Broncos' organization and the Denver area, having spent a great deal of time with the club during his father, Alex's, 10-year Broncos coaching tenure and having played and coached at the University of Colorado in nearby Boulder.

Gibbs was the youngest defensive coordinator in Division I-A when hired by Minnesota in 1997 and directed a dramatic defensive turnaround in his four seasons with the Golden Gophers from a unit that ranked last in the Big Ten in every major statistical category before his arrival. His defense reached its peak in 1999 when Minnesota finished fourth in the conference and 22nd in the nation in total defense by allowing just 319.9 yards per game, the best performance by a Gophers team since 1985. They led the Big Ten in pass defense and ranked second in pass defense efficiency and scoring defense, the latter two figures ranking eighth nationally.

Gibbs' star pupil, safety Tyrone Carter, was a two-time All-American and won the Jim Thorpe Award under his tutelage, and he parlayed his collegiate success into a starting position as a rookie with the Minnesota Vikings. Carter was the Golden Gophers' first back-to-back All-American since 1961-62, and overall Gibbs' defense produced an All-American in three consecutive seasons for the first time at the school since 1961-63.

In 1998, Minnesota's rushing defense ranked fourth in the Big Ten and 13th in the nation at 103.7 yards per game, the school's best figure since 1962. In addition, during Gibbs' tenure, the Minnesota defense posted the top three single-season sack figures in the school's rich football history, posting a record 44 in 1999, followed by its 41 in 1997 and 38 in 1998.

Gibbs, 36, came to Minnesota from Kansas where he was defensive secondary coach in 1995-96, following graduate assistant stints at Colorado (1993-94) and Oklahoma (1991-92). A 1990 graduate of Colorado with a bachelor's degree in marketing, Gibbs was a four-year letterwinner at defensive back for the Buffaloes. He started every game in 1989 when CU fashioned an impressive 11-1 overall record en route to an Orange Bowl bid and a No. 4 ranking in the final national poll. He collected Academic All-Big Eight honors as a senior in 1990 when he helped lead the Buffs to an 11-1-1 overall record and the co-National Championship following a 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl. During his collegiate career, Colorado registered a combined record of 37-10-1 and played in four bowl games.

A native of Mount Airy, N.C., Gibbs is a graduate of Auburn (Ala.) High School. He was born Jan. 10, 1968. David and his wife, Debbie, make their home in Castle Pines, Colo, with their son, Hudson.

PAT MCPHERSON

QUARTERBACKS

Pat McPherson enters his second year as quarterbacks coach for the Broncos and his seventh year overall on the Broncos' coaching staff. He spent four years as offensive assistant, and his first season, 1998, as a defensive assistant before moving to the offensive side of the ball.

Last season, McPherson helped Jake Plummer, in his first year as Denver's starting quarterback, complete 189 of 302 passes for 2,182 yards and a career-best 15:7 touchdown to interception ratio. Plummer guided the team to a 9-2 record in his 11 starts, and he won more games in his first season as Broncos quarterback than anyone since Craig Morton directed Denver to 12 wins in 1977. Additionally, Plummer finished the season fifth in the NFL with a 91.2 passer rating, and his ability to escape the rush allowed the offense to post the fourth fewest sacks (25) in franchise history.

In 2002 as Denver's offensive assistant, McPherson helped guide Denver's offense to an NFL ranking of third and second in the AFC. The season was highlighted by the outstanding play of rookie running back Clinton Portis, who was a big key to that success. Denver's second-round draft pick out of Miami was the league's fourth leading rusher after compiling 1,508 yards and 15 touchdowns while earning NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors. Wide receiver Rod Smith was another reason the Broncos found success, with the ninth-year veteran again leading the team with 89 receptions for 1,027 yards-his sixth consecutive 1,000-yard season, which is a franchise record.

Before that, McPherson, in 2001, worked with an offense that set club records for total offense (6,554), passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383), and scored 30 or more points in 10 of 16 games.

In his first year working with the offense in 1999, McPherson was involved in the production of a unit that featured a 3,000-yard passer (Brian Griese), two 1,000-yard receivers (Ed McCaffrey, Rod Smith) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Olandis Gary).

Offensive Assistant 1999-2002
Defensive Assistant 1998

Working with the defensive staff in 1998, McPherson played a role in tutoring a defense that ranked third in the NFL against the run and 11th in the overall defensive rankings.

McPherson was hired by the club April 7, 1998, following a four-year coaching stint at his high school alma mater, Bellarmine College Prep in San Jose, Calif. In addition to coordinating the defense and coaching the inside linebackers, McPherson's duties included teaching English, algebra and physical fitness at the school. During his tenure at Bellarmine, the football team compiled a record of 35-11, won three consecutive league titles and made one section championship appearance as well as two semifinal appearances. He also gained valuable coaching experience volunteering with the San Francisco 49ers in 1996, serving in a defensive quality control capacity.

McPherson holds a bachelor's degree in English and an M.B.A. from Santa Clara, where he captained the football team and was voted Most Inspirational Player as an inside linebacker during his senior season of 1992. He began his collegiate career in 1987 at UCLA, where he received the Charles Pike Award, which recognizes the school's outstanding freshman football player. McPherson signed with the 49ers as a rookie free agent in 1993 and participated in three preseason games, including one versus the Broncos at Mile High Stadium.

A native of San Jose, Calif., McPherson was an all-state and All-America inside linebacker at Bellarmine College Prep, where he earned Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors as a senior. He was voted captain of the North team in California's North-South Shrine Game played at the Rose Bowl. This past April, McPherson was inducted into Bellarmine's Athletic Hall of Fame.

McPherson, 35, worked with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in Santa Clara, Calif., in 1994, organizing and implementing the chapter's largest fund-raising event, the 1994 MS Walk. His father, Bill McPherson, coached in the NFL for 21 years and is currently a personnel consultant for the San Francisco 49ers.

Pat was born April 15, 1969, in Santa Clara, Calif. He and his wife, Shannon, who reside in Littleton, Colo., have one son, Jackson Montana.

KEITH MILLARD

ASST. DEF. LINE/PASS RUSH SPECIALIST

Keith Millard is in his third season on the Broncos' coaching staff as the club's assistant defensive line coach/pass rush specialist. He is in charge of creating and implementing all pass rush techniques used in the Broncos' defensive scheme.

Defensive Line 1996

Last season, he helped build a line that was a major force for a defense that finished the season fourth in total defense in the NFL. He also coached a pass-rush unit that was fourth in the NFL in sacks by a defensive line and the only defensive line in the league to have three players with at least 8.5 sacks. Defensive end Bertrand Berry led the team with a career-high 11.5 sacks for -52 yards, four-time Pro Bowler Trevor Pryce posted 8.5 sacks (-58.5 yards), Reggie Hayward added 8.5 sacks (-47 yards) as a "nickel" rusher and Mario Fatafehi added 2.5 sacks (-14.5 yards) and 27 pressures.

In 2002, he helped guide the team to a sixth-place ranking in total defense in the NFL and fourth against the rush. The line was represented in the Pro Bowl by defensive end Trevor Pryce, who made his fourth consecutive trip after leading the team with nine sacks. In addition the Broncos were one of the toughest defenses in the league last year against the run, limiting their opponents to just 93.1 rushing yards per game.

Millard's current coaching position is his first in the National Football League, but he brings a great deal of knowledge and first-hand experience. Following an outstanding playing career that saw him earn three All-Pro nods and two Pro Bowl invitations as a defensive lineman from 1985-93, Millard embarked on a coaching career in which he has distinguished himself and rapidly climbed the ranks.

Before coming to Denver, Millard served as defensive line coach of the San Francisco Demons of the XFL in 2001. He began his coaching career in 1996 as defensive line coach at Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colo., and then served as defensive coordinator/linebackers coach at Menlo College in Atherton, Calif., from 1997-2000. Millard's other coaching experience includes serving as defensive line coach for the West team in the 2002 East-West Shrine All-Star Game.

Millard, 42, set the foundation for his second career in football with an outstanding playing career that began as a first-round draft choice (13th overall) of the Minnesota Vikings in 1984. He was also drafted by the Arizona Wranglers of the United States Football League in '84 (fifth overall), and after being traded, he played one season with the Jacksonville Bulls in 1985. Millard ranked second in the league in sacks (12) behind Reggie White (12.5) and was voted to the All-USFL team. That effort was also good enough to land him on the All-Time USFL second team. He joined the Vikings in 1985 as a rookie and burst onto the scene by leading the team with 11 sacks as a defensive end and followed with 10.5 in 1986. Millard moved to defensive tackle, and in 1989, set what remains an NFL record for sacks by an interior lineman, registering 18, en route to his second consecutive Pro Bowl invitation and third consecutive All-Pro honor. He also earned his second consecutive NFL Defensive Lineman of the Year award in 1989 and was named NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

Millard's career with the Vikings continued through 1991, followed by stints with Seattle (1992), Green Bay (1992) and Philadelphia (1993). He played in 93 career games and posted 58 sacks, two interceptions and one touchdown on a fumble return.

At Washington State University, Millard was voted first-team All-Pac-10 as a senior and won the Morris Trophy as the Pac-10's top defensive lineman. He played tight end as a freshman and was moved to defensive tackle as a sophomore, cracking the starting lineup for the first time as a junior.

A native of Pleasanton, Calif. (3/18/62), Millard was a tight end and linebacker at Foothill High School. Keith and his wife, Paula, make their home in Parker, Colo., with sons Dustin (16), Johnny (13), Jack (8) and Keith Jr. (5), and daughter Mandy (9).

BRIAN PARIANI

TIGHT ENDS

Brian Pariani enters his 10th year coaching the Broncos' tight ends and 15th overall in the NFL. He leads a group that has played an integral role in the club's offensive success in recent seasons, highlighted by back-to-back World Championships. Pariani came to the Broncos in 1995 after spending the previous five seasons (1990-94) with the San Francisco 49ers, coaching alongside Broncos head coach Mike Shanahan and offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak.

With Denver's win in Super Bowl XXXII, Pariani joined a list of just 15 NFL coaches who have won World Championships with two different organizations, and he is one of just nine to win a title with a team from each conference. The Broncos' triumph in Super Bowl XXXIII made Pariani a three-time Super Bowl winner.

The Broncos, in 2004, have a hole to fill with the retirement of future Hall of Famer Shannon Sharpe, but with the offseason acquisitions of former Bronco Byron Chamberlain, Jed Weaver and O.J. Santiago to the existing crop of tight ends already on the roster, Denver looks poised to continue its success.

Overall, Pariani's tight ends have caught more passes (785) for more yards (9,070) during the last nine seasons than any other group of tight ends in the NFL. That productivity has helped propel the Broncos' offense to the most prolific eight-year totals in franchise history, highlighted by a No. 1 NFL total offense ranking in 1996 and '97. The 1998 team set franchise records for touchdowns (62), points (501), total offense (6,092) and first downs (347), while the 2000 club erased the total offense mark (6,554), average yards per play (5.88) and set new standards for passing yards (4,243) and first downs (383). Additionally, Pariani's tight ends have helped clear holes for a Broncos running game that has ranked in the NFL's top five in seven of his nine seasons with the club, including a No. 1 ranking in 1996, and a No. 2 ranking in 2003.

In 2003, Sharpe once again led the crew, finishing second in the AFC among tight ends in catches (62) and yards (770). Sharpe also caught a team-leading eight touchdowns and averaged 12.4 yards a catch, moving him into ninth place all time among NFL pass catchers in career receptions (815). Pariani's tight ends helped the Broncos' offense finish the season with the NFL's No. 4 offense—the team's seventh top-5 finish in the nine years he's been in Denver. After an amazing 14-year career that ended this past offseason, Sharpe will go down as the best pass-catching tight end in history as he is the all-time leader among tight ends in receptions, yards (10,060) and touchdowns (62).

After two seasons in Baltimore, Sharpe returned to Denver in 2002 and made Pariani's stable of talent one of the deepest and most talented positions on the team. Sharpe finished fourth in the NFL among tight ends in both receptions and receiving yards with 61 and 686, respectively. His season was highlighted against Kansas City (10/20) when Sharpe set a franchise record-and an NFL record for a tight end-with 214 receiving yards on 12 catches, including two touchdowns. Adding to the tight end arsenal was Dwayne Carswell, who hauled in 21 passes for 189 yards that day.

The contribution of Denver's tight ends continued to be crucial in 2001 as Pariani's unit accounted for 100 receptions (32% of the club's total), second most in his seven-year Broncos tenure. Desmond Clark had a breakout year with a career-high 51 receptions to rank second on the team while Carswell hauled in 34 and made his first Pro Bowl.

In 2000, Carswell caught a career-high 49 passes to rank third on the team, while Clark ranked fourth with 27 as the tight end position continued to be vital to the Broncos' high-powered offense.

The Broncos' tight end group ranked among the best in the league in 1999 with 85 receptions for 977 yards and four touchdowns. Those figures are especially significant considering perennial Pro Bowler Sharpe played in only five games due to injury and caught just 23 of those 85 passes.

In 1998, Sharpe led all NFL tight ends in receiving yards (768), while ranking third among his peers in receptions (64) and tying for the AFC lead in receiving touchdowns (10). He was a unanimous All-NFL selection for the seventh consecutive year and became the first tight end in league history to post seven consecutive 50-catch seasons. The Broncos' depth at tight end was never more evident than in their Super Bowl XXXIII win over Atlanta when Sharpe left the game in the first quarter with a knee injury. Carswell and Byron Chamberlain performed admirably, with Chamberlain catching three passes for 29 yards and recovering two Atlanta on-side kicks.

In 1997, Sharpe led the club in receptions (72) for the sixth consecutive year and led all NFL tight ends in receptions and receiving yards (1,107) for the second consecutive year. Sharpe's 1,107 yards represented a career high and marked his third 1,000-yard season, tying him with Todd Christensen and Kellen Winslow for most 1,000-yard seasons by a tight end in NFL history.

In 1996, Sharpe led all NFL tight ends with career highs for receiving yards (1,062) and touchdowns (10), while posting his second most receptions (80), en route to All-NFL honors. His 1995 numbers (63 catches) led the team and earned Sharpe his fourth straight Pro Bowl, first under Pariani's tutelage.

Pariani, 39, started his NFL career in 1990 as a scouting assistant with the 49ers. He then became the team's offensive coaches' assistant for the next four seasons, working directly with the offensive coaches and quarterbacks, assisting with daily practices and game plans. The 49ers' offense led the league in total yards in 1992 and '93, scoring a team-record 505 points and 62 touchdowns in '94 en route to a Super Bowl title.

After earning his political science degree from UCLA in 1989, Pariani served as a graduate assistant with the Bruins, helping head coach Terry Donahue's offense during the 1989 season.

Pariani attended Marin (Calif.) Catholic High School where he played football, baseball and basketball. He is a native of San Francisco (7/2/65). He, his wife, Stephanie, and daughters Jessica and Gianna, reside in Castle Pines, Colo.

Athletic Strength Director 1989-92

Rich Tuten is in his 10th season as the Broncos' strength and conditioning coach. He coordinates the organization's year-round strength and conditioning program with assistance from Greg Saporta and Cedric Smith.

Under his guidance during the Mike Shanahan regime, Tuten's offseason strength and conditioning program has become a model among NFL franchises. It has been overwhelmingly successful, not only in terms of attendance by Broncos players, but in their performance on the field, as Denver captured back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98.

Tuten came to the Broncos in 1995 from the University of Florida, where he was the Director of Strength and Conditioning from 1980-87 and also from 1993-94. He was the Athletic Strength Director at the University of North Carolina from 1988-92.

While at both schools, Tuten supervised the strength and conditioning programs for every intercollegiate sport. With Florida, he also served as the head strength and conditioning coach for the nationally ranked Gators football team. At North Carolina, Tuten helped the Tar Heels make major advancements in their strength and conditioning program, helping them to be able to compete with the top collegiate programs in the country.

Tuten, 50, has coached with two current members of the Broncos' coaching staff. He coached with head coach Mike Shanahan at Florida from 1980-83 and with his assistant Greg Saporta at both Florida and North Carolina from 1981-94.

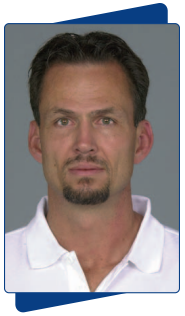
A 1978 Clemson University graduate, Tuten was a three-year letterman and starting nose guard for the Tigers. He was named to the All-America Strength team in 1978 and was part of the 1978 Atlantic Coast Conference champion Tiger squad. Tuten registered nine tackles and three sacks against Maryland that season to help clinch the conference title. He was named ACC Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts. He received his degree in therapeutic recreation from Clemson in 1978.

Tuten, born Dec. 30, 1953, attended Wakefield High School in Arlington, Va., where he participated in football, wrestling and track. He is a native of Columbia, S.C.

He and his wife, Donna, reside in Littleton, Colo., and have two sons, Will and Matt.

Rolling, Rolling, Rolling

Behind an impressive effort by the offensive line and a career-high 1,591 yards rushing by Clinton Portis, the Broncos rush offense posted some impressive numbers in 2003. Denver set a franchise record with 2,629 total rushing yards, 161 more yards than the previous record (2,468) set in 1998. In addition, the 2003 Broncos finished second all-time with a 4.84 yards per carry average and finished third all-time in total rushes (543).



Steve Watson

Wide Receivers

COACHING EXPERIENCE

4th NFL Season (4th with Broncos)

Denver Broncos

Wide Receivers 2003-04
Defensive Assistant 2001-02

Steve Watson returns for his second year coaching the wide receivers and fourth overall on the Broncos' coaching staff. Before moving over to the offensive side of the ball, Watson performed the role of defensive assistant the past two seasons. After playing for the Broncos in the 1980s, Watson came back to the team when he worked with the club in training camp as a coaching intern in 2000 and continued working with the team at all home games during that season in preparation for the full-time role he accepted in 2001.

In his first year in the new role, Watson helped the offense once again flourish and helped his corps of receivers make a smooth transition to a new starting quarterback, Jake Plummer. Rod Smith, for the third consecutive season, led the team in receptions (74) and led the team in receiving yards (845) for the seventh consecutive year. Additionally, Watson helped second-year wide out Ashley Lelie grow into a starter as he made 37 receptions for 628 yards.

One of the most popular players in team history, Watson was a wide receiver for the Broncos from 1979-87, finishing his sterling career with 353 receptions for 6,112 yards and 36 touchdowns. He ranks fourth on the Broncos' career list for receiving yards, seventh in receptions and eighth in touchdown receptions. Watson also was recognized as an outstanding special teams player during his pro career.

Watson had three 1,000-yard seasons (1981, '83 and '84) and was named to the Pro Bowl in 1981. That year, he posted the best numbers of his career for yardage (1,244), touchdowns (13) and reception average (20.7), while his career single-season high of 69 receptions came in 1984.

Watson had 16 100-yard games and 49 consecutive games with at least one reception and still ranks among the team's all-time leaders in many career, season and game receiving categories. He had single-game highs of 11 receptions (1984, vs. Pittsburgh in the playoffs) and 183 yards (on 10 receptions at Los Angeles vs. the Rams in 1982).

Watson, 47, joined the Broncos in 1979 as a free agent from Temple University, where he was a four-year letterman at wide receiver. He was selected to the All-East team, playing in the East-West Shrine Game to close out his college career. Watson also won three letters and two conference championships as a long jumper, graduating with a degree in parks administration.

A native of Baltimore, Md. (5/28/57), Watson was a three-sport star at St. Mark's High School in Wilmington, Del. He and his wife, Pam, have a son, Stephen Ross Jr., (16) and two daughters, Brittany (18) and Rachel (14). The family resides in Aurora, Colo.

Vince Lombardi Trophy

The Denver Broncos claimed back-to-back World Championships with their 31-24 defeat of Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII and their 34-19 triumph over Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII. The franchise now owns two Vince Lombardi Trophies, which are displayed in the lobby of the Paul D. Bowlen Memorial Broncos Centre. The sterling silver trophies are created by Tiffany & Company, named for the late Vince Lombardi before Super Bowl V. Each trophy is a regulation-size silver football mounted in a kicking position on a pyramid-like stand of three concave sides. The trophy stands 20.75 inches tall, weighs 107.3 ounces, and is valued in excess of $10,000. Each is engraved with the the words “Vince Lombardi Trophy” above an NFL Shield. Below that is the engraving of the particular Super Bowl (XXXII and XXXIII), “AFC vs. NFC,” the score of the game, the date and the location.

Football Operations

Director of Pro Personnel

Rick Smith is in his fifth season in charge of the Broncos' pro personnel operations and his ninth overall with the club. He spent his first four years in Denver as an assistant on the defensive coaching staff working with the secondary.

Smith's primary role involves developing, implementing and guiding the club's overall pro personnel endeavors, including the evaluation and procurement of all NFL free agents, NFL Europe and CFL free agents, as well as players from all other professional leagues. Smith is also one of the club's primary negotiators for player contracts and handles a variety of other administrative duties for Head Coach Mike Shanahan and General Manager Ted Sundquist.

In the four seasons under Smith's leadership, the Broncos have been very active in the unrestricted free agent market, signing several players who have made a positive impact on the club's success. The department has also been extremely successful in identifying young talent via the NFL waiver system, making key acquisitions and signing players who have developed and made significant contributions to the team. In fact, at one point during the 2003 playoff run, six of 11 starters on a defensive unit that ranked fourth overall in total defense were players who were originally signed as street free agents.

Before heading the pro personnel department, Smith, in his four years on the Broncos' coaching staff, worked with a defensive unit that consistently ranked among the NFL's best, including rankings of No. 4 in 1996, No. 5 in '97 and No. 7 in '99, as well as back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98. The club won more games (46) from 1996-98 than any other team in NFL history over a three-year period.

In 1999, the Broncos ranked eighth in the NFL in pass defense and did not allow an opposing quarterback to throw for more than 278 yards all season. Denver's pass defense in 1997 posted a No. 5 ranking in the NFL and limited four of the 16 regular season opponents to three points or fewer, including one shutout. In his first year, Smith helped coach a defensive unit that improved from No. 15 to No. 4 in the NFL-including a No. 1 ranking against the run for just the second time in franchise history. The defense set or tied three different franchise records in 1996.

Smith, 35, was hired April 3, 1996, following a two-year stint as defensive backs coach at his alma mater, Purdue. He had left Purdue in February to accept a coaching position at Texas Christian, but spent just one month there before being hired by the Broncos.

A 1992 Purdue graduate, Smith began his coaching career with the Boilermakers shortly after his graduation, serving as the school's assistant strength and conditioning coordinator. In that role, Smith worked exclusively with football, volleyball and wrestling before being promoted to the role of interim strength and conditioning coordinator during the summer of 1993. After serving as the team's tight ends coach for one season, Smith was hired as the secondary coach, becoming the youngest position coach in the Big Ten conference at the time (24).

Smith was a starter at strong safety and defensive captain for Purdue as a senior in 1991. A native of Petersburg, Va. (9/3/69), he attended Meadowdale High School in Dayton, Ohio. Smith is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Smith and his wife, Tiffany, have a son, Robert LaMar (1), and reside in Parker, Colo.

Jim Goodman

Director of College Scouting

Jim Goodman is in his seventh year with the Broncos and his third as director of college scouting after spending four years as an area scout, working the South region.

In his current role, Goodman is in charge of managing the Broncos' overall scouting process and all aspects of its year-round schedule as well as coordinating the work of the club's other six area scouts and continuing to scout the South region.

Goodman was hired by the Broncos in May 1998 after four successful seasons on the coaching staff at Rice University, where his duties also included coordinating the program's recruiting efforts. Goodman coached the tight ends and special teams all four years (1994-97) and added the duties of wide receivers coach for the 1997 season. The Owls were Southwest Conference co-champions in 1994 and produced three of the best special teams seasons during Goodman's tenure.

Goodman was an associate athletic director in charge of football recruiting at Clemson from 1991-93 and also coached the team's kickers. He earned consideration among the nation's top-10 recruiting coordinators by the Chicago Sun-Times for his work at Clemson. Goodman was an assistant AD in charge of recruiting and high school relations at Florida from 1989-90 and was recruiting coordinator and wide receivers coach at Arkansas from 1986-88.

Goodman began his coaching career at Vanguard High School in Ocala, Fla. (1974-75), then moved into the collegiate ranks at North Alabama (1976-78). He then was head coach and athletic director at Marion (Ala.) Institute Junior College (1979-80), where his teams ranked in the top 15 in the national polls both seasons. He also coached the school's baseball team. Goodman coached outside linebackers at the U.S. Air Force Academy under Ken Hatfield in 1981, then accepted the head coaching position at Valdosta (Ga.) State (1982-84), where he also served as associate AD before accepting the full-time athletic director's position in 1985. As coach, he started a program from scratch and fashioned a 15-16-1 record over three years with a squad that included Atlanta Falcons All-Pro linebacker Jesse Tuggle.

Goodman, 52, holds an associate's degree from Chipola Junior College (1972), a bachelor of science in physical education from Florida (1974) and a master's in education administration from University of North Alabama (1977). A native of Blounstown, Fla., where he attended Blounstown High School, Jim and his wife, Jennie, have three adult children, Jeff, Nancy and Tyler. Jeff—a former wide receiver at the University of Florida—was married last spring and is currently an attorney in Birmingham, Ala., while Nancy is attending graduate school at Florida. Tyler, who works as an intern for the equipment department of the Denver Broncos, is a sophomore at Chipola Junior College majoring in pre-med.

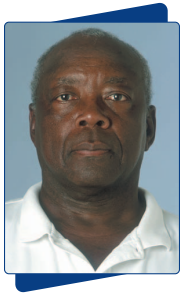
He began his career with the Broncos scouting the Rocky Mountain and Southwest regions before shifting his focus to the Midwest in 1990.

DiStefano, 47, was a quarterback at Colorado State from 1976-80. Following his playing career, he joined the coaching staff at CSU as a graduate assistant, a role in which he served for two seasons (1980-81) before coming to the Broncos.

A native of Alliance, Ohio, DiStefano was an all-conference quarterback in 1975 at Alliance High School, the same school that produced Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Len Dawson. Among the honors bestowed upon him was the 1974 Massillon (Ohio) JayCee's conference sportsmanship award, a prestigious honor from such a football-rich region of Ohio.

DiStefano makes his home in Chicago.



Cornell Green

College Scout

Cornell Green is in his 25th year scouting in the NFL and his 18th year doing so for the Broncos' organization.

Green is responsible for scouting the Southwest region after having scouted the South, East and Midwest regions earlier in his career with the Broncos.

Before his involvement with the Broncos organization, Cornell scouted for the Dallas Cowboys during and after his illustrious playing career. Green began scouting for the Cowboys in 1970 while still an active player and continued scouting through 1979, at which time he entered private business until coming to the Broncos in 1987.

Green, 64, was signed by the Cowboys as a free agent and went on to play for Dallas from 1962-75, at cornerback for 10 years before moving over to safety for his last four seasons. Green earned Pro Bowl honors seven times, winning that honor at both cornerback and safety.

He did not play college football but was a two-time All-America basketball player (1959-60 and 1961-62) at Utah State, where he averaged 23 points per game at forward for the Aggies from 1959-62. Green is a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame in both the states of Oklahoma and Utah. His brother, Pumpsie Green, had a lengthy career in major league baseball.

A native of Boley, Okla., Cornell and his wife, Betty, have two children, Randy and Ronney, and make their home in Dallas.

Lambert coached 10 years at Vanderbilt, including one season (1997) as offensive coordinator, overseeing an improvement in all major statistical categories from the previous season. Lambert joined the Vanderbilt staff in 1992 after four seasons at Baylor, where he coached the quarterbacks and running backs. He helped lead the Bears to an 8-4 record in 1991 and a berth in the Copper Bowl.

Lambert's other collegiate coaching experience has come at New Mexico (assistant head coach/offensive coordinator, 1987), Iowa State (running backs, 1986), California (running backs, 1982-83), Howard (inside linebackers/defensive ends, 1981) and Boise State (running backs, 1976-80). In his final season at Boise State, the Broncos won the NCAA Div. I-AA national championship.

Lambert coached two seasons in the United States Football League with the Los Angeles Express, tutoring the running backs. He has also served NFL coaching fellowships in training camp with the Philadelphia Eagles (1995), Atlanta Falcons (1993) and Seattle Seahawks (1991).

Lambert, 56, began his coaching career in 1972 at Ravenswood High School in East Palo Alto, Calif., and in 1974, moved to Fremont High School in Oakland, Calif.

A native of Beaumont, Texas (6/23/48), Lambert is a graduate of McClymonds High School in Oakland, Calif. He was an All-Golden Gate Conference defensive lineman at Oakland's Merritt College in 1967 and an All-Coast offensive lineman at California State-Hayward in 1969, helping lead his team to the Far Western Conference championship. Lambert earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from San Jose State in 1972.

He and his wife, Jeanette, have two grown children, Lamar and Charisse.

His duties included performing the first line of evaluation, rating computer-generated reporting on hundreds of college players for 14 NFL clubs, as well as assisting in the planning and execution of the National Invitational Camp, or combine.

A 49-year old native of Mitchell, S.D., Miller was an all-state defensive tackle, team MVP and team captain at Mitchell Senior High School, where he also participated in baseball, basketball and track. He earned a football scholarship to Iowa State in 1973 and transferred the following year to South Dakota State, where he was a three-year starter at offensive tackle and team captain, as well as a two-time All-North Central Conference selection.

Before his stint with NFS, Miller worked 16 years for International Multifoods, ascending from District Sales Coordinator to Director of Operations for the entire West region by 1994.

Adrienne is a graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and attends graduate school at the University of South Dakota. Mike is a former offensive lineman and currently a student assistant coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha while Nolan will attend Augustana College and play baseball.

Dan Rambo

College Scout

Dan Rambo is in the seventh year of his second stint with the Broncos, rejoining the club in May 1998 to scout the Northeast region. He scouted the same region for the Broncos in 1993.

Rambo came to the Broncos from the 1997 Western Division Champion Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Canadian Football League, where he served as Director of Player Personnel. He was also with the Roughriders from 1983-90, holding various positions, including Director of Scouting, Director of Player Personnel and Assistant General Manager.

Rambo accepted a position in Dallas with the World League of American Football in 1990. During the offseason, he was the Director of College Scouting and during the season was Director of European Football Operations, working out of Barcelona, Spain.

Rambo, 52, returned to the CFL in 1992 as General Manager of the Ottawa Rough Riders, helping the team post nine wins to craft its best record in 10 years. During his first stint with Saskatchewan, he recruited most of the players who helped lead the Roughriders to the Grey Cup Championship in 1989. In his one season as a scout with Denver, the Broncos made a Wild Card playoff appearance.

Rambo is a graduate of Carroll College in Helena, Mont., where his sister, Patty, still resides. Another sister, Kathleen, and his mother, Viola, live in Libby, Mont., where Dan was a 1970 graduate of Libby High School. He led the nation in rushing at Carroll in 1974 with an average of 152.1 yards per game and had eight tryouts in the CFL, WFL and the NFL, including one with the Broncos in 1977.

Dan and his wife, Dr. Kathryn McFarland, have two children, daughter Teeghan (8) and son Arthur (7). The family makes its home in Blackburn Hamlet, Ottawa, located in the Canadian providence of Ontario.

In Strahm's first season with the Owls, their defense went from last to first in the Big East Conference in turnover/takeaway margin, tying for 20th nationally with a plus .82 margin per game. They also made great strides in total defense after beginning his career ranked last in the conference. Long Drought

The Broncos' longest current drought between meetings with any NFL opponent is with Tennessee, which the Broncos have not faced since Nov. 26, 1995, when the franchise played in Houston as the Oilers. This streak, however, will come to an end this season, as the Broncos face the Titans at The Coliseum on Dec. 25. In 2001, Denver ended its previous longest drought by facing Indianapolis for the first time in eight years.

Denver Broncos' Winning Tradition

Denver Broncos football enters its 45th season in 2004 as the team seeks to return to the pinnacle of success it enjoyed with back-to-back Super Bowl wins in 1997 and '98. Playing for the fourth year at their glistening new stadium, INVESCO Field at Mile High, the Broncos will perform before sellout crowds for the 35th consecutive season, the first 31 of which came at Mile High Stadium. The team has sold out 261 consecutive regular season games and 274 consecutive including playoff games. Broncos fans have watched their team amass one of the NFL's finest records since the club's first winning season in 1973, enduring just five losing seasons—second fewest in the NFL—as shown in the list below.

This season also marks Pat Bowlen's 21st as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Broncos. During that time, Denver has enjoyed a virtually unmatched level of success in the context of the entire NFL and within the American Football Conference Western Division.

More than 650,000 people descended on downtown Denver Jan. 27, 1998, to salute the World Champion Broncos two days after their victory over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII in San Diego. A parade through the streets of the city culminated in a rally at Civic Center Park, where Colorado Governor Roy Romer and Denver Mayor Wellington Webb officially welcomed the Super Bowl champions home. A similar gathering was held a year later, Feb. 1, 1999, when the Broncos returned home from Miami after defeating Atlanta in Super Bowl XXXIII. Governor-elect Bill Owens and Mayor Webb joined the festivities to salute the back-to-back World Champs.

DENVER LEADS THE AFC IN SUPER BOWL APPEARANCES — The Broncos made their sixth Super Bowl appearance against Atlanta Jan. 31, 1999, the most by any current American Football Conference franchise and the second most in the NFL behind Dallas (8). By winning back-to-back Super Bowls (XXXII and XXXIII) the Denver Broncos became one of just six franchises to "repeat," marking the seventh time the feat has been accomplished.

San Francisco	5	XVI*, XIX*, XXIII*, XXIV*, XXIX*	5-0

COMING BACK STRONGER — Since the Super Bowl was first played after the 1966 season, only three teams have won the game and gone on to post a better record the following season, including the 1997-98 Broncos teams. All three teams not only improved their record, but repeated as Super Bowl champions.

THE BRONCOS' STREAKS — Denver's undefeated home finish in 1998 was the club's third in a row, making the Broncos only the fourth franchise in NFL history to complete three consecutive regular seasons at home without losing a game, and only the third to win every home game for three consecutive years. Furthermore, Denver is the only team to accomplish this feat since the 16-game schedule was implemented in 1978. That adds up to a 24-game win streak at Mile High Stadium for the Broncos, the third-longest home winning streak in NFL history. Overall, the 1998 Broncos began the season by reeling off 13 consecutive wins, the second-best start in NFL history, contributing to an NFL-record-tying 18-game winning streak (regular and postseason combined).

Running Back

38's Trophy Case

NFL Rookie of the Year 2000

Mike Anderson enters his fifth NFL season after making a smooth transition from running back to fullback. He played in 12 games last season and was an integral part of a Broncos rushing attack that ranked second overall in the NFL as he bounced between fullback and tailback. He rushed for 257 yards on 70 carries (3.7) with three touchdowns and added 12 catches for 53 yards and two touchdowns. Anderson ranks seventh in career rushing attempts (626), seventh in rushing yards (2,808), seventh in rushing touchdowns (24) and fourth in career rushing average (4.49). In 2000, Anderson was one of the NFL's best stories. After earning a spot on the 53-man roster as a sixth-round draft choice from Utah, he was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press and shattered every Broncos rookie rushing record. Starting just 12 games, Anderson rushed for more yards (1,487) than all but five other rookie backs in league history. His 251-yard rushing performance at New Orleans late in the season was the best by any rookie in NFL history and was the fourth-best by any player in league annals behind Corey Dillon (278), Walter Payton (275), O.J. Simpson (273) and Shaun Alexander (266). With the offseason departure of Clinton Portis, Anderson looks to compete for a starting roll at tailback and joins Quentin Griffin and rookie Tatum Bell to form one of most talented backfields in the NFL. Humble and hard-working, Anderson has not only taken his accomplishments in stride but also played with pain throughout the final month of his rookie season on an injured left knee that required surgery after the season to repair torn meniscus cartilage. The surgery was successful and put Anderson back at full strength by the start of mini-camp in May 2001. Anderson was the Broncos' sixth-round choice in the 2000 NFL Draft (189th overall) out of Utah.

2003: Anderson played in the first nine games as the primary fullback but missed games 10-13 because of a suspension for violating the NFL's substance-abuse policy. He returned to the Broncos' roster vs. Cle. (12/14). Anderson only registered starts in five of his 12 games (vs. Det., 9/28, at Min., 10/19, vs. N.E., 11/3, at Ind., 12/21 and at G.B., 12/28) because the Broncos opened in a two-tight end formation in the other seven games. He rushed 70 times for 257 yds. (3.7) and three touchdowns with a long of 44 while also adding 12 receptions for 53 yds (4.4) with a long of 18 and two touchdowns. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), he rushed seven times for 15 yards and also recorded a special teams tackle. Anderson began at fullback at S.D. (9/14) but replaced an injured Clinton Portis (bruised sternum) in the second quarter and went on to rush for 65 yds. and a touchdown on 16 carries (3.5). His score came on a 1-yd. run in the third quarter and was the 22nd rushing TD of Anderson's career, tying Jon Keyworth for sixth place on Denver's all-time list. In the home opener vs. Oak. (9/22), he again replaced Portis at tailback and rushed 14 times for 70 yds. and one touchdown while adding two receptions for 5 yds. Anderson left the game with 12:15 to play in the fourth quarter when he injured his right knee. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), he got his first start of the season in place of an injured Clinton Portis (sternum) at tailback. Anderson rushed seven times of 21 yds. (3.0) and caught three passes for 28 yds. (9.3), passing Bobby Humphrey (593) for seventh on Denver's career rushing attempts list. In a Wk. 7 start at Min. (10/19), he rushed one time for 13 yds. and caught one pass for a 1-yd. touchdown. It was the third time on the season that Anderson found the end zone and his first receiving touchdown. In Wk. 9 vs. N.E. (11/3), he registered his second touchdown reception of the year from 1-yd. out on his only reception of the game. Anderson returned to the Broncos vs. Cle. (12/14) after serving a four-week suspension to rush once for 3 yds. and catch one pass for 7 yds. He started in place of an injured Clinton Portis (ankle) at Ind. (12/21), rushing a season-high 19 times for 56 yds. (2.9) and a touchdown. Anderson also added one reception for 4 yds. In the final game of the season at G.B. (12/28), he returned his second kickoff of the season for no gain and tallied a special teams tackle. Anderson saw time at fullback and on special teams in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Anderson played in 15 games and started 12 at fullback, ranking second on the team with 386 rushing yds. on 84 carries (4.6) with a long of 32 and two touchdowns. He also caught 18 passes for 167 yds. (9.3) with a long of 52 and two touchdowns, returned two kickoffs for 39 yds. (19.5) with a long of 23, and made one special teams tackle. Anderson had his heaviest rushing workload of the season vs. K.C. (12/15), carrying the ball 12 times, and posted his best yardage total (59 yds.) since Wk. 2 at S.F. (95). His two kickoff returns for 39 yds. (19.5) came at the Jets (12/8) and were the first of his career. Anderson scored his second rushing touchdown of the season at Sea. (11/17) on a 9-yd. run in the 3rd qtr. as he handled all the fullback duties but did not start because the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end set. In Wk. 8 at N.E. (10/27), he passed Bobby Humphrey (2,386) for seventh on Denver's all-time rushing list. Anderson caught a season-high four passes for 19 yards at K.C. (10/20) and also scored his first rushing touchdown of the season on a 2-yd. run to tie the game at 34 with 21 seconds remaining in regulation. Versus Mia. (10/13), Anderson didn't start because the Broncos opened with two-tight end set but did handle all fullback duties and posted the longest pass reception of his career, a 52-yarder from Brian Griese, en route to a career-best 53 receiving yds. in the game. He also caught a 1-yd. scoring pass from Griese in the 4th qtr. for his second career receiving touchdown, which pulled Denver to within 21-19. Anderson was active but did not play vs. S.D. (10/6) due to a sprained left ankle suffered a week earlier at Balt. (9/30). He left in the 3rd qtr. of that game and did not return. Anderson's first career receiving touchdown came at S.F. (9/15) in Wk. 2 to give Denver a 10-7 lead in the 3rd qtr. In the S.F. game, he also rushed 10 times for a season-best 95 yds.

2001: Anderson played in all 16 games and started seven, rushing for 678 yds. and four touchdowns on 175 carries (3.9) while also catching eight passes for 46 yds. (5.8) with a long of 16. He posted his second-best rushing performance of the season at Dal. (11/22), rushing for 118 yds. on 33 carries (3.6) and one touchdown after replacing Olandis Gary (fractured left fibula) in the 1st qtr. It was his second 100-yd. game of the season and the eighth of his career. Anderson started his seventh game vs. Wash. (11/18)—his final start of the season—with Terrell Davis recovering from arthroscopic surgery and rushed for 31 yds. on 13 carries (2.4). He also caught one pass for 16 yds., his longest reception of the season. Anderson played in a reserve role at Oak. (11/5) with Davis back in the lineup and rushed for 44 yds. on five carries (8.8), as well as taking a hand-off for a two-point conversion. He scored his third touchdown of the season vs. N.E. (10/28) while carrying for 40 yds. on 14 carries (2.9). The touchdown was the 18th of his career, moving him into seventh all-time by a Bronco, ahead of Gerald Willhite. Anderson had a breakout game vs. K.C. (10/7) rushing for 155 yds. on 22 carries (7.0), with two touchdowns, scoring on a season-best 62-yd. run. The 155 yds. represented the fourth-best figure of his career and his best at home. Anderson's previous home high was 131, which he recorded twice during his rookie season. He also logged his fifth career 100-yd. half, gaining 106 in the first chise history to rush for 100 or more yards in three consecutive games. A week earlier at New Orleans (12/3), Anderson posted the best rushing day in franchise history—and fourth best in NFL history—and set an NFL rookie record with 251 yds. on a career-high 37 carries (6.8) to earn both AFC Offensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week. His day included a franchise-record four touchdowns, all on the ground, while his 37 carries tie for second most in team history. Anderson also set a new franchise record with 256 total yds. from scrimmage, and his combined rushing total at N.O. and at Sea. the week before (446 yds.) was the third best two-game total in NFL history (1. O.J. Simpson, 476 in 1976; 2. Walter Payton, 467 in 1977). He surpassed Gary's rookie single-season record of 1,159 yds. (1999) in the game and set a new standard for rushing TDs by a rookie, breaking the record of 7 held by Gary (1999), Terrell Davis (1995) and Bobby Humphrey (1989). In the Saints' game, he became the first player in franchise history to rush for more than 100 yds. in both halves (146/105) and posted his second 100-yd. qtr. in as many weeks (105, 2nd qtr.) Anderson had his previous best day as a pro at Sea. (11/26) and earned AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the first time in his career. He broke his own franchise single-game rookie rushing record with 195 yds. and two touchdowns on 30 carries (6.5), including the longest run of his career, an 80-yd. touchdown dash in the 4th qtr., to provide the winning points in a 38-31 triumph. It was the longest scoring run by a rookie in franchise history and tied for the second longest overall. In the Seattle contest, Anderson rushed for a career-best 153 yds. in a half (2nd), including his first 100-yd. qtr. (115 in the 4th). In his seventh start of the season vs. S.D. (11/19), Anderson posted career-best receiving numbers with six catches for 41 yds. (6.8). He logged his third 100-yard game of the season in Wk. 7 vs. Cleve. (10/15) with 103 yds. on 20 carries (5.2), including a 26-yard touchdown run, his longest of the day. In Wk. 3 at Oakland (9/17), Anderson followed his stunning debut with an even more impressive performance, setting a new Broncos rookie record for single-game rushing and earning Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors. Starting for the second week in a row in place of Davis (ankle), he rushed for 187 yards—including 109 in the second half alone—on 32 carries (5.8) and caught one pass for 2 yds. in Denver's 33-24 road win. He broke Gary's rookie record of 185 yds. (at Det., 12/25/99) in posting the sixth-best rushing day overall in franchise history, and his 32 carries were second most by a Broncos rookie (tied for sixth most overall). Anderson's day included three runs of 20 yards or more (20, 23 and 29), and gave him the most rushing yards ever by a Bronco in his first two starts while ranking as one of just nine rookies in NFL history to rush for 100 yards or more in his first two starts. Anderson made his first NFL start vs. Atlanta (9/10), filling in for the injured Davis, and rushed for 131 yds. and two touchdowns on 31 carries. In doing so, he became the first player in franchise history to rush for more than 100 yards in his first start. It was just Anderson's second NFL game, and his first seeing any offensive action as he played solely on special teams in the opener at St. Louis (9/4). He scored on runs of 2 and 20 yds. in the 1st and 2nd qtrs., respectively, and caught one pass for 18 yds. on the day. Preseason: Anderson played in all four preseason games and finished third on the team in rushing with 88 yards on 21 carries (4.2), with a long of 24 and two touchdowns. He also tied for the team lead with five special teams tackles and returned one kickoff for 26 yards. In the Broncos' AFC Wild Card playoff loss at Baltimore (12/31), Anderson started at halfback and rushed for 40 yds. on 15 carries and caught two passes for 10 yds. (5.0).

COLLEGE: Anderson was a two-time all-conference honoree at Utah, where he finished his two-year career with the best per-game rushing average in school history (102.4). He led the Western Athletic Conference in rushing as a junior with 1,173 yards and 12 touchdowns on 244 carries and served as

CORNERBACK

In one of the biggest acquisitions in recent years, four-time Pro Bowl cornerback Champ Bailey joins the Broncos and will immediately make an impact in the team's secondary. A "lockdown" cornerback, Bailey is regarded as one of the NFL's top covermen and will help to solidify Denver's already strong defense, which finished the 2003 season as the league's No. 4 unit (6th against the pass). In a trade with Washington, the Broncos acquired Bailey and Washington's second-round pick (41st overall) in exchange for running back Clinton Portis. Entering his sixth year in the NFL, Bailey not only is one of the top players at his position, but he is one of the most durable. In five seasons with Washington, Bailey has not missed a game, starting all 80.

Pro Bowl Selections (4) 2000-03

In that time, he has posted 361 total tackles (293 solo), 18 interceptions for 122 yards, 95 passes defensed four fumble recoveries and two forced fumbles. Additionally, he started two games in the postseason (1999) with the Redskins, making six solo tackles. During his tenure in Washington, Bailey earned four consecutive appearances in the Pro Bowl (2000-03). Entering the league following his junior year at Georgia, he was the Redskins' first-round selection (seventh overall) in the 1999 NFL Draft. While at Georgia, Bailey played 33 games (24 starts), posting 147 total tackles, two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble, eight interceptions and 27 passes defensed. He was a unanimous All-American and All-SEC first-team selection and claimed the Bronko Nagurski Award as America's top defensive player.

2003: Bailey—who in 2003 earned his fourth consecutive trip to the Pro Bowl—was a 16-game starter for Washington and finished the season with 72 tackles (61 solo), two interceptions, two fumble recoveries and one forced fumble. In the season opener vs. the New York Jets (9/4), he recorded four tackles (3 solo) and was a part of a defensive secondary that held the Jets to 105 passing yards. Against Atlanta (9/14), Bailey had three tackles, two passes defensed and held the Falcons' top receiver, Pearless Price, to just two receptions for 28 yards. He posted six tackles (4 solo) and five passes defensed vs. the New York Giants (9/21) and recorded six tackles (all solo), one interception (Brady) and one forced fumble vs. New England (9/28). Bailey also made a key play on the Patriots' first possession of the second half when he forced a fumble that was recovered by Matt Bowen at the 1-yard line leading to a Ladell Betts touchdown. At Philadelphia (10/3), he finished with eight tackles and recorded two tackles vs. Tampa Bay (10/12). He recorded six tackles (all solo) at Buffalo (10/19) and posted three tackles (2 solo) and one pass defensed at Dallas (11/2). Versus Seattle (11/9), Bailey had five tackles (2 solo) and followed that up with nine tackles (all solo), two pass defensed and one fumble recovery at Carolina (11/16). Against Miami (11/23), he had four tackles (all solo) and one pass deflection while recording an identical stat line the next week vs. New Orleans (11/30). Bailey had two tackles (1 solo) and his second interception of the season (Collins) plus a fumble recovery and a pass defensed against the New York Giants (12/7) in the Meadowlands. He recorded three tackles (all solo) and two passes defensed at Chicago (12/21) the next week but left the game in the second quarter due to a facial contusion. In the season finale vs. Philadelphia (12/27), he recorded five tackles (4 solo) and one pass deflection.

2002: Bailey once again proved himself as one of the premier cornerbacks in the league, continually shutting down the opponent's top receiving threat while setting a single-season career-high in tackles with 84 (67 solo) and adding three interceptions. His efforts in 2002 were rewarded in the form of his third consecutive bid to the Pro Bowl, the league's annual all-star contest held in Honolulu. In the season opener against Arizona, Bailey posted seven tackles and intercepted Cardinals quarterback Jake Plummer for the sixth time in his career. Against Philadelphia (9/16), he recorded six tackles and saw his first action on offense since 2000, taking a reverse four yards. Against San Francisco (9/22), he recorded four tackles and an interception, and at Tennessee (10/6), he posted six stops and an interception. At Green Bay (10/20), Bailey recorded five tackles and two passes defensed while posting six tackles and two pass defensed at Seattle (11/3). Against New York (11/17), he set his single-game career for passes defensed with seven and had eight stops. He also made his first appearance of the season at punt returner, fielding three punts for seven yards. Against St. Louis (11/24), Bailey made nine stops and had a pass deflection as well as three punt returns for 47 yards. Against Dallas on Thanksgiving, he posted five tackles and three pass defensed and had his best day returning punts with five returns for 69 yards and a long of 38. Against Houston (12/22), he recorded three tackles and three passes defensed.

2001: Bailey started all 16 games in 2001 at cornerback and was named a first alternate on the NFC Pro Bowl squad. He earned an invite to the Pro Bowl after Eagles CB Troy Vincent withdrew due to injury. He finished fifth on the team in tackles (51) and tied for second in interceptions (3). He also is credited with a team-high 18 passes defensed, one forced fumble and a fumble recovery. He opened the season with four tackles, one interception and one fumble recovery at San Diego (9/9). He made three tackles and one pass deflection at Green Bay (9/24) and recorded four tackles and two passes defensed the next week vs. Kansas City (9/30). In Week 4 at NY Giants (10/7), he made four tackles and recorded his first career forced fumble. He held receiver Joey Galloway to only four receptions the next week (10/15) in Dallas. Bailey recorded five tackles vs. Car (10/21) and the next week at NYG, he made one tackle and three passes defensed. In Week 8 vs. Seattle, he picked off a Matt Hasselbeck pass on Seattle's 12-yard line. The interception set up Brett Conway's 43-yard field goal and gave the Redskins the early lead in their 27-14 victory over the Seahawks. Bailey held NFL then-leading receiver Rod Smith to only three catches for 25 yards at Denver (11/18). The next week at Philadelphia he made five tackles, three passes defensed and held the Eagles' leading receiver, James Thrash, to four catches for 32 yards. Bailey matched up against Thrash again in Week 14 (12/16) and held him to only two receptions for 15 yards. He had six tackles and a pass deflection the next week vs. Chicago and recorded four tackles, an interception and three passes defensed at New Orleans (12/30). The Redskins kicked a field goal off the interception and took a lead the Saints could not overcome. In the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6), he held NFL then-leading receiver David Boston to his fewest receptions (2) all season.

2000: Bailey was voted a starting CB on the NFC Pro Bowl team after becoming one of the league's most feared defensive backs. He also helped anchor the NFL's second-rated pass defense. He tallied team-highs in INTs (five) and passes defensed (14). He was seventh on the Redskins in tackles with 66 (52 solo), made five solo stops on special teams and recovered one fumble. Bailey was also a weapon on offense, catching three passes for 78 yards (26.0 avg.), including a long of 42, and rushing for one TD. He was named The Quarterback Club Redskins Player of the Year, beating out RB Stephen Davis and DEs Bruce Smith and Marco Coleman. In Week 1 vs. Carolina, he posted a career-high eight solo tackles. The next week at Detroit, he intercepted two passes, one of them a one-handed grab at the Redskins' 6-yard line on a ball that went through the receiver's hands. Bailey had another huge game in Week 3 vs. Dallas, recovering his first career fumble and returning his first career punt 54 yards after taking a handoff on a reverse from Deion Sanders. The return set up a 33-yard TD drive capped by Stephen Davis' 7-yard run. He also saw his first action at WR in that game. He started at CB and WR in Week 7 vs. Baltimore. In Week 10 at Arizona, he used his exceptional speed to save a TD on a kickoff return, outrunning and tackling MarTay Jenkins. Bailey made a key INT at St. Louis in Week 11, catching a Trent Green pass 9 yards deep in the end zone and returning it 48 yards with 5:38 left, ruining a Rams attempt to trim an 11-point deficit in the Redskins' 33-20 win. The next week vs. Philadelphia, he recorded a pass defensed for the sixth consecutive game and made five tackles (four solo). He caught his first career pass, a 24-yarder, in Week 14 at Dallas. He was Mr. Versatility in the season-finale vs. Arizona, catching two Brad Johnson passes for 54 yards, including a 12-yarder on 3rd-and-seven and a 42-yarder on 3rd-and-five. He also rushed once for a 7-yard TD. Plus, he intercepted a pass, made five solo tackles and posted a season-high four passes defensed. Overall, he participated in 70 plays (eight offense, 53 defense, nine special teams).

1999: As a rookie, Bailey showed he has the tools to be a star CB in the NFL. One of the most versatile and athletic players to enter the league in 1999, he started all 16 regular-season games at CB, finishing second on the Redskins in INTs (five), first in passes defensed (17) and fifth in tackles (83), including 55 solo stops. He also saw consistent action on special teams, collecting 54 blocks and 14 tackles (10 solo). In the Redskins' first preseason game vs. New England, he started and intercepted a Drew Bledsoe pass, returning it 46 yards for a TD. In the season-opener vs. Dallas, he picked off a Troy Aikman pass and made seven tackles. in the first round of the 2003 NFL Draft. Boss is a former All-American linebacker at Georgia. He also participated in the annual Redskins Season Kickoff Cruise to support the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation and sponsors a child at the foundation's "Christmas with the Redskins" party each year. Bailey was a part of the Washington Redskins Leadership Council All Stars public service announcement with children from the Sterling Community Center to promote and encourage community service. Sam Brandon enters his third year with the Broncos, and with the valuable playing time he has earned the past two seasons—including 10 starts last year—will make an impact in Denver's revamped secondary. Last season, he played in 16 games, making a career-best 10 starts, and tallied 47 tackles (44 solo) with and interception and six passes defensed. In 32 career games (12 starts), Brandon has 75 tackles (60 solo), one interception, eight passes defensed with one forced and one fumble recovered. A superb athlete, he began his college career at UNLV as a wide receiver before shifting to free safety as a junior, and he is a big, physical, athlete who can lay down a big hit when needed. The unquestioned leader of the UNLV defense, Brandon received the team's John Robinson Man of the Year Award in 2001 and finished his college career having played in 23 games on defense (all starts) and posted 181 tackles (113 solo), three interceptions and 16 pass deflections. Brandon was the Broncos' 4th-round pick (131st overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

2003: Brandon played in all 16 games, starting 10 at free safety, and posted 57 tackles (44 solo), an interception and six pass deflections. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), he made seven tackles (5 solo) and broke up one pass. He added another pass deflection in Wk. 2 at S.D., as well as five tackles (3 solo). In Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22), Brandon made five tackles. He recorded two solo tackles vs. K.C. (12/7) and a special teams stop vs. Cle. (12/14). At Ind. (12/21), Brandon replaced an injured Nick Ferguson (wrist) early in the 3rd quarter and registered a solo tackle and a special teams tackle. After returning to the starting lineup in the final game of the season, he recorded seven tackles (6 solo), a pass deflection and an interception. Brandon's interception came in the end zone when Brett Favre overthrew tight end Wesley Walls. He started at free safety in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and registered a team-high 10 solo tackles.

2002: Brandon played in all 16 games and made two starts (at K.C., 10/20 and at Sea. 11/17), posting 18 tackles (16 solo), a forced fumble, two passes defensed and a fumble recovery. He added 11 more tackles on special teams to rank fifth on the team and blocked a punt vs. S.D. (10/6) for a safety. Brandon saw significant action on defense in each of the last five games, closing with a solo tackle and a pass defensed in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29). At Oak. (12/22), he posted two solo tackles one week after posting three tackles and his first career pass defensed vs. K.C. (12/15). He made two special teams stops in the Chargers' game (12/1). Brandon started at free safety in place of Izell Reese (groin) at Sea. (11/17) and recorded two tackles and forced a fumble that he also recovered. He saw action on defense vs. Oak. (11/11) and posted two solo tackles. Brandon made his first NFL start at K.C. (10/20), replacing suspended strong safety Kenoy Kennedy, and performed well with six tackles (4 solo). His open-field tackle on Priest Holmes on a third-and-2 play with 3:52 remaining in regulation forced the Chiefs to attempt a field goal, which they missed, setting up Denver's game-tying touchdown drive. Brandon blocked a Darren Bennett punt vs. S.D. (10/6), resulting in a safety to give the Broncos a 16-0 lead in an eventual 26-9 win. He saw his first career defensive action at Balt. (9/30) and made one solo tackle. Brandon's first career special teams tackle came in his NFL debut vs. St. Louis (9/8) when he dropped Lamar Gordon on the 16-yd. line on a kick return.

GUARD/TACKLE

Cooper Carlisle enters his fifth season with the Broncos and looks to soar to new heights after earning his most significant playing time last season. He played in all 16 games, making two starts, including the first of his career at Indianapolis (12/21) in place of the injured Dan Neil. Carlisle picked up another start the next week at Green Bay (12/28) in the regular-season finale. Strong and talented, Carlisle has played in 47 games for the club on both special teams and on the offensive line. He joined the Broncos as the club's second of two fourth round picks (112th overall) in the 2000 NFL Draft.

2003: Carlisle saw action in all 16 games and started two, replacing Dan Neil (ankle) at RG at Ind. (12/21) and at G.B. (12/28), helping the Broncos rush for a franchise-record 2,629 yds. while tying for the fourth-fewest sacks allowed in team history. Most of his action on the season came on special teams, but he also contributed in a reserve role and as a tackle-eligible in goal-line situations in several games. In Week 2 at S.D. (9/14) Carlisle recorded his first-ever reception for his first career touchdown. The score came on a 6-yd. toss from Jake Plummer in the second quarter. Carlisle became the first Broncos offensive lineman to catch a touchdown pass since T Dave Studdard on Sept. 9, 1986, (at Phi.). In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28) he finished the game at LG after regular LG Ben Hamilton moved to center late in the contest to replace the injured Tom Nalen (ankle). In Wk. 8 at Balt. He started at right guard again the following week at G.B. (12/28) with Neil inactive (ankle). Carlisle saw action on special teams and in a reserve role in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Carlisle was declared inactive for 15 of the 16 games. He saw his only action of the season, on special teams, at Balt. (9/30).

Tackle

Pro Bowl Selection 2001

Dwayne Carswell, often referred to as the best blocking tight end on the Broncos' roster, will have a chance in 2004 to make an even bigger impact as a protector. In his 11th year with Denver, Carswell makes the switch to tackle and will compete with Matt Lepsis and George Foster for a starting role. This past offseason, Denver loaded up on tight ends with the acquisitions of Byron Chamberlain, O.J. Santiago and Jed Weaver, and even with the retirement of future Hall of Famer Shannon Sharpe, it is believed that Carswell will make an even greater impact on the offensive line than with the tight ends. Carswell has been one of the team's best performers during his decade-long career, not only as a tight end but also on special teams. His career took a major step in a positive direction in 2001 as he was selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career after having been voted in as an alternate. Carswell's Pro Bowl berth came a year after a breakthrough season in which he more than doubled his previous career bests with 49 receptions for 495 yards and three touchdowns. He had previously distinguished himself as one of the Broncos' top special teams players, being chosen captain of that unit in 1997. Carswell has played in 141 career games (67 starts), catching 168 passes for 1,506 yards (9.0) with a long of 43 yards and 12 touchdowns while making 31 special teams tackles. He has also played in 10 postseason games (2 starts) and caught nine passes for 75 yards (8.3) with a long of 26 and made two special teams tackles. Carswell has played in every game for the Broncos since 1996, competing in 128 consecutive games entering the 2004 season. He began his career with the Broncos in 1994 as a rookie free agent from Liberty University.

2003: Carswell played in all 16 games and started 10, catching six passes for 53 yds. (8.8) and a touchdown, with a long of 19. Nine starts came when the Broncos opened games in a two-tight end set, and his other came at G.B. (12/28) in place of the inactive Shannon Sharpe. Carswell's first catch came in the opener at Cin (9/7). In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), he caught one pass for 7 yds. and added another catch for 6 yds. and his lone touchdown the next week at K.C. (10/5). In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), Carswell caught one pass for 19 yds. on an over-the-shoulder grab of a Danny Kanell pass. The catch was the Broncos longest play from scrimmage on the day. He caught a pass for 5 yds. vs. Chi. (11/23) and added two special teams tackles. He added another catch for 6 yds. at Oak. (11/30) and then started in the season finale at G.B. (12/28) but did not catch a pass. Carswell saw action as a reserve tight end in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and caught two passes for 12 yds. (6.0) with a long of 7.

2002: Carswell played in all 16 games and started seven with four starts coming when the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end set (at Balt., 9/30; vs. S.D., 10/6; vs. Mia., 10/13 and vs. K.C., 12/15) and also in games 11-13 (at Sea., 11/17; vs. Ind., 11/24 and at S.D., 12/1) as the No. 1 tight end, replacing the injured Shannon Sharpe. He caught 21 passes for 189 yds. (9.0), including a 1-yd. touchdown pass from Brian Griese vs. Buf. (9/22). Carswell tied a season high with five receptions at S.D. (12/1) for 54 yards. He also returned a kickoff for 14 yds. (vs. Ind., 11/24). Carswell also caught five passes for a season-high 57 yards (11.4) vs. Oak (11/11).

2001: Carswell—selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the first time—started all 16 games, catching 34 passes for 299 yds. (8.8) with a long of 25 and a career-high four touchdowns. He tied his career single-game best for receptions at K.C. (12/16), with six for 62 yds., matching his effort at Detroit on Christmas Day, 1999. Carswell caught his fourth touchdown of the season at Dal. (11/22) on a 4-yd. pass from Brian Griese to eclipse his previous single-season record. His third touchdown came vs. S.D. (11/11) on a 3-yd. reception from Griese. At Oak (11/5), he caught three balls for a season-high 46 yds. (15.3) with a long of 19. Carswell caught his second touchdown of the season vs. N.E. (10/28) on a 6-yd. pass from Griese in the 3rd qtr. to put Denver ahead 24-20 in an eventual 31-20 win. He caught a season-high four passes for 40 yds. at Sea. (10/14). Carswell's first touchdown of the season came vs. Bal. (9/30) on a 3-yd. toss from Griese. At Ariz. (9/23), he caught two balls for 33 yds. (16.5), with a long of 25, after catching one pass for 25 yds. in the season opener vs. the Giants (9/10).

2000: Carswell started all 16 games at tight end and set career highs in every receiving category by ranking third on the team with 49 receptions for 495 yds. (10.1) and three touchdowns, including a long of 43. He eclipsed his previous career highs for receptions and yds. (24/201, 1999) by Week 8, and his standard for TDs by Game 13. Carswell posted his career-best third touchdown of the season on the longest reception of his career, a 43-yarder from Gus Frerotte at N.O. (12/3). His second came on a 5-yd. pass from Frerotte vs. S.D. (11/19). Carswell's 35-yd. reception at Cin. (10/22) was the longest of his career at the time, en route to a career-high 68 yds. on four receptions. His touchdown came on a 14-yd. pass from Brian Griese at S.D. (10/8), among his three catches for 29 yds. (9.7). Carswell posted a season-high five receptions vs. Atl. (9/10) for a then career-high 54 yds. (10.8), and matched the receptions figure with five for 30 yds. (6.0) vs. Cleve. (10/15). He tied his season-high again with five receptions for 50 yds. (10.0) vs. Oak. (11/13). Carswell started at tight end in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and caught two passes for 8 yds. (4.0) with a long of 6.

1999: Carswell played in all 16 games and started the last 11, catching 24 passes for 201 yds. (8.4) and two touchdowns, with a long of 20, while also contributing on special teams. He set a new career high with six receptions at Detroit (12/25), for 35 yds., and scored his second touchdown of the season on a 9-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 4th qtr. Carswell twice caught three passes for 31 yds. (at New England, 10/24 and vs. Minnesota, 10/31), and caught three for 22 at Jax. (12/13). His first touchdown of the season came on a 9-yd. reception from Griese in the 4th qtr. vs. Seattle (12/19). Carswell took over the starting tight end position after Shannon Sharpe went down in Wk. 5 at Oakland (10/10) with a broken clavicle and shared playing time with Byron Chamberlain.

1998: Carswell played in all 16 games as the second tight end and caught four passes for 51 yds. (12.8) with a long of 15, as well as on special teams, where he made 10 tackles and forced a fumble (at K.C., 11/16). He started at Seattle (10/11) when the Broncos opened in a two-tight end alignment. Carswell saw action as the second tight end and on special teams in all three postseason games and caught one pass for 7 yds. while making one special teams tackle. The pass reception came in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17/99) while the special teams tackle came in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9).

1997: Carswell contributed in a reserve role at tight end and on special teams in all 16 games and made two starts as Denver opened the game in a two-tight end set at Buffalo (10/26) and Kansas City (11/16). For the year, he recorded 12 receptions for 96 yards (8.0), and scored his first career touchdown on a career-best 24-yard reception from John Elway vs. St. Louis (9/14). In that game, Carswell tied his career high for receptions (4) and set a new career high for receiving yards (47). He also injured tissue on the top of his left foot during the St. Louis game and was held out of practice the following week but did not miss a game. Carswell made 12 special teams tackles on the season while he also recovered a fumble on a kickoff at Buffalo (10/26). He was named the Broncos' special teams captain at midseason, joining offensive captains John Elway and Terrell Davis and defensive captains Steve Atwater and Bill Romanowski. In the postseason, Carswell saw action at tight end in all four postseason games and caught two passes for 30 yards (15.0) with a long of 26 while also contributing one tackle on special teams. In Denver's 31-24 victory in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25/98), Carswell caught one pass for four yards and also contributed on special teams. His other postseason grab, a 26-yarder, came in Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98).

1996: Carswell saw action in all 16 regular-season games and started one at tight end in place of Shannon Sharpe (at San Diego, 12/22). Most of his action during the regular season came on special teams and as the second tight end on offense. For the season he caught 15 passes for 85 yards and made five special teams tackles according to unofficial press box statistics. He caught a career-high four passes (16 yards) vs. Oakland (12/15) in the Broncos' 24-19 victory and later started at tight end in place of Shannon Sharpe (ankle) at San Diego (12/22) in Denver's regular season finale and caught three passes for 24 yards. Carswell started as the second tight end for Denver against the Chargers on Oct. 6, as the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end set. He caught a 3-yard pass and made one special teams tackle. He also saw plenty of action at tight end in Denver's regular season opener against the Jets as Shannon Sharpe was nursing a slightly sprained ankle. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville, Carswell saw action as the backup tight end, catching two passes for 18 yards with a long of 10 and also contributed on special teams in his first career postseason game.

1995: Carswell was declared inactive for seven of the Broncos' first 13 games before making his first career start against Seattle Dec. 10. He replaced the injured Shannon Sharpe (eye) and Jerry Evans (knee) in the starting lineup and did so again the following week at Kansas City (12/17) when he caught two passes for 32 yards, including a career-best 23-yarder. He sprained his ankle on the second play of the game but played through it. For the year, Carswell caught three passes for 37 yards and made two special teams tackles. His first action of the season came at Seattle (10/1) when he played on special teams, and he made his first appearance on offense versus Arizona (11/5). Carswell's first career start came Dec. 10 against Seattle when he caught his first career pass, a 5-yarder from John Elway in the second quarter. He was inactive for the first four games of the season.

1994: Carswell spent the first 11 weeks of the season on the practice squad before being moved to the active roster during the week of the Cincinnati game (11/27). He played on special teams during that game and then saw his first duty at tight end the following week at Kansas City (12/4). Carswell again saw action in the following two games, recovering a fumble against the Raiders (12/11), but was inactive in the season finale against New Orleans (12/24).

COLLEGE: Carswell finished his career at Liberty with 65 receptions for 511 yards and two touchdowns while posting senior-year totals of 32 receptions for 259 yards (7.9) in 1993. He also played in the Flames' offensive backfield for two seasons, finishing 1991 with 435 yards rushing and five touchdowns. Carswell was coached at Liberty by former Cleveland Browns' head coach Sam Rutigliano.

PERSONAL: Carswell, a native of Jacksonville, Fla., earned all-state honors as a junior and senior at Temple and University Christian High Schools. He was named second-team all-state as a sophomore at Temple and also earned all-conference, all-district and all-county honors during his high school career as a safety, running back and wide receiver. Carswell was named in 1999 to the Top 100 Athletes of Jacksonville list. He and his wife, Tamara, make their home in Aurora, Colo., with their daughters, Ashley and Aaron.

Pro Bowl Selection 2001

Byron Chamberlain returns to Denver for his second stint with the Broncos after playing the past three seasons in Washington (2003) and Minnesota (2001-02). With the offseason retirement of Shannon Sharpe, Chamberlain looks to fill a void left by his former teammate. In 106 career games (25 starts), he has posted 167 catches for 2,048 yards (12.3) with six touchdowns and a long of 88. Chamberlain has also appeared in eight postseason games, where he caught five passes for 55 yards (11.0) with a long of 16. After leaving the Broncos following the 2000 season, the 10-year NFL veteran enjoyed his finest season as a pro in his first year with the Vikings (2001). He led all NFC tight ends with 57 catches for 666 yards (11.7) and three touchdowns, and he earned his first trip to the Pro Bowl. The catch total ranked in a tie for fourth all-time among Vikings tight ends for a single season, matching the 57 Steve Jordan had in 1988 and 1981. Chamberlain was drafted by the Broncos in the seventh round (222nd overall) in 1995 out of Wayne State and played his first six years in NFL with Denver. He spent the 1996 World League season with the Rhein Fire and led the league with 58 receptions for 685 yards (11.8) and a league-leading eight touchdowns. Chamberlain re-signed with the Broncos on May 14, 2004.

2003: Chamberlain started the season with Minnesota but missed the first four games because of a suspension for violating the NFL's substance-abuse policy. He was waived by the Vikings (9/29) and signed with Washington. In four games (1 start), Chamberlain caught four passes for 29 yards (7.3) with a long of 15. In his first game with Washington vs. Tampa Bay (10/12), he recorded three receptions for 23 yards.

2002: Chamberlain, who played 13 games (9 starts), finished his second year in Minnesota fifth on team in receptions (34) and fourth in receiving yards (389). He caught the longest pass of the season by a Viking with 61-yarder at Chicago (9/8) in the season opener and later posted a season-high six catches at NY Jets (10/20). Chamberlain eclipsed the 50-yard mark in receiving yards on three occasions: 61 at Chicago (9/8) on one catch, 54 vs. Detroit (10/13) on five receptions and 50 at New Orleans (12/15) on four catches.

2001: Chamberlain, in his first year with Minnesota, earned his first Pro Bowl berth and led all NFC tight ends in receptions. On the season, Chamberlain caught 57 passes for 666 yards (11.7) with three touchdowns, including a 47 yarder, starting 15 of the 16 played. The catch total ranked in a tie for fourth all-time among Vikings tight ends for a single season, matching the 57 Steve Jordan had in 1988 and 1981. In the season opener vs. Carolina (9/9), Chamberlain set the bar with a season-high seven catches—a mark he would match on two other occasions—for 83 yards. The next week, he hauled in five catches for 50 yards at Chicago (9/23) and posted a season-high 88 yards on four catches Tampa Bay (9/30). Chamberlain scored his first touchdown as a Viking on a 19-yard pass from Daunte Culpepper at New Orleans (10/7), finishing the game with two catches for 48 yards. He tied his season high with seven catches vs. Chicago (11/25), and caught his second touchdown of the season vs. Tennessee (12/9), ending the day with four catches for 45 yards. Against Jacksonville (12/23), Chamberlain again matched his season-high with seven catches for 60 yards. He closed out the regular season with a season-long catch for his third touchdown on a 47-yard pass Green Bay (12/30).

2000: Chamberlain saw action in a reserve role and on special teams in 15 games and caught 22 passes for 283 yds. (12.9) and one touchdown while adding three tackles on special teams. His touchdown came in Denver's 27-24 win over Oak. (11/13) on Monday Night Football, on an 11-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 4th qtr., part of his season-best 58-yd. effort. Chamberlain caught a career-high six passes for 55 yds. (9.2) with a long of 14 at S.D. (10/8). A week earlier, he had two catches for 35 yds. (17.5) with a long of 26 vs. N.E. (10/1). Chamberlain's first catch-a 38-yarder-came in the season opener at St. Louis (9/4) on a third-and-16 play from Denver's own 2-yd. line. Chamberlain was declared inactive at Oak. (9/17) because of a hamstring strain. In the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31), he played in a reserve role and on special teams, making one special teams tackle and returned a kickoff for 15 yds.

1999: Chamberlain played in all 16 games and ranked third on the team with a career-high 32 receptions for 488 yards (15.3) and two touchdowns with a long of 88. Chamberlain had already established personal single-season highs for both yards and receptions by Weeks 6 and 7, respectively, and his 15.3 yds.-per-catch average was the highest on the team. He also had three tackles on special teams. Chamberlain saw increased playing time at tight end the final 11 games after Shannon Sharpe went down with a broken clavicle, which subsequently landed him on injured reserve. Chamberlain's 88-yd. reception on a shovel-pass from Brian Griese vs. Green Bay (10/17) was the longest non-scoring pass play in franchise history, propelling him to his first career 100-yd. game (3-123). The play also represented the seventh-longest pass play overall in club history, and was the longest in the AFC (T3rd NFL) in 1999. Chamberlain matched his career-high with five receptions and scored his first career touchdown vs. Minnesota (10/31). The score came on a 1-yd. pass from Griese that allowed Denver to tie the game at 20 in the 4th qtr. Chamberlain's second touchdown came on a 57-yd. pass from Griese at Jacksonville (12/13) that tied the game at 24 with 1:43 to play.

1998: Chamberlain saw action at tight end and on special teams in all 16 games and caught three passes for 35 yards (11.7) with a long of 16 while making five special teams tackles. He caught a pass in each of the first two games, for 7 yds. vs. New England (9/7) and 12 yds. vs. Dallas (9/13), and waited until the season-finale vs. Seattle (12/27) to add another, for a season-long 16 yds. Chamberlain played in all three postseason games and caught five passes for 55 yards (11.0) with a long of 16. His first two postseason receptions (for 26 yds.) came in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/31), including the aforementioned 16-yarder. Chamberlain stepped in for an injured Shannon Sharpe (knee) in the second quarter of Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31) and came through with three receptions for 29 yds. with a long of 13. He also recovered two Atlanta on-side kicks in the 4th qtr. to help seal Denver's 34-19 win.

1997: Chamberlain saw action in 10 of the 16 games as a reserve tight end and special teams performer and caught two passes for 18 yards (9.0), with a long of 9, both coming against St. Louis on Sept. 14 in a 35-14 Broncos victory. He also returned one kickoff for 13 yards (at Kansas City, 11/16). Chamberlain was inactive at Atlanta (9/28), vs. New England (10/6), vs. Seattle (11/2), at San Francisco (12/15) and vs. San Diego (12/21), and was active but did not play at Pittsburgh (12/7). He returned a kickoff for 13 yards at Kansas City (11/16/97). His fumble at the end of the return was recovered by teammate Vaughn Hebron. In the postseason, Chamberlain appeared in three of the four games at tight end and on special teams (exception was Super Bowl XXXII).

1996: Chamberlain saw action in 11 regular-season games on special teams and at tight end, catching 12 passes for 129 yards (10.8). He also returned three kickoffs for 49 yards (16.3) and made one special teams tackle. Chamberlain was inactive for the first three games while recovering from a ruptured tendon in his left ring finger. He returned to practice Sept. 18 after missing six weeks, then saw his first game action of the season at Kansas City (9/22). On Oct. 6 vs. San Diego, Chamberlain established a new career high with two receptions for 18 yards, including his first of the year — a 12-yarder on which he put a nice spin move on two San Diego defenders to gain several extra yards. His longest career reception was a 17-yarder vs. Seattle (12/1). Chamberlain set career highs in both receptions (5) and receiving yards (61) vs. Oakland (12/15). On Dec. 22 at San Diego, Chamberlain saw action at tight end, making three catches for 22 yards. In the AFC Divisional Playoffs vs. Jacksonville (1/4/97), he saw action on offense and also contributed on special teams, returning one kickoff for 15 yards.

1995: Chamberlain was signed to the active roster Nov. 24 after spending the first 11 games of the season on the practice squad. His first professional game came at Houston (11/26). Chamberlain was elevated to the second-string tight end position for the final three games of the season while Shannon Sharpe was out with an eye injury and Jerry Evans was placed on injured reserve with a knee injury. For the season, Chamberlain caught one pass for 11 yards (at Oak., 12/24) and had two special teams tackles. The reception, from John Elway, came during Denver's game-tying drive in the fourth quarter, as the Broncos went on to win 31-28.

COLLEGE: Chamberlain set a school record for receptions at Wayne State with 161 and ranks third on the all-time list for receiving yards with 1,941. He began his college career at Missouri, where he was an All-Big Eight Conference honorable mention selection in 1991. Chamberlain started all 10 games as a senior at Wayne State in 1994, registering a school-record 83 catches for 926 yards (11.2 avg.), and seven touchdowns. He also rushed seven times for 100 yards (14.3) and one touchdown. Chamberlain was a Division II first-team All-America choice by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft. Chamberlain sat out the 1992 season following his transfer from Missouri, where he had spent three seasons. He played in every game as a freshman in 1989, catching three balls for 92 yards (30.7) and one touchdown, before redshirting in 1990 and then returning for his sophomore season in 1991 when he earned All-Big Eight honorable mention. Chamberlain was a sports management major at Wayne State.

PERSONAL: Chamberlain was a third-team all-state selection as a wide receiver at Eastern Hills High School in Fort Worth, Texas. He was also an all-district and All-Tarrant County first-team choice. He caught 34 passes for 645 yards (19.0 avg.) and seven touchdowns, adding 216 yards rushing with a pair of scores on 13 carries as a senior. He had 70 receptions for 1,390 yards (19.9) and 15 touchdowns during his career. He also lettered twice in track and three times in baseball. His sister, Dhana, was the district champ in the triple jump at Eastern Hills in 1987. Chamberlain was born Oct. 17, 1971, in Honolulu.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Dorsett Davis, who has shown good improvement each of his first two seasons in Denver, looks to take his game to the next level in year three. He went from inactive status as a rookie to a valuable reserve in 2003, helping the Broncos to a No. 4 overall ranking on defense in the NFL and seventh against the rush. In 14 games, Davis made 19 tackles (11 solo), one pass defensed and one forced fumble. As a rookie, Davis made the team's 53-man roster but was inactive each of the 16 games. Denver picked up Davis after making a draft-day trade to acquire the third-round draft pick it used. An imposing physical specimen from Mississippi State, Davis was a two-year starter at Mississippi State after transferring from Mississippi Delta Community College. In 32 career games, he recorded 150 tackles (79 solo), including four sacks (-28 yds.) and 13 tackles for losses (-55). He was the Broncos' third round (96th overall) selection in the 2002 NFL Draft.

2003: Davis saw action as a reserve in 14 games and recorded 19 tackles (11 solo), a pass deflection and a forced fumble, which came in Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22). He was declared inactive vs. N.E. (11/3) and was active but did not play at Ind. (12/21). In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), Davis registered two solo tackles and had a pair of stops (1 solo) two weeks later at Balt. (10/26). Against S.D. (11/16), Davis recorded two tackles (1 solo) and his first career pass deflection while adding two stops (1 solo) a week later vs. Chi. (11/23). He posted a career-high three solo tackles vs. K.C. (12/7). Davis was active but did not play in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Davis was declared inactive for all 16 games.

COLLEGE: Davis played in all 11 games and started 10 at left defensive tackle in 2001, recording 55 tackles (28 solo), including a 2-yd. sack, and had five stops for losses of 9 yds. He was also credited with three quarterback pressures and two pass deflections. In his junior year, Davis started nine of the first 10 games at left defensive end with his only non-start coming vs. Auburn when he came off the bench. For the season, he recorded 54 tackles (30 solo), including a 5-yd. sack and four stops for losses of 9 yds., and also caused a fumble and deflected five passes. In 1999, Davis was a valuable reserve defensive end in his first season at Mississippi State, recording 41 tackles (21 solo), including two sacks (-21 yds.), and four stops for losses (-37) and three pass deflections. Davis' first sack came vs. Oklahoma State (-11), and his second came vs. Kentucky (-10). While playing at Mississippi Delta Community College in 1998, Davis was rated the third-best strongside defensive tackle in the country by Max Emfinger in his National Bluechips newsletter, a listing that combined both high school and junior college prospects. Davis started 10 games at left defensive end after not playing in his first year of eligibility in junior college in 1997.

PERSONAL: Davis was a USA Today honorable mention All-American on the defensive line following his senior season at East Side High School in Cleveland, Miss. He ranked with the top prep defensive linemen in the Southeast by many publications, and was considered a top prospect regardless of position by most. Davis was also selected to the Mississippi squad for the Alabama/Mississippi All-Star Football Classic after posting 102 tackles and eight sacks during his senior season, helping his team to an 11-1 record and a state playoff appearance. As a junior he made 83 tackles, including nine quarterback sacks, and recovered four fumbles. Davis was also a standout basketball player and track athlete, averaging 17 points and 10 rebounds during his junior season on the hardwood and finishing second in the state with a shot-put toss of 50'-2". Dorsett Terrell Davis was born Jan. 24, 1979, in Shelby, Miss.

FULLBACK

Reuben Droughns has taken advantage of the opportunity to join the Broncos as a back-up fullback and parlayed it into great success on Denver's second-ranked rushing attack in 2003. In his fifth year out of Oregon, he has played in 40 career games (7 starts) and rushed for 97 yards and a touchdown while catching 18 passes for 161 yards and four scores. He has also contributed immensely on kickoff returns, totalling 809 yards on 32 returns for an average of 25.3 and a long of 53. Droughns' biggest contributions have come at fullback, where he helped Denver's backs set a franchise record with 2,629 rushing yards last season. He entered the NFL in 2000 as Detroit's third-round draft choice (81st overall) and spent his first season on injured reserve with a right shoulder injury suffered in the preseason. Droughns spent time on Detroit's active roster and the Dolphins' practice squad in 2001. Detroit did not renew his contract following the season, and he signed with Denver April 1, 2002.

2003: Droughns saw action in 15 games at fullback, starting four and missing only the season finale at G.B. (12/28) as an inactive. He caught nine passes for 87 yds. (9.7) and two touchdowns while rushing six times for 14 yds. (2.3) with a long of 12. Droughns also ranked third on the team with 14 special teams tackles and returned 12 kickoffs for 293 yds. (24.4) with a long of 36. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), Droughns saw action in a reserve role and made two tackles on special teams. Droughns replaced Mike Anderson at fullback at S.D. (9/14) when Anderson moved to tailback for the injured Clinton Portis. He caught one pass for 12 yds. and a touchdown on a rollout from Jake Plummer to give the Broncos a 7-

0 lead in the first quarter. Droughns also recorded one special teams tackle and returned a kickoff for 36 yds. In the home opener vs. Oak. (9/22), he again replaced Anderson at fullback when Anderson moved to tailback and caught one pass for 9 yds. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), Droughns served as the primary fullback as well as played on special teams and recording one tackle. He saw action on special teams and in the backfield in Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), recording his first rush of the season (-1) and registering a special teams tackle. In Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), Droughns saw considerable time in the backfield, tying a career high with three receptions for a career-high 28 yds. (9.3). On special teams, he made a tackle and returned two kickoffs for 40 yds. (20.0). In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), Droughns took over the kick return duties for the injured Chris Cole and set career highs in kickoff returns (5) and kick-return yards (100) for an average of 20.0 per return with a long of 31. He also made one special teams tackle. Droughns got his first start of the season at fullback against S.D. (11/16) for the suspended Mike Anderson and did not register an offensive statistic but came up big on special teams with three tackles. He registered another well-rounded game at Oak. (11/30) with a season-high four carries for 16 yds. (4.0), including a long of 12, as well as one reception for 6 yds. He also returned a kickoff for 32 yds. and made a tackle on special teams. Droughns turned in one of his finest all-around games of the season vs. K.C. (12/7), tying a career-high with three catches for a career-high 32 yds. (10/7) and a touchdown while also adding three kick returns for 85 yds. (28.3) and making two special teams stops. He also suffered a sprained ankle in the game, which limited his playing time in the next two games vs. Cle. (12/14) and at Ind. (12/21). Droughns was inactive at G.B. (12/28) to help heal his ankle injury after the Broncos secured a playoff spot a week earlier. He started at fullback in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and caught five passes for 19 yds. (3.8) with a long of 10. He also tied a franchise postseason record by returning six kickoffs, covering 133 yds. (22.2) with a long of 33.

2002: Droughns played in all 16 games, rushing four times for 11 yds. (2.8) and one touchdown and catching five passes for 53 yds. (10.6) with a long of 22 for a touchdown. He also excelled on special teams, tying for second on the team with 13 tackles and returning 20 kickoffs for 516 yds. (25.8)-third-best in the AFC, tied for sixth in the NFL-with a long of 53. Droughns also forced a fumble (at N.E., 10/27) and recovered a fumble (at Oak., 12/22) on kick returns. Droughns' receiving touchdown came on a 22-yd. pass from Steve Beuerlein at S.D. (12/1) in the 2nd qtr. and was the longest reception of his career. Versus Ind. (11/24), he posted the longest kickoff return of his career, 53 yds., en route to a career-high three returns for 97 yds. (32.3) in a game in which he also rushed once for 9 yds., caught a pass for 8 yds. and made a special teams tackle. At Sea. (11/17), Droughns returned kickoffs for the first time in his career with three returns for 72 yards (24.0), including a long of 30 yards, while also posting what was at the time the longest pass reception of his career for 17 yds. Droughns recorded a season-high three special teams tackles at K.C. (10/20). He saw his first offensive action in Wk. 3 vs. Buf. (9/22) and was the primary fullback vs. S.D. (10/6) in place of the injured Mike Anderson (ankle), though he did not start because the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight end alignment. Droughns scored his first career rushing touchdown at Balt. (9/30) on a 1-yd. carry.

2001: Droughns played in nine games and started three for the Lions, rushing for 72 yards on 30 carries (2.4) and catching four passes for 21 yards (5.3) and a touchdown (vs. Tampa Bay, 11/11/01). He was waived by Detroit after Week 1 (9/12) and was signed to Miami's practice squad Sept. 18 before being re-signed by the Lions Oct. 9. His career-high for rushing attempts was 13 (vs. Tampa) and for yards is 36 (at S.F., 11/4/01). He also had a 15-yard run against the Niners.

2000: Droughns spent the season on injured reserve after separating his right shoulder on his first carry in Detroit's opening preseason game vs. New England (8/4). He was placed on injured reserve Aug. 22. Droughns was drafted by the Lions in the third round (81st overall) out of Oregon.

COLLEGE: Droughns was a two-year starter at Oregon after a stellar two-year career at Merced (Calif.) Junior College and was a first-team All-Pac-10 choice as a senior. He ranks sixth on Oregon's all-time rushing list with 2,058 yards. Droughns had 1,234 yards and nine touchdowns on 277 carries (4.5) as a senior, including rushing for more than 200 yards in three contests. In his first game for Oregon, he ran for 202 yards and two scores against Michigan State. One of his most impressive performances came at UCLA, where he ran for 172 yards and a score despite fracturing his right fibula during the contest, an injury that would force him to miss the rest of the season. He was a JUCO All-American at Merced after leading the nation in yards in 1997 with 1,611 and leading the state of California in all-purpose yardage with 1,984. Prep Star Magazine deemed him the nation's top JUCO running back after that campaign. He was an honorable mention All-American as a freshman.

PERSONAL: Droughns finished his career at Anaheim (Calif.) High School as the No. 2 rusher in Orange County history with 4,915 yards and 49 touchdowns. He ran for an incredible 2,083 yards as a sophomore in 1993. Droughns is one of four sons. Droughns was born Aug. 21, 1978, in Chicago.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Nick Eason will look to make an impact on Denver's defensive line in his second season with the Broncos coming off a rookie campaign spent on injured reserve. After suffering an Achilles injury during training camp, he spent 2003 on injured reserve. This past offseason, fully recovered from the injury, Eason played in NFL Europe for the Scottish Claymores. Drafted by the Broncos with the second of their three fourth-round picks in 2003 (114th overall), the three-year starter at Clemson recorded 153 tackles (87 solo) with 15 sacks for -128 yards, 30 stops for losses of 194 yards and 38 quarterback pressures. Following his senior year, he was named to the Goodworks Team by the American Football Coaches Association and became just the second Tiger to be honored. He was the only Atlantic Coast Conference player to be named to the team, which honors players for their considerable community service activities.

2003: Eason spent the season on injured reserve after suffering an Achilles injury in training camp.

COLLEGE: Eason, who started 35 of 47 games played at Clemson, recorded 153 tackles (87 solo) with 15 sacks for -128 yards, 30 stops for losses of 194 yards and 38 quarterback pressures. Additionally, he caused and recovered a pair of fumbles and deflected six passes. Eason was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference first-team selection his senior year after starting all year at weakside defensive tackle and was the first player in school history to graduate with two years of eligibility remaining. On the season, he recorded 62 tackles (36 solo) and ranked second on the team with seven sacks for minus 63 yards. Additionally, he picked up nine stops for losses of 70 yards and had 17 quarterback pressures. As a junior, Eason started every game at strongside defensive tackle except one (vs. North Carolina State), recording 37 tackles (19 solo) with seven stops for losses of 19 yards and 10 quarterback pressures. He also had two fumble recoveries and deflected two passes. Eason was named Clemson's Defensive MVP as a sophomore, which was quite an honor considering he was a member of a defense that featured four first-team All-ACC players (award was voted on by the Clemson coaches). He also won the Hustle Award on defense and the Dedication Award for the defense. Eason tied with All-American Keith Adams as the team leader in quarterback sacks with seven (tied for eighth in the ACC) and ranked 12th on the Clemson team and second among defensive linemen in tackles with 36 (21 solo). Of those 36 tackles, his 11 stops for losses of 97 yards ranked second behind Adams. As a redshirt freshman, Eason started the season opener at weakside defensive end vs. Marshall and appeared in every game, recording 18 tackles (11 solo), one sack for 2 yards and three stops for losses of 8 yards.

PERSONAL: Eason graduated from Clemson in August 2001 with a degree in sociology and is presently working on his master's degree in Human Resource Development. One of the leaders at Clemson in terms of community service, he was honored with a Top Six Award, which is presented by the ACC to the top six student-athletes at each school recognizing them for their community service. He was named a Top Six winner each of the past four years and is the only ACC athlete to hold that distinction. After football, he aspires to work for the secret service. An active participant in FCA, he traveled to Spain with an FCA group, where he lectured to youth groups about American sports and also worked out with a Spanish Rugby team. Eason attended Toombs County (Lyons, Ga.) High School and averaged more than 10 tackles per game as a senior and collected 75 tackles, eight sacks and seven recovered fumbles as a junior. He earned Class 2A all-state honors as a tight end and all-conference as a junior and senior in addition to being a WTOC first-team selection. A four-year letterman in football, he played in the Georgia North/South All-Star Game. Eason also was named the Class 2A Georgia Basketball Player of the Year and earned All-Region on the hardcourt. Adding a third sport to his resume, Eason was a two-year letterman in track, and also received the U.S. Marine Corp Excellence Award. Born Nicholas Eason on May 29, 1980, he resides in Lyons, Ga.

Kicker

Jason Elam, back in the fold after signing a new long-term contract with the team last year, continues to rank among the elite kickers in the National Football League as he enters his 12th professional season. The three-time Pro Bowl selection (1995, '98, 2001 seasons) has scored more than 100 points in each of his 11 pro seasons, becoming the first player in NFL history to accomplish that feat. Elam, among his other impressive statistics, took a step toward football immortality in October 1998 when he tied the NFL record for longest field goal, converting a 63-yard attempt vs. Jacksonville (10/25/98). He also holds the NFL record for consecutive point-after attempts converted (371 straight) dating back to Nov. 14, 1993, which came to an end in 2002 vs. Indianapolis (11/24). Elam is the Broncos' all-time leading scorer (1,313) and just the 30th player in NFL history to pass the 1,000-point plateau. And after surpassing the 1,300 point plateau in 2003, he became the fastest player in NFL history to achieve that number utilizing only 177. He also scored the 20,000th point in the history of Monday Night Football at Oakland on Nov. 5, 2001. Elam holds club records for career field goals (288), field-goal attempts (364), field-goal percentage (.791) and PATs made (449) and attempted (451). Additionally, he holds the top four single-season marks in club history for field goals, PATs and PAT attempts, as well as the top two marks for field-goal percentage (.861 in 2001 and .852 in 1998) while scoring in all 156 career games, the longest streak in franchise history. His excellence is nearly unmatched around the league as he leads the NFL in total points scored and field goals made over the past 10 seasons. He is the all-time NFL leader in career point-after-attempt percentage (449/451, .996) and is the NFL's fifth most accurate kicker on field goal attempts from inside 40 yards (192/206; .932). Elam's 51-yard field goal in Super Bowl XXXII was the second longest in Super Bowl history (54 yds., Steve Christie, Buf., SB XXVIII) as well as the longest in Broncos postseason history, and his 6-for-6 output on point-after attempts in the AFC Wild Card Game vs. Jacksonville (12/27/97) also set a Broncos postseason record. Elam now ranks second in all-time postseason scoring by a Bronco (64 points) and has made more point-after attempts (31) in the postseason than any other player in franchise history. Elam ranks second in field goals made (11) in the postseason by a Bronco, and his 14 attempts rank second all-time. In the regular season, Elam is 30-46 (.652) from 50-59, and 1-4 in the 60+ range, missing from 66 yds. vs. Seattle in 1995 (12/10); 64 vs. Seattle in 1999 (12/19) and 65 vs. the Giants in 2001 (9/10). His streak of three consecutive games with a field goal of 50 or more yards (last game of 1996 through second game of 1997) tied Elam with three other NFL players (Horst Muhlmann, 1970; Tom Dempsey, 1971; and Chris Bahr, 1981) for the longest such streak since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970. Elam was named the 2001 NFL Special Teams Player of the Year by the NFL Alumni and was honored in October 1996 as one of the Broncos' three nominees for the True Value/NFL Man of the Year Award. Additionally, he has twice been named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week (Week 8, 1998 and Week 9, 1999) and has earned one AFC Special Teams Player of the Month award (Nov. 2001). He has kicked 14 game-winning or game-saving field goals in his outstanding career. Elam was selected by the Broncos in the third round (70th overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft out of Hawaii.

2003: Elam played in all 16 games and converted 27-of-31 field goal attempts (.871) and all 39 point-after attempts to account for 120 points, third most in the AFC (4th NFL) among kickers. He finished the season ranked 19th on the NFL's all-time scoring list with 1,313 points after passing Jim Breech (1,246) in Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12). Elam now trails Baltimore's Matt Stover (1,362) by 49 points for 18th place. Elam tied for third in the AFC (5th NFL) in 2003 in field goals. He owns the NFL record for consecutive PATs (371) and has made 449 of 451 (.996) in his career, the highest career percentage for PATs in NFL history. For his career, Elam has connected on 31-of-50 (.620) field goal attempts from 50+ yards (30/46, .652, from 50-59 and 1-4, .250, from 60+). In the opener at Cin. (9/7), he was perfect on three field goal attempts (51, 27, 39) and converted all three PAT attempts to account for 12 of the Broncos' 30 points. With those 12 points, Elam eclipsed the 1,200-point plateau to reach 1,205 and did so in fewer games than any player in NFL history (157 games). In Wk. 2 at S.D. (9/14), Elam connected on 3-of-3 field goals (30, 34, 45) and all four PATs to tally 13 points for the Broncos. In Wk. 3 vs. Oak (9/22), he hit all four PATs and converted on a 20-yd. field goal, his only field goal attempt of the game. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), Elam accounted for eight of the Broncos' points by connecting on two field goals (37, 41) and on two-of-two PATs. In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), Elam connected on 3-of-4 FGs (48, 29, 21; missed 53) and both PAT attempts. The 53-yd. attempt was his first miss of the year and ended his streak of 16 consecutive field goals made, which is the second-longest streak in franchise

Longest PAT Streak in NFL History

Jason Elam broke Norm Johnson's NFL record of 301 consecutive point-after attempts when he went 5-5 at New Orleans, Dec. 3, 2000. His streak of 371 ended in 2002 vs. Indianapolis (11/24/02). Below is a look at the top three PAT streaks in NFL history:

Most Consecutive Point-After-Touchdown Conversions, NFL History

	Player	Team(s)	PATs	Dates
1.	Jason Elam	Denver	371	1993-2002
2.	Norm Johnson	Phi./Pit./Atl.	301	1991-99
3.	Eddie Murray	Det./K.C./T.B./Dal./Phi./Was./Min.	251	1988-2000

history, behind his own streak of 19 in 1997-98. In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), Elam converted both PAT attempts and made his first game-winning field goal of the season when he connected on a 47-yarder as time expired. With the field goal, he surpassed Jim Breech and moved into 19th place on the NFL's all-time scoring list with 1,249. In Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), Elam connected on a pair of 46-yd. field goals and both of his PAT attempts. In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), he accounted for all six of the Broncos' points when he converted his two field goal attempts of 22 and 28 yds. In Wk. 9 vs. N.E. (11/3), Elam hit 1-of-2 field goals, missing from 44 yds. before connecting from 43 yds. He suffered an injury to his groin warming up on the sidelines before the second attempt and felt more pain on that kick as he did not return to the game after that point. Two weeks later after the Broncos' bye week, Elam converted 2-of-3 field goals (42, 22; missed from 29) and all four PATs against S.D. (11/16) despite being hampered by a strained groin. Micah Knorr replaced Elam for the Broncos' final field goal attempt of the game and converted from 27 yds. Elam did not attempt a field goal at Oak. (11/30), ending a franchise-record streak of 16 games converting a field goal. Elam connected on a 47-yd. field goal and tied a career high with six PATs vs. K.C. (12/7). He converted both PATs and added three field goals (51, 36 and 25) to tally 11 points vs. Cle. (12/14) and become the fastest player in NFL history to reach 1,300 points (170 games) and the first player in NFL history to score more than 100 in each of his first 11 seasons. Elam's last two field goals came in the 4th qtr. and overtime, giving him his 14th game-winning or game-saving field goal of his career,and earning him AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors. It marked the first time in Elam's career that he made field goals to send a game to overtime and then win the game in overtime. The overtime field goal was his sixth career "walk-off" field goal, four of which have come in overtime and two at the end of regulation. Elam converted all four PATs and added a 24-yd. field goal to account for 10 points at Ind. (12/21). The following week at G.B. (12/28), he accounted for all of the

Elam's 14 Game-Winning or Game-Saving Field Goals

Oct. 23, 1994: 54-yard FG with 10:02 remaining in the fourth quarter put Denver up 17-15. He added a 25-yarder with 4:07 left to help Denver to a 20-15 victory at San Diego.

Oct. 26, 1997: Kicked a 33-yard FG with 1:56 remaining in overtime to give Denver a 23-20 victory at Buffalo in one of the longest weekends of the franchise's history, as the team had to overcome a blizzard in Denver that almost prevented them from leaving town and a 20-0 fourth-quarter flurry by the Bills.

Dec, 14, 2003: Kicked a 25-yard FG in overtime giving the Broncos a 23-20 win over Cleveland. He also kicked a 36-yard field goal with 0:06 left in regulation to tie the score at 20 and force overtime.

Elam Among the Leaders

Jason Elam ranks among the league leaders in fields goals made inside 40 yards since he entered the league in 1993:

NFL's Most Accurate Kickers Inside 40 Yards Since 1993
(Active Players; min. 130 attempts)

3.	Morten Andersen	K.C./New Orleans/Atlanta/N.Y.G.	167/179	.933

Broncos' points when he connected on a 31-yd. field goal in the 3rd qtr. Elam made a 49-yd. field goal in the 1st qtr. and had a 46-yd. attempt blocked in 3rd qtr. of the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4). He converted his only PAT of the game after Rod Smith's 4th-qtr. touchdown reception.

2002: Elam played in all 16 games and converted 26-of-36 field goal attempts (.722) and 42-of-43 (.976) point-after attempts to account for a team-leading 120 points, marking his 10th consecutive season with 100 or more points. He also made one special teams tackle. Elam ranked second in the AFC in scoring by kickers (7th NFL); third in total scoring (8th NFL); tied for second (T7th NFL) in field goals (26); tied for third (T5th NFL) in PATs (42); and his 55-yd. field goal vs. Miami was the second longest in the NFL in 2002. Elam owns the NFL record for consecutive PATs (371), a streak that ended vs. Ind. (11/24). He eclipsed Norm Johnson's NFL record for consecutive PATs (301) during the 2000 season (12/3 at N.O.). Elam made the first 24 of his career before his first regular season miss—a block by Minnesota's Tim Irwin, Nov. 14, 1993—and has made 410-of-412 (.995) in his career, the highest career percentage for PATs in NFL history. In the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29), Elam converted all three field goal attempts and all four PATs to account for 13 points. Among his three field goals was a 54-yarder in the 2nd qtr. to raise his total to 4-of-6 (67%) from 50 yds. and beyond for the season. For his career Elam has connected on 29 of 47 (.617) attempts from that range (28-43, .651, from 50-59 and 1-4, .250, from 60+). At S.D. (12/1), he converted 1-of-2 field goal attempts from 50+ yards, making a 54-yarder in the first qtr. before missing an attempt from 53 yds. in overtime. Elam converted 30 consecutive field goal attempts of 42 yds. or closer, stretching back to last season, before missing a 39-yd. attempt at N.E. (10/27). He made his final 17 from that range in 2001 and his first 13 in 2002. Elam made all three field goal attempts at K.C. (10/20), including the game-winner from 25 yds. in overtime. It was his 11th career game-winning or game-saving field goal and his third in an overtime situation. Elam tied his career high with five field goals (on five attempts) vs. Mia. (10/13), including a 55-yard kick with 45 seconds remaining in the game that temporarily gave the Broncos a 22-21 lead. He also tied a career high by scoring 16 points in the Miami contest, and it marked the first time he converted five field goals on five attempts (his two other five-field goal games came on six attempts). The Miami game also marked the first time in Elam's career that he converted two field goals of 50 or more yds. in the same game, and his 55-yarder in the 4th qtr. ties for the third longest of his career. One of Elam's few misses on the year, from 57 yds. at Balt. (9/30), was returned 107 yds. for a touchdown by Ravens cornerback Chris McAlister as time expired in the first half. It is the longest play in NFL history. Elam scored six points vs. S.D. (10/6) to reach the 1,100-point mark for his career in his 145th game, making him the second fastest to reach that plateau in NFL history behind former Boston Patriots kicker Gino Cappelletti (140 gms.). Elam has scored in all 156 career games, the longest streak in franchise history. He ranks fourth among active NFL kickers since 1993 on kicks inside 40 yds., connecting on 176-of-189 (.931) and leads the NFL in that same time period in total points scored (1,193), while ranking first in total field goals since 1993 (261). With 1,193 career points, Elam is one of just 26 players in NFL history to pass the 1,100-point plateau.

Elam Among the Leaders (Part 2)

Jason Elam ranks first in the NFL in points scored (1,313) and field goals made (288) since entering the league in 1993. Here is a look at the top four in each category:

2001: Elam—voted to his third Pro Bowl; named the NFL's 2001 Special Teams Player of the Year by the NFL Alumni; voted second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football News and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News—turned in the most consistent and productive season of his nine-year career, leading the NFL in field goals with a franchise-record-tying 31 while also tying for third in the league with 124 points. He converted a franchise-record 86 percent of his field goals (31-of-36) and all 31 point-after attempts to extend his NFL record for consecutive PATs to 344. He has now topped the 100-pt. mark in each of his nine pro seasons. Elam tied his career single-season high with his 31st field goal of the season in the 3rd qtr. of the season finale at Ind. (1/6), matching his mark from 1995. He had a chance to break his record but was wide left from 54 yds., making him 2-for-3 from 50-59 yds. on the season. Elam was perfect vs. Oak (12/30), connecting on three field goals (27, 25, 42) and hitting both PATs to account for 11 of the Broncos' 23 points. Elam broke a string of 13 field goals without a miss at K.C. (12/16) but still hit 3-of-4, including a 49-yarder with 1:13 remaining in regulation to send the game to overtime. Though the Broncos lost in OT, it marked the 10th time in his career he had kicked a game-saving or game-winning field goal in regulation or overtime and the second time he had sent a game to OT (11/22/99 vs. Oak.; Den. won in OT). Elam was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Month for November when he led all NFL kickers with 38 points and 11 field goals as the Broncos went 2-2. He converted 11-of-12 field goal attempts (.917), including two from beyond 45 yards. For the second time in three games, Elam scored a season-high 14 points at Dal. (11/22), hitting four field goals (from 24, 50, 46 and 28) and both PAT opportunities. His successful 50-yarder made him 2-for-2 on field goal attempts of 50 yds. or longer in 2001. Elam scored 14 points vs. S.D. (11/11) on the strength of a season-high four field goals, hitting from 25, 29, 26 and 33. He also registered his first special teams tackle of the season vs. the Chargers. Elam had a record-setting night at Oakland (11/5), hitting two field goals, including a 39-yarder that gave him his 1,000th career point to make him the 30th NFL player to reach that plateau as well as extend his franchise scoring record. He reached the milestone the fastest among all kickers on the list. The kick also accounted for the 20,000th point scored in the history of Monday Night Football. Elam finished the night hitting another field goal from 21 yds. but had one blocked from 48. It was the only game of the season in which Elam did not attempt a PAT as the Broncos attempted two-point conversions after each of their three touchdowns. Elam drilled his first 50-yd. field goal of the season vs. N.E. and converted all four point-after attempts in Denver's 31-20 win. At S.D. (10/21), he hit from 45 yds. out but missed from 42 and hit his only PAT. At Sea. (10/14), he was 3-for-3 on PATs, attempting no field goals. He was 2-for-2 on field goals against K.C. (10/7), hitting from 48 and 24, while continuing his perfect PAT streak, hitting two. He was 2-for-2 against Balt. (9/30), hitting from 43 and 49, and converted his only PAT. He was perfect on three field goal attempts (35, 31 and 49 yds.) at Ariz. (9/23) and all three PATs for a then-season-high 12 points. Elam made 1-of-2 field goal attempts in the season opener vs. the Giants (9/10) and converted all four-point-after attempts. He connected from 37 yds. after missing by just inches to the left on a 65-yd. attempt that would have broken the NFL record (63 yds.) he shares with Tom Dempsey. The attempt was the second longest of Elam's career (66-yd. attempt vs. Sea., 12/10/95).

2000: Elam was 18-of-24 (75%) on field goal attempts and 49-of-49 on PATs to account for 103 points on the season, 10th most in the AFC, despite missing three games. His 49 PATs were most in the NFL and ranked second in franchise history behind his 58 in 1998. Elam's five PATs at N.O. (12/3) gave him an NFL record for consecutive PATs, breaking Norm Johnson's standard of 301 (Elam finished the season having made 313 consecutive PATs). Elam suffered fractures of two transverse process bones in his lower back (L2, L3 vertebrae) on a kickoff return just before halftime vs. Atlanta (9/10) and missed three games (at Oak., 9/17; vs. K.C., 9/24 and vs. N.E., 10/1). He began kicking again after the K.C. game and returned to game action at S.D. (10/8), converting all three point-after attempts. He experienced soreness in his back in the S.D. game and was still affected by it a week later vs. Cle. (10/15) when he was relieved of his kickoff duties. Elam still handled place-kicking chores and accounted for 14 of Denver's 44 points vs. the Browns by going 3-for-4 on field goals and 5-for-5 on PATs. With his three PAT attempts at the Jets (11/5), Elam passed Jim Turner (304) for most PAT attempts in franchise history. His game-winning 41-yd. field goal vs. Oak. (11/13) marked the ninth time in his career he converted a game-winning or game-saving field goal in the 4th qtr. or overtime. It was the first time in his career Elam kicked the winning field goal as time expired. He became the first Bronco to make 200 field goals in a career with his successful boot from 26 yds. vs. S.D. (11/19). With his 51-yard field goal vs. Atl. (9/10), Elam finished the 2000 season having connected on 23-of-37 (.621) attempts from 50 yds. and beyond in his career (22-34, .647 from 50-59 and 1-for-3, .333 from 60+). Elam successfully converted his only kick of the day in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31), making a 31-yd. field goal in the 2nd qtr.

1999: Elam converted all 29 point-after attempts and was 29-of-36 (80.6%) on field goal attempts to account for 116 points on the season (T5th AFC/T6th NFL). He scored in all 16 games to run his career streak to 111 games, the longest in franchise history and also made two tackles on special teams. Elam tied for sixth in the NFL in field goals (29). With his seven points vs. the Jets (10/3), Elam eclipsed Jim Turner (742 points; 1971-79) to become the all-time leading scorer in Denver Broncos franchise history (now 846). Already the franchise record-holder for career field goals (184), Elam became the leader in field-goal attempts (previously Turner, 233) and PATs made (Turner, 283) vs. Seattle (12/19) and finished the season with 237 and 288, respectively. Elam's 26-yd. field goal with 10:18 to play at Oakland (10/10) was the seventh game-winning field goal of his career, lifting Denver to a 16-13 win. Elam was 5-for-7 on field-goal attempts of 50-59 yds. in 1999 to improve his career percentage from that range to 63.7 percent (21-33). He was successful from 50 yds. at K.C. (9/19), 51 yds. vs. the Jets (10/3), 55 yds. at S.D. (11/7); 53 yds. vs. Oak. (11/22) and 50 vs. S.D. (1/2) while missing from 53 vs. Green Bay (10/17) and 59 at New England (10/24). The 55-yarder at San Diego was the third longest of his career and the longest since his NFL-record-tying 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville the year before (10/25/98). The effort earned Elam AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors for Week 9 as he made four field goals and scored 15 points in the game, his highest single-game totals for both categories since setting career highs with five FGs and 16 pts. at K.C., Nov. 16, 1997. Elam matched the four-field-goal effort vs. Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football, including one of the most pressure-filled of his career, from 53 yds. out with 7 seconds remaining to tie the score at 21 and send the game to overtime. It proved to be the eighth game-winning or game-saving field goal of his career, as the Broncos went on to win 27-21 with Elam converting from 24, 30, 38 and 53 yds. on a cold (26 degrees), snowy night.

Elam Ties One of Football's Longest-Standing Records

On Oct. 25, 1998, Jason Elam tied a 28-year old NFL record by kicking a 63-yard field goal against the Jacksonville Jaguars at the end of the first half. He matched Tom Dempsey's record set Nov. 8, 1970, as a member of the New Orleans Saints against Detroit (a game-winner):

Longest Field Goals in NFL History

	Player	Team	Opponent (Date)	Distance
1.	Jason Elam	Denver	vs. Jacksonville (10/25/98)	63
	Tom Dempsey	New Orleans	vs. Detroit (11/8/70)	63
3.	Morten Andersen	New Orleans	vs. Chicago (10/27/91)	60
	Steve Cox	Cleveland	at Cincinnati (10/21/84)	60

1998: Elam turned in the finest all-around performance of his six-year NFL career as he was selected to his second Pro Bowl, named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press and College & Pro Football Newsweekly , and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News. He carved out his place in NFL history Oct. 25 vs. Jacksonville when he tied the pro football record for the longest field goal, clearing the crossbar from 63 yds. away as time expired in the first half to match the 28-year old standard set by New Orleans' Tom Dempsey (vs. Detroit, Nov. 8, 1970). The kick shattered the previous club record of 57 yds. by Fred Steinfort (vs. Wash., 10/13/80) and the previous Mile High Stadium record of 58 yds. by Cleveland's Steve Cox (12/4/83), earning Elam AFC Special Teams Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week honors for the first time in his career. It was the fourth field goal of 60-or-more yards in NFL history with Cox (60 yds. vs. Cin., 10/21/84) and Morten Andersen (N.O., 60 yds. vs. Chi., 10/27/91) joining Elam and Dempsey in the 60+ club. Elam enjoyed his finest season statistically in 1998, converting 23 of his 27 field goal attempts for a career-best and franchise-record percentage of .852 and all 58 point-after attempts for 127 total points while also making one tackle on a kickoff return. Elam tied for third in the AFC (T5th NFL) in scoring among kickers, and his 58 PAT conversions ranked second most in the NFL while also representing a team record for a single season (previous: 46 by Elam, 1996, '97). He strained his right hamstring in the second quarter vs. Philadelphia (10/4) and was unable to play in the second half. Elam practiced sparingly the following week but was able to play at Seattle (10/11), converting all three point-after attempts. He was 3-for-4 on kicks of 50 yards or longer with his successful boot from 53 yards in Week 1 vs. New England (9/7), his NFL-record-tying 63-yarder vs. Jacksonville, his 52-yarder at Miami (12/21) and his miss from 55 yds. vs. Seattle (12/27). The 53-yarder had been Elam's longest field goal since converting from the same distance in the 1997 season-opener vs. Kansas City (8/31/97). Versus Dallas (9/13), he tied a franchise record that he already shared with four other players by converting six point-after attempts. A week later at Oakland (9/20), his two field goals moved him past Rich Karlis (137) for second place on Denver's all-time field goal list, and he became the Broncos' all-time field goal leader at San Diego with his 152nd (Jim Turner, 151). Elam's 13 pts. vs. Jacksonville (10/25) moved him past Karlis (655) for second on the all-time franchise scoring list, finishing the year with 730 points. Elam set a franchise record for consecutive field goals made in Game 10 at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, converting his 14th in a row to top Rich Karlis' previous standard of 13 (1984-85), and he ran his streak to 19 consecutive before having a 37-yd. attempt vs. Kansas City (12/6) blocked. His four PATs at San Diego (11/29) pushed his total to 47, besting his own previous franchise record of 46 achieved in 1996 and '97, and he finished the year with 58. Elam made 6-of-8 field goal attempts and all 11 point-after attempts for a team-leading 29 points in three postseason contests to move into second place in all-time postseason scoring by a Bronco. He also moved into the club postseason lead in point-after attempts (30) and second place in field goals made (9) and attempted (11). He made his only field goal attempt (32 yds.) and all five point-after attempts to account for eight points in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9). That effort, however, was overshadowed by what he did a week later in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), tying a franchise record with three field goals (also accomplished by David Treadwell, vs. Cle., 1/14/90 and Rich Karlis, at Cle., 1/11/87) and drilling both point-afters for 11 points on the day. Elam's 48-yarder ties for the third longest in franchise playoff history, matching Rich Karlis' vs. the Giants in Super Bowl XXI (1/25/87). Elam had a busy day in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), converting 2-of-4 field goal attempts and all four point-afters for 10 points in the Broncos' 34-19 win. He was successful from 26 and 37 yards in the 2nd and 4th qtrs., respectively, and missed from 38 and 48 yards in the 3rd, marking the first two postseason misses of his career.

1997: Elam converted 26 of his 36 field goal attempts—including three from beyond 50 yards (50, 51 and 53)—and tied his own franchise record (1996) for PATs in a season by going a perfect 46-46 in that department. His 124 total points on the season ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL), and his 46 PATs led the AFC (2nd NFL). Elam's three field goals from beyond 50 yards in 1997 gave him 14 for his career (23 att.), and a .609 percentage from that range. He also made one special teams tackle on the year. Elam passed the 500-point plateau with his final point-after attempt at Seattle (9/7), becoming only the third Bronco in history to do so and the fastest in terms of games played (66). He had a streak of three consecutive games with a field goal of 50+ yards snapped vs. St. Louis (9/14), a streak that dated back to the 1996 season finale when he converted a 51-yarder at San Diego (12/22/96). In so doing, Elam became just the fourth kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to connect on field goals of 50 or more yards in three consecutive games. The others were Horst Muhlmann (1970), Tom Dempsey (1971) and Chris Bahr (1981). Elam was inactive for the New England game (10/6) because of groin and hip flexor injuries to his right leg suffered the previous week at Atlanta (9/28). He missed most of that game after sustaining the injury on the kickoff following the Broncos' first touchdown. The New England game was the first missed by Elam in his five-year NFL career. With his first point-after at Oakland (10/19), Elam set a new Broncos record for consecutive games scoring at least one point (70), surpassing Rich Karlis' team record set from 1984-88. He had now scored at least one point in the last 79 games in which he has played. He kicked the game-winning 33-yard field goal in overtime at Buffalo (10/26), the second time in his career that Elam has won a game for the Broncos in OT. The first was at Kansas City (20-17) Dec. 4, 1994. Elam tied his own franchise record with five field goals at Kansas City (11/16), matching the standard achieved previously by himself (vs. Buffalo, 9/3/95), Rich Karlis (vs. Seattle, 11/20/83) and Gene Mingo (vs. San Diego, 10/6/63). In that game, he also tied his career high for field goal attempts in a game (6). In the postseason, Elam was perfect, converting all 15 point-after attempts and both field goal attempts of 43 and 51 yards. The 51-yard field goal in the Super Bowl was the second longest in Super Bowl history (54 yds., Steve Christie, Buff., SB XXVIII) as well as the longest in Broncos postseason history, and his 6-for-6 output on point-after attempts vs. Jacksonville (12/27) also set a Broncos postseason record, topping the previous mark (5-of-5) held by Rich Karlis (vs. Cleveland, 1/17/88).

1996: Elam converted 21-of-28 field goal attempts and all 46 point-after attempts to lead the team with 109 points. A hip flexor injury he suffered at Seattle in Week Two (9/8) hindered his performance during the middle of the season. The injury occurred when he was hit in the leg while following through on a kick. Elam's 109 points figured eighth among AFC kickers and made him the first player in Broncos history to achieve four seasons with 100 or more points, having done so in each of his four professional seasons. He was also credited with one special teams tackle on the season. Elam converted three field goals in a game on two separate occasions, doing so at Seattle (9/8) in a 30-20 Denver victory and at Oakland (11/4) in Denver's 22-21 Monday Night win over the Raiders, its third of four consecutive wins over its arch-rival. Elam also tied the team record for most extra points in a game with six against Baltimore (10/20) in a 45-34 Bronco triumph. He connected on his only 50+-yard field goal of the '96 season at San Diego (12/22) in the regular season finale. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff vs. Jacksonville, he did not attempt a field goal and was 1-2 on point-after attempts, having his first try of the day blocked by the Jaguars' Clyde Simmons.

1995: Elam finished tied for third in the NFL in scoring—tied for second among kickers—with 132 points and tied for second in field goals made with 31 as he was voted to his first Pro Bowl appearance. The 132 points are the second most by a Bronco in a single season, and the 31 field goals broke Elam's own record of 30 set in '94. On the season, he was 31-for-38 (.816) on field goal attempts and 39-39 on point-after attempts. His breakthrough season also included second-team All-Pro honors from both the Associated Press and College & Pro Football Newsweekly as well as All-AFC honors from Pro Football Weekly. He also punted once for 17 yards and contributed two special teams tackles. Elam was 5-of-7 (.714) on field-goal attempts of 50 yards or longer—including one missed attempt of 66 yards versus Seattle (12/10)—to improve his career numbers from that distance to 10-of-16 (.625). His 66-yard attempt was the second longest kick ever attempted by a Bronco, trailing only the 73-yard attempt (also missed) by Fred Steinfort at New England in 1980 (9/29) and was the longest ever attempted at Mile High Stadium. His five field goals of 50 yards or more tied a Broncos single-season record, originally held by Fred Steinfort (5-8 in 1980). Elam's 56-yarder at Houston (11/26) was the longest of his career and the second longest in franchise history behind Steinfort's 57-yarder vs. Washington, Oct. 13, 1980. At Oakland on Christmas Eve, Elam scored 11 points, including the game-winning 37-yard field goal with 48 seconds remaining, in Denver's 31-28 win. It was the second time in 1995 that Elam had kicked a game-winning field goal in the final minute, following his 32-yard effort that beat San Diego with 0:02 remaining (11/19). The San Diego game-winner was the third of Elam's career and his first in the final seconds of regulation. Elam made a franchise-record 13 consecutive field goals during the middle of the season, beginning with a 30-yarder at Seattle (10/1) and ending with a 35-yarder against San Diego (11/19). Elam set the tone for his stellar season in the opener against Buffalo (9/3), tying a Broncos single-game record with five successful field goals in six attempts (22, 52, 20, 38, 37; missed from 38).

1994: Elam matched his rookie total of 119 points scored (fourth on the Broncos' all-time single-season scoring list) and set a Broncos record for successful field goals in a season with 30 (37 attempts). He also was a perfect 29-for-29 on point-after attempts, giving him a two-year accuracy of .986 (70-of-71). His two-year field-goal percentage of .778 moved him into second on the Broncos' all-time career list just behind David Treadwell (.779 from 1989-92). His accuracy on kicks inside 40 yards was impeccable in 1994 as he converted 22-of-22 kicks within that distance. Elam tied his NFL long and the fourth-longest kick in Broncos history with a 54-yard field goal at San Diego (10/23). He accounted for nine of the Broncos' 15 points in a 15-13 win over Cincinnati (11/27) by converting 3-of-5 attempts (34 yards, 33 and 37). He also connected for three field goals at New York (3-for-3) and at Seattle (3-for-4). Elam had just one field goal attempt blocked, a 50-yard attempt against Atlanta (11/20).

1993: Elam showed his leg strength on several long field goals during the 1993 season. His 119 points (fourth-highest figure in Bronco history) placed him fourth in the AFC and seventh in the NFL. Elam was successful on 4-of-6 field goal attempts longer than 50 yards. His 54-yarder in the week two game vs. San Diego (9/12) was the fourth longest in team history. That came one week after he tied for the third-best single game performance at the New York Jets (9/5) in the season opener. In that game, he went 4-for-4. For the year, Elam made 26 field goals, tying for fourth-best in team history.

COLLEGE: Elam was a superb combination kicker in college, holding virtually every school and conference scoring record at the University of Hawaii. He finished his career with 79 field goals, just one shy of the NCAA record held by Jeff Jaeger (80). Elam holds the Western Athletic Conference scoring record with 395 points and made 30-of-43 field goals of 40 yards or more. Elam finished his collegiate career with a .790 field goal percentage, connecting on 79-of-100 attempts with his longest being a 56-yarder. He finished 157-of-160 in PATs for the Rainbow Warriors. As a senior, Elam was selected first-team All-America (Kodak and The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft) and was first-team All-WAC. He made 16-of-25 field goals and 44 extra points, finishing with 92 points for the season. He also finished his collegiate career with a 43.5-yard average on 84 punts. Elam was a communication major.

PERSONAL: Jason and his wife, Tamy, a former Broncos cheerleader, have a son, Jason Jr., 6, and a daughter, Jordan Noel, 5. The family makes its offseason home in Parker, Colo. Elam is a licensed commercial airplane pilot who plans to fly full-time when he completes his NFL playing career. Elam was first-team all-county and second-team all-state at Brookwood High School in Snellville, Ga., where he also lettered in swimming and track. Jason was born March 8, 1970, in Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

BLACKOUT? WHAT BLACKOUT?

Since the 1970 season, the Broncos have sold out every regular season home game, totalling 261. The number reaches 274 when playoff games are included. The Broncos and the Washington Redskins are the only NFL teams to boast consecutive sell-outs since the 1970 season.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Pro Bowl Selections (2) 1999-2000

Luther Elliss brings his brute strength and incredible work ethic to the Broncos entering his 10th NFL season looking to become a force on Denver's interior line. The two-time Pro Bowl selection (1999-2000), who played his first nine years in the league for Detroit, earned a starting role as a rookie in 1995 and never gave it up. In 126 career games (119 starts), Elliss has made 456 tackles (266 solo), 27 sacks for -184 yards, 12 passes defensed, eight forced fumbles and five fumbles recovered. In earning his two Pro Bowl nods, he became the first Detroit interior defensive lineman to appear twice in a row since Jerry Ball did so in 1990-92. But not just a great player on the field, Elliss excels off the field as voted the winner of the Mike Utley Spirit Award by teammates for five consecutive years (1997-01). He entered the NFL as the Lions' first-round selection in 1995 NFL Draft (20th overall pick), and this past offseason, signed with the Broncos on March 24.

2003: Elliss spent the first nine weeks of 2003 on Detroit's non-football injury list after suffering a torn pectoral muscle during an offseason workout at home. He was activated to the 53-man roster on Nov. 15 and played in five of the last seven games. He recorded a tackle in his 2003 season debut at Seattle (11/16) but left the game at Kansas City (12/14) with a concussion and was inactive the next two games (at Carolina, 12/21 and vs. St. Louis, 12/28).

2002: Elliss finished the year with 42 tackles (23 solo), 2.5 sacks and four passes defensed. He left the season opener at Miami (9/8) with a bruised quad but came back and forced a fumble and registered four tackles (three solo) and his first sack of the season vs. Chicago (10/20). Elliss assisted on a sack at Buffalo (10/27) and registered six tackles (five solo), including a tackle for a loss and a pass defense vs. New England (11/28). At Arizona (12/8), he sacked Cardinals QB Jake Plummer on the first play of the game.

2001: Elliss, who underwent surgery during 2001 training camp due to loose bone chips in his right elbow, was able to fight through the injury and record 38 tackles (25 solo) on the season. He saw action in third-down situations at Green Bay (9/9) and batted down a third-down Brett Favre pass to force a Packers punt. Elliss returned to the starting lineup at Cleveland (9/23) after playing sparingly in the season opener. He posted three solo tackles vs. St. Louis (10/8) and tied a season-high six tackles (5 solo) at Minnesota (10/14). Against Cincinnati (10/28), he posted five tackles (3 solo) but was inactive at San Francisco (11/4) due to the elbow injury. Returning to starting lineup vs. Tampa Bay (11/11), Elliss forced a fumble and posted one tackle in the game. He was inactive with the elbow injury at Arizona (11/18) but was back in starting lineup vs. Green Bay (11/22) and made five tackles (4 solo).

2000: Elliss had another outstanding season, which was capped by a second consecutive Pro Bowl appearance (reserve), and led all Lions interior defensive linemen with 65 tackles (sixth on team). After missing all four 2000 preseason games (elbow surgery), he came back and started the season opener at New Orleans (9/3), recording six stops and a sack. Elliss garnered his second sack of season (10-yard loss) and recovered a fumble in the Lions' 31-24 win vs. Green Bay (10/8). Against Indianapolis (10/29), he collected six tackles before being sidelined most of second half due to neck strain. Elliss returned to action the following week vs. Miami (11/5) and made five tackles in that game as well as the following outing vs. Atlanta (11/12). At the New York Giants (11/19), he made a big play by recovering a second quarter Tiki Barber fumble. His eight tackles at Green Bay (12/10) was his season high and tied his career high. Elliss registered six tackles at the New York Jets (12/17) while assisting in a defensive effort that allowed a season-low 51 rushing yards and collecting two tackles vs. Chicago (12/24).

1999: Elliss continued to make a case for himself as one of the NFL's premiere defensive lineman by enjoying possibly his most productive season. The season was capped off by being elected as one of two starting defensive tackles on NFC Pro Bowl squad (first Pro Bowl appearance), and among other honors earned were first-team All-NFC mention by Pro Football Weekly and Football News, and second-team All-Pro accolades by College and Pro Football Weekly. He was also named to the All-Madden team for second consecutive year. Elliss racked up 69 tackles and 3.5 sacks, including tying a career-high with eight stops on four different occasions. His two fumble recoveries and three forced fumbles were both seasonal career highs. Elliss was voted by his teammates as the recipient of the Mike Utley Spirit Award for the third consecutive season. In the season opener in Seattle (9/12), he notched his first sack of the year on the very day he signed a long-term contract extension. Despite struggling through Weeks 4-5 with the lingering affects of a groin pull suffered vs. San Diego (10/10), Elliss played at a consistently high level in the second half of the year. He posted one of his strongest games at Arizona (11/14) by tying a career high with eight tackles. He scored his first-career touchdown vs. Washington (12/5) after rambling 11 yards on a fumble recovery (caused by Jones sack) and also had a season-high four quarterback pressures in the contest. At Tampa Bay (12/12), Elliss tied his career high with eight stops and recovered his second fumble in as many weeks. He again tied his career high with eight tackles vs. Denver (12/25) but suffered a slight ankle sprain that forced him to be inactive for the regular-season finale at Minnesota (1/2). Elliss returned to duty in the NFC Wild Card Playoff game at Washington (1/8) and made six tackles.

1998: Elliss, for a second consecutive season, started all 16 games at defensive tackle, led all Lions linemen with a career-high 84 tackles (fifth on squad) in addition to a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and three sacks for 24 yards. He was voted by teammates as the 1998 recipient of the Mike Utley Spirit Award for the second consecutive year and was also a member of the All-Madden Team. Elliss' sacks in 1998 came in games at Minnesota (9/20), vs. Chicago (11/15) and vs. Pittsburgh (11/26). He equaled a career-high of eight tackles at Minnesota (9/20) and vs. Pittsburgh (11/26), and recovered the first fumble of his career vs. Arizona (11/1). With six tackles at Philadelphia (11/8), he went over the 200-tackle mark for his career.

1997: Elliss began to receive league-wide mention as one of the NFL's most overpowering young defensive linemen after starting all 16 games and the NFC Wild Card Playoff game at defensive tackle. He established career-highs in both sacks with 8.5 (second on club) and tackles with 81 (sixth on team) while being voted by teammates as the first-ever Mike Utley Spirit Award. He played well in the season opener vs. Atlanta (8/31) by recording 1.5 sacks and seven tackles. Four weeks later, he contributed mightily to Reggie Brown's interception for a touchdown vs. Green Bay (9/28) by pushing Packers guard Aaron Taylor into quarterback Brett Favre, knocking him down and forcing a rushed throw from his knees. Head Coach Bobby Ross said Elliss played one of his best games vs. Minnesota (11/16), tying his career-high with eight tackles and recording a sack. He was credited with 1.5 sacks among his five tackles in Detroit's win over Indianapolis (11/23) and recovered two fumbles and made seven tackles vs. Chicago (11/27) on Thanksgiving Day, a performance that earned him one of John Madden's post-game turkey legs. Elliss recorded a sack among seven tackles in the NFC Wild Card Playoff game at Tampa Bay (12/28).

1996: Elliss came into his own during his second year in the NFL and played at a high level throughout the year despite moving inside to tackle. He played virtually every play of the 14 games he started (missed two consecutive games in October due to a sprained knee) and ranked second on the team with 6.5 sacks to go along with 57 tackles. Elliss got off to a fast start in back-to-back games posting career-highs in tackles and notched his first two sacks of his career. He had six tackles and a sack at Minnesota (9/1) and followed that up vs. Tampa Bay (9/8) with an eight-tackle performance in addition to another sack. Against Atlanta (10/6), Elliss sprained a knee in the first quarter and missed subsequent games at Oakland (10/13) and vs. the New York Giants (10/27). He returned from the injury at Green Bay (11/3) and recorded the first multi-sack game of his career—two sacks for 18 yards, in addition to five tackles. He had a solid game two weeks later vs. Seattle (11/17) with six stops and a sack for 12 yards, and he posted a sack vs. Minnesota (12/8) as well as five tackles.

1995: Elliss started in 16 regular season games and the club's playoff game at left defensive end, becoming the first Lions defensive rookie to start a season-opener since Bennie Blades and Chris Spielman in 1988. After starting his rookie campaign slowly while adapting to the pro game, Elliss became a productive player on the line as the season progressed. He tallied season-highs with three tackles at Minnesota (9/10) and at Washington (10/22).

COLLEGE: Elliss was a consensus All-American first-team selection and All-WAC first-team choice following his senior season at Utah. He finished second on the team with 78 tackles (43 solo) and also collected four sacks for 26 yards and nine stops for losses of 24 yards as left defensive tackle in 1994. Following his junior year, Elliss was an All-American third-team choice by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft and was an All-WAC first-team pick, ranking second in the conference with nine sacks for 68 yards. As a sophomore, Elliss was an All-WAC first-team choice (only sophomore to earn that honor) and an All-American selection by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft. He started every game in 1992 (10 starts at left end and one at right end), and led the team with 87 tackles (34 solo) and two sacks while also leading the WAC with 16 tackles for loss (39 yards). He was named the Utes' Newcomer of the Year following his freshman campaign in 1991. After originally being recruited as a tight end, he was moved to the defensive line during fall drills. He saw action in every game at right end and tackle as a freshman, making 24 tackles (13 solo) with three sacks.

PERSONAL: Elliss was an all-state, all-region and all-league selection, serving as team captain at Mancos (Colo.) High School. In addition, he was a three-time all-league choice in basketball, and shattered two backboards as a prep in leading the hoop squad to the state tournament. While in Detroit, Elliss was very active in the community and served as a statewide spokesman for Michigan's Fatherhood Is Forever campaign for a five-year span beginning in 1997. During the 1998-99 offseasons, he held football camps for underprivileged children in Detroit, Utah and Colorado, and has begun work in establishing a reading fundamentals program in Utah. He established his own foundation in 2000, Knights of Christ Foundation, to help children, families and the community in Michigan, Colorado and Utah. Elliss was also the honorary chairperson for "Leukemia, Research, Life, Inc." fundraising dinner in 1999-00 and the honorary chairperson for both the Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency's "Walk For Warmth" in 1997-98 and Macomb County "Walk For Warmth" in 2000-01. He and his wife, Rebecca, have eight children, four of which they adopted. Elliss was born March 22, 1973, in Mancos, Colo.

KICKER/PUNTER

Hayden Epstein—entering his second year in the NFL after being out of football in 2003—is a strong-legged kicker who spent time with Jacksonville and Minnesota in 2002. He entered the NFL as a 7th-round choice by Jacksonville (248th overall) but was released and claimed off waivers by the Vikings on Oct. 23, 2002. Epstein played nine games for Minnesota before a knee injury kept him out of the finale. With his knee still giving him trouble in training camp the next year, he was released by the Vikings after reaching an injury settlement before the final cutdown. A two-time finalist for both the Lou Groza and Ray Guy Awards as the top collegiate place kicker and punter respectively at Michigan, Epstein was named second-team All-Big Ten by the coaches and honorable mention by the media his senior year. Additionally, he set a school record by connecting on a 57-yard field goal against Michigan State. Epstein signed with the Broncos on Feb. 17.

2003: Epstein, with his knee still giving him trouble from an injury that occurred the previous season, reached an injury settlement with the Vikings before the final cutdown of training camp and was out of football the rest of the year.

2002: Epstein, who was signed by Minnesota off waivers Oct. 23, primarily handled kickoff duties for the Vikings in 2002 (nine games). While with Jacksonville, Epstein scored 28 points, hitting 5-of-9 field goals (55.5%) and 13-of-13 point after attempts. In the season opener vs. Indianapolis (9/8), he connected on his first career field goal, a 27-yarder following a 52-yarder that fell short in the game. Against Philadelphia (10/6), Epstein scored a season-high eight points, going 2-for-2 on field goals (including a season-long 34-yarder) and hitting two extra points. Epstein suffered a knee injury vs. Miami (12/21) and was inactive for the season finale at Detroit (12/29).

COLLEGE: Epstein was a finalist for both the Lou Groza and Ray Guy Awards as the top collegiate place kicker and punter as a junior and senior. He played in the 2001 Citrus, 2000 Citrus and 1999 Orange Bowls. As a senior, he was named 2nd-team All-Big Ten as a senior by the conference coaches and honorable mention by the media as a kicker and was also named the Wolverines Special Teams Player of the Year as a senior. He set a school record by connecting on a 57-yard field goal against rival Michigan State and earned UM's Athletic Academic Achievement Award as a junior and sophomore.

PERSONAL: Epstein attended Torrey Pines High in San Diego and lettered twice in football and four times in soccer and basketball. He played in the Texas-California Shrine Game and the California North-South All-Star game in addition to being named to the Parade All-America team. Epstein booted a career-best 58-yard field goal in the California CIF championship game and was named the nation's top placekicker as a senior by Prep Football Report and PrepStar. He was born Nov. 16, 1980, in San Diego.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Mario Fatafehi, in 2003, made as big an impact for Denver's defense as any free agent in recent memory. After splitting time between Arizona and Carolina in 2002, he signed with the Broncos as a free agent (7/29/03) and worked his way from reserve to starter by the season's midpoint. Fatafehi, earning starts in nine of the 16 games he played, posted a career-high 44 tackles (29 solo), 2.5 sacks for -14.5 yards, two passes defensed and one forced fumble. In addition, he plugged the middle of Denver's defensive line on the NFL's fourth-ranked defense (7th against the rush). In 2002, Fatafehi was inactive for the first six games of the year with Arizona before being waived and re-signed to the Cardinals' practice squad the next week. After one week on the practice squad, he was signed by the Panthers and finished the season by playing in six games and making three tackles. Selected by Arizona in fifth round (133rd overall) of 2001 NFL Draft, Fatafehi played in seven of the first 10 games in 2001 before a broken bone in his right hand forced him to go on injured reserve for the final six contests.

2003: Fatafehi played in all 16 games, starting nine, and recorded 44 tackles (29 solo), including 2.5 sacks (-14.5), as well as a forced fumble and two pass deflections. He moved into the starting lineup on a full-time basis before the 10th game of the season vs. S.D. (10/16) and started each of the final seven games. Before that, Fatafehi notched starts vs. Oak. (9/22) and at Min. (10/19). In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), Fatafehi recorded four tackles (3 solo). He twice recorded two solo tackles at S.D. (9/14) in Wk. 2 and at K.C. (10/5) in Wk. 5. In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), Fatafehi recorded four tackles (3 solo), including his first two career sacks (-14), both on quarterback Tommy Maddox. His first sack stalled a Steelers drive at the end of the first half, and the second came early in the third quarter. In Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), Fatafehi started for the second time this season and recorded two tackles (1 solo). He set a new season high with five tackles (4 solo) vs. N.E. (11/3). Fatafehi registered his third start of the season vs. S.D. (11/16) and recorded one solo tackle. He tied a season-high with five tackles (2 solo) vs. Chi. (11/23) and also covered a squib kick in the 4th qtr. to record his first career kickoff return. At Oak. (11/30), Fatafehi recorded two tackles (1 solo), including a half a sack (-0.5) and his first career forced fumble and pass breakup. He registered four tackles (2 solo) vs. Cle. (12/14) and three more (2 solo) along with a pass deflection at Ind. (12/21) the following week. Fatafehi set the tone defensively for Denver by knifing through the Colts' line and taking down Edgerrin James for a 5-yd. loss on the first play from scrimmage. At G.B. (12/28), he recorded four tackles (3 solo) in making his seventh consecutive start. He started at defensive tackle in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and made three solo tackles and forced a fumble.

2002: Playing for Carolina and Arizona, Fatafehi appeared in six games and was inactive for six contests. Signed as a free agent to the active roster from the Cardinals' practice squad by Carolina (10/30), Fatafehi played in six games for the Panthers, was inactive for two contests and contributed three tackles on defense. After playing on defense versus New Orleans (11/10), Fatafehi made one tackle on defense at Tampa Bay (11/17) and two tackles on defense versus Atlanta (11/24). He saw action on defense and special teams at Cleveland (12/1) and at Cincinnati (12/8) before being declared inactive at Pittsburgh (12/15) and versus Chicago (12/22), and he contributing on defense at New Orleans (12/29). Fatafehi was inactive for Arizona's first four games before being waived (10/4) and signed to the Cardinals practice squad (10/7).

2001: Selected in the fifth round (133rd overall) of the NFL Draft by Arizona, Fatafehi played in seven games with one start, recording 14 tackles as a rookie before breaking a bone in his right hand and being placed on injured reserve (11/30). After being inactive versus Denver (9/23), he appeared in his first NFL contest versus Atlanta (9/30) and notched his first NFL tackle. Fatafehi contributed one stop at Philadelphia (10/7) and saw action at Chicago (10/14). He produced one tackle versus Kansas City (10/21), accounted for four stops versus the New York Giants (11/11) and registered a career-high six tackles versus Detroit (11/18). Fatafehi made his first NFL start at San Diego (11/25) and posted one stop before leaving the game with a broken bone in his right hand. He was placed on injured reserve (11/30) and missed the remaining six contests.

COLLEGE: Fatafehi started 24 consecutive games at defensive tackle for Kansas State and registered 128 tackles and 12 sacks after transferring from Snow (UT) Junior College. He posted 80 tackles and 8.5 sacks as a senior to earn first-team All-Big 12 honors. Fatafehi was a first-team junior college All-America at Snow Junior College, where he was the team's defensive captain and most valuable player as a two-year starter.

PERSONAL: Born Jan. 27, 1979, in Chicago, Fatafehi was raised in Hawaii and earned first-team all-Hawaii recognition and was named the school's male athlete of the year as a senior at Farrington High School in Honolulu. A social work major at Kansas State, Fatafehi and his wife, Brittney, have a son, Nicholas.

SAFETY

Nick Ferguson returns for his second season with the Broncos after making quite a name for himself last year. After joining the team as a free agent last offseason (4/2), he became the Broncos' regular starter at safety by Week 4. In 15 games (10 starts), Ferguson ranked fourth on the team with a career-high 72 tackles (58 solo), added one sack for 13 yards, three passes defensed and two forced fumbles. Entering his fifth NFL season, Ferguson played his first three with the New York Jets (2000-02). Originally signed as a rookie free agent by Cincinnati in 1997, he played three seasons in the Canadian Football League with Saskatchewan and Winnipeg before spending 1999 in Chicago's training camp and 2000 in Buffalo's camp. He was acquired by New York off Buffalo's practice squad in 2000 and played the final seven games of that season with the Jets. Ferguson has played in 54 career games, picking up 113 total tackles (84 solo), one interception and six passes defensed.

2003: Ferguson saw action in 15 games, starting 10, and ranked fourth on the team with 72 tackles (58 solo), including one sack (-13), three pass deflections and two forced fumbles. He also tied for fourth on the team with 12 special teams tackles despite missing the season finale after being placed on injured reserve (12/24/03) with a fractured left forearm suffered at Ind. (12/21). Ferguson made four starts at strong safety (vs. Det., 9/28; at K.C., 10/5; vs. Pit., 10/12; and at Min., 10/19) in place of Kenoy Kennedy (ankle) and then started six consecutive games at free safety (vs. S.D., 11/16; vs. Chi., 11/23; at Oak., 11/30, vs. K.C., 12/7, vs. Cle., 12/14 and at Ind., 12/21) before his season-ending injury. Ferguson posted two special teams stops each in Wk. 1 at Cin. (9/7) and Wk. 2 at S.D. (9/14) and saw his first defensive action of the season in the S.D. contest. He saw action on both defense and special teams in Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22), replacing Kennedy (injured left ankle) in the third quarter. Ferguson recorded one solo tackle and one special teams tackle in the game. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), he started for the injured Kennedy and recorded three tackles (2 solo) on defense and on tackle on special teams. In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), Ferguson started for Kennedy for the second week in a row and recorded five tackles (3 solo), his first pass deflection of the season and a season-high three special teams tackles. In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), he registered a career-high 12 tackles (10 solo), a pass deflection and a forced fumble. The forced fumble, which was his first of the season, came when he jarred the ball loose from Steelers running back Jerome Bettis in the fourth quarter. Ferguson recorded 10 tackles (6 solo) and a special teams stop in Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26) and added five tackles (4 solo) the following week vs. N.E. (11/3). Against S.D. (11/16), he recorded his fifth start of the season but his first at free safety. Ferguson responded by tallying five solo tackles, including his first career sack for a 13-yd. loss on Chargers quarterback Doug Flutie. He recorded seven solo tackles vs. Chi. (11/23) from his free safety position. Ferguson tied a career-high with 12 tackles (9 solo) at Oak. (11/30) while adding a forced fumble on the second half's opening series when he stripped Tyrone Wheatley. The following week, Ferguson registered four tackles (3 solo) vs. K.C. (12/7). He added two solo tackles and a special teams stop vs. Cle. (12/14). At Ind. (12/21), Ferguson recorded three solo tackles, a pass deflection and a special teams stop before leaving the game in the 3rd quarter with a fractured left forearm that would end his season. He underwent surgery Dec. 22 and was placed on Injured Reserve Dec. 24.

2002: Ferguson played in all 16 games, recording 23 tackles and a fumble recovery on special teams, and added 11 tackles (9 solo) as a backup defensive back. Ferguson tallied one solo tackle on defense and led the team with five on special teams in Week 16—a Jets win over Green Bay. He recovered a Troy Brown fumble that had been forced by Chad Morton and added two special teams tackles in a win at New England in Week 15. Ferguson made two solo tackles as a defensive back, and another on special teams in game 12 at Oakland. After recording one special teams tackle against Buffalo in game 11, he had another on special teams in game 10 at Detroit. Ferguson totaled two tackles on special teams in the Week 9 win over Miami and played on special teams, recording a tackle in Week 8 at San Diego. He recorded four tackles (two solo) on defense and added two tackles on special teams against Cleveland in game seven. Before that, he turned in two solo tackles from his safety position in the win over Minnesota in Week 6. He saw action at safety and on special teams in game two against N.E., recording one solo tackle on defense and four tackles on special teams. Ferguson played in the season opener at Buffalo, primarily on special teams, and collected one solo tackle in addition to helping pave the way for Chad Morton's two kickoff returns for touchdowns.

2001: Ferguson played primarily on special teams, finishing second on the team with 26 special teams tackles. He recorded 21 tackles on defense, making one contest—vs. Buffalo in game 15. Ferguson recorded two or more special teams tackles on nine separate occasions during the year. While starting his first NFL game vs. Buffalo in week 16, he recorded 16 tackles (nine solo), one pass defensed and a forced fumble. He replaced an injured Damien Robinson late in the fourth quarter of the team's 29-28 win in game 14 at Indianapolis and recorded two tackles on defense and another two tackles on special teams. Ferguson had three solo special teams tackles vs. Cincinnati in Week 14 and tied for the team lead with two special teams tackles vs. New England Week 12. After leading the team at New Orleans with four special teams tackles, he recorded two tackles against Carolina as the Jets' special teams unit blocked a punt and returned it for the team's only touchdown in the game.

2000: Ferguson played in the Jets' final seven games of the season in a reserve role as an extra defensive back and on most special teams plays. He finished the year with nine tackles, three passes defensed, one interception and three special teams tackles. In the team's final three games, Ferguson totaled six tackles and three special teams tackles, and played exceptionally well in game 13 vs. Indianapolis when he had four tackles, a team-high three passes defensed—including a diving deflection on a third down pass intended for Marvin Harrison—and also recorded his first career interception when he swiped a Peyton Manning pass intended for Jerome Pathon in the fourth quarter of the Jets' 27-17 win.

COLLEGE: Ferguson led the secondary with 67 tackles and finished second on team with seven passes defensed as a senior for Georgia Tech. A former walk-on in 1993, Ferguson served primarily as a scout team player. Before his stint with the Yellow Jackets, he played one year at Morris Brown College in Atlanta.

PERSONAL: Born Nov. 27, 1974, in Miami, Ferguson is the third of 11 children (seven girls and four boys). He enjoys writing poetry in his spare time. Ferguson gained nickname "Train Wreck" while playing in NFL Europe when he ran over teammate Cedric Donaldson to make a tackle. While attending Jackson (Miami) High School, he was named the team's Most Valuable Player as a senior. His cousin, Ben Hanks, played for Minnesota in 1996 and Detroit in 1997.

TACKLE

George Foster, taking the skills he learned last year and mixing those with his solid, athletic frame, should move into a starting tackle position. He was inactive for 15 games last year, making his NFL debut in the season finale at Green Bay (12/28). Denver's first-round selection (20th overall) in the 2003 NFL Draft out of Georgia, Foster played in 43 career games, making 10 starts. Regarded as the Bulldogs' best combination blocker (pass/rush), the two-year starter provided valuable leadership and depth to the offensive line with his ability to play either tackle position. 2003: Foster was declared inactive for the first 15 games before seeing his first NFL action at left tackle in a reserve role in the final week of the season at G.B. (12/28). He was inactive for the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

COLLEGE: In 43 career games at Georgia (10 starts), Foster was regarded as the Bulldogs' best combination blocker (pass/rush). The two-year starter provided valuable leadership and depth to the offensive line with his ability to play either tackle position. Foster saw his senior season hindered after suffering a right wrist injury in a car accident in August 2002 but returned to the lineup for the final nine games of the season. As a junior, Foster started the final eight games of the season at left offensive tackle, including the Music City Bowl vs. Boston College. He helped the offense generate 4,761 yards, making 55 key blocks/knockdowns as the front wall ranked second in the Southeastern Conference by allowing only 15 quarterback sacks. Foster was a key member of the offensive line's second unit as a sophomore, lining up at right tackle. One of Georgia's top offensive line reserves, he played in every game of the season (12) and in the Bulldogs' 37-14 victory over Virginia in the 2000 Oahu Bowl, Georgia's fourth consecutive bowl victory. Foster played in every game in 1999, earning his first career start in the Bulldogs' game against Louisiana State at right tackle. He redshirted as a freshman.

Running Back

Ahmaad Galloway—regarded as one of best running backs in college football before a knee injury shortened his senior season—returns after spending his rookie season on injured reserve and will try to take his game to the next level. With the offseason departure of Clinton Portis, Denver's starting tailback job is wide open, and if he can return to the level he was at before the knee injury, he could compete for a starting job. This past offseason, he played in NFL Europe with the Scottish Claymores. Galloway was Denver's second of two seventh-round (235th overall) selections in the 2003 Draft.

2003: Galloway, recovering from torn anterior cruciate and medial collateral ligaments in his left knee while at Alabama, spent the entire season on injured reserve.

COLLEGE: Galloway suffered torn anterior cruciate and medial collateral ligaments in his left knee in Alabama's fourth game of 2002 and underwent reconstructive surgery, missing the final nine games. Before the injury, he was as good a running back as there was in college football as he finished his career with 1,830 yards on 376 carries (4.9 avg) and 17 touchdowns. The winner of the Sylvester Croom Commitment to Excellence Award as a senior, he was also a very good student as he twice earned Academic All-Southeastern Conference honors. Galloway started Alabama's first four games his senior year, gaining 257 yards with four touchdowns on 58 carries (4.4 avg), but his season was cut short after suffering a torn ACL and MCL in his left knee in the Tide's game against Southern Mississippi. As a junior, Galloway earned Academic All-Southeastern Conference honors and started every game but one (vs. Auburn) at tailback. He led the team with 881 yards on 174 carries for (5.1

avg), six touchdowns, and added three receptions for 20 yards (6.7 avg). Galloway was an Academic All-SEC choice, and started 10 games for the Crimson Tide in 2000, leading the team with 659 yards (4.8 avg) on 137 carries and seven touchdowns. As a redshirt freshman, Galloway played sparingly in every game, gaining 33 yards on seven carries (3.7 avg).

PERSONAL: Galloway attended Millington (Tenn.) High School and was one of the South's finest running backs and the best senior running back in the state of Tennessee. He rushed for 1,935 yards and 23 touchdowns on 293 carries as a senior, which came on the heels of a 2,172-yard, 25 touchdown performance as a junior. Galloway earned MVP honors in his district as well as Class 5A All-State honors as a senior and was the Player of the Year in west Tennessee while being named a third-team Fox Sports-South "All-South" pick. Born Ahmaad Yaqui Galloway on March 10, 1980, he resides in Millington, Tenn. He was an English major at Alabama, earning Southeastern Conference academic accolades in 2000 and 2001.

Tackle

Cornell Green, a versatile lineman who can play multiple positions, joined the Broncos (3/26) as an unrestricted free agent from Tampa Bay and will compete for a starting spot at tackle. In two seasons with Tampa Bay (2002-03), Green played in 24 games (8 starts) and saw action in Super Bowl XXXVII. Before joining the Buccaneers, Green spent the final four weeks in 2001 on Miami's practice squad after joining the Dolphins from the New York Jets. In 2000, Green signed with Washington but was waived by the Redskins during training camp. He was claimed by the New York Jets the following day and spent nine games on the practice squad and seven on the club's 53-man roster. After originally entering the league as an undrafted free agent with Atlanta in 1999, he was released by the Falcons and was out of football the remainder of the season.

2003: Green played in eight games and made a career-best five starts. He was inactive for the first seven games before starting at right tackle vs. New Orleans, at Carolina and vs. Green Bay. Green started at right tackle vs. New Orleans (11/2), at Carolina (11/9) and vs. Green Bay (11/16) in place of starter Kenyatta Walker, who was shifted to left tackle, and saw reserve action at right tackle at Jacksonville (11/30) and at New Orleans (12/7). He started at right tackle vs. Houston (12/14), saw action as a reserve at right tackle vs. Atlanta (12/20) and started at right tackle at Tennessee (12/28).

2002: Green played in all 16 regular-season games and made three starts at right tackle. He joined Tampa Bay from Miami for an undisclosed draft pick on Aug. 20 (pick eventually became a seventh round selection in 2003). Green started at right tackle against New Orleans (9/8) in his first NFL game and saw action mostly on special teams at Baltimore (9/15) the next week. He replaced starter Kenyatta Walker in the beginning of the fourth quarter after Walker suffered an ankle sprain against St. Louis, and he started at right tackle at Cincinnati (9/29) and at Atlanta (10/6). Green played primarily on special teams vs. Cleveland (10/13), at Philadelphia (10/20), at Carolina (10/27), vs. Minnesota (11/3), vs. Carolina (11/17), vs. Green Bay (11/24), at New Orleans (12/1), vs. Atlanta (12/8), at Detroit (12/15), vs. Pittsburgh (12/23) and at Chicago (12/29). In all three playoff games (vs. San Francisco in the NFC Divisional game (1/12), in the NFC Championship Game at Philadelphia (1/19) and vs. Oakland (1/26) in Super Bowl XXXVII), he played on special teams.

2001: Green played the first 11 weeks of the season with the Jets (inactive for nine contests, and dressed but did not play in two others), but was waived Dec. 3. He was signed to the Dolphins' practice squad Dec. 11, where he spent the final four regular-season games and one playoff contest.

2000: Green signed with Washington (7/14) and was waived by the Redskins during training camp (8/27). He was claimed by the New York Jets the following day and spent nine games on the practice squad and seven on the club's 53-man roster. He was inactive for all seven games.

1999: Green originally entered the league as an undrafted free agent by the Atlanta Falcons but was waived by the Falcons (8/30) and spent the rest of the season out of football.

COLLEGE: Green played four seasons (1995-98) at the University of Central Florida and started all 11 games in each of his final three seasons at both left and right tackle. He was voted as the team's Outstanding Offensive Lineman as a sophomore, junior and senior. Originally recruited to UCF as a defensive lineman, Green was converted to the offensive line during his redshirt freshman season. He was a college teammate of Vikings quarterback Daunte Culpepper while at UCF, and in the fall of 2003, was named to UCF's 25th Anniversary Team.

PERSONAL: Green attended Lakewood High School in St. Petersburg, Fla. In the fall of 1999, he unloaded and stacked newspapers for the St. Petersburg Times, and in October 2003, participated in the NFL/United Way Hometown Huddle. Cornell Duane Green was born Aug. 25, 1976, in St. Petersburg, Fla.

RUNNING BACK

Quentin Griffin—a powerfully built, compact runner with good hands and pass-catching ability—showed great promise in his rookie season and in year two looks to compete for a starting job at running back. Playing 10 games last season as a reserve, Griffin carried the ball 94 times for 345 yards (3.7) and added eight receptions for 61 yards (7.6). In his lone start of the year at Indianapolis (12/21), he helped lead the Broncos to a critical road win by rushing for a career-high 136 yards on 28 attempts (4.9). Selected in fourth round (108th overall) of the 2003 NFL Draft, Griffin was a three-year starter at Oklahoma, where he rushed for 3,756 yards (5.4 avg) on 702 carries and 44 touchdowns, which ranks third all-time in Sooners history. He caught 146 passes for 1,217 yards (8.3 avg) and six touchdowns, and his 4,973 all-purpose yards rank second all-time at Oklahoma.

2003: Griffin played in 10 games, starting one, and rushed 94 times for 345 yds. (3.7) with a long of 23 and caught eight passes for 61 yds. (7.6) with a long of 24. He was declared inactive for five games (games 1, 2, 7, 8 and 15) and was active but did not play once (Wk. 6 vs. Pit., 10/12). Griffin saw the first action of his NFL career in the home opener vs. Oak. (9/22) when he rushed seven times for 26 yds. (3.7) after both Clinton Portis and Mike Anderson left the game with injuries. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), he saw action on offense, getting nine carries for 12 yds. (1.3) with a long of 8, and two passes for 11 yds. with a long of 6. In Wk. 9 vs. N.E. (11/3), he carried the ball three times for 3 yds. (1.0). Griffin rushed 15 times for 55 yds. vs. S.D. (11/16) and caught one pass for -1 yd. He ran the ball five times for 26 yds. (5.2) vs. Chi. (11/23), including a career-best run of 23 yds. He was declared inactive vs. Cle. (12/14) after missing the week of practice because of a death in his family. Griffin set career highs in carries (28) and yards (136) in a big road win at 11-3 Ind. (12/21), helping to fill the void with Clinton Portis (ankle) out. It was his first 100-yd. game, and the win put Denver in the playoffs for the first time since 2000. Griffin also added one catch for a career-best 24 yds. He started the first game of his career at G.B. (12/28) and rushed 21 times for 74 yds. (3.5) while making a career-high three receptions for 21 yds. (7.0). Griffin saw action in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and rushed six times for 60 yds. (10.0) with a long of 19 and caught two passes for 18 yds. (9.0).

COLLEGE: As a three-year starter at Oklahoma, Griffin rushed for 3,756 yards (5.4 avg) on 702 carries and recorded 44 touchdowns during his career. Only Billy Sims (3,813, 1975-79), Steve Owens (3,867, 1967-69) and Joe Washington (3,995, 1972-75) gained more yards rushing in Sooners history. Griffin's 702 attempts rank second in school annals behind Owens (905), and his 44 scores rank third on the OU all-time record list behind Sims (50) and Owens (56). He also caught 146 passes for 1,217 yards (8.3 avg) and six touchdowns with only Trent Smith (154, 1999-2002) and Antwone Savage (148, 1999-2002) catching more passes in Oklahoma history. His 4,973 all-purpose yards rank second on the school's career-record chart behind Joe Washington (5,783), and he joined Sims (52) and Owens (56) as the only players in school history to score 50 times in a career. Griffin was a consensus All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection as a senior and started every game, rushing for a career-high 1,884 yards and 15 touchdowns on 287 carries (6.6 avg). In the process, he topped the school single-season record of 1,762 yards by Billy Sims in 1978. Griffin also snatched 35 passes for 264 yards (7.5 avg) and three scores. He scored 108 points, which were the most by a Sooner in a season since Sims tallied 132 in 1979. In addition, he gained 2,148 all-purpose yards (153.4 ypg), surpassing the OU season-record of 1,946 yards by Greg Pruitt in 1971. He ran for more than 100 yards in 12 games, topping the single-season record of 10 set by Sims in 1978. His three 200-yard performances were one shy of the school-record four by Sims in 1978. The previous year, Griffin was an All-Big 12 Conference third-team pick by the league's coaches and adding honorable mention by the Associated Press. He started every game, carrying 182 times for a team-high 804 yards (4.4 avg) and nine touchdowns, and finished second on the team with 55 receptions for 440 yards (8.0 avg) and two touchdowns. His 55 catches rank third on the school's single-season record list for most ever by a running back. As a sophomore, Griffin was an All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection by the Associated Press, adding second-team honors from the league's coaches. He also earned All-Big 12 Academic second-team honors. Griffin led the National Champion Sooners with 189 carries for 783 yards (4.1 avg) and 16 touchdowns and was second on the squad with 45 receptions for 406 yards (9.0 avg). Griffin was destined to redshirt as a freshman before injuries to the Sooners' running backs unit forced him into action. He missed the first seven games of the regular season but still finished as the Sooners' second-leading rusher with 285 yards on 44 carries (6.5 avg) and four touchdowns. He added 11 catches for 107 yards (9.7 avg) and a score.

PERSONAL: Griffin attended Aldine-Nimitz (Aldine, Tex.) High School and was the District 5A-21 Offensive Player of the Year. He was also a finalist for the Houston area Offensive Player of the Year after he rushed for 1,053 yards and eight touchdowns while sharing time at running back. He guided his team to a combined 22-8 record his final three seasons, including a 9-1 mark his last year. Quentin LaVell Griffin was born Jan. 12, 1981, in Houston.

After his breakout year in 2002, he is firmly entrenched in the lineup and carries a 32-game starting streak into 2004. Hamilton, who did not see any action his rookie year, earned a starting role at guard in 2002 and was forced to move to center when Tom Nalen was placed on the injured reserve after Week 7. In 2003, Hamilton moved back to guard and started all 16 games for the Broncos, helping an offense that ranked seventh overall in the NFL and second in rushing. The Broncos' ground game last season set a franchise record with 2,629 rushing yards, 161 yards better than the previous mark set in 1998. Before the 2002 season, he spent the spring honing his skills with the Berlin Thunder in NFL Europe. Hamilton was selected by the Broncos in the fourth round (113th overall) of the 2001 NFL Draft.

2003: Hamilton started at left guard in all 16 games, helping the Broncos rush for a franchise-record 2,629 yds. while tying for the fourth-fewest sacks allowed in team history. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. TIGHT END

Patrick Hape continued to prove why he is one of Denver's most valuable backups last season at tight end as the Broncos had one of the best tight end corps in the league. Seeing action in all 16 games a year ago, Hape posted three catches for 30 yards and was a top blocker for the Broncos' second-ranked rushing attack. In 2001, he scored the first touchdown ever at INVESCO Field at Mile High on a 1-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the first quarter of the season opener vs. the New York Giants, (9/10). Now in his eighth NFL season, Hape has played in 108 career games (16 starts) and caught 43 passes for 252 yards (5.9) with a long of 25 and seven touchdowns while also rushing three times for 1 yd. He has also played in six postseason games and caught one pass for 5 yards. Hape spent his first four NFL seasons with Tampa Bay after being drafted by the club in the fifth round in 1997 (137th overall).

2003: Hape played in all 16 games as a reserve tight end and fullback, and he also contributed on special teams. He caught his first pass of the season vs. Chi. (11/23) when he hauled in a 9-yd. pass from Jake Plummer. He caught a season-high two passes for 21 yds. (10.5) vs. Cle. (12/7), seeing extensive action at fullback with Reuben Droughns limited by injury and Mike Anderson returning from a four-week suspension. Hape played primarily on special teams in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Hape played in a reserve role and on special teams in all 16 games and caught six passes for 26 yds. (4.3), with a long of 7 and two touchdowns. He scored his second touchdown of the season at Sea. (11/17) on a spectacular diving reception from Steve Beuerlein from 1 yd. out on a fourth-and-goal play early in the 4th qtr. His first score came at Balt. (9/30) on a 2-yd. pass from Brian Griese.

2001: Hape played in 15 games, starting eight, and set career highs in all receiving categories with 15 catches for 96 yds. (6.4) with a long of 25 and three touchdowns. He also rushed twice for 0 yds. Hape started at fullback in Wk. 1 and Wks. 3-8 before returning to a reserve role at both fullback and tight end with Tony Carter assuming the role beginning in Wk. 9. He was declared inactive at Ind. (1/6) because of a sprained left ankle suffered the week before vs. Oak. (12/30). Hape started as a second tight end at K.C. (12/16) and tied his career high for receptions with two (8th time; 4th of '01) for a career-high 35 yards, including a career-best long of 25. He re-emerged on the Broncos' offensive landscape vs. Sea. (12/9), catching his third touchdown of the season on a 1-yd. pass from Gus Frerotte in the 3rd qtr. Hape posted his third two-catch game of the season at Oak. (11/5), tying his career high (seventh time), and established a then-career high for receiving yds. with 20. His longest reception of 13 yds. also matched his career best at the time. Hape did not start at Ariz. (9/23) because the Broncos opened in a two-tight end set but played the entire game at fullback and caught his career-best second touchdown of the season on a 1-yd. toss from Brian Griese. He started at fullback in the season opener against the Giants (9/10) and scored the first touchdown at INVESCO Field at Mile High on a 1-yd. pass from Griese with 1:09 remaining in the 1st qtr. He was moved to fullback full-time in training camp when four-year starter Howard Griffith went down with a neck injury. Hape signed with the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent from Tampa Bay on March 14, 2001.

2000: Hape played in all 16 games (2 starts) and caught a career-best six passes for 39 yards with Tampa Bay. His two starts came at Washington (10/1) and vs. Green Bay (11/12). Hape tied his longest career reception of 13 yds. vs. Chicago (9/10) and recorded his career-high game of two catches (12 yds.) in the Washington contest. He also caught one pass for five yards in the Bucs' playoff loss at Philadelphia (12/31).

DEFENSIVE END

Reggie Hayward, who returned from spending the last seven games of 2002 on injured reserve, enjoyed his finest season in NFL last year and looks to soar even higher in 2004 as an every play starter. In 16 games a year ago, Hayward posted career highs in tackles (44, 32 solo) and sacks (8.5 for -47 yards), which tied for second on the team. He also added five passes defensed, two forced fumbles and two fumbles recovered. In 2002, Hayward's season was cut short when he was placed on injured reserve with a fractured right hand Dec. 4, and he missed the final seven games. During his rookie season, Hayward showed flashes of the superior quickness and agility that made him an attractive pass-rushing defensive end coming out of college. Hayward played in the final six games of his rookie season after being inactive the first 10 weeks and managed 22 tackles (16 solo), including three sacks (-21) in reserve duty. That year, he collected three sacks in the same game vs. Seattle (12/9/01), tying the Broncos single-game record for a rookie. Hayward was chosen by the Broncos in the third round (87th overall) of the 2001 NFL Draft.

2003: Hayward played in all 16 games, starting two (vs. Oak., 9/22 and at Min., 10/19), and tallied 44 tackles (32 solo), including a career-high 8.5 sacks (-47), tying for 10th most in the AFC. He also had five pass deflections, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), Hayward posted a sack of Jon Kitna (-6) among his career-high eight tackles (6 solo) while adding a deflected pass, a forced fumble and a recovered a fumble. The forced fumble and the recovery were career firsts for Hayward. He registered his first start of the season in Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22) and recorded three tackles, including a season-high 2.5 sacks of Rich Gannon. Hayward's biggest sack of the night came on a crucial third-and-2 play when he dropped Gannon for a 10-yd. loss to force an Oakland punt. He recorded two solo tackles in Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), including a sack of Tommy Maddox (-8). In Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), Hayward made his second start of the season and recorded three tackles (2 solo). In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), he split a sack of Kyle Boller (-3) with Bertrand Berry among his three tackles (1 solo). Hayward recorded just one solo tackle against S.D. (11/16), but his lone tackle came on a sack of Chargers quarterback Doug Flutie on which he stripped the ball and recovered it himself. He registered three tackles (2 solo) at Oak. (11/30), including 1.5 sacks (-10.5), and a pass breakup. Both sacks came at the expense of Raiders quarterback Rick Mirer, one for a 10-yd. loss in the third quarter. The following week vs. K.C. (12/7), Hayward recorded two solo tackles before suffering a mild AC sprain in his right shoulder in the 4th qtr. He bounced back vs. Cle. (12/14) to make a solo tackle and break up a career-high two passes. Hayward recorded a pair of solo tackles at Ind. (12/21). At G.B. (12/28), he notched his second-highest total of the season with six tackles (5 solo), including a sack (-0) of Packers quarterback Brett Favre in the second quarter. Hayward also added a pass deflection. He saw action in a reserve role and registered three solo tackles and a fumble recovery in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Hayward played in a reserve role in nine games and made 10 tackles (7 solo) before being placed on injured reserve with a fractured right hand Dec. 4. The injury occurred in Denver's 30-27 overtime loss at S.D. (12/1). Hayward posted two tackles on four occasions: vs. Buf. (9/22), vs. S.D. (10/6), at Sea. (11/17) and vs, Ind. (11/24). He was declared inactive for the first two games (vs. St. L., 9/8 and at S.F., 9/15) and again at Balt. (9/30).

2001: Hayward played in each of the final six games (at Dal., 11/22; at Mia., 12/2; vs. Sea., 12/9; at K.C., 12/16; vs. Oak., 12/30 and at Ind., 1/6) after being declared inactive for the first 10 and finished the year with 22 tackles (16 solo), including three sacks (-21). In his second career start, at Ind. (1/6), he posted four tackles (3 solo). Hayward made his first NFL start vs. Oak. (12/30), replacing Kavika Pittman at right defensive end after Pittman was placed on injured reserve for the final two games of the year. Previously, he saw the most extensive action of his young career at K.C. (12/16) after Pittman left with his strained calf in the first qtr. and tied for second on the team with a career-best nine tackles (5 solo). That effort also matched the best by a Broncos defensive lineman in 2001, equaling Pittman's nine-tackle performance vs. Balt. (9/30). Hayward saw time vs. Sea. (12/9), registering five tackles (4 solo) and the first three sacks of his career (on Matt Hasselbeck) for a total loss of 21 yards. The three sacks were the most in a game by a Bronco in 2001 and tied the franchise record for a rookie held by Rulon Jones (12/14/01 vs. Oak.) while tying for the seventh-best effort overall in club history. Hayward played in his first NFL game at Dal. (11/22) and registered two solo tackles.

COLLEGE: Hayward was a first-team All-Big 12 Conference honoree in his senior season at Iowa State after two consecutive seasons of honorable mention consideration. A three-year starter, he never missed a game in his college career (44 games/33 starts) and did not redshirt. Hayward's career numbers include 229 tackles (147 solo), 16.5 sacks (-102), four passes defensed, five forced fumbles and five fumble recoveries. Hayward received the Arthur Floyd Scott Award as a senior, given annually to the team's outstanding defensive lineman, and was a team captain and Most Valuable Player. He was a sociology major.

PERSONAL: Hayward was an All-America selection by Reebok, Prep Football Report and Super Prep at Thornridge High School in Dolton, Ill. He was named one of the top players nationally by Prep Football Report and earned first-team all-state honors from the Champaign News-Gazette as a senior. Hayward also played tight end and served as the team's punter, as well as lettering in basketball—earning all-conference honors as a junior and a senior—and track. Reginald Joseph Hayward Jr., was born March 14, 1979, in Chicago.

RUNNING BACK

Pro Bowl Selections (2) . . .1998, 2001
NFL Comeback Player of the Year (2) 1995, 2001

Garrison Hearst, entering his 12th year in the league, has proven to be one of the toughest, most resilient players in the NFL. With the starting role at running back wide open in 2004, he looks to use his experience to become a valuable member of arguably one of the league's most potent rushing attacks. In 199 career games (105 starts), Hearst has rushed for 7,885 yards on 1,811 carries (4.3) with 29 touchdowns and a long of 96. He has 227 career receptions for 2,045 yards (9.0) and nine touchdowns. Included in his rushing total are 18 100-yard games, including 15 with his former team, the San Francisco 49ers. In postseason play, Hearst has appeared in six games (5 starts) and rushed for 259 yards on 60 carries (4.3) and a touchdown. Various injures throughout his career have sidelined him but have never kept him down. After suffering a devastating ankle injury that kept him out for two seasons, Hearst returned to San Francisco's roster in 2001 and became the first player in NFL history to earn NFL Comeback Player of the Year a second time. That season, he also earned his second trip to the Pro Bowl after rushing for 1,206 yards and became first player in NFL history to rush for more than 1,000 yards after a two-year layoff. Hearst earned his first Pro Bowl nod in 1998 after leading the team with a career best 1,570 yards rushing on 310 carries and seven touchdowns. Limited to just eight games in 1994 while recovering from a knee injury suffered as a rookie (1993), Hearst won his first NFL Comeback Player of the Year award in 1995 with Arizona by registering his first career 1,000-yard season. Originally selected by Arizona in the first round (3rd overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft out of Georgia, he joined the 49ers as an unrestricted free agent in 1997 and signed with Denver this past offseason (3/25).

2003: Hearst, in his final season with San Francisco, rushed for 768 yards on 178 carries (4.3), three touchdowns, and added 25 receptions for 211 yards and a score. In the season-opener vs. Chicago (9/7), he recorded two touchdowns, one rushing and one receiving, and also had 11 carries for 56 yards (5.1). Hearst led the team with 11 carries for 89 yards (8.1), including a long of 36 at St. Louis (9/14), and tallied nine carries for 18 yards and two receptions for 10 yards vs. Cleveland (9/21). Three games later, he again led the team with 19 carries for 74 yards, including a long of 15 vs. Detroit (10/5). He posted 62 yards on 16 carries and one touchdown vs. Seattle (10/12) and paced the 49ers with a season-high 117 rushing yards on 20 carries (5.9) and one touchdown vs. Tampa Bay (10/19). Against St. Louis (11/2), he sparked the rushing attack with 80 yards on 17 carries (4.7) and tallied 20 carries for 67 yards and two receptions for 12 yards vs. Pittsburgh (11/17). Hearst recorded 12 carries for 47 yards and two receptions for three yards at Baltimore (11/30) before injuring his knee and was inactive the remainder of the season (Weeks 14-17).

2002: Hearst started all 16 games for San Francisco and rushed for 972 yards on 215 carries, including a career-high eight touchdowns. A dual-purpose threat, he finished third on team with a career-high 48 receptions for 317 yards and one touchdown. In the season opener at the New York Giants (9/5), he carried the ball 12 times for 40 yards (3.3) and added two receptions for 10 yards, including a 9-yard touchdown reception. Hearst rushed 19 times for 97 yards (5.1) vs. Washington (9/22) and posted 116 yards rushing (8.9), including a long of 40 and one touchdown vs. St. Louis (10/6). At New Orleans (10/20), he ran 14 times for 87 yards (6.2), including a long of 30, and two touchdowns. He led the team with 69 yards on 15 carries (4.6), including a 5-yard touchdown run vs. Kansas City (11/10), and moved past Hugh McElhenny into fifth place on team's all-time rushing list. The next week at San Diego (11/17), Hearst rushed 12 times for 66 yards (5.5) and passed J.D. Smith for fourth place on team's all-time rushing list. Hearst posted a career-high 31 carries for 124 yards (4.0), including a long of 31, and a career-high three touchdowns vs. Seattle (12/1). It was the fourth multiple touchdown game of his career and his 18th career 100-yard rushing game (15th with 49ers). Hearst rushed six times for 15 yards and caught one pass for three yards vs. the New York Giants (1/5) in the NFC Wild Card game, and he followed that up with 55 yards (5.5), including a long of 14, at Tampa Bay (1/12) in NFC Divisional Playoff Game.

2001: Hearst was named NFL Comeback Player of the Year for the second time in his career after a remarkable recovery from his devastating left ankle injury suffered during the 1998 postseason. He returned after a two-year absence and started all 16 regular-season games and one playoff game, earning his second Pro Bowl nod after rushing for 1,206 yards and four touchdowns. Along the way, Hearst registered four 100-yard rushing games and one receiving. In his first game back since 1999, he posted 48 rushing yards on 14 carries (3.8 avg.) and four receptions for 24 yards vs. Atlanta (9/9), and he carried four times for 10 yards and caught two passes for 10 yards before suffering concussion vs. St. Louis (9/23). Hearst amassed 123 all-purpose yards at the New York Jets (10/1), including 95 yards rushing on 20 carries (73 yards in second half). At Chicago (10/28), he scored his first touchdown since 1998 on a 60-yard reception, and in the game, totaled four catches for a career-high 105 yards. Hearst rushed 21 times for 82 yards (3.9 avg.) and caught two passes for 17 yards vs. Detroit (11/4), and posted a season-high 145 yards rushing vs. New Orleans (11/11). That game marked Hearst's first 100-yard rushing performance since Dec. 20, 1998, at New England. The next week, he rushed 17 times for 92 yards and caught six passes for 21 yards at Carolina (11/18) and accounted for 38 yards (rushing) in overtime. Hearst posted his second 100-yard rushing game of season with 106 yards on 12 carries at Indianapolis (11/25) and also scored two rushing touchdowns. It was his first multi-rushing touchdown performance since Sept. 6, 1998 (vs. Jets), and for his efforts, he earned NFC Offensive Player of the Week honors. For a second consecutive game, he gained more than 100 yards rushing with 124 yards vs. Buffalo (12/2) and scored on one-yard touchdown run in second quarter. Hearst recorded the fourth 100-yard rushing game of the season with 26 carries for 103 yards vs. Miami (12/16). He rushed 13 times for 42 yards and caught two passes for 26 yards while scoring one touchdown in NFC Wild Card Game at Green Bay (1/13). In addition to Pro Bowl and NFL Comeback Player of the Year honors, Hearst was named the Associated Press' Comeback Player of the Year and was the George Halas Award recipient from the Pro Football Writers Association as the Comeback Player of the Year.

2000: Hearst, for the second consecutive year, was placed on Reserve/PUP list (8/22). He moved from Reserve/PUP to the active roster Nov. 21 but was inactive for Weeks 14-17.

1999: Hearst, after suffering a broken ankle in the previous season's NFC Divisional Playoff Game, was placed on San Francisco's Reserve/PUP list (8/31). He was activated from Reserve/PUP (11/9) and returned to practice but was later put on injured reserve (11/30) for the remainder of the season.

1998: Hearst played and started 16 games for San Francisco and set career highs in rushes (310) and rushing yards (1,570). He was selected to the Pro Bowl for first time in career after posting a career-high six 100-yard games. Hearst carried the ball 20 times for 187 yards (sixth most in team history), including two touchdowns, vs. the New York Jets (9/6) and set a team record for the longest run (96 yards) on his game-winning touchdown gallop in overtime. For his performance in the season opener, he was named the NFL Offensive Player of the Week and the Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week. The next week at Washington (9/14), Hearst rushed 22 times for 138 yards, marking the first time in his NFL career he produced back-to-back 100-yard games. Against Atlanta (9/27), he rushed 18 times for 57 yards and caught four passes for 105 yards, the first 100-yard receiving game of his career. Hearst carried the ball 15 times for 65 yards and caught a career-high six passes for 33 yards vs. Indianapolis (10/18). Two weeks later, he rushed 17 times for 99 yards, including a 30-yard touchdown at Green Bay (11/1). He caught four passes for 103 yards, including a career-best 81-yard touchdown vs. New Orleans (11/22) and added 90 yards rushing on 25 attempts. Against the New York Giants (11/30), he rushed 20 times for 166 yards, including a 70-yard touchdown, and added two catches for 7 yards.

Hearst reached the 1,000-yard rushing mark for second consecutive season vs. the Giants, becoming the first 49ers running back to accomplish that since Roger Craig (1988-89). He rushed 20 times for 139 yards, including a 71-yard touchdown, and caught two passes for 28 yards at Carolina (12/6), and carried 24 times for a career-high 198 yards, including a 5-yard touchdown vs. Detroit (12/14). The 198 yards was a then-team record for most rushing yards in game, breaking Delvin Williams' record (194) set in 1976. He also became the first 49er to register 100 yards rushing in three consecutive games since J.D. Smith did it in 1962. With 107 yards rushing on 27 carries at New England (12/20), Hearst shattered two team records, including most rushing yards in season (1,549), breaking Roger Craig's mark of 1,502, and 100-yard rushing games in season (6). In the NFC Wild Card Game vs. Green Bay (1/3), he rushed 22 times for 128 yards despite playing with an injured right hamstring, becoming the fifth player in team history to record a postseason 100-yard rushing game. Hearst ran for 7 yards in the NFC Divisional Playoff Game before suffering a broken left ankle on first play from scrimmage at Atlanta (1/9).

1997: Hearst, in his first season with San Francisco, played and started 13 games, missing three regular season and one postseason game with broken left clavicle. He carried the football 224 times for a team-high 1,019 yards (7th in the NFC and 15th in the NFL) and four touchdowns and caught 21 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns. Hearst became the seventh 1,000-yard rusher in 49ers history and first since 1992. He finished fourth on team with 36 points (six touchdowns) and recorded three 100-yard rushing games. At St. Louis (9/7), he rushed for 92 yards on 18 carries and scored the game-winning touchdown on a 35-yard run, and he followed that up with 29 yards rushing and a season-high four receptions for 23 yards and one touchdown vs. New Orleans (9/14). Hearst earned NFL Offensive Player of the Week honors after rushing 28 times for 141 yards and one touchdown at Carolina (9/29) while adding three receptions for 13 yards. He registered his second 100-yard game of season with 18 carries for 105 yards at Atlanta (10/19) and posted his third 100-yard game of season with 22 carries for 104 yards and one touchdown against Dallas (11/2). Eighty-one of those yards came in the second half, and Hearst became the first 49er since 1992 to record three 100-yard games in single season. He rushed for 77 yards and one touchdown on 26 carries at Philadelphia and went over the 1,000-yard mark with a seven-carry, 85-yard performance at Kansas City (11/30). Hearst suffered a fractured left clavicle on the very play that put him over 1,000 yards after being tackled on a 45-yard run in third quarter. He was inactive for the final three regular-season games against Minnesota (12/7), Denver (12/15) and Seattle (12/21), and against Minnesota in the NFC Divisional Playoff Game (1/3). Making his first career start in postseason play, he carried eight times for 12 yards and posted three receptions for 14 yards in the NFC Championship Game vs. Green Bay (1/11).

He had only 15 carries during the first three weeks before coming off the bench to rush for 71 yards on 10 carries against Denver (9-29), and he became a full-time starter vs. Houston (10/6) as he tallied 15 carries for 90 yards. Hearst rushed 21 times for 88 yards and caught two passes for 25 yards and one touchdown at San Francisco (10/20) and had a season-high 23 carries for 80 yards at Baltimore (11/3). 1995: Hearst earned the Victor Award as the NFL's Comeback Player Of The Year with Arizona by becoming only the sixth Cardinal to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. In 16 games (15 starts), he carried 284 times for 1,070 yards, caught 29 passes for 243 yards and posted three 100-yard rushing games. Hearst had his first-career 100-yard game on 22 carries for 121 yards at Detroit (9/17) and registered 122 yards on 23 carries at the New York Giants (10/8). He caught his first career touchdown pass, a game-winning score against Washington (10/15), and had 18 carries for 103 yards vs. Minnesota (11/12).

1994: Hearst—after coming back from a severe knee injury suffered his rookie year—averaged 4.6 yards per carry by rushing for 169 yards on 37 attempts in eight games, including an average of 5.9 yards per carry (28 for 164 yards) during the final four games of season. Against Cincinnati (12/18), he posted a season-high 62 yards on 13 carries and one touchdown while throwing his first career touchdown pass to Larry Centers.

1993: Hearst played in just six games (5 starts) with Arizona before going down with a season-ending left knee injury. He posted a season-high 81 yards on 10 carries, including a 57-yard run, vs. New England (10/10). Hearst suffered a second degree sprain of his left medial collateral ligament against Washington (10/17), which required surgery. Before the injury, he rushed 13 times for 28 yards and scored the first touchdown of his career. He was placed on injured reserve Nov. 4.

COLLEGE: Hearst led the nation in touchdowns (21) and points per game (11.5) as junior at Georgia, and was the 1992 recipient of the Doak Walker Award as nation's outstanding running back. He finished third in the balloting for the Heisman Trophy after his rushing average of 140.6 yards per game ranked second in country. Hearst set SEC single-season records with 126 points, 21 touchdowns, 19 rushing touchdowns and 6.8-yard average per carry, and he ranks second in school history, behind Herschel Walker, with 3,232 rushing yards in three seasons and third with 35 touchdowns.

CORNERBACK

Kelly Herndon, in just his third year in the league, has developed into one of the best young cornerbacks on the roster and last year earned a starting spot at cornerback. He looks to continue that growth this year, and with the addition of Champ Bailey and John Lynch to the secondary, he is part of one of the best defensive backfields in the league. In his first season a starter, Herndon finished second on the team in tackles with 78 (65 solo) and added a career-high three interceptions for 19 yards and 14 passes defensed. Herndon joined the Broncos as a free agent in 2001 (10/24), and before making the active roster, spent a good portion of the 2001 season on the Broncos' practice squad. He went through training camp with the Giants in 2001 (signed May 15, 2001), was waived Sept. 2, signed to the practice squad Sept. 4 and waived again Sept. 18. Herndon entered the NFL in 1999 with San Francisco, signing as an undrafted free agent April 23 but was waived Sept. 6. The 49ers re-signed Herndon July 7, 2000, then waived him Aug. 28.

2003: Herndon saw action in 15 games, making 11 starts, and ranked second on the team with 78 tackles (65 solo). He also led the team with three interceptions, ranked second on the team with 14 pass deflections, forced two fumbles and added five special teams tackles while only missing one game (at G.B., 12/28). Herndon moved into the starting lineup at right cornerback in Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12) after serving as the nickel back in Wks. 1-6. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), Herndon posted three solo tackles and an interception of a Jon Kitna pass in the 2nd qtr. It was his second consecutive game with an interception, dating back to 2002 (vs. Ari. 12/29). Herndon also recorded his first career forced fumble on a kickoff and had two special teams tackles. In Week 2 at S.D. (9/14), Herndon served as the special teams captain and recorded four tackles (3 solo) on defense and two more on special teams. In Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22) Herndon made his first NFL start as the Broncos opened the game in a nickel formation and registered four solo tackles and his second interception of the season. Herndon's pick, off a Marques Tuiasosopo pass, came in the end zone with less than two minutes left in the game. He recorded five tackles (4 solo) and one pass break up vs. Det. (9/28) in Wk. 4. In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), Herndon registered three solo tackles, a special teams tackle and a crucial caused fumble by Priest Holmes late in the fourth quarter to give the ball back to the Broncos with an opportunity to overcome a one-point deficit. In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), he made his second start of the season and his first at the right cornerback position, recording seven solo tackles with one pass break up. In Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), Herndon played a well-rounded game after getting his third start of the season by recording six tackles (5 solo), a pass deflection and a forced fumble. In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), Herndon tallied five solo tackles and a pass breakup. He recorded a career-high 10 tackles (8 solo) and two pass deflections vs. N.E. (11/3). Herndon registered two tackles (1 solo) against S.D. (11/16) while adding two pass deflections and an interception (16 yds.). His interception came when Kenoy Kennedy jarred the ball loose from Chargers tight end Stephen Alexander. Herndon recorded six tackles (5 solo) vs. Chi. (11/23) and added seven more (six solo) at Oak. (11/30). Versus K.C. (12/7), he tallied nine tackles (7 solo), the second-best total of his career, and two pass deflections. Herndon recorded three tackles (2 solo) at Ind. (12/21) despite fracturing two metacarpals on his left hand in the 3rd quarter, forcing to miss the season-finale in G.B. (12/28). Playing with a cast on his left hand, Herndon started at right cornerback in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and registered two solo tackles.

2002: Herndon played 14 games, mostly on special teams, and made eight special teams tackles. He also saw action on defense in four games (vs. Buf., 9/22; at Sea., 11/17; vs. K.C., 12/15 and vs, Ariz., 12/29) and posted an interception and a pass defensed. The interception—the first of his career—came in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29) when he picked off Cardinals quarterback Josh McCown on a 4th-qtr. pass play. Herndon matched his season high with two special teams tackles at Sea. (11/17). He was declared inactive at Balt (9/30) and at Oak. (12/22), the latter one due to a hamstring strain. Herndon posted a season-high two special teams tackles at N.E. (10/27) and recovered a fumble by teammate Scottie Montgomery to maintain possession on a kickoff return.

2001: Herndon spent a good portion of the 2001 season on the Broncos' practice squad, signing with the club Oct. 24, 2001. He went through training camp with the Giants in 2001 (signed May 15, 2001), was waived Sept. 2, signed to the practice squad Sept. 4 and waived again Sept. 18.

2000: Herndon was out of football after being released by San Francisco in training camp.

1999: Herndon was signed by San Francisco as an undrafted free agent and was released during training camp. He spent the rest of the season out of football.

COLLEGE: Herndon saw action in 44 games, including 12 as a senior at Toledo. He posted 154 career tackles, including a career-high 72 during his senior campaign. As a sophomore, he played in 11 games as a reserve defensive back and a member of the special teams, recording 27 tackles. Herndon recorded six tackles and played in 10 games as a freshman.

PERSONAL: Herndon was born Nov. 3, 1976, in Bedford, Ohio, and attended Twinsburg High School in Twinsburg, Ohio. His full name is Kelly Errin Herndon.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE

Darius Holland joined the Broncos last season at the end of training camp and proved he was still one of the best interior linemen around by becoming a starter in his first season in Denver. In his ninth season in the NFL, he has played in 109 career games (35 starts) and has made 204 tackles (125 solo), 4.5 sacks, one interception, nine passes defensed, one forced fumble and three fumble recoveries. Last season, Holland was part of a defensive unit that finished fourth overall in the NFL and seventh against the rush. Originally drafted by Green Bay in the third round (65th pick overall) of the 1995 NFL Draft, he played three years with the Packers (1995-97). After that, he played with Kansas City and Detroit in 1998, and two seasons with the Cleveland Browns (1999-2000). Released by the Browns during training camp in 2001, Holland was out of football that entire season before signing with the Vikings in 2002. He joined the Broncos on July 29, 2003.

2003: Holland played in all 16 games, starting 14 at defensive tackle, and recorded 42 tackles (22 solo) and three pass deflections. He did not start vs. Oak. (9/22) and at Min. (10/19) because of the defensive alignment the Broncos used to open the game but played extensively in each game. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), Holland recorded two tackles (1 solo) and two pass deflections. He matched the two-tackle (1 solo) performance a week later at S.D. (9/14). In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), Holland registered three tackles (all three assisted). He secured his second consecutive three-tackle game in Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), all of which were solo. Holland recorded a season-high six tackles (1 solo) in Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26) and matched that effort the following week vs. N.E. (11/3) with another six tackles (3 solo). He registered four tackles (1 solo) vs. Chi. (11/23) and another two (1 solo) at Oak. (11/30). Holland recorded three solo tackles vs. K.C. (12/7) and five more (3 solo) vs. Cle. (12/14). He started at Ind. (12/21) but left the game in the third quarter with a rib injury. The following week at G.B. (12/28), Holland got the start, but saw limited action, making one solo tackle. He started and made one assisted tackle in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card Game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Holland played in four games for Minnesota in 2002. He played in his first game as a Viking vs. Carolina (9/22) and played defensive tackle and on special teams at Seattle (9/29). Holland saw action at Tampa Bay (11/3) and vs. Green Bay (11/17) at defensive tackle.

2001: Holland was released by the Cleveland Browns during training camp and was out of football for the entire season.

2000: Holland appeared in 16 games with one start at defensive tackle with Cleveland. He finished the season with 45 tackles, a sack, an interception and two forced fumbles. Holland made four solo stops vs. Jacksonville (9/3) and forced a fumble on Jaguars fullback Stacey Mack. He had two tackles and a QB hurry at Cincinnati (9/10) and picked up two more tackles vs. Pittsburgh (9/17). At Oakland (9/24), Holland recorded two solo stops, a sack and a QB hurry against quarterback Rich Gannon. He came back with three tackles and a quarterback hurry vs. Baltimore (10/1) and had three solo stops at Arizona (10/8). Against Denver (10/15), Holland had three tackles and a QB hurry and made four tackles and a QB hurry vs. Cincinnati (10/29). He had two tackles and made his first career interception vs. New England (11/12) off quarterback Drew Bledsoe on the Patriots' 41 yard-line, then added five solo tackles at Tennessee (11/19). Holland matched a career-high with 6 tackles at Baltimore (11/26) and forced a fumble against running back Priest Holmes. Holland made his only start of the season at defensive tackle as the Browns opened with a five-man front vs. Philadelphia (12/10).

1999: Holland appeared in 15 games and made a career-high 11 starts at defensive tackle for Cleveland after signing with the Browns on April 23, 1999. He finished the year with 51 tackles, two sacks, five passes defensed, one fumble recovery and one forced fumble. Holland had four tackles and a QB hurry vs. Pittsburgh (9/12). He started at left defensive tackle in place of the injured John Jurkovic at Baltimore (9/26) and finished the day with four tackles, a sack on QB Stoney Case, a pass defensed and a QB hurry. He picked up another start vs. New England (10/3) and had three tackles and two QB hurries. Against New Orleans (10/31), Holland made five tackles, had a pass defensed, a QB hurry and recovered a fumble by quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver, returning it 14 yards to the Saints' 22-yard line, which resulted in a Browns touchdown. He was inactive at Pittsburgh (11/14) due to a knee injury suffered previous week but came back to make four tackles vs. Carolina (11/21). Back in the starting lineup vs. Tennessee (11/28), he had four tackles, two passes defensed and forced a fumble on running back Eddie George. He made five tackles at San Diego (12/5) and started at Cincinnati (12/12), where he had four tackles. In the season finale, he started vs. Indianapolis and had four tackles.

1998: Holland played the first six games of the season with Kansas City and posted two tackles in reserve duty. He played the remaining 10 games of the season with the Detroit Lions. Holland was acquired by the Chiefs in a trade with the Packers (5/13) for DE Vaughn Booker but was released by Kansas City (10/13) and signed with Detroit (10/19). Holland saw reserve duty in first five games as a Lion and started games 12-14 (vs. Pittsburgh 11/26, at Jacksonville 12/6 and at San Francisco 12/14), posting six tackles in each of the three games. He only played sparingly in last two games of the season due to a lingering ankle sprain.

1997: Holland saw action in 12 games, making one start for the Packers. He had a season-high three tackles vs. Minnesota (9/21) and started vs. Tampa Bay (10/5), where he made two tackles. Holland was inactive at New England (10/27), vs. Detroit (11/2), vs. St. Louis (11/9) and at Indianapolis (11/16). He saw extensive time in the final five games when both Reggie White and Gilbert Brown were injured. Playing in all three playoff games, he did not record a tackle but saw significant time in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Denver (1/25/98), replacing injured right end Gabe Wilkins.

1996: Holland played in all 16 games for Green Bay, extensively on special teams and in a reserve role on the defensive interior of the line. He had a season-high three tackles at Seattle (9/29) and played in all three postseason contests, including a 35-21 Super Bowl XXXI win over New England (1/26/97).

1995: Holland saw action in 14 games with four starts for Green Bay. He teamed with Reggie White for a sack of Chris Miller in the season opener vs. St. Louis (9/3) then made his first NFL start vs. Detroit (10/29) and recorded the first full sack of his career—dropping Scott Mitchell in the second quarter. Holland made starts at Minnesota (11/5) and vs. Chicago (11/12) but was inactive vs. Cincinnati (12/3) due to a groin injury suffered vs. Tampa Bay (11/26). Ron Israel joined the Broncos on Dec. 31 as a free agent and will add depth to the Broncos' secondary. In 2003, he spent time between Cleveland's active roster and practice squad (waived Dec. 24) after being released by Minnesota Sept. 22. He entered the NFL as a rookie free agent with Washington in 2002 but was waived by the Redskins in the final cutdown of training camp and spent the rest of the season out of football. Israel played four seasons at Notre Dame but had his senior season cut short due to a hamstring injury. A versatile defensive back, Israel played both free safety and strong safety in college.

2003: Israel, after being waived by Minnesota Sept. 22, signed with Cleveland's practice squad. The Browns released him but re-signed the second-year safety to the practice squad in Week 14. He was signed to the active roster the next week and was inactive for the Browns' next two games before being waived on Dec. 24.

2002: Israel entered the NFL as a rookie free agent with Washington but was waived by the Redskins in the final cutdown of training camp and spent the rest of the season out of football.

Israel started vs West Virginia but was sidelined in second half and did not play vs. USC and Boston College. He was limited in action vs Tennessee but started vs. Navy to end of season. While a starter at strong safety, he led team with three interceptions as a junior. Israel started nine of the 12 games on the season and played vs Oregon State in the Fiesta Bowl. He notched a team-high 8 tackles and first career interception vs West Virginia, and against Boston College posted seven tackles and ended the Eagles' final drive with an interception. Israel played in 10 games and started two at strong safety as sophomore in 1999. He started his first-career game vs. Purdue and started vs. Oklahoma. He posted his first-career sack vs USC, and saw action in the Gator Bowl vs Georgia Tech. Israel redshirted his freshman year.

SAFETY

Jarious Jackson, possessing as much athletic ability as any player in the NFL, returns to the Broncos for his sixth season but in 2004 will make a switch from offense to defense. Jackson will play safety for Denver, and with the offseason additions of cornerback Champ Bailey and safety John Lynch, joins one of the most-talented secondaries in the league. In four years as a quarterback with the Broncos, Jackson played in five regular season games and completed 11-of-22 passes (50.0%) for 114 yards with a long of 19 and has seen action in one postseason contest, completing 5-of-10 (50.0%) for 54 yds. with a long of 15. He was the starting quarterback for the Barcelona Dragons of the NFL Europe League in 2001 and directed his squad to the World Bowl after an outstanding season. He threw just one pass in his rookie season of 2000 but also played in Denver's AFC Wild Card Game at Baltimore. Jackson was selected by the club in the seventh round of the 2000 NFL Draft (214th overall) out of Notre Dame.

2003: Jackson was re-signed by the Broncos Oct. 22. He started the final game of the season at G.B. (12/28) and completed 4-of-9 passes (44.4) for 41 yds. and an interception while adding one rush for 9 yds. Jackson's longest pass play of the day came on a 16-yd. completion to Ed McCaffrey to end the first quarter. Early in the second quarter, Jackson was relieved by Danny Kanell. Jackson was the backup quarterback but did not play in two games (at Balt., 10/26 and vs. N.E., 11/3), and was inactive as the third quarterback for six of the final seven games (vs. S.D., 11/16, vs. Chi., 11/23, at Oak., 11/30, vs. K.C., 12/7, vs. Cle., 12/14 and at Ind., 12/21). Jackson was out of football between the time he was waived by the Broncos in the final cutdown, Aug. 31, and his re-signing Oct. 22. He was inactive as the third quarter back for the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Jackson was designated the third quarterback for 15 of the 16 games. He saw his only action of the season in the 4th qtr. of the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29). Jackson was active as the backup quarterback vs. Ind. (11/24), but did not play.

2001: Jackson was designated the third quarterback for the first 13 games but was elevated to the backup position for the final three games due to injuries to Brian Griese (1 gm.) and Gus Frerotte (2 gms.), and played in one. At K.C. (12/16), he moved up to the backup role for the first time all season with Griese still suffering the effects of a concussion. Jackson saw his only action of the season in that contest, replacing the injured Frerotte (shoulder) in the 3rd qtr., and he directed the club's final six possessions, which resulted in two field goals. For the day, he completed 7-of-12 passes (58.3%) for 73 yards with a long of 19 to Chris Cole and rushed for 7 yds. on five carries (1.4). He entered the game having thrown just one regular season pass in his career and made his first NFL completion to Dwayne Carswell for a 16-yd. gain.

2000: Jackson played in two games (at K.C., 12/17 and vs. S.F., 12/23) and attempted one pass, which fell incomplete. He also had one rushing attempt for -1 yd. on a kneel-down to end the S.F. game. Jackson was designated the third quarterback for nine games and was the backup, but did not play, in the other five (vs. K.C., 9/24; vs. S.D., 11/19; at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3 and vs. Sea., 12/10). He was elevated to the backup position because of an injury to starter Brian Griese. Jackson played in a reserve role in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and completed 5-of-10 passes (50%) for 54 yds. with a long of 19. He was also sacked once (-9). Jackson posted the second 100-yard game of career at New England (9/22) with four catches for 101 yards, including a career-long 58-yard "Hail Mary" catch on the final play of regulation but was downed at one-foot line. Against the New York Jets (10/13), he made a career-long touchdown catch of 41 yards from Brunell and had a career-high eight receptions (for 69 yards) in one of his two starts on the season (at Pittsburgh, 11/17). Jackson made an acrobatic 7-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter at Baltimore (11/24). The Jaguars made a two-point conversion to tie the score and eventually won it in overtime. Jackson appeared in all three postseason games and made four receptions for 46 yards, including three catches for 35 yards in Jacksonville's AFC Divisional Playoff win at Denver (1/4).

1995: Jackson was selected by Jacksonville in the NFL Expansion Draft (2/15) and led the inaugural Jaguars' team in receptions (53), yards (589) and touchdowns (5) while playing 14 games (10 starts). He also averaged 21.3 yards on 19 kickoff returns, which was second on the team.

1994: Jackson, drafted by Dallas in fourth round (109th overall) of the 1994 NFL Draft, made the Cowboys' opening day roster after ranking third in preseason receptions with seven for 76 yards. A member of the 53-man roster the entire season, he was inactive for all 16 regular-season games and both postseason contests.

COLLEGE: Jackson left the University of Florida No. 2 in school history in receptions (162) and yards (2,172). A three-year starter, he was selected as the team's outstanding receiver as a sophomore with 51 catches for 725 yards and 10 touchdowns. As a junior, he led the SEC with 62 catches for 772 yards and was named first-team all-conference and an honorable mention All-American. He caught 49 passes for 675 yards and six touchdowns as a senior. Jackson was also a walk-on to the Florida basketball team in 1989-90 and averaged 3.0 points per game with 20 steals.

PERSONAL: Jackson earned All-State honors at P.K. Yonge (Gainesville, Fla.) High School and also combined team MVP honors with a top academic achievement award as a senior. He is the son of Willie Jackson Sr., who lettered in football at the University of Florida from 1970-72 and was the first black player in school history. Additionally, he is the older brother of Terry, who has been a running back with the San Francisco 49ers since 1999. Willie Bernard Jackson Jr. was born Aug. 16, 1971.

WIDE RECEIVER

MarTay Jenkins—after being out of football in 2003—signed with Denver on Dec. 30 and reunites with Jake Plummer, the quarterback he played with in Arizona for the first four years of his career. In 2003, he was released by Atlanta at the conclusion of training camp (8/30) after signing with the Falcons as an unrestricted free agent from Arizona before training camp. Originally a sixth-round (193rd overall) selection by Dallas in the 1999 NFL Draft, Jenkins was claimed off waivers by Arizona in 1999. In 40 career games (6 starts), he has 70 receptions for 987 yards (14.1) and four touchdowns.

In addition, he has returned 151 kickoffs for 3,865 yards (25.6) and two touchdowns. He and quarterback Jake Plummer were teammates with the Arizona Cardinals from 1999 to 2002. Jenkins graduated from Nebraska-Omaha, and in less than three years, caught 67 passes for 1,439 yards (21.5) and 12 touchdowns. He also rushed 14 times for 213 yards and four touchdowns and returned 24 kickoffs for 597 yards (24.9) and a score.

2003: Jenkins was out of football after being waived by Atlanta in the final cutdown of training camp.

2002: Jenkins caught 21 passes for 250 yards (11.9) and added 20 kickoff returns for 559 yards (28.0), including a 95 yarder for a touchdown in eight games played with Arizona. In Week 9, however, he was lost for the season with a fractured scapula in his right shoulder vs. St. Louis (11/3). Jenkins returned two kickoffs for 22 and 21 yards and caught 18 yard pass to convert a third-and-10 in a first quarter drive that resulted in a field goal at Washington (9/8). He was named NFC Special Teams Player of the Week after a 95-yard kickoff return for touchdown at Seattle (9/15) and finished the game with a 40.3 average on four returns. Jenkins turned the tide in fourth quarter when he took the kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown with 12 minutes left to give the Cards a 17-13 lead. He opened the scoring vs. San Diego (9/22) with a 35-yard touchdown reception on the Cards' first possession as he ran a double-slant, catching the ball over the middle and out-racing the San Diego secondary down the sideline to the end zone. The catch was the longest of his career. Jenkins matched his single-game career-best six receptions (33 yards) and returned two kickoffs for 22 and 20 yards against the New York Giants (9/29) and caught five passes for 38 yards and returned two kickoffs for 30.5-yard average, including 37-yarder on opening kickoff and one tackle on special teams against Dallas (10/20). At San Francisco (10/27), he had four catches for 46 yards and added 164 yards on six kickoff returns for a 27.4 yard average and a long return of 36 yards in first quarter with two tackles on kick coverage teams. Overall, he registered 210 all-purpose yards. In the game against St. Louis (1/3), he returned a first-quarter kickoff 22 yards but suffered a fractured scapula (shoulder blade) which ended his season.

2001: Jenkins handled the kickoff return duties and had an expanded role as the third wide receiver for Arizona, finishing the year with 49 kickoff returns for 1,120 yards (22.9), 32 receptions for 518 yards (16.3) and three touchdowns in 13 games (3 starts). In the season opener against Denver (9/23), he had seven kickoff returns for a 24.7-yard average, including returns of 35 and 39 yards. He posted his career 100-yard receiving game with six receptions for 119 yards at Philadelphia (10/7), including the game-winning score on 35-yard catch with just nine seconds remaining in the Cardinals' 21-20 comeback win. In the fourth quarter of that game, he had four receptions for 94 yards, highlighted by catches of 16, 28 and 35 yards on the game-winning drive. He made his final catch on fourth-and-10 with 17 seconds remaining when he came back for the ball, spun and dove into the end zone for the score. He also added kickoff returns for 87 yards. Against Detroit (11/18), he finished with 239 combined yards, with three catches for 90 yards and a touchdown, and five kickoff returns for 149 yards (29.8) in Arizona's 45-38 win. Jenkins, against San Diego (11/25), converted a third-and-7 play with 16-yard catch in six-play, 80-yard scoring drive in second quarter to give Cards 7-3 lead. He later returned the opening kickoff of second half 70 yards to the Chargers' 29-yard line then caught a six-yard pass to convert a third-and-6 play in the drive that ended with a field goal and 10-3 advantage. Jenkins added a 10-yard catch in a fourth-quarter scoring drive then snared 8-yarder to San Diego's 36-yard line that set up the game-winning field goal in Arizona's 20-17 win. With starter Frank Sanders (hamstrings) inactive, Jenkins started at Oakland (12/2) and caught six passes for 90 yards, including a 20-yarder with 1:32 remaining that helped in an eventual 34-31 overtime win. He scored the Cardinals' only touchdown against Washington (12/9) on a 10-yard strike from Plummer with 1:16 remaining—just two plays after his 22-yarder converted a third-and-9 play near midfield.

2000: Jenkins set NFL records with 82 kickoff returns for 2,186 yards, breaking the previous marks of New Orleans' Tyrant Hughes (70 returns, 1,791 yards in 1996). His 26.7-yard kickoff-return average ranked second in NFC, third in NFL and was highest by a Cardinal since Terry Metcalf's 27.4 average in 1975. He also caught 17 passes for 219 yards, accumulating 2,402 combined yards (-4 rushing/219 receiving/2,186 returns), trailing only Metcalf's 2,462-yard total in 1975. Jenkins set a Cardinals single-season records for kickoff returns and kickoff-return yardage, breaking the 1997 standards of Kevin Williams—59 returns for 1,458 yards. He had eight kickoff returns at Jacksonville (12/10), which was also team single-game mark, and his 98-yard kickoff return for a touchdown at Minnesota (11/12) was first by a Cardinal since Roy Greek's 106-yard return at Dallas Oct. 21, 1979. His four returns for 173 total yards against the Vikings figured for a 43.3-yard average, the best single-game mark since Terry Metcalff's 47-yard average(3-141) at Houston on Oct. 20, 1974. Jenkins' 193 kickoff-return yards at Jacksonville (12/10) ranks fourth and the 183 against Washington (11/5) ranks fifth in franchise history. He returned 46 kickoffs for 25 or more yards, including more in first seven games (19) than 16-game team total (l8) in 1999. Against Green Bay (9/24), he had seven kickoff returns for 157 yards, including longs of 40 and 32 yards, and had three kickoff returns against Cleveland (10/8) for a 31.3 average. Jenkins had a superb day on special teams in the Cardinals' 16-15 win over Washington (11/5) with five kickoff returns for a 36.6 average, including longs of 40 and 71 yards. He added a 34-yard pass from Plummer on third-and-10 to open second quarter. Against Minnesota (11/12), Jenkins took a fourth-quarter kickoff at his own 2-yard line and bolted up the middle for 98-yard touchdown return, the first by a Cardinal since Roy Greek's NFL-record 106-yard return in 1979 (Oct. 21 at Dallas). He returned six kickoffs for 158 yards, including a 47-yarder in fourth quarter against the N.Y. Giants (11/26), and his first kickoff return of 32 yards at Jacksonville (12/10) set an NFL single-season yardage mark. He finished game with eight returns for 193 yards. In the season finale at Washington (12/24), he returned five kickoffs for 134 yards, including a 49-yarder into Redskin territory in the first period.

1999: Jenkins was inactive for the first 13 contests following a waiver acquisition from Dallas. He was a special-teamer in the final three outings against Buffalo (12/19), at Atlanta (12/26) and at Green Bay (1/2).

COLLEGE: Jenkins, in less than three full seasons at Nebraska-Omaha, caught 67 passes for 1,439 yards (21.5) with 12 touchdowns. He also rushed 14 times for 213 yards and four touchdowns, and returned 24 kickoffs for 597 yards (24.9) and a score. As a senior, he led the Mavericks with 29 receptions for 540 yards (18.6) and three touchdowns while gaining 171 yards rushing on 10 carries with three scores. He averaged 30.3 yards on seven kickoff returns but suffered a torn anterior cruciate ligament in the opening game of his junior season. As a sophomore in 1996, he caught 36 passes for 848 yards with eight touchdowns, the most by a receiver in school history. He attended Northern Iowa Community College for one season (1995).

PERSONAL: Jenkins was involved in toy and clothing drives during his time in Arizona with proceeds going to the Salvation Army, and he participated in numerous Gatorade junior training camps to help instruct kids. He was a football, track and basketball standout at Des Moines North High School and also attended Waterloo East High School as a freshman and sophomore. He earned his degree in sociology from Nebraska-Omaha and was born Feb. 28, 1975, in Waterloo, Iowa.

FULLBACK

Kyle Johnson, after spending six weeks on Denver's practice squad last season, will try to compete for a spot at fullback behind Mike Anderson. A tough, physical runner, Johnson signed with the Broncos from Detroit's practice squad (12/11/02), where he was inactive for Denver's final three games in 2002. He entered the NFL as Carolina's fifth-round (145th overall) selection of the 2002 draft but was waived by the Panthers in the final cutdown (9/1/02) and was signed to the New York Giants' practice squad (9/3). After the Giants waived him on Oct. 24, he signed with Detroit's practice squad (11/13).

2003: Johnson had three different stints on the team's practice squad with the final one coming before the regular-season finale at Green Bay (12/28). He was signed by the Broncos on Sept. 10 and spent one week on the practice squad after being waived by the Broncos in training camp (8/26). He later rejoined the team (10/14) and spent a month on the squad before being released Nov. 18. Johnson was signed the final time to practice squad on Dec. 24.

2002: Johnson signed with the Broncos Dec. 11 from Detroit's practice squad and was inactive for each of the final three games. A 2002 draft choice of the Carolina Panthers (5th round/145th overall), he was waived by the Panthers Sept. 1 and signed to the Giants' practice squad Sept. 3. Johnson was waived from the Giants' practice squad Oct. 24 then signed to Detroit's practice squad Nov. 13, where he remained until being signed to Denver's 53-man roster.

COLLEGE: Johnson was granted a sixth year of eligibility by the NCAA and started all 13 games at fullback as a senior. He gained a career-high 223 yards on 52 carries with three touchdowns and caught six passes for 75 yards and one touchdown. Johnson totalled a career-high 96 yards on six carries with a 13-yard touchdown at Rutgers and rushed for a touchdown at Pittsburgh. Elected team captain as a senior, Johnson started at fullback in the season opener versus Buffalo and had five carries for 27 yards with a 4-yard touchdown run before sustaining a season-ending ankle injury. A Big East Academic All-Star, Johnson played in all 11 contests for the Orangemen with four starts as a junior. He was Syracuse's third leading rusher with 157 yards on 32 carries with three touchdowns and also posted six receptions for 40 yards and one touchdown. An All-Big East Academic choice, Johnson saw action in six games as a sophomore, contributing as a reserve tailback and on special teams. He finished the season with 33 yards on six carries and three special teams tackles. He scored his first career touchdown on a 17-yard run versus Rutgers and played on special teams in the Orange Bowl against Florida. Johnson saw action in three games as a redshirt freshman and gained 26 yards on six carries.

PERSONAL: Born Albert Kyle Johnson on Dec. 15, 1978, he earned second-team all-state recognition and earned all-county and all-area honors as a senior at Woodbridge (N.J.) DEFENSIVE END

Raylee Johnson—entering his 12th season in the league—joined the Broncos as a free agent (3/22) and will instantly bolster a defensive unit that hopes to improve on its No. 4 overall ranking in the NFL. In his first 11 seasons (all with San Diego), Johnson has made 218 tackles (176 solo), 46 sacks for -294.5 yards, 10 forced fumbles, four fumble recoveries and seven passes defensed. He has also scored two career touchdowns; the first on a 45-yard fumble recovery against the Broncos in 2001, and the second on a fumble recovery in the end zone against Houston in 2002. After becoming a regular starter for the Chargers in 1999, he posted a career-high in sacks (10.5) that season. Unfortunately, Johnson suffered a right knee injury during the preseason in 2000 and spent the year on injured reserve. But he recovered from the injury in fine fashion and posted 9.5 sacks in 2001 and 6.5 sacks in 2002. He entered the NFL as a fourth-round (95th overall) pick in the 1993 NFL draft out of Arkansas.

2003: Johnson played only nine games before being placed on injured reserve (left foot) Nov. 29 and made 13 tackles (12 solo), four sacks for -28 yards and two forced fumbles. At Jacksonville (10/5), he posted four tackles and made two sacks for 15 yards. In Week 9 at Chicago (11/2), Johnson posted another sack for 3 yards, and the next week vs. Minnesota (11/9), he picked up his fourth sack of the season but suffered the sprained left foot in that game. He was inactive against the next two weeks (at Denver and vs. Cincinnati) before being placed on injured reserve.

2002: Johnson led team with 6.5 sacks, adding 40 tackles (31 solo), one pass defensed and one fumble recovery in 16 starts. Against Houston (9/15), he had two sacks and scored the second touchdown of his career on a fumble recovery in the end zone. The next week, he collected another sack at Arizona (9/22) and had 1/2 sack at Oakland (10/20). Against the New York Jets (11/3), he had a sack, and he picked up another at Kansas City (12/22).

2001: Johnson earned Chargers' Lineman of Year honors after making 38 tackles (28 solo) and 9.5 sacks for 53 yards. Johnson posted sacks vs. Cincinnati (9/30) and at Cleveland (10/5). He racked up two sacks at New England Oct. 14 and at Oakland (11/18), he tied a career high with three sacks. Johnson scored the first touchdown of his career on 45-yard fumble return at Denver (11/11)—the seventh-longest fumble return in team history. After being credited with one-half sack against Seattle (12/30), he raised his season total to 9.5, which ranked second on team.

2000: Johnson, coming off his most productive season to date, had his year end in the preseason after he suffered a torn ACL in his right knee at Atlanta (8/18). He was placed on injured reserve on Aug. 22 and missed entire 2000 season.

1999: Johnson enjoyed arguably his best NFL season, starting all 16 games at right defensive end, earning the Chargers' Co-Lineman of Year honors with defensive tackle Norman Hand. He posted career highs in tackles (41), sacks (10.5) and forced fumbles (5), and his 10.5 sacks led the team and was tied for sixth in AFC. It was the most sacks by a Chargers defender since Leslie O'Neal had 12.5 in 1986. Against Cleveland (12/5), Johnson set career high with three sacks and tied season high with five tackles while forcing one fumble. He tied a season high with five tackles while adding one sack at Seattle (12/12).

1998: Johnson, who played in 16 games and made three starts, put up 5.5 sacks and 27 tackles (21 solo) and also added one pass defended and one forced fumble. Johnson made his only start of season versus Denver in the season finale and tied season highs with four tackles and one sack.

1995: Johnson, who played in all 16 regular-season games, ended the year with 15 tackles (14 solo) and three sacks despite playing the majority of the second-half of season with a sore ankle. He also added one forced fumble and one pass defensed. HIGH SCHOOL: Westminster Academy, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.
ACQUIRED: Free Agent, 2003
PRO YEAR: 7th • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 2nd
NFL GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 43/24 • POSTSEASON: 1/1

QUARTERBACK

Danny Kanell, entering his seventh year in the NFL, returns to the Broncos for his second season and looks to secure the No. 2 spot at quarterback. He returned to the NFL last year after a two-year hiatus and spent 14 weeks with the team, primarily as the team's No. 3 quarterback. But, with injuries to Jake Plummer and Steve Beuerlein, Kanell saw action in five games, making two starts. On the year, he threw for 442 yards on 53-of-103 passing (51.5%) with two touchdowns. The former starter for the New York Giants possesses the veteran leadership and experience Denver desires from its back-up quarterback. In six professional seasons, Kanell has completed 491-of-956 passes for 5,129 yards (51.4%), 31 touchdowns, 34 interceptions and a 63.2 quarterback rating. He entered the NFL as a fourth-round (130th overall) selection by the Giants in 1996 and played three seasons with the club (1996-98). He then moved to Atlanta, where he played two years (1999-2000). While out of the NFL for two years, Kanell played for the New York Dragons in the Arena Football League in 2002. A standout at Florida State, he ranks second on the Seminoles' all-time list with 6,176 yards in total offense and 6,372 yards passing. He completed 529-of-851 passes and owns FSU's all-time touchdown record with 72. He signed with the Broncos as a free agent June 3, 2003.

2003: Kanell played in five games and started two (at Bal., 10/26 and vs. N.E., 11/3) after re-signing with Denver Sept. 17. He completed 53-of-103 passes (51.5%) for 442 yds. and two touchdowns with five interceptions. He was inactive as the Broncos' third quarterback for his first four games with the team and was the backup quarterback for each of the final seven games of the season. Kanell saw his first action of the season at Min. (10/17) when he replaced Steve Beuerlein (injured finger) with 3:24 remaining in the third quarter to complete 12-of-18 passes (66.7%) for 104 yds. with one touchdown. His lone touchdown pass to Mike Anderson from 1-yd. out made it a one-possession game for the Broncos. Kanell then drove the Broncos to the Vikings' 30-yd. line with less than a minute to play but came up just short when his fourth-and-10 pass attempt to Clinton Portis was knocked down at the line of scrimmage. Kanell's action at Min. was his first in the NFL since Nov. 12, 2000, at Detroit as a member of the Atlanta Falcons. His touchdown toss to Anderson was his first since Nov. 5, 2000, when he connected with Terrence Mathis for a 16-yd. score vs. Tampa Bay. Despite suffering from the flu two days before the game and missing the Friday practice, Kanell started at Balt. (10/26)-making his first start since 11/12/00-and completed 16-of-31 passes (51.6%) for 114 yds., with two interceptions. His longest completion went for 19 yds. to Dwayne Carswell, and he was sacked twice (-24) while rushing twice for 9 yds. Kanell made his second consecutive start in Wk. 9 vs. N.E. (11/3) completing 16-of-35 passes (45.7) for 163 yds. and one touchdown with one interception. His touchdown pass to Mike Anderson from 1-yd. out capped a 14-play, 72-yd. drive to give the Broncos the halftime lead while his only interception came on a desperation heave on the next-to-last play of the game. Against S.D. (11/16), Kanell entered the game in the fourth quarter with the Broncos leading 37-8 and threw an interception on his only pass attempt. At G.B. (12/28), he entered the game early in the second quarter, relieving Jarious Jackson, to complete 9-of-18 passes (50.0) for 61 yds., including one interception, which came on a long pass to the end zone on the final play of the first half. Kanell was the backup quarterback for the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) but did not play.

2002: Kanell played quarterback for the New York Dragons in the Arena Football League, where he completed 61-of-116 passes for 617 yards and posted a 15:7 touchdown-to-interception ratio and a 75.3 passer rating. Versus the Detroit Fury, he was named game MVP after coming off the bench at halftime and completing 14-of-18 passes for 80 yards and three touchdowns, bringing his team back from a 22-9 third-quarter deficit to a 44-37 win. A week later, he made his first AFL start and encountered difficulty, completing 21-of-41 passes for 217 yards with five touchdowns but four interceptions.

2001: Once his contract expired with the Atlanta Falcons, Kanell was out of football. However, he played professional baseball after signing with the Newark Bears of the independent Atlantic League on July 22, 2001.

2000: Kanell appeared in five games with Atlanta, making one start. He completed 57-of-116 passes (49.1%) for 524 yards, a long of 35, with two touchdowns and five interceptions. After coming back from an injured thumb suffered in the preseason, Kanell resumed his backup role in Week 4 vs. St. Louis (9/24) and saw his first action, completing 1-of-3 passes for 9 yards. He relieved the injured Chris Chandler vs. New York (10/8) in the second quarter and went on to hit 15-of-36 passes for 166 yards and one interception. Seeing his most extensive action of the year, Kanell finished 26-of-43 for 213 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions vs. Tampa Bay (11/5). The next week at Detroit (11/12), Kanell was named the starter due to the concussion suffered by Chandler. He completed 14-of-34 passes for 126 yards but threw a pair of fourth-quarter interceptions.

1999: Kanell signed as a free agent with Atlanta on March 19, 1999, but his season was cut short when he sprained his right knee (MCL) and was subsequently placed on injured reserve two days later. In three games (1 start), Kanell connected on 42-of-84 passes (50.0%) for 593 yards with four touchdowns and four interceptions. Coming out of training camp, Kanell was the third-string quarterback and made two appearances in relief efforts. He was elevated to the back-up the week before Atlanta's game against Tennessee (12/19) and made his first start since Nov. 15, 1998, when he was with the New York Giants (vs. Green Bay). In the game, Kanell passed for 237 yards on 18-of-29 throws with two touchdowns and two interceptions, but unfortunately, was forced out of the game with the knee injury that ended his season.

1998: Kanell started the first 10 games of the season before being replaced in the lineup by Kent Graham following the team's 3-7 start. He ended the year 160 completions on 299 attempts (53.5%) for 1,603 yards, 11 touchdowns and 10 interceptions for a 67.3 passer rating. As the opening day starter against Washington (9/6), Kanell was 15-of-28 for 159 yards with two touchdowns and one interception. He set single-game high marks with 25 completions on 45 attempts vs. Dallas (9/21), but it wasn't enough as Dallas held on to beat the Giants. Combine that loss with the loss to Oakland the next week, and it marked the first time in Kanell's football career that he had suffered back-to-back losses. He bounced back against San Diego (9/27) and led the Giants to a win after completing 17-of-33 passes for 208 yards and one touchdown. At Tampa Bay (10/4), Kanell hit just 10-of-27 passes for 83 yards and three interceptions, marking his highest single-game interception total and his lowest passing total. Kanell again struggled by completing only 11-of-21 passes for 100 yards and enduring five sacks and two fumbles vs. Atlanta (10/6) and was replaced by Kent Graham in the fourth quarter. Against Arizona (10/18), he matched a career-high with three touchdown strikes and set a career high with 259 yards passing in the Giants' win and was awarded the offensive game ball by the coaching staff. In New York's game vs. Philadelphia (11/22), Kanell was replaced by Graham late in the third quarter and served as the backup for the remaining six games of the season.

1997: Kanell entered the season as the Giants' backup quarterback and holder on placekicks but was worked into the starting lineup where he finished the season with a 7-2-1 record and led the team to the NFC East title. On the year, he completed 156-of-294 passes (53.1%) for 1,740 yards, 11 touchdowns and nine interceptions for a 70.7 passer rating. Kanell came into the game vs. Dallas (10/5) in the second quarter after Dave Brown was forced to leave after aggravating a strained pectoral muscle that he originally injured against New Orleans (9/28). In that game, Kanell rallied the Giants to a 20-17 victory by completing 10-of-17 passes for 101 yards. He made his first NFL start of the year the next week at Arizona (10/12), where he completed 13-of-28 passes for 198 yards with one touchdown and one interception. In New York's overtime win at Detroit (10/19), Kanell connected with WR Chris Calloway for a 68-yard touchdown on the third play of extra time, lifting the Giants to a 26-20 win. He improved to 3-0 as a starter the next week vs. Cincinnati (10/26) by leading the team to two fourth-quarter touchdowns in the Giants' come-from-behind win. Kanell had the second two-touchdown game of his career vs. Arizona (11/16) in New York's win. The first touchdown was a 56-yarder to WR Amani Toomer in the second quarter, and the second was a 1-yarder to TE Howard Cross in the fourth quarter, which proved to be the game winner. He led the Giants to victory at Philadelphia (12/7) with three touchdown passes—the first three-touchdown passing game by a Giants quarterback since Phil Simms accomplished the feat at Washington on Oct. 10, 1993. In the NFC East title-clinching game vs. Washington (12/13), Kanell converted three key third downs with passes, including one that resulted in a 7-yard touchdown. He closed out the season 16 of 32 (50.0%) for 199 yards and one touchdown in the Giants' 23-22 NFC Wild Card loss to Minnesota.

1996: Kanell appeared in four games and completed 23-of-60 passes for 227 yards, one touchdown and one interception. He was inactive as the team's third quarterback for the first six weeks of the season but was elevated to backup during the week before New York's game at Washington (10/20). Kanell saw his first NFL action when he came in to run out the clock on the final three plays at Detroit (10/27). Coming in relief of the injured Dave Brown vs. Arizona (11/3), Kanell took over on the team's third possession and finished the game 14-of-27 for 128 yards with one touchdown and one interception. He again saw action later in season, this time at Philadelphia (12/1), where he replaced Brown in the fourth quarter, but only completed four passes in 13 attempts for 47 yards. His final appearance of the season came against New Orleans (12/15). Kanell, after replacing Brown late in the first half, finished the game 5-of-20 for 52 yards and was sacked five times.

COLLEGE: Kanell ranks second on Florida State's all-time passing lists with 6,176 yards in total offense and 6,372 yards passing, topped only by the 6,636 yards in total offense by Charlie Ward (1989-93) and 6,378 aerial yards by Gary Huff (1969-72). He also threw 57 touchdown passes, breaking the all-time Seminole record of 52 by Huff. His 529 completions in 851 attempts broke Ward's previous FSU marks (473-of-759). An All-Atlantic Coast Conference first-team choice his senior year, Kanell ranked 13th in the nation with a 145.5 passer rating and 11th with an average of 265.1 yards in total offense per game in 1995. That year, he completed 257-of-402 (63.9%) for 2,957 yards and 32 touchdowns, breaking the old school records of 27 scores by Ward (1993) and 385 attempts by Huff (1972). As a junior, Kanell was an All-ACC first choice and a finalist for the Davey O'Brien Award—given to the premier passer in college football—in his first year as FSU's starting quarterback. He hit on 227-of-380 (59.7%) passes for 2,781 yards and 17 touchdowns. Kanell shared the starting duties behind Charlie Ward and Jon Stark as a sophomore in 1993. He earned his first career start vs. Maryland and completed 36 of 49 passes (73.5%) for 499 yards with seven touchdowns and no interceptions. On the diamond while at FSU, Kanell lettered and performed as a reserve outfielder in 1992. He also appeared in three games a pitcher and finished with a .182 batting average with three runs batted in.

PERSONAL: Kanell was a Parade and Tom Lemmings Football Report All-American selection at Westminster Academy in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Rated the second best quarterback prospect in the nation by SuperPrep, he was the Gatorade Circle of Champions Player of the Year in 1991 after throwing for 1,528 yards and 18 touchdowns his senior season. A two-year letterwinner in football, he led his team to the state title as a junior and to a second-place finish as a senior. Following high school, Kanell was selected in the 19th round of the 1992 Major League Baseball Draft by the Milwaukee Brewers and again drafted by the New York Yankees in 1995. Kanell was born Nov. 21, 1973, in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he continues to make his offseason home.

SAFETY

Kenoy Kennedy, a vital cog in Denver's secondary the past four seasons, has earned the reputation of being one of the NFL's best young safeties and proved last year why he belongs as a starter in the Broncos' secondary. Combine Kennedy with John Lynch and Nick Ferguson, and the Broncos have a premier unit heading into 2004. Bringing the same level of intensity and hitting power that former Broncos' safeties have brought to the field, Kennedy, in his third year as a full-time starter last year, finished sixth on the team in tackles (65 total, 51 solo) and compiled 11 passes defensed in only 13 games played. He missed three games with a left ankle injury. Kennedy has played in 57 career games (43 starts) and has posted 261 tackles (199 solo), including three sacks (-18), as well as three interceptions (6 return yds.) and 25 passes defensed. He was the second of Denver's two second-round draft choices in 2000 (45th overall) out of Arkansas, where he followed in the footsteps of former Broncos great Steve Atwater and broke several of Atwater's statistical records.

2003: Kennedy played in 13 games and started 12, posting 65 tackles (51 solo), an interception, a sack, a forced fumble, two fumble recoveries and 11 pass deflections (third most on the team) to go along with one special teams stop. He missed three games (Wks. 4-6) and four starts (Wks. 4-7) while recovering from a left ankle sprain. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), Kennedy tallied four tackles (3 solo), a deflected pass and a special teams tackle. In Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22), Kennedy recorded one solo tackle before leaving the game with a sprained left ankle in the third quarter. He was declared inactive in Wks. 4-6 while recovering from the injury. Kennedy returned in Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19) to see playing time at strong safety. He did not make a tackle but broke up two Daunte Culpepper passes. In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), Kennedy returned to the starting lineup for the first time since his ankle injury to register a season-high 11 tackles (10 solo) and a pass deflection. He recorded four tackles (2 solo), an interception, a fumble recovery and a pass deflection vs. N.E. (11/3). The interception and fumble recovery were both his first of the season. Against S.D. (11/16), Kennedy recorded a solo tackle and a pass breakup when he separated Chargers tight end Stephen Alexander from the ball, resulting in a Kelly Herndon interception. He registered eight tackles (5 solo) vs. Chi. (11/23), his second highest output of the season. At Oak. (11/30), Kennedy recorded four solo tackles along with a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. His forced fumble came when he jarred the ball lose from Charlie Garner on a sweep, knocking the ball out of bounds while his fumble recovery came after Lenny Walls stripped Jerry Porter at midfield after a 15-yd. catch and run. Kennedy registered a team-high 10 tackles (8 solo) and a pass deflection vs. K.C. (12/7), his second-highest tackle total of the season. He recorded seven tackles (6 solo) vs. Cle. (12/14), including a sack of Browns quarterback Tim Couch. The sack of Couch stopped him for no gain and was Kennedy's first of the season. He tallied four tackles (3 solo) at Ind. (12/21)

while adding two pass deflections. At G.B. (12/28), Kennedy recorded seven tackles (6 solo) and two pass deflections. Kennedy started at strong safety in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and made eight tackles (6 solo).

2002: Kennedy started 15 games at strong safety and ranked fourth on the team with a career-high 98 tackles (72 solo) and also ranked fourth with eight passes defensed. He added one special teams tackle. Kennedy posted 10 tackles (7 solo) at S.D. (12/1) a week after recording a season-high 12 stops (9 solo) vs. Ind. (11/24). He did not play at K.C. (10/20) due to a league suspension levied for hits deemed to be helmet-to-helmet. Kennedy recorded nine tackles (4 solo) at. Balt. (9/30) a week after posting 10 stops (8 solo) vs. Buf. (9/22). In the opener vs. St. Louis (9/8) Kennedy deflected a Kurt Warner pass that was ultimately intercepted by Keith Washington.

2001: Kennedy started all 16 games at strong safety and ranked fifth on the team with 92 tackles (70 solo), including two sacks (-18), while also posting six passes defensed and one interception (6-yd. return). He registered his second sack of the season in the finale at Ind. (1/6), taking down Peyton Manning for a 7-yd. loss in the 4th qtr., among his seven tackles on the day (6 solo). Kennedy posted four tackles vs. Oak. (12/30) and intercepted his first pass of the season at the most opportune time. Kennedy put a stop to the Raiders' last scoring attempt, picking off Rich Gannon on a fourth-and-1 play from Denver's 17-yd. line with seven seconds left and the Broncos clinging to a 23-17 lead. Kennedy registered the first sack of his career at K.C. (12/16), taking down Trent Green for an 11-yd. loss, while tying his season high with nine tackles (5 solo). In Wk. 13 vs. Sea. (12/9) Kennedy had his best game since Wk. 7, posting seven tackles (5 solo) and breaking up a pass. After missing most of the second half the week before vs. S.D. (11/11) because of a low-back bruise, Kennedy played the entire game vs. Wash. (11/18) and registered six tackles, as well as two more on special teams. In the S.D. game (11/11), he managed two solo tackles before being replaced George Coghill due to his back injury. Kennedy posted a season-high nine tackles (6 solo) vs. K.C. (10/7). He made his first career start in the opener against the Giants (9/10) and posted a then-career-high five tackles (4 solo) and a pass deflection. He also made four special teams stops.

2000: Kennedy saw action in 13 games and posted six solo tackles and one interception, and also had four tackles on special teams. He played on defense in Gms. 9-14 before playing on special teams only at K.C. (12/17). Kennedy's first three career tackles came on Monday Night Football vs. Oak. (11/13), followed by two more the next week vs. S.D. (11/19). He saw action on defense for the first time in his career at the Jets (11/5) and grabbed his first interception. Kennedy picked off a Vinny Testaverde pass at the Broncos' 6-yd. line to thwart a Jets scoring opportunity and set up a 94-yd. touchdown drive that put the Broncos ahead 17-0 in the 2nd qtr. en route to a 30-23 win. He played on special teams in the first three games but suffered an injury to his posterior cruciate ligament at Oak. (9/17) and was declared inactive for the next three (vs. K.C., 9/24; vs. N.E., 10/1 and at S.D., 10/8). Kennedy returned to practice the week of the S.D. game, and returned to game action vs. Clev. (10/15). He made his NFL debut in the opener at St. Louis (9/4) and posted his first two special teams tackles. Kennedy saw action on special teams in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and made one tackle.

COLLEGE: Kennedy is the only defensive back in Arkansas Razorbacks' history to lead the team in tackles, doing so in both his junior and senior seasons, and broke the school's career tackle record for a defensive back, previously held by former Broncos great Steve Atwater (1985-88). A two-time All-Southeastern Conference choice and a third-team All-American as a senior, Kennedy moved into the starting lineup in the seventh game of his freshman season and did not miss a game, starting all 38 remaining contests. He finished his career with 287 tackles (182 solo), including two sacks (-13) as well as five interceptions (190 return yards), 20 passes defensed, four forced fumbles and seven fumble recoveries. Kennedy was a vocational education major.

PERSONAL: Kennedy earned all-state, all-district and Dallas Morning News Texas Top-100 honors at Terrell (Texas) High School, excelling both at wide receiver and defensive back. He caught 39 passes for 652 yards and seven touchdowns as a senior, giving him 79 catches for 1,695 yards and 17 touchdowns for his career. On the other side of the ball, he made 13 interceptions. Kennedy was also an all-district pick in basketball while excelling in the 400 meters and triple jump for the track and field team. He was also a recipient of the school's perfect attendance award. Kenoy Wayne Kennedy was born Nov. 15, 1977, in Dallas. He and his wife, Charressa, reside in Aurora, Colo.

PUNTER/KICKER

Micah Knorr enters his fifth NFL season and his second full season in Denver. Knorr, in 16 games last season, posted a 43.2 average and 32.2 net punting average with a long of 62 and 14 punts inside the 20-yard line. He has proven to be one of the NFL's top kickers in terms of hang time, directional ability and net average since playing at Utah State. He also brings another dimension by giving the Broncos options on kickoffs, which he performed for the last two years. Knorr, who signed with Dallas in 2000, has a career average of 41.4 on 275 punts (11,391) with a net average of 33.2. He played collegiately at Utah State where he earned second-team All-Big West honors as a senior in 1996 after nabbing first-team honors in '95. Knorr was primarily a kicker for the Aggies, converting 39-of-60 field goal attempts and notching 14 touchbacks on kickoffs.

2003: Knorr played in all 16 games and punted 68 times for 2,937 yds. (43.2) with a net average of 32.2. He placed 14 punts inside the 20-yd. line with six touchbacks and had two blocked. Knorr ranked fourth in the AFC (7th NFL) in punting average. He punted five times in the opener at Cin. (9/7) and set a new career high with an average of 47 yds. per punt. His longest punt of the day was 55 yds., and the Bengals only returned two punts for an average of 1.5 yds. He placed two punts inside the 20 and had one touchback. At S.D. (9/14), Knorr punted three times for 134 yds. (44.7) for a net of 30.0 yds. and placed one punt inside the 20. In Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22), he punted four times for 188 yds. to match the career high of 47.0 he set in Wk. 1. In the Oak. contest, Knorr recorded a career-best 61 yd. punt and had one punt blocked while also adding a special teams tackle. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), he punted four times for 182 yds. (45.5) for a net average of 39.3. In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), Knorr punted five times for 198 yds. (39.6) for a net average of 14.6, courtesy of a 93-yd. punt return by the Chiefs' Dante Hall, which was the first Knorr punt returned for a touchdown in his NFL career. In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), Knorr had arguably his best day as a pro, setting a new career high by averaging 52.8 yds. on six punts, with a career-best net average of 46.8 per punt. For the day, he placed three punts inside the 20-yd. line and had no touchbacks. In Wk. 9 vs. N.E. (11/3) Knorr punted a season-high eight times for 336 yds. (42.0) for a net average of 35.8 and placed two inside the 20-yd. line with one touchback. He also took over placekicking duties when Jason Elam injured his groin and converted the first two PATs of his career. Against S.D. (11/16), Knorr did not punt (only the third time in Broncos history that the team did not punt in a game) but converted on a 27-yd. field goal, the first of his career, in the 4th qtr.

He punted five times for 193 yds. (38.6) vs. Chi. (11/23) for a net average of 30.8 and attempted the first pass of his career after mishandling a snap for placement on a field goal attempt. The pass fell incomplete. At Oak. (11/30), Knorr punted five times for 223 yds. (44.6) for a net average of 24.4 yds. He had one punt blocked out of the end zone in the 1st qtr. by O.J. Santiago for a safety. It was the second of Knorr's punts blocked on the season, both by Santiago. Versus K.C. (12/7), Knorr punted twice out of bounds for a net average of 36.5 yds. in an effort to keep the ball out of the hands of Chiefs return man Dante Hall. He also added his second special teams tackle of the season. Knorr punted five times for 208 yds. (41.6) vs. Cle. (12/14) for a net average of 31.4 and placed two inside the 20-yd. line. He also made a touchdown-saving tackle on Browns return-man Dennis Northcutt in the 4th qtr. Knorr's only punt at Ind. (12/21) was a thing of beauty as his 34-yd. boot was downed by the Broncos at the Colts' 2-yd. line in the 3rd qtr. In the final game of the season at G.B. (12/28), he punted seven times for 297 yds. (43.2) for a net average of 33.6, including a career-best 62-yd. punt. Knorr punted twice for 84 yds. (42.0) in the Broncos AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) with one touchback and one inside the 20-yd. line for a net average of 32.0.

2002: Knorr signed with the Broncos Oct. 30 after being released by Dallas Oct. 22. He played in eight games with Denver and punted 24 times for 906 yds. (37.8) with a long of 59, two touchbacks, eight placed inside the 20-yd. line and 10 fair catches for a net average of 34.1. He tied for fifth in the AFC in touchbacks on kickoffs (7). Knorr played the first seven games of the season with the Cowboys and for the season averaged 39.9 yards on 71 punts (2,834 yds.), with a net average of 34.8, which ranked seventh in the AFC, and a long of 56. He placed 19 punts inside the 20, had six touchbacks and had 10 punts result in fair catches.

2001: Knorr averaged 40.2 yards-per-punt, and his 25 punts inside the 20-yard line tied for the fifth most in club history. He excelled on kickoffs, placing 13-of-56 kicks (not including onside kicks or squibs at the end of the half or game) into the end zone with four touchbacks. He averaged 65.8 yards per kickoff (to the four-yard line), and Dallas' opponent's average starting position following his kickoffs was the 26.8-yard line, placing it ninth in the NFC and tying for 12th in the NFL, in opponents' drive start. In the season opener against Tampa Bay (9/9), he recorded five punts for a 36.8 yard average, including two downed inside the Bucs 20-yard line. Knorr posted a 42.5 yard average on four punts against San Diego (9/23). With Tim Dwight forced into three fair catches and a two-yard loss on his only return, Knorr's net average of 43.0 yards against the Chargers was a career-high. At Philadelphia (9/30), he averaged 40.7 yards on six punts but suffered the first blocked punt of his career when N.D. Kalu broke through to get his second-quarter kick. Not just a foot, Knorr also recorded a touchdown-saving tackle on Brian Mitchell's 54-yard punt return in the second quarter. He posted a 43.0 yard average on five punts against Arizona (10/28), including one downed at the Cards one-yard line that eventually led to a Dexter Coakley interception return for a touchdown. Knorr recovered a third-quarter fumbled kickoff to set Dallas up at the Cardinals' 44-yard line. Despite his second blocked punt of the season, Knorr had a nice day at the N.Y. Giants (11/4), averaging 44.2 yards on five punts and helping limit the Giants to a 17.0 average on five kickoff returns. He also led the team with two special teams tackles. He recorded two more special teams tackles the next week at Atlanta (11/11) and averaged 43.3 yards on four punts, including 53- and 54-yard kicks. After recording season-highs with eight punts and a 45.5 yards-per-kick average against Denver (11/22) - along with a special teams tackle in his fourth consecutive game - Knorr, against the N.Y. Giants (12/9), recorded six punts for a 41.5 yard average. Four of those boots pinned the Giants inside their own 20-yard line, tying the second most in club history. In the Cowboys' win over San Francisco (12/30), Knorr suffered his third blocked punt of the season. In the season finale at Detroit (1/6/02), he placed three of his six punts inside the Lions 20-yard line.

2000: Knorr burst onto the NFL scene as a rookie, finishing fourth in the NFC, 11th in the NFL, with a club rookie record 42.8 gross punting average. Only one other rookie in the league posted a higher average in 2000 - Shane Lechler, 45.9. Knorr's net punting average of 35.8 - fourth highest rookie mark in club history - was the fifth best net average in the NFC and tied for 14th in the NFL. While handling kickoff duties, he placed 18-of-57 kickoffs into the end zone, posting 10 touchbacks. His 17.5 touchback percentage was the second highest percentage in the NFL (Jeff Wilkins - 22.7%). He made his professional debut against Philadelphia (9/3) and averaged 44.6 yards on seven punts while helping limit Brian Mitchell to a 5.0 average on four returns. At Arizona (9/10), Knorr averaged 57.0 yards on two punts with both punts pinning the Cardinals inside their 20-yard line. He punted five times for a 46.4 average at Washington (9/18) to help limit Deion Sanders to three returns for zero yards. Knorr averaged 45.3 yards on three punts, including a career-long 60-yarder against San Francisco (9/24). He had two punts downed inside the 20-yard line at Carolina (10/1) while averaging 44.0 yards-per-punt. Against Arizona (10/22), he posted a career-high eight kickoffs. At Philadelphia (11/5), he pinned the Eagles inside their 25-yard line four times in five punts, including twice inside their 10-yard line in the fourth quarter. Knorr suffered a hairline fracture of the tibial plateau in his left knee while being run into on his only punt against Cincinnati (11/12). The punt, however, was called back due to a roughing-the-punter penalty. Dallas did not have to punt again against the Bengals, marking the fourth time in club history that Dallas has not registered a punt in a game. Knorr's knee injury forced him to miss games at Baltimore (11/19) and against Minnesota (11/23). He returned to action at Tampa Bay (12/3) by averaging 41.6 yards on five punts. The next week against Washington (12/10), he punted three times for a 45.0 average to help limit Sanders to one return for 11 yards. His booming kickoffs against the Redskins helped hold them to a 17.9-yard average on eight kickoff returns. Knorr posted a 36.2 average on five punts against the N.Y. Giants (12/17), including two that were downed inside the Giants' 20-yard line. In the season finale against Tennessee (12/25), he recorded a career-high 10 punts, the most by a Dallas punter since Mike Saxon had 10 against Chicago on Nov. 17, 1985. It also tied the mark for the second most punts in a game in club history. Knorr averaged 39.8 yards on those 10 kicks against the Titans, including a 53-yarder. He also closed his initial pro campaign with two special team stops, one at Arizona (9/10) and one against the N.Y. Giants (12/17).

1999: Knorr was out of football coaching kickers for Irvine, Calif., High School while working at a gym and day spa.

1997-98: Knorr was out of football managing a sports retail store in California.

COLLEGE: As a senior at Utah State in 1996, Knorr earned second-team All-Big West honors after connecting on 12-of-21 field goals and 36-of-47 extra points to lead the Aggies in scoring with 72 points. He finished his collegiate career with a school record 39 field goals made. As a junior, he earned first-team All-Big West honors after tying for the league lead in field goals, connecting on 12-of-19 with four of the misses coming from beyond 50 yards. He also finished second on the team in scoring with 61 points. He led Utah State as a sophomore with 63 points on 15-of-20 field goals and 18-of-18 PATs while averaging 37.3 yards on 10 punts and posting 14 touchbacks on kickoffs. Knorr saw action in 11 games as a true freshman in 1993, averaging 38.6 yards on 33 punts.

PERSONAL: Knorr earned first-team All-CIF honors as both a junior and senior at Orange (Calif.) High School, where he averaged 42-yards-per-punt as a senior. He participated in the Orange County North-South All-Star Game following his senior campaign. The history major finished his prep career with 81 career points on 42-of-47 PATs and 13-of-27 field goals. This past offseason, Knorr served as a celebrity escort while supporting the Children's Cancer Fund Fashion Show. He also donated time at the Ninth Annual Komen Tarrant County Race for the Cure, signing autographs, firing the start pistol and assisting with the awards ceremony. Knorr was born Jan. 9, 1975, in Orange, Calif., and this past offseason was married to wife Kandice.

TIGHT END

Mike Leach is in his fifth NFL season and third with the Broncos out of William & Mary. His primary role the last two seasons has been as the team's long snapper, but he also provided experience at the tight end position. He was with Chicago in training camp (signed Jan. 10, 2002) but was waived Aug. 26, 2002. Leach entered the league in 2000 as an undrafted free agent with Tennessee and played in 19 games before being waived by the Titans Oct. 16, 2001.

2003: Leach handled the long-snapping duties in all 16 games and made three special-teams tackles (vs. Oak., 9/22, vs. Det, 9/28 and at G.B., 12/28). He handled all of the long-snapping duties in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Leach played in all eight games after signing with the Broncos on Nov. 4 to handle the club's long-snapping duties. He played in his first game as a Bronco vs. Oak. (11/11). Leach was with Chicago in training camp (signed Jan. 10, 2002) but was waived Aug. 26, 2002. He was with Tennessee for the first four games of the 2001 season and was the club's long snapper before being waived Oct. 16.

2001: Leach spent the first four games with Tennessee before being waived (10/16).

2000: Leach played in 15 games for the Titans after being signed to the active roster on Sept. 8. He originally was assigned to the team's practice squad following training camp. Though he did not record a reception, Leach did see action at tight end. He primarily played on special teams and did not record a tackle. Leach was credited with one kickoff return for 10 yards against Cleveland (11/19). In addition, he played on special teams in the Titans' 24-10 AFC Divisional Playoff loss to Baltimore (1/7).

COLLEGE: Leach was a two-year starter at tight end and punter at William & Mary after transferring from Boston University when the school dropped its football program. He was a first-team Walter Camp All-America choice at tight end as a senior in 1999 and led the Atlantic 10 Conference in punting both his junior and senior seasons. In his college career, Leach registered 106 receptions for 1,181 yards and 12 touchdowns. As a senior, he led his conference in receptions (33) among tight ends, gaining 305 yards and scoring four touchdowns. As a junior, he earned second-team All-American (AP) and second-team All-Atlantic 10 honors. He also set school records in both catches by a tight end (58) and season punting average (44.4). A history major, Leach played in 16 games with no starts in two years at Boston University and redshirted in 1995.

PERSONAL: Leach was a first-team all-state selection at Jefferson Township (N.J.) High School and graduated as the school's all-time leading scorer in basketball. Michael Leach was born on Oct. 18, 1976, in Jefferson Township, N.J. He and his wife, Julie, make their home in Denver with their "one child," a golden retriever named Snapper.

6-3 • 200 • 3RD YR. • HAWAII

BORN: Feb. 16, 1980, in Bellflower, Calif.
HIGH SCHOOL: Radford High School, Honolulu, Hawaii
ACQUIRED: Draft #1 (19th overall), 2002
PRO YEAR: 3rd • YEAR WITH BRONCOS: 3rd

WIDE RECEIVER

Ashley Lelie, in his third year out of Hawaii, will have more weight placed on his shoulders this season, but with the experience he has gained the past two years, he should have no trouble rising to the occasion. With the offseason retirements of Ed McCaffrey and Shannon Sharpe, Lelie, in 2004, will be relied upon to step up and continue as the team's down-the-field receiving threat. Playing 32 career games (11 starts), Lelie has caught 72 passes for 1,153 yards (16.0) with a long of 60 and four touchdowns. In 2003, he caught 37 passes for 628 yards and two touchdowns and his average of 17.0 yards per catch ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL). In his first season in Denver, Lelie led all AFC rookies in receiving yards (4th NFL) and ranked third among AFC rookies (6th NFL) in receptions. Also, his 35 catches were the most by a Broncos rookie since running back Terrell Davis caught 49 out of the backfield in 1995 and ranked as the fourth best rookie out put in Broncos history. For the season, Lelie caught three passes of 40 yards or longer, four passes of 30 yards or longer and nine passes of 20 yards or longer. He was the Broncos' first-round selection (19th overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

2003: Lelie saw action in all 16 games and started 10, catching 37 passes for 628 yards (17.0) and two touchdowns with a long of 60. He also rushed eight times for 43 yds. (5.4) with a long of 13. Lelie's average of 17.0 yds. per catch ranked second in the AFC (4th NFL). In Wk. 1 at Cin. (9/7), he opened the game with a 12-yd. reverse for a first down. Lelie did not have a reception but ran the ball twice (tying a career high) for 12 yds. At S.D. (9/14), Lelie recorded his first reception of the season and finished the game with two catches for 45 yards (22.5). He started in the home opener vs. Oak. (9/22) when the Broncos came out in a three-receiver set and carried the ball on a reverse for an 8-yd. gain on the first play from scrimmage. Lelie finished the game with three catches for a then career-high 108 yds. and a touchdown, and rushed twice for 9 yds. It was his second-career 100-yd. game, both of which have come against the Raiders (12/22/02 at Oak.). Lelie's touchdown came on a 44-yd. 1st qtr. pass from Jake Plummer. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), he caught four passes for 76 yds. (19.0) and a touchdown, which came on a 29-yd. leaping catch from Jake Plummer. Against S.D. (11/16), Lelie caught two passes for 57 yds. (28.5) including a 48-yd. grab that tied the longest catch of his career. He also rushed twice for 20 yds., including a season-best 13 yd. run. Lelie re-emerged vs. Cle. (12/14) by catching four passes for 71 yds. (17.8), including a crucial 46-yd. grab to put the trailing Broncos in field goal range with less than 20 seconds to play and help force the game into overtime. The Broncos won in OT. Lelie caught all three passes thrown on the Broncos' game-tying drive, setting up the 46-yd. grab with 5- and 7-yd. catches to begin a drive that started at Denver's 25-yd. line with 1:11 remaining and Denver having no timeouts. He registered five receptions at Ind. (12/21) for a career-high 115 yds. (23.0), including a career-long 60-yd. reception that set up the Broncos' first touchdown. It was Lelie's third career 100-yd. game. He caught two passes for 13 yds. (6.5) at G.B. (12/28) in the final game of the season. Lelie started and caught one pass for 7 yds. in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Lelie played in all 16 games and made one start (vs. Buf., 9/22), catching 35 passes for 525 yds. (team best 15.0 average) with a long of 48 and two touchdowns, and also rushed four times for 40 yds. (10.0), including a long of 24. He led all AFC rookies in receiving yds. (4th NFL) and ranked third among AFC rookies (6th NFL) in receptions. Also, his 35 catches were the most by a Broncos rookie since running back Terrell Davis caught 49 out of the backfield in 1995. For the season, Lelie caught three passes of 40 yds. or longer, four passes of 30 yds. or longer and nine passes of 20 yds. or longer. Lelie caught one pass vs. Ariz. (12/29), a 5-yd. touchdown toss from Steve Beuerlein, for his second touchdown of the season. Lelie had four receptions for a career-high 106 yds. (26.5) at Oak. (12/22), including a career-best 48-yd. reception from Beuerlein. It was the first 100-yd. receiving game of Lelie's career. He posted a then-career-high 68 yds. receiving on two catches (34.0) vs. K.C. (12/15), including his second catch of 40 yds. on the season. The big play put the Broncos at the Chiefs' 3-yd. line to set up a Portis touchdown run. Lelie caught the first touchdown reception of his career at the Jets (12/8) on a 10-yd. pass from Brian Griese just before halftime, one of his three catches on the day for 38 yds. (12.7). He had a career-high eight receptions for 65 yards (8.1) vs. Oak (11/11) and also carried twice for 12 yds. At N.E. (10/27), he caught a career-long 40-yd. pass on a third-and-8 play late in the 4th qtr. to allow Denver to run out the clock. He also added a 4-yd. rush in the N.E. game. Lelie's 30-yd. reception in the 4th qtr. vs. Mia. (10/13) was the longest of his career at the time—en route to a then-career-high 41 receiving yds.—and set up a go-ahead field goal. Lelie caught at least two passes in five consecutive games from Wk. 3-7. He made his first NFL start vs. Buf. when the Broncos opened the game in a three-wide set. His first NFL catch came on a crucial 3rd-down play in the 4th qtr. at S.F. (9/15).

COLLEGE: Lelie finished his career at Hawaii as the Rainbow Warriors' all-time leader in receptions (194), receiving yds. (3,341) and touchdown receptions (32), and averaged 17.2 yds. per catch. He was a first-team All-Western Athletic Conference selection and broke the WAC single-season records for receiving yds. (1,713) and touchdowns (19) while also tying the WAC record for most 200-yd. games in a season (3). He ranked first in the conference and second in the nation in receiving yds. per game (142.8) and ranked third in the WAC and ninth in the nation in receptions per game (7.0). Lelie also ranked fourth in the WAC and 19th in the nation in all-purpose yardage (142.8) and led the Warriors in receiving yds. in 9-of-12 games. He teamed with wide receiver Channon Harris to catch an average of 12.75 passes in 2001, forming the sixth best duo in the nation. As a sophomore, Lelie started every game at the "Z" receiver slot and finished third in the WAC in receptions per game (6.17) and third in receiving yds. per game (92.5). Lelie led the team in receptions (74), receiving yds. (1110), touchdowns (11), all-purpose yds. (92.5) and scoring (66), and gained over 100 yds. receiving in three contests, while adding three games with at least two touchdown catches. Lelie played in every game his redshirt freshman year, starting seven at the "Z" receiver slot and finished fourth on the team with 36 catches for 518 yds. (14.4 avg.) and two touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Lelie is a 1998 graduate of Radford High School in Honolulu, where he earned two letters each in football, track and basketball. He was selected to both the all-district and all-state teams in football and was an all-district choice in basketball and an all-league selection in track. Lelie was on the honor roll at Radford. Ashley Jovon Lelie was born Feb. 16, 1980, in Bellflower, Calif.

TACKLE

Matt Lepsis, in his eighth year with the Broncos, looks to continue the solid trend he has started as a top-flight NFL tackle and also as a model of durability. In 2004, however, Lepsis will move from the right side of the line into a new role at left tackle. He has played in every game since making the active roster in 1998, and he brings a 96 consecutive games played streak into the season. Last year, Lepsis contributed to a line that helped the rushing attack set a franchise record with 2,629 rushing yards, 161 yards better than the previous mark set in 1998. After spending his initial season on the reserve/non-football injury list and one season as a backup, Lepsis moved into the starting lineup in 1999 and showed considerable improvement throughout the season. Lepsis has played in 96 career games and made 79 starts. He signed with the Broncos as a rookie free agent April 29, 1997.

2003: Lepsis started at right tackle in all 16 games, helping the Broncos rush for a franchise-record 2,629 yds. while tying for the fourth-fewest sacks allowed in team history. In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), he was ejected midway through the second quarter after inadvertently making contact with an official while trying to swat away the hand of a Ravens player who was holding his jersey after a play. Lepsis started at right tackle in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Lepsis started 15-of-16 games at right tackle, missing his only start at Balt. (9/30) when he saw action only on special teams to handle the snapping duties. He left the Buf. game (9/22) in the 2nd qtr. because a hamstring strain and returned only to perform the deep-snapping duties for a portion of the second half. Lepsis made one special teams tackle.

2001: Lepsis started all 16 games at right tackle. He missed several plays in the 3rd qtr. vs. Sea. (12/9) after twisting his left ankle and was replaced temporarily by Cooper Carlisle.

2000: Lepsis started at right tackle in all 16 regular-season games as well as Denver's AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31).

1999: Lepsis started all 16 games at right tackle. He made his first NFL start in the opener vs. Miami (9/13). In the preseason, Lepsis played in all five games and started four at right tackle, winning a battle with Trey Teague for the starting position entering the regular season.

1998: Lepsis saw action in all 16 games on special teams and saw limited duty as a reserve tackle. He played in his first NFL game in the season-opener vs. N.E. (9/7), replacing Harry Swayne at right tackle early in the fourth quarter and playing the remainder of the game. At Wash. (9/27), Lepsis lined up as an eligible receiver on the line in a goal-line situation. He also played the 4th qtr. at right tackle vs. Phila. (10/4) and the third quarter at right tackle at Sea. (10/11). In the postseason, Lepsis played in all three games both on the offensive line and on special teams. He played the final 2-1/2 quarters at right tackle in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9) after Tony Jones left the game (knee). Swayne moved to Jones' left tackle position, while Lepsis—playing in his first-ever postseason game—filled in admirably for Swayne on the right side as the line gave up just one sack for the day and cleared the way for 250 rushing yards. Earlier in the game, Lepsis was in on several offensive snaps as an eligible receiver. He played on offense and special teams again in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), seeing several offensive plays as an eligible receiver. Lepsis also saw action in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31).

1997: Lepsis spent the season on the reserve/non-football injury list due to a college knee injury.

COLLEGE: Lepsis played in 36 games as a tight end for Colorado (including bowl games) with 16 starts. He caught 45 passes for 519 yards and 3 touchdowns, including a two-yard reception for a score in the 1996 Cotton Bowl win over Oregon, capping a junior season in which he earned second-team All-Big Eight honors. Lepsis graded out as a 90 percent blocker during his career at CU and added seven special teams tackles to his credit. He also lettered three times in track at CU and was a two-time All-American in the discus with a collegiate best of 196 feet. Lepsis was a history major.

PERSONAL: Lepsis was an All-Southwest selection at Frisco (Texas) High School, where he was Class 3A Defensive Player of the Year and a two-time state discus champion. He had the second best throw in the country in 1992 (204'-8") and was a member of the National Honor Society. He was born Jan. 13, 1974, in Conroe, Texas. Matt and his wife, Shana, have a son, Hayden (2), and family resides in Castle Rock, Colo.

Pro Bowl Selections (5)	1997, 1999-02
All-Pro (1st Team)	1999-00
All-Pro (2nd Team)	2001-02

John Lynch—a five-time Pro Bowl selection at safety (1997, 1999-2002)—joined the Broncos this past offseason as a free agent (March 23) and will immediately make an impact in Denver's revamped secondary. By adding Lynch and Pro Bowl cornerback Champ Bailey this offseason, the Broncos' corps of defensive backs proves to be one of the tops in the NFL. In 164 career games (132 starts), Lynch has amassed 973 tackles (574 solo), 23 interceptions for 200 yards and 74 passes defensed. He has also posted six sacks (-40 yards), seven forced fumbles and seven fumbles recovered. Not only a star on the field, Lynch excelled as an active civic-minded leader in both the Tampa area and his hometown of San Diego, and he was a finalist for the 2002 and 2003 Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year awards. Entering his 12th season in the NFL, he is an elite strong safety who is recognized as one of the most accomplished defensive backs over the last decade. His list of honors includes five Pro Bowl selections (1997, 1999-2002), including three starts (1999, 2000 and 2002) and four All-Pro honors (first-team in 1999 and 2000, and second-team in 2001 and 2002). He was named team captain in 2002 and 2003, and was the backbone of a talented secondary unit, which has been ranked in the top-10 in pass defense in seven of the last eight seasons. An instinctive veteran, he was a key leader on the Super Bowl XXXVII champion Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

2003: Lynch, in his final season in Tampa, started 14 games at strong safety (missing vs. Dallas and vs. New Orleans) and earned honors as the teams finalist for the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year. He finished the season ranked fourth on the team with 95 tackles and tied for second on the team with two interceptions while also posting seven passes defensed and 1/2 sack for five yards. Part of a defense that ranked fifth in the NFL, it marked the seventh consecutive year the defense has finished among the NFL's Top 10. The defensive unit also finished third in pass defense, marking the seventh time in the last eight seasons, including three consecutive, that the defense has finished in the Top 10. In the season opener at Philadelphia (9/8), Lynch made three tackles, 1/2 sack for five yards, and tied for a team-high two passes defensed, helping the defense post its third shutout in the last 16 regular season-games. He led the secondary with 13 tackles against Carolina (9/14) and recorded his first interception of season against QB Doug Johnson at Atlanta (9/21). Against Indianapolis (10/6), Lynch recorded 11 tackles, and with that, went over the 900 career-tackle mark. He ended the game at San Francisco (10/19) with nine tackles despite missing significant action with a right shoulder stinger and was inactive the next two weeks against Dallas (10/26) and New Orleans (11/2). Returning to action at Carolina (11/9), he posted seven tackles and one pass defensed. Lynch recorded nine tackles against Green Bay (11/16) and made the second interception of the season against the New York Giants (11/24), picking off a QB Kerry Collins pass late in the fourth quarter to help secure the victory. Against New Orleans (12/7), he totaled five tackles despite missing a portion of the contest with a right shoulder stinger suffered in the first half and helped lead a defensive unit that surrendered just 69 rushing yards on 22 carries (3.1 avg.) by Saints RB Deuce McAllister. Lynch notched four tackles and one pass defensed against Houston (12/14) and helped the defense surrender just 107 total yards to the Texans, tying for the second lowest total in team history.

2002: Lynch, who was named second team All-Pro by the Associated Press and Football Digest, was selected as a Pro Bowl starter for the third time in the last four years. With the 96 tackles he made on the season, Lynch raised his career tackle total to 878, moving him into third place all-time in in team history. CORNERBACK

Willie Middlebrooks has emerged as one of the Broncos' top special teams players during his three seasons with the club and will challenge for increased playing time at cornerback this year. Middlebrooks' 16 special teams tackles last season were good for second on the team, and he performed that role in every regular-season game. His play on special teams last year follows up an impressive 2002 campaign on the unit, in which he led the team with 16 tackles in 15 games played. Middlebrooks, whom the Broncos drafted in the first round (24th overall) of the 2001 NFL Draft, was a highly regarded corner coming out of Minnesota, but injuries slowed him down as a rookie. He played in only eight games that season as a result of bone spurs and calcium deposits in his ankle. At Minnesota, he was a three-year starter and first-team All-Big Ten selection as a junior in 2000, his final season before turning pro. For his college career, Middlebrooks collected 127 tackles (112 solo) and recorded four interceptions in 30 games (26 starts).

2003: Middlebrooks played on special teams in all 16 games and ranked second on the team with 16 tackles, including two each at S.D. (9/14), vs. Oak (9/22) and vs. Pit. (10/12). In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28) and Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), he served as special teams captain. Middlebrooks recorded another special teams tackle in Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26) and, a week later, recorded a season-high three special teams stops vs. N.E. (11/3). Middlebrooks played his first career snaps from scrimmage vs. S.D. (11/16) and posted two solo tackles while adding one more on special teams. He saw playing time on the defensive side of the ball again vs. Chi. (11/23) but made no tackles. At Oak. (11/30), Middlebrooks made one special teams tackles while also registering his first career pass breakup on defense. He added a special teams tackle vs. K.C. (12/7). In the final game of the regular season at G.B. (12/28), Middlebrooks saw extensive action on the defensive side of the ball and recorded one solo tackle. Middlebrooks saw action on special teams and on defense in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card Game at Ind. (1/4) and made one solo tackle from scrimmage.

2002: Middlebrooks played on special teams in 15 games and led the Broncos with 16 special teams tackles. He posted a season-high three special teams stops at Balt. (9/30) and added two more vs. Mia. (10/13) and at Sea. (11/17). Middlebrooks was declared inactive for the San Diego game (12/1).

2001: Middlebrooks played in eight games on special teams. He saw action in the first four games, was declared inactive for seven of the next eight and then played in each of the final four games: vs. Sea., 12/9; at K.C., 12/16; vs. Oak., 12/30 and at Ind. (1/6). He was active but did not play at S.D. (10/21).

COLLEGE: Middlebrooks was a three-year starter and first-team All-Big Ten selection in 2000 at Minnesota. He entered the NFL Draft after his junior season, having played in 30 games (26 starts) and tallied 127 tackles (112 solo), four interceptions (55 ret. yds.; 1 TD), 30 passes defensed and one fumble recovery. He missed the final portion of his last season because of a broken left fibula suffered in the eighth game. Middlebrooks was voted second-team All-Big Ten as a sophomore and redshirted in 1997. He was an inter-college programs major.

PERSONAL: Middlebrooks was the District 16-6A Most Valuable Player and named to the All-Dade County team and first-team Class 6A all-state team as a senior cornerback at Homestead (Fla.) High School. He recorded 97 tackles with three interceptions and recovered three fumbles. One of his prep highlights was an interception to clinch a win vs. South Dade during his junior year. Middlebrooks was a three-year letterwinner on the gridiron and was an honorable mention all-state performer in track. Willie Frank Middlebrooks was born Feb. 12, 1979, in Miami.

Defensive End

Clint Mitchell returns for his second year with the Broncos after spending his rookie campaign on injured reserve following a right thumb injury in training camp last season. An extremely quick player with an explosive initial burst, Mitchell looks to come back and compete for a spot at defensive end. One of the top defensive linemen in college football, he started 20 of 26 games during his career at Florida, finishing with 118 tackles (76 solo), six sacks for minus 34 yards and 17 stops for losses of 55 yards. Add to that 38 quarterback pressures, two fumble recoveries, two forced fumbles, two pass deflections and a blocked kick, and it is no secret why was considered one of the nation's top defensive lineman. Mitchell was the Broncos' first of two seventh-round (227th overall) selections in the 2003 NFL Draft, entering the draft after his junior year.

2003: Mitchell spent the season on injured reserve, suffering a right thumb injury in training camp.

Linebacker

All-Pro (1st Team) 1997

John Mobley looks to resume his distinguished career this year after a severe neck injury ended his 2003 season. One of Denver's most consistent players since joining the Broncos in 1996, Mobley suffered a spinal cord contusion at Baltimore (10/26) and was placed on injured reserve Nov. 6. At the time of the injury, he was on his way to another strong season, ranking fourth on the team with 46 tackles (32 solo) in eight games (7 starts). He provided stability to the linebacking unit when he switched from strongside linebacker, which he played in weeks 1-6, to weakside after Ian Gold's season-ending ACL (knee) injury. Mobley proved apt to make the adjustment due in large part to his familiarity with the position he had played from 1996-2001. Switching to the strongside for the first time in 2002, his play continued to impress as he picked up 142 tackles (106 solo), one sack, seven passes defensed and two fumble recoveries that year. Mobley's finest season may have come in 1997 when he started all 16 games and collected 162 tackles (112 solo) along with four sacks (-23 yds). For his career, Mobley played in 105 games (102 starts) and recorded 854 tackles (625), 10.5 sacks (-63 yds) and five interceptions (45 yds). He was recognized as a first-team All-NFL selection by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest while earning second-team honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly. He boasts one AFC Defensive Player of the Week award on his résumé, winning the honor in Week Six of the 1997 season. Before joining the Broncos, Mobley had an illustrious career at Division II Kutztown (Pa.). A two-time All-American, he was named Division II Player of the Year as a senior by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft. Additionally, he was named to the NCAA Division II Football Team of the Quarter Century (1973-1997) in 1998, joining the likes of Pro Football Hall of Famer Walter Payton and All-Pro performers Brent Jones, John Randle, Darrell Green and Greg Lloyd, and was added to his high school's Wall of Fame (Chichester HS/Chester, Pa.) in 2001. Mobley was the Broncos' first-round draft choice (No. 15 overall) in the 1996 NFL Draft.

2003: Mobley played in eight games and started seven, ranking fourth on the team with 46 tackles (32 solo) and three pass deflections before being placed on injured reserve (neck) Nov. 6. He handled the strongside linebacker position for the Broncos in Wks. 1-6 before moving to weakside (his position from 1996-2001) in the wake of Ian Gold's season-ending ACL injury. Mobley did not register a start vs. Oak. (9/22) because the Broncos opened the game defensively in a nickel package, and he was inactive vs. N.E. (11/3) after suffering a spinal cord contusion the week before at Balt. (10/26). In the opener at Cin. (9/7), Mobley tallied a season-high seven solo tackles. His first pass deflection came in Wk. 2 at S.D. (9/14). In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), he registered a season-high eight tackles (5 solo) and a pass deflection. Mobley made his 100th career start in Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12) and recorded eight tackles (7 solo) and a pass deflection. He recorded his third-consecutive eight-tackle performance (5 solo) in Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19) as he made his first start at weakside linebacker since 2001, switching sides to replace the injured Gold (ACL; IR). In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), Mobley started at weakside linebacker and registered four tackles (2 solo) before leaving the game with 1:37 remaining in the second quarter because of a spinal cord contusion. The injury occurred as he and Kelly Herndon tackled Ravens running back Jamal Lewis. Mobley was taken to the Shock Trauma Center at the University of Maryland Medical Center, where he underwent an evaluation and a series of tests, the results of which were normal. He was held overnight because of bruising and swelling around the spinal cord, and returned to Denver the next day. Mobley was declared inactive the next week vs. N.E. (11/3).

2002: Mobley—voted defensive captain by his teammates—started all 16 games at strongside linebacker and ranked third on the team in tackles with 142 (106 solo), including one sack (-9), as well as seven passes defensed, two fumble recoveries and a forced fumble. He also made four special teams tackles. Mobley posted more than 130 tackles for the third year in a row and fifth time in the last six years with the only exception being his 1999 season that was limited to two games because of a knee injury. Mobley's forced fumble came vs. K.C. (12/15) when he hit Chiefs running back Tony Richardson and knocked the ball loose though it was recovered by the K.C. defense. Mobley matched his season high with two passes defensed at Sea. (11/17). He recorded his first pass defensed against Mia. (10/13) and added two more a week later at K.C. (10/20). He recovered a Jamal Lewis fumble in the 4th qtr. at Balt. (9/30) to set up a Broncos touchdown. Mobley posted eight tackles (4 solo) vs. Buf. (9/22) and recorded his only sack of the season (-9 yds). He led the team with a season-high 12 stops (10 solo) in Wk. 2 at S.F. (9/15) after tying for the team lead with 12 (9 solo) in the opener vs. St. Louis (9/8). Mobley's first fumble recovery came at S.F. (9/15) after Jeff Garcia lost the ball on a snap from center. He underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Jan. 8, 2003.

2001: Mobley started all 16 games at weakside linebacker and led the team in tackles for the fourth time in the last five years (also 1997-98, 2000) with 133 (101 solo), including one sack (-6) while also adding an interception, three passes defensed, two forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries. He also made four tackles on special teams. Mobley and Al Wilson were voted defensive captains for the second half of the season, joining Bill Romanowski. For the fourth time in as many weeks, Mobley led the team in tackles in the season finale at Ind. (1/6) with a season best 13 (12 solo). A week earlier vs. Oak. (12/30), he tied with Eric Brown for game honors with 10 stops (7 solo), following an 11-tackle effort (7 solo) at K.C. (12/16). Mobley registered a team-high nine tackles vs. Sea. (12/9) while also making one on special teams. He recorded eight tackles (4 solo) at Mia. (12/2) and forced a fumble in the 2nd qtr. by Dolphins running back Lamar Smith that was recovered by Eric Brown. Mobley posted five solo tackles at Dal. (11/22), with two for losses and also recovered a fumble that he returned 8 yds. to the Cowboys' 4-yd. line to set up a Broncos touchdown. Mobley registered his only sack of the season vs. Wash. (11/18), taking down Kent Graham on a third-and-9 play for a 6-yd. loss. He also posted six tackles in the game and recovered his second fumble of the season. Mobley added to the Broncos' momentum vs. S.D. (11/11) with a 17-yd. interception deep in Chargers territory that set up a touchdown to lead the Broncos into the half with a 20-0 lead. He also registered four solo tackles, one for a loss. Mobley landed six tackles at Oak. (11/5), raising his career total to 600, while knocking down his third pass in as many weeks. He led the team in tackles with 11 vs. N.E. (10/28), while knocking down one pass. At S.D. (10/21) Mobley posted a then-season-high 12 tackles (10 solo), caused one fumble and had one pass break-up. At Sea. (10/14), Mobley posted eight tackles and recovered a fumble inside the Broncos 10-yd. line to thwart a Seahawks scoring opportunity. He made eight stops (6 solo) at Ariz. (9/23) after opening the season vs. the Giants (9/10) with a team-high nine tackles (7 solo).

2000: Mobley played in 15 games and started 14 at weakside linebacker, leading the team in tackles with 133 (92 solo), including two sacks (-16), while also adding two forced fumbles, an interception and a team-leading 10 passes defensed. He also had two tackles on special teams. Mobley posted a career-high 16 tackles at K.C. (12/17), and forced a fumble. His previous best was 15 tackles, accomplished twice in 1997 (9/21 vs. Cin., and Oct. 6 vs. N.E.). Mobley did not start but saw significant action at N.O. (12/3) just six days after having surgery on his right thumb. Glenn Cadrez started in his place as Mobley played with a large cast on his hand and still managed to post five solo tackles. Mobley's first sack came at Sea. (11/26) on Brock Huard (-5) in the game in which he fractured his thumb. He underwent surgery Nov. 27 to insert a pin in the thumb. His second sack came in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) when he dropped Jeff Garcia for an 11-yd. loss. Mobley posted a then-season-high 14 tackles vs. N.E. (10/1), a week after posting his previous high of 12 tackles vs. K.C. (9/24). His interception came at Oak. (9/17) on the Raiders' initial possession of the second half with the score tied 24-24. Mobley intercepted the ball in the end zone and turned the momentum for the Broncos as the defense shut out the Raiders in the second half. He started his first game in nearly a year in Week 2 vs. Atlanta (9/10) and led the team with 10 tackles (6 solo) and two passes defensed. Mobley was declared inactive (Mon.) for Denver's Week 1 clash at St. Louis (9/4) as he continued to recover from arthroscopic knee surgery (right). Mobley began training camp on schedule with the club after season-ending knee surgery in 1999 but underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Aug. 4 and missed all four preseason games. Mobley started at weakside linebacker in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted six solo tackles.

1999: Mobley was placed on injured reserve Sept. 22 after suffering a season-ending tear of his right anterior cruciate ligament in the 1st qtr. of Denver's Week 2 loss at K.C. (9/19). He underwent surgery Sept. 28. Mobley started at weakside linebacker in each of the first two games and posted 13 tackles (10 solo) with one pass defensed. He led the team in the opener with 11 stops (9 solo).

1998: Mobley started at weakside linebacker in 15 of the 16 games and led the team for the second consecutive year with 132 tackles (105 solo), including one sack (-7), two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery, one interception and a career best 13 passes defensed, third most on the team. The sack came at Oakland (9/20) in the fourth quarter. He has also recorded six tackles on special teams (high of 2 at Miami, 12/21 and vs. Phila., 10/4). Mobley recorded double-figure tackle totals in back-to-back games early in the season (11 vs. Dallas, 9/13; and 10 at Oakland, 9/20), and strung together three more later in the season (12 vs. S.D., 11/8; 10 at K.C., 11/16 and 12 vs. Oak., 11/22). Overall, he posted no fewer than five tackles in every game of the season. Mobley strained his right hamstring in practice Sept. 24 but was able to start at Washington three days later. His only non-start came at Seattle (10/11) when the Seahawks opened the game in a three-wide receiver alignment. Mobley recorded seven tackles (5 solo) at Cincinnati (11/1) to go along with a forced fumble and a career-high four passes defensed. He stepped up big and stripped Bengals RB Corey Dillon of the ball at the Broncos' 3-yd. line late in the 1st qtr. as Bill Romanowski fell on the fumble to squelch a potential Cincinnati scoring drive. Mobley posted a season-high 12 tackles the next week vs. San Diego (11/8), including 10 solo stops, and tied his season high vs. Oakland (11/22), including 9 solo stops. His third career interception came at San Diego (11/29) on an errant Craig Whelihan pass late in the first half. Mobley's fumble recovery came at the Giants (12/13) in the 4th qtr. after WR Ike Hilliard lost control of the football. He missed the preseason finale (at Tenn., 8/29) to rest a hyperextended left knee, injured vs. Green Bay (8/24). Mobley started at weakside linebacker in all three postseason games and tied for fourth on the team with 14 tackles (10 solo), including one sack (-6), as well as two passes defensed and a fumble recovery. In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9), he made two solo tackles with one pass defensed. He contributed nine tackles (7 solo) in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17), along with a pass defensed and his one fumble recovery, which came after Bill Romanowski knocked the ball out of Keith Byars' hands at the Broncos' 13-yd. line. Mobley's first career postseason sack came in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta, among three total tackles (1 solo). The sack of Chris Chandler came midway through the 3rd qtr. for a 6-yd. loss.

1997: Mobley—named first-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest; and second-team by College & Pro Football Newsweekly — started all 16 games at weakside linebacker and continued to blossom in his second NFL season, putting together a performance as outstanding as that of any other linebacker in the NFL. He led the team with 162 tackles (113 solo), including four sacks (-23), one interception that he returned for a touchdown (13 yds.), three forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and eight pass breakups, while also adding seven tackles on special teams. He posted double-figures in tackles a remarkable nine times in 16 games. In the regular season opener vs. Kansas City, Mobley led the team with nine tackles (6 solo) in Denver's 19-3 victory. The game held extra significance for Mobley, as his father, Lee, watched him play in person for the first time since his sophomore year in high school (1990). Lee has been in a nursing home for seven years since suffering a stroke. The following week at Seattle (9/7), he made five tackles (3 solo) and one pass defensed in Denver's 35-14 win. The next week vs. St. Louis (9/14), he recorded his first sack of the year (-4), among seven tackles (5 solo) he made on the day. In Week Three vs. Cincinnati (9/21) Mobley registered a career-high 15 tackles (11 solo) in an outstanding performance that included his second sack of the season (-3) and a pass breakup. On Monday Night Football vs. New England (10/6), he had the best all-around game of his young career, tying a personal best with 15 tackles (12 solo; career high), snaring his second career interception and returning it 13 yards for a touchdown for a 14-0 lead, causing a fumble, breaking up a pass and making a tackle on special teams in Denver's 34-13 victory. His efforts were recognized with AFC Defensive Player of the Week honors from the NFL. He wasted no time making an impact on the game, ending the Patriots game-opening drive at the Broncos' 28-yard line when he knocked the ball loose from Terry Glenn after a 19-yard reception, setting up the Broncos first touchdown. He then scored the second himself when he picked off a Drew Bledsoe pass and waltzed 13 yards into the end zone for his first professional touchdown, igniting a fired-up Mile High Stadium crowd of 75,821. On Nov. 2 vs. Seattle, he posted a team-high 13 tackles (11 solo), while also adding another on special teams in Denver's 30-27 victory. On Nov. 9 vs. Carolina he had another fine all-around day with seven tackles (3 solo), including a sack (-12), and the first fumble recovery of his career. His sack of Kerry Collins came in the first quarter, and early in the second quarter he pounced on a fumble caused by Allen Aldridge, halting a Panthers scoring threat at the Denver 10-yard line. The next Sunday at Kansas City (11/16), he posted his fifth double-figure tackle total of the season, recording 10, including a team-high eight solos in Denver's 24-22 loss. Against Oakland on Monday Night Football (11/24), Mobley had another outstanding performance in prime time, posting 10 tackles (8 solo), including his fourth sack of the year (-4), to go along with two pass breakups. He also forced a fumble by Napoleon Kaufman early in the third quarter after he chased down the speedy Kaufman from behind in the backfield, setting up a recovery by Mike Lodish at the Raiders' 28. The Broncos responded with a field goal to up their lead to 24-3. The next Sunday at San Diego (11/30) he tied for the team-lead with nine tackles (6 solo), while adding a forced fumble and a pass breakup. He posted a team-high 12 tackles (5 solo) with one pass defensed at Pittsburgh (12/7), and led the team again the following week at San Francisco on Monday Night Football (12/15) with 10 tackles (8 solo), while also adding one more on special teams. He closed out the regular season vs. San Diego (12/21) by posting a team-high 12 tackles (8 solo) while also adding one more on special teams. In the postseason, Mobley started all four games at weakside linebacker and led the team with 24 tackles (21 solo), in addition to two passes defensed and one special teams tackle. In the AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Jacksonville (12/27), Mobley started at weakside linebacker and led the team with six tackles (4 solo). In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff at Kansas City (1/4/98), he led the team with seven solo tackles. In the AFC Championship Game at Pittsburgh (1/11) he posted five tackles (4 solo) with one pass defensed, and also added one tackle on special teams in Denver's 24-21 victory. In Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25) Mobley posted six solo tackles with one very huge pass defensed in Denver's 31-24 victory. The pass break-up occurred on fourth-and-six from Denver's 31-yard line with 32 seconds remaining. Mobley stepped in front of Brett Favre's aerial that was intended for Mark Chmura and knocked it to the ground to seal Denver's first ever world championship.

1996: Mobley turned in an outstanding rookie season, starting all 16 regular season games and the Broncos' one playoff contest at weakside linebacker. He was named to NFL All-Rookie teams selected by Pro Football Weekly, Football News and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, finishing fifth on the team with 93 tackles (67 solo) and 1.5 sacks (-2). Mobley also broke up four passes, intercepted another (at Minnesota, 11/24) and added four tackles on special teams. He registered a season-high 12 tackles (9 solo) at Cincinnati (9/29), including his first career sack as he dropped Bengals quarterback Jeff Blake. He also came up big at New England (11/17), leading the team with eight solo tackles to spearhead a defensive effort that limited the Patriots' rushing attack to 17 yards in a 34-8 win. At Green Bay (12/8), Mobley made seven tackles (3 solo), knocked down two passes and combined with Michael Dean Perry for the Broncos' only sack of Brett Favre. Mobley remained injury-free much of the season, missing significant time only during the San Diego game (10/6) when he strained a groin muscle in the first half. He started his first postseason game against Jacksonville (1/4/97) and came up with eight tackles (6 solo) and one pass defensed. Mobley entered training camp second on the depth chart at weakside linebacker but quickly cemented a starting position after producing a 14-tackle performance (12 solo) in the preseason opener at San Francisco (8/3). In that game, Mobley was all over the field in the second half and delivered a hit on Gino Torreta that knocked the 49ers' signal-caller out of the game. He finished the preseason with 19 tackles (16 solo), one interception and three pass break-ups.

COLLEGE: Mobley was a two-time Division II All-American (first-team 1995, second-team 1994) and was named Division II Player of the Year as a senior at Kutztown in 1995 by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft. He is the only player in the history of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference to be named All-PSAC on both offense and defense. Mobley started all 41 games during his four-year career and made 387 tackles (198 solo), recovered eight fumbles, forced four, made eight interceptions with 22 pass deflections, registered 20 sacks (-169) and made 21 tackles-for-loss (-91). Offensively, he carried the ball 12 times for 17 yards and five touchdowns, returned seven kickoffs for 226 yards (32.3) with a long of 69 yards and returned 15 punts for 202 yards (13.5) with a long of 51 yards. In 1998 he was named to the NCAA Division II Football Team of the Quarter Century (1973-1997), joining the likes of Pro Football Hall of Famer Walter Payton and All-Pro performers Brent Jones, John Randle, Darrell Green and Greg Lloyd. Mobley was a telecommunications major. The school retired his No. 9 jersey May 11, 1999, on "John Mobley Day" at the university as declared by the Borough of Kutztown and the Pennsylvania State Senate.

PERSONAL: Mobley earned third-team all-state, second-team All-Suburban and first-team All-Delco honors at Chichester High school in Chester, Pa. He and his wife, Rebecca, have two daughters, Jasmine (13) and Kameron Yvonne (6), and a son, Tyson Lee (3). The family makes its home in Parker, Colo. John Ulysses Mobley was born Oct. 10, 1973, in Chester, Pa.

HIGH SCHOOL: Foxboro High School, Foxboro, Mass.
ACQUIRED: Draft #7c (218th overall), 1994

CENTER

Tom Nalen, one of the most dominant and decorated offensive lineman in Broncos history, anchors an offensive line that paved the way for Denver's rushing attack to set a franchise-record with 2,629 rushing yards last season. Equally as impressive, the center helped Denver tie for the fourth-fewest sacks (25) allowed in team history as he started each regular-season game. Nalen received plenty of accolades in 2003, including his fifth career trip to the Pro Bowl. Additionally, he was named All-NFL by the Associated Press, All-NFL and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and NFL Offensive Lineman of the Year by the NFL Alumni. He was also the Broncos' nominee for the Ed Block Courage Award. Nalen, who has played in 141 career games (135 starts), left no question in anyone's mind that the 11-year veteran fully recovered from his 2002 anterior cruciate ligament surgery (left knee), which placed him on the injured reserve list in October of that year and limited him to only playing Denver's first seven games. The only lineman in the history of the franchise to play in five Pro Bowls (1997-2000, 2003), Nalen continues to solidify his place among the best centers in the NFL. He has garnered numerous All-NFL honors over the past seven seasons while providing leadership and stellar play as the veteran anchor of the Broncos' offensive line. That line played a crucial role in Denver's back-to-back World Championships in 1997 and '98 and has paved the way for a 1,000-yard rusher in eight of the last nine years, including Terrell Davis' 2,008-yard effort in '98 and Clinton Portis' 1,591 and 1,508 yards in 2003 and 2002, respectively. His five Pro Bowl selections are two more than the three trips to Honolulu earned by former tackle and future Hall of Famer Gary Zimmerman in Denver. Nalen entered the NFL as the Broncos' third choice in the seventh round (No. 218 overall) of the 1994 NFL draft.

2003: Nalen—voted to his fifth Pro Bowl; named All-NFL by the Associated Press; named All-NFL and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly, named NFL Offensive Lineman of the Year by the NFL Alumni and the Broncos' nominee for the Ed Block Courage Award—started at center in all 16 games, helping the Broncos rush for a franchise-record 2,629 yds. while tying for the fourth-fewest sacks allowed in team history. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), he left the game in the fourth quarter after suffering an injury to his right ankle. Nalen started at center in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

NALEN AMONG GREATEST BRONCOS LINEMEN

Center Tom Nalen established his place among the most accomplished and highly regarded offensive linemen in Broncos history in 2003 by earning his fifth Pro Bowl invitation. Tackle Gary Zimmerman went to three consecutive Pro Bowls in the mid-1990s. Below is a look at the list of Broncos offensive linemen who have earned Pro Bowl berths since the game was first played in 1970 following the AFL-NFL merger.

2002: Nalen started the first seven games at center before being placed on injured reserve Oct. 22. He underwent surgery to repair a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee Nov. 5 at the Steadman-Hawkins Clinic. Nalen suffered the injury with three minutes remaining in regulation at K.C. (10/20), a game the Broncos won in overtime.

2001: Nalen started all 16 games at center and played at a high level as he ran his streak of consecutive starts to 108.

2000: Nalen started at center in all 16 games. He was named All-NFL by the Associated Press for the second consecutive year, garnering first-team honors after a second-team showing last year. He was also voted to his fourth consecutive Pro Bowl appearance, the most by an offensive lineman in franchise history. Tackle Gary Zimmerman set the previous standard with three consecutive selections (1994-96). Nalen was named All-Pro by USA Today, Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News and Football Digest, and earned second-team honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly as well as All-AFC kudos from Pro Football Weekly and Football News. Nalen also started at center in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). Nalen underwent surgery to repair a hernia after the season.

1999: Nalen started at center in all 16 games and was selected to his third consecutive Pro Bowl—first as a starter—while also garnering first-team All-NFL honors from Football Digest and The Sporting News, and second-team honors from the Associated Press. Nalen underwent successful surgery on his right knee Jan. 5, precluding him from playing in the Feb. 6, 2000, Pro Bowl.

1998: Nalen—selected All-NFL by USA Today—started at center in all 16 games and was selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the second consecutive season. He played an integral role on an outstanding offensive line that allowed just 25 sacks—the third-lowest total for a full season in franchise history, and the lowest since 1971—while paving the way for the only the fourth 2,000-yard rusher in NFL history (Terrell Davis-2,008) and the league's second-ranked rushing attack at 154.3 yards per game. The Broncos set a team record for points in a season for the second year in a row, this time with 505. Nalen started at center in all three postseason games and helped pave the way for a rushing attack that averaged 183 yds.-per-game as Denver won Super Bowl XXXIII.

1997: Nalen started all 16 games at center and had a breakout season, being selected to his first Pro Bowl and earning second-team All-NFL honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly. He provided not only youth but also tremendous talent to a veteran offensive line regarded among the league's best. He made his first career pass reception at Oakland (10/19), catching a John Elway pass for -1 yard after it was batted at the line of scrimmage by the Raiders' Chester McGlockton. The Broncos' offense set a team record by scoring 472 points in one season and led the NFL in total offense (367 yards per game) for the second consecutive year, leading the AFC for the third consecutive year. Nalen was part of a unit that powered Broncos running backs to 15 individual 100-yard performances over the 20-game regular and postseason slate. In the postseason, Nalen started at center in all four games as part of an offensive line that dominated opponents and allowed Denver to control games with its rushing attack. The Broncos averaged 187 rushing yards per game in the postseason, and the offensive line was named NFL Offensive Player of the Week for Denver's Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97). Nalen, starting at center, playing an integral role in the offensive unit piling up club postseason records of 511 total yards and 42 points in Denver's 42-17 win over the Jaguars. The line played a key role in running back Terrell Davis earning MVP honors in the Super Bowl with 157 rushing yards and three rushing touchdowns.

1996: Nalen started all 16 regular season games at center, playing a key role on a unit that cleared the way for AFC rushing leader Terrell Davis (1,538 yards) and allowed just 31 sacks. He suffered a partial tear to his medial collateral ligament early in the Minnesota game (11/24) and was listed as questionable for the Seattle game (12/1) but did start. He also started Denver's lone playoff contest. The Broncos rushed for more than 100 yards in a game on 10 occasions during the 1996 season, and topped the 200-yard mark on four of those occasions. Overall, the Broncos' offense was the most productive in football in 1996, averaging 361.9 yards per game.

1995: Nalen started 15 of the Broncos' 16 games, missing only the Week Four matchup at San Diego (9/24) while recovering from arthroscopic surgery to repair a lateral meniscus tear in his left knee suffered in the Washington game (9/17). He underwent arthroscopic surgery at the Steadman-Hawkins Clinic in Vail, Colo., Sept. 18, and was expected to miss three to four weeks but returned to his starting position at Seattle (10/1). Behind the blocking of Nalen and the rest of the offensive line, Denver was able to rush for more than 100 yards in a game 11 out of 16 times during the 1995 season, and produce a 1,000-yard rusher in rookie Terrell Davis (1,117).

1994: Nalen played in seven games for the Broncos, including a start at left guard in his first NFL appearance against the Rams (11/6). Nalen continued to make appearances on the offensive line over the remainder of the season. Nalen entered camp in July as a rookie draft choice out of Boston College, was waived just prior to the start of the regular season and then re-signed to the practice squad Sept. 6. He was signed to the active roster the week of the Rams game to start in place of an injured Jon Melander.

COLLEGE: Nalen was a three-year starter at Boston College, earning numerous honors that included third-team Associated Press All-America, second-team All-Big East, and first-team ECAC citations. He closed out his outstanding college career with appearances in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games. In 1993, Nalen was an honorable mention All-American and All-Big East second-team pick by The Poor Man's Guide to the NFL Draft, starting all year and leading the way as the Eagles ranked fourth in the nation in total offense (506.4 yards per game). Nalen's blocking was a key factor in the Boston College upset win over Notre Dame in South Bend. Nalen started every game from 1991-93 after serving as the deep-snapper, backup center and then starting center for the last three games in 1990. He redshirted in '89.

PERSONAL: A native of Foxboro, Mass., Nalen lettered three times each in football and basketball and twice in track at Foxboro (Mass.) High School. He was All-Hockomock League and an all-state selection by the Boston Globe, Boston Herald, Sun Chronicle and Patriot Ledger, adding state Lineman of the Year honors as a senior. Nalen led the team to a pair of Division III titles and played in the Shriners All-Star Game, serving as team captain in both football and basketball. An all-conference and team MVP in basketball, he was named to the Academic All-State team by the Massachusetts Basketball Coaches Association. Nalen has his degree in accounting from Boston College. He and his wife, Denise, have two daughters, Delaney and Ainsley, and a son, Kyle, and make their home in Littleton, Colo. Thomas Andrew Nalen was born May 13, 1971, in Boston.

GUARD

Dan Neil is a major reason why the Broncos' offensive line has established itself as one of the NFL's most dominating units. Neil's consistency at guard in 2003 allowed Denver to set a franchise record for most rushing yards (2,629) in a season while also tying for the fourth-fewest sack total (25) in team history. Starting in 14 games, his efforts in 2003 helped Clinton Portis eclipse 1,500 yards for the second consecutive year and rush for 100 yards in 11 different games. Entering his eighth NFL season, the six-year starter has developed into a veteran leader and model of consistency who has solidified the interior of Denver's offensive line. He helped Portis set a rookie-franchise record in 2002 with 1,508 yards and has been critical to the success of many other Broncos backs. He also cleared the way for a 2,000-yard rushing season by Terrell Davis in 1998 and back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons by a pair of Broncos rookies—Olandis Gary and Mike Anderson—in 1999 and 2000. Neil enjoyed a breakthrough season in 1998 during the Broncos' second consecutive World Championship season, starting in all 16 regular season and all three postseason games at right guard. Behind that unit, Davis collected 2,008 yards, the third-highest single-season rushing total in league history. He has played in 95 career games (92) starts. After playing college ball at Texas, where he was a consensus All-American as a junior and senior, and a finalist for the Outland Trophy (top offensive lineman) as a senior, Neil was selected by the Broncos in the third round (No. 67 overall) of the 1997 NFL Draft. The pick was obtained in a trade with the New York Jets that allowed Denver to move up 21 places for the opportunity to select him.

2003: Neil started at right guard in 14 games, helping the Broncos rush for a franchise-record 2,629 yds., while tying for the fourth-fewest sacks allowed in team history. He was declared inactive at Ind. (12/21) and at G.B. (12/28) after suffering a sprained right ankle the week before vs. Cle. (12/14). Neil started at right guard in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Neil started all 16 games at right guard. He left the game at S.D. (12/1) in the 3rd qtr. with a sprained left knee and did not return. Neil underwent arthroscopic surgery on the knee the next day (12/2) but did not miss a game as he started six days later at the Jets (12/8). He underwent micro-fracture surgery on his left knee Jan. 13, 2003.

2001: Neil started 15 games at right guard, missing only the game at S.D. (10/21) when he was declared inactive because of a sprained ankle. He suffered the high ankle sprain vs. K.C. (10/7) and missed a few plays but returned to finish the game.

2000: Neil started at right guard in all 16 regular season games and the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He turned in another solid season as the Broncos ranked No. 2 in the NFL in total offense while breaking several franchise records. Neil and his linemates cleared the way for running back Mike Anderson post the fifth best rushing total by a rookie in NFL history—1,487 yards—and score 15 touchdowns, while limiting opponents to just 30 sacks.

1999: Neil started at right guard in 15 games. He left the Detroit game (12/25) in the second half with a knee injury and was declared inactive for the season-finale a week later vs. San Diego (1/2). The sprain of his medial collateral ligament did not require surgery but was estimated to need 4-6 weeks recovery time.

1998: Neil started all 16 games at right guard. He made his first professional start in the season-opener vs. New England (9/7). Neil played an integral role on an outstanding offensive line that allowed just 25 sacks—the third-lowest total for a full season in franchise history, and the lowest since 1971—while paving the way for only the fourth 2,000-yard rusher (Terrell Davis-2,008) in NFL history and the NFL's second most productive rushing attack at 154.3 yards per game. Neil started all three postseason contests at right guard and helped pave the way for a rushing attack that averaged 183 yds.-per-game en route to the Broncos' second consecutive Super Bowl win. He made his first career postseason start in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9).

1997: Neil was declared inactive for 10 of the 16 games in his rookie season and played in three. He was active for the first time as a pro vs. Seattle (11/2) but did not play, and then saw his first NFL action vs. Oakland (11/24) on Monday Night Football. He played on special teams and as a reserve at guard in the fourth quarter. Neil was slowed at the start of the season by a groin injury that required surgery Aug. 27. His other game action came on special teams in both games against San Diego (11/30 and 12/21). In the postseason Neil was declared inactive for all four games. Neil was chosen by the Broncos in the third round with the 67th overall selection.

COLLEGE: One of the strongest players in school history at Texas, Neil was a consensus All-America and all-conference selection as both a junior and senior, and was a finalist for the Outland Trophy in 1996. He started every game for four years after redshirting as a freshman in 1992, bringing his total to 48 consecutive, the school's longest streak at the time. Neil won the team Iron Man title every year he was at Texas, and in 1995 received the school's D. Harold Byrd Leadership Award. Neil was a sports management major at Texas, where he earned Athletic Director's Honor Roll accolades in 1993 and was very active in Longhorn Community Service efforts.

PERSONAL: Neil was a Parade All-America selection and earned Class 5A first-team all-state honors at Cypress Creek High School in Cypress Creek, Texas. He was rated as the state's best offensive line prospect by Max Emfinger's Blue Chip Illustrated and Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report and one of the top line prospects in the nation by most recruiting lists. Neil was also twice named all-district and received honorable mention All-America consideration from USA Today. He married his high school sweetheart, Amylyn, after the 1996 Sugar Bowl on January 6, 1996. Dan and Amylyn have a daughter, Alexandra Lee (5), and a son, David Garner (3). The family makes its home in Lone Tree, Colo. Amylyn's uncle, Larry Cox, played defensive tackle for the Broncos from 1966-68. Daniel Neil was born Oct. 21, 1973, in Houston.

LINEBACKER

Terry Pierce, despite having his rookie season cut short due to a pectoral injury in 2003, returns for his second season with the Broncos and is ready to compete for a starting role in the linebacking unit. Pierce saw action in three games, recording three tackles and a special teams stop, before he tore his left pectoral muscle against San Diego (11/16). As a result, he was placed on injured reserve two days later, ending his rookie campaign. Pierce joined the Broncos from Kansas State, where he was the undisputed leader of the Wildcats' defense. A three-year starter, he recorded 216 tackles (145 solo) with eight sacks (-49). Pierce was recognized as a second-team All-American in 2002 and received first-team All-Big 12 Conference honors from the NFL Draft Report while earning second-team recognition from the league's coaches. Denver selected Pierce in the second round (51st overall) of the 2003 NFL Draft.

2003: Pierce played in three games (at Bal., 10/26; vs. N.E., 11/3 and vs. S.D., 11/16) before being placed on injured reserve Nov. 18 with a torn pectoral muscle. He was deactivated for the first six games of the season and was then active but did not play in the seventh game, at Min. (10/19). In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), Pierce saw his first NFL action when he played on special teams. The following week vs. N.E. (11/3), he recorded his first special teams tackle and registered three tackles (2 solo) in the first defensive action of his career. Pierce entered the game for an injured Donnie Spragan at weakside linebacker in the third quarter and played the remainder of the contest. Pierce tore his pectoral muscle against S.D. (11/16), ending his rookie season.

COLLEGE: Pierce, a three-year starter for Kansas State, recorded 216 tackles (145 solos) with eight sacks (-49 yards), 33 stops for losses of 103 yards, one interception, a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and 10 deflected passes in 35 career games. Pierce earned All-American second-team honors, and was an All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection by The NFL Draft Report, earning second-team All-Big Twelve honors from the league's coaches his senior year. Pierce also earned academic all-district as a senior. He lined up at middle linebacker, recording a career-high 110 tackles (70 solo) with five sacks (-39 yards) and 16 stops for losses of 63 yards. Additionally, he deflected six passes, had one quarterback pressure and caused one fumble. As a junior, Pierce was an All-Big 12 Conference first-team selection by the NFL Draft Report and the Kansas City Star, adding honorable mention from the Associated Press and the league's coaches. In addition, he was an academic All-Big 12 Conference choice, and named the Wildcats' Most Improved Defensive Player for the second consecutive year. Playing in 11 games with 10 starts at middle linebacker, he recorded 68 tackles (49 solo) with two sacks (-10 yards) and 11 stops for losses of 26 yards. He posted a career-high 12 tackles, including a career best 10 solo stops, at Nebraska (11/10) and was one of three Wildcats with double-figure tackles against the Cornhuskers, joining Josh Buhl and Jon McGraw. Pierce was a freshman All-American second-team pick by the Sporting News and named Big 12 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year by the league's coaches—the fourth Wildcat under Bill Snyder to be named Big 12 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year (Chris Canty '94, Travis Ochs '95, Mark Simoneau '96). He was an academic All-Big 12 Conference choice and is listed as the team's Most Improved Defensive Player. Starting the final six games of the year and playing in 13 total, he recorded 38 tackles (26 solos) with six stops for a loss (-14 yards), one interception and three passes defensed. Pierce redshirted as a freshman, and was the winner of Kansas State's Overachiever Award—given for work done in the team's strength and conditioning program.

PERSONAL: Pierce attended Western Hills High School in Fort Worth, Texas, where he earned all-district and all-state honors in Class 4A in 1998. He was a four-year letterwinner and earned first team all-district as a freshman, sophomore and junior before winning district defensive MVP honors as a senior. QUARTERBACK

Jake Plummer adjusted to his first year in the Broncos' system with ease in 2003, directing the team to more wins than any other first-year Denver quarterback had in 26 years. With a year under his belt working with Head Coach Mike Shanahan, the eighth-year veteran is in position to improve on his 9-2 record as a starter last year in the regular season and make a greater impact in 2004. Plummer, who joined the Broncos after spending the first part of his career with the Arizona Cardinals, boasted a win total last season that was the best for a first-year Broncos signal-caller since 1977 when Craig Morton led the team to 12 wins. Displaying an uncanny ability to create big plays with his arm and mobility, Plummer completed 189-of-302 passes (62.6%) for 2,182 yards, 15 touchdowns and seven interceptions last season. His career-best 91.2 passer rating ranked fourth in the AFC (5th NFL), and, despite missing four games mid-season due to injury and resting during the team's regular-season finale, he finished seventh in the AFC in touchdown passes. The signal-caller proved to be a dangerous weapon on ground, breaking off a 40-yard run vs. Oakland on Monday Night Football to set a franchise record for the longest rush ever by a Broncos quarterback. Additionally, he notched his 22nd career fourth-quarter or overtime game-winning or game-saving drive in a late-season win vs. Cleveland. Plummer began the year with a 4-1 mark before sitting out in Week 6 (right shoulder) and Weeks 7-9 (left foot). He then concluded the regular season on a strong note with a 5-1 record. In addition to being named offensive co-captain of the Broncos at mid-season, Plummer was bestowed with that honor with the Cardinals in 1998 at only age 23 with just 10 NFL games (9 starts) to his career. He responded by leading the team to the playoffs that season for the first time since 1982 and helping the franchise win its first postseason game since 1947. With the Cardinals, Plummer started all 16 games in 2002 and threw 18 touchdown passes. He overcame the series of minor injuries that hampered his play in 1999 and 2000 by not missing a single offensive play in 2001. In 95 career games (93 starts), Plummer has completed 1,729-of-3,056 passes (56.6) for 19,804 yards with 105 touchdowns and 121 interceptions. He also has collected 1,388 rushing yards on 284 carries (4.9 avg) with 13 touchdowns. Plummer entered the NFL in 1997 as Arizona's second-round draft choice (42nd overall) out of Arizona State. He signed with the Broncos as an unrestricted free agent March 6, 2003.

Plummer's 2003 Highlights included:

- Plummer was voted offensive co-captain at midseason, joining Rod Smith.
- He ranked fourth in the AFC (5th NFL) in passer rating (91.2) and ranked seventh in the AFC in touchdown passes despite missing five games.
- Plummer's 62.6 completion percentage was the best mark of his seven-year career, topping his previous best of 59.2 (1998), and the fifth-best single-season percentage in Broncos history. He completed better than two-thirds of his passes in six of his 11 starts in 2003, and had a passer rating above 100.0 in each of the six.
- His TD/INT ratio of 15/7 was the best of his career (2.1/1), topping his previous best of 18/14 (1.3/1) in 2001.
- Plummer notched his 22nd career fourth-quarter or overtime game-winning or game-saving drive vs. Cleveland (12/14), his first as a Denver Bronco. The Broncos took over at their 25-yd. line with 1:11 to play, trailing 20-17 with no timeouts. Plummer drove his team 58 yds. with 7-, 5- and 46-yd. passes to Ashley Lelie to set up Jason Elam's game-tying field goal with :06 on the clock. The Broncos won in overtime on another Elam field goal after Plummer put the team in scoring position with a 23-yd. bootleg run to open the drive.
- He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week for Week 3. In addition to his 14 of 21 passing (66.7) for 197 yds. and two touchdowns, his 40-yard run from scrimmage in the win over Oakland was the longest of his career and longest by a QB in Broncos history.
- Plummer put together a personal-best streak of 139 passes without an interception over a period of four-plus games early in the season, and in that span threw 10 TD passes.

2003: Plummer started 11 of 16 games, missing Wk. 6 (vs. Pit., 10/12) because of a right shoulder injury, Wks. 7-9 (at Min., 10/19; at Bal., 10/26 and vs. N.E., 11/3) because of a broken left foot and Wk. 17 to rest after clinching a playoff spot a week earlier. He completed 189-of-302 passes (62.6%) for 2,182 yds. and 15 touchdowns, with seven interceptions, for a career-best passer rating of 91.2. He also rushed 37 times for 205 yds. (5.5) and three touchdowns, with a long of 40. Plummer started and made his Broncos debut in the opener at Cin. (9/7) and completed 12-of-25 pass attempts (48.0) for 115 yds. and three interceptions. His longest completion of the day was a 23-yard strike to Shannon Sharpe that began the drive that would lead to the Broncos' second touchdown. At S.D. (9/14) in Week 2, Plummer completed 9-of-13 passes (69.2%) for 94 yds. and three touchdowns in less than a half of football. Two of his touchdown throws came in the opening quarter, marking a first for his career. Plummer suffered a first-degree separation of his right shoulder with 8:11 remaining in the second quarter while rushing the ball for a 2-yd. gain and a Broncos first down on a fourth-and-1 play from the Chargers' 5-yd. line. Two plays later, he threw his third touchdown of the day to tackle Cooper Carlisle (6 yds.) before leaving the game for good as he watched the remainder from the sidelines. In the home opener vs. Oak. (9/22) on Monday Night Football, Plummer overcame soreness from the previous week's shoulder injury to complete 14-of-21 passes (66.7%) for 197 yds. and two touchdowns while adding five rushes for 48 yds. (9.6) and one touchdown. His Wk. 3 performance earned him AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors; the MNF Horse Trailer Player of the Game award, and the Snickers Hungriest Player Award. With both passing touchdowns coming in the opening quarter, it marked the second consecutive week that he had thrown for two scores in the first quarter; the first two times of his career. Plummer's first scoring toss covered 18 yds. to Shannon Sharpe and his second went for 44 yds. to Ashley Lelie. His 40-yard run in the second quarter was the longest of his career and the longest rush ever by a Broncos quarterback, topping Bubby Brister's 38-yd. touchdown run at Kansas City, Nov. 16, 1998, also on Monday Night Football. In Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28), Plummer completed 25-of-34 passes (73.5) for 277 yds. and two touchdowns while leading the team in rushing with 40 yds. on six carries (6.7). His touchdowns covered 29 yds. to Lelie and 1 yd. to Sharpe, and gave him seven touchdown passes in his last three games. On the two touchdown drives—which came on back-to-back possessions in the first half—Plummer completed all 10 of his passes for 133 yds. In the first half, he put together a string of 16 consecutive pass completions, tying the fourth longest streak in franchise history (third longest in within one game). Additionally, Plummer's 73.5 completion percentage was the second-best of his career, and it marked the first time in his career that he had completed 66.7 percent of his passes or better in three consecutive games. In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), he completed 20-of-38 passes (52.6) for 220 yds. and one touchdown while adding 22 yds. rushing on three attempts (7.3). Plummer's lone touchdown came on a rollout in the red zone on which he found tight end Dwayne Carswell in the end zone for a 6-yd. touchdown pass. With the touchdown, he extended his streak to eight touchdowns with no interceptions since Wk. 2. Returning to the lineup against S.D. (11/16) after missing four games, Plummer showed no ill effects of the layoff, completing 23-of-34 passes (67.6) for 253 yds. and three touchdowns, while throwing one interception, for a passer rating of 106.6. All three of his touchdowns went to tight end Shannon Sharpe, which made Sharpe the NFL's all-time leader in touchdown receptions by a tight end, passing Jerry Smith (Wash.), who had 60. He also tossed Rod Smith's 600th career reception, making Smith the 31st player in NFL history to achieve that number. Plummer's interception was his first since the season opener at Cin. (9/7), snapping a person-best streak of 139 attempts without one. During that span he threw 10 touchdown passes. A week later vs. Chi. (11/23), Plummer completed 19-of-35 passes (54.3) for 176 yds. and a touchdown. His lone scoring toss came on the Broncos' first offensive series when he found Smith in the end zone for a 1-yd. score. At Oak. (11/30), Plummer completed 11-of-20 passes (55.0) for 105 yds. with a touchdown and an interception on a rain-soaked afternoon. His touchdown came on a 4-yd. pass to Shannon Sharpe in the 2nd qtr. A week later in a key divisional rematch vs. 11-1 K.C. (12/7), Plummer operated the offense with precision and efficiency, completing 20-of-29 (69.0) passes for 238 yds. and a touchdown for a passer rating of 105.2 in a 45-27 Broncos win. His lone touchdown came on a 3-yd. pass to fullback Reuben Droughns in the 3rd qtr. to put Denver ahead to stay at 24-21. Plummer completed 22-of-36 passes (61.1) for 269 yds. (his second-highest total of the season) with one interception vs. Cle. (12/14), for a passer rating of 72.6. He also rushed one time for 23 yds., which proved crucial as he put the Broncos near field-goal position on their first play from scrimmage in overtime. The win marked Plummer's first fourth-quarter or overtime game-winning or game-saving drive as a Bronco and was the 22nd of his career. Denver took over at its 25-yd. line with 1:11 remaining in the game, trailing 20-17, with no timeouts. Plummer hit Ashley Lelie for 7 yds., then found him again for 5 yds. and 46 yds. to set up a game-tying 36-yd. field goal by Jason Elam with :06 on the clock. On the first play of the Broncos' initial possession of overtime, Plummer bootlegged for 23 yds. to move Denver to the Cleveland 30-yd. line, ultimately setting up a 25-yd. game-winning field goal by Elam. A week later at 11-3 Ind. (12/21), Plummer engineered the Broncos' biggest road in years with his precision execution of the offense, lifting the Broncos into the playoffs for the first time since 2000. He completed 14-of-17 passes (82.4) for 238 yds. and a touchdown, and ran for two mores scores among his six carries for 22 yds. (3.7). Plummer overcame an early interception that was returned for a touchdown to complete 14 of his final 16 passes in directing the win. His rushing scores came on a 6-yd. dash in the 1st qtr. and a 1-yd. plunge in the 2nd qtr., and he connected with Rod Smith on a 15-yd. score just before halftime. Plummer's 82.4 completion percentage was a career high, while his 60-yd. completion to Ashley Lelie was a season high. He also tied a season high with six rushes for 22 yds. and two touchdowns. Plummer was inactive at G.B. (12/28) with a playoff spot secured. Plummer started and completed 23 of 30 passes (career postseason-best 76.7%) for 181 yds. and a touchdown, with two interceptions, for a passer rating of 74.4 in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4). He also rushed three times for 18 yds. (6.0). Plummer's lone touchdown pass, a 7-yarder to Rod Smith, came in the 4th qtr.

2002: Plummer connected on 18 touchdown passes for the second consecutive year to match a single-season best but finished the season with a 65.7 passer rating and 5.61 average-per-attempt. Overall, he started all 16 games and completed 284-of-530 passes (53.6) for 2,972 yards with 18 touchdowns and 20 interceptions. Plummer was sacked 36 times (248 yards) and rushed 46 times for 283 yards and (6.2)—both single-season highs—and two scores. Against Seattle (9/15), Plummer had 10 completions in 22 attempts for just 107 yards and two sacks but engineered key second-half touchdown drives of 84 and 90 yards in a 24-13 win, his 17th career comeback victory. Reaching a career milestone, Plummer blew past the 15,000-yard passing mark in first quarter vs. San Diego (9/22) with a 65-yard scoring strike to MarTay Jenkins, achieving the mark in his 71st career game. In that game, he completed 16-of-36 for 229 yards , including a 65-yard scoring toss to Jenkins on first possession of game. While hosting the New York Giants (9/29), Plummer hit 23-of-32 passes (71.9%) for 168 yards while picking up his 18th career comeback victory in 21-7 win by guiding the Cardinals to two fourth-quarter touchdowns. Plummer posted another steady performance in Arizona's 16-13 win at Carolina (10/6) with 18 completions in 40 attempts for 221 yards—his 19th comeback victory. Plummer authored career comeback victory No. 20 in a 9-6 overtime win vs. Dallas (10/20), where he connected on 23-of-46 attempts for 232 yards and added another 46 yards on four carries. The key play, in overtime, set the table for a game-winning field goal as he and wide receiver David Boston pulled off an improvisation that resulted in a 20-yard interference call to set up a 40-yard field goal four plays later. Plummer overcame a nightmarish start at San Francisco (10/27) as Cards fell to 31-7 deficit at halftime but rallied in second half, however, to score on three consecutive possessions, beginning with a vintage 34-yard touchdown scramble up the middle to cut deficit to 31-14—the longest touchdown run of his career. He later guided the team to long scoring drives of 68 yards in 12 plays and 69 yards in 11 plays, but the comeback bid fell a little short. He had an impressive first half vs. St. Louis (11/3) with 11 completions in 14 attempts for 124 yards, including a seven-yard scoring toss to Frank Sanders, and added 24 yards on four rushing attempts, including a 17-yard run in third quarter. Plummer opened game at Philadelphia (11/17) with six consecutive completions and threw two first-half touchdown passes of 12 yards to rookie McAddley and 2 yards to fullback Joel Makovicka. He finished the game 20-of-35 for 170 yards, but succumbed to season-high four quarterback sacks and threw one interception. In an efficient game vs. Detroit (12/8), Plummer completed 24-of-43 passes for 228 yards, including two touchdowns and just one interception but was sacked a season-high six times for 48 yards in the Cardinals' 23-20 overtime win. He opened the scoring with 1-yard touchdown toss to Makovicka in first quarter then found Nate Poole on third-and-3 for a 10-yard scoring connection with just 45 seconds left in first half. Plummer capped a solid day by arching a touch pass to Kevin Kasper for a diving, 23-yard gain on third-and-7 in overtime to the Detroit 28-yard line, which set up the game-winning field goal three plays later in his 21st career comeback victory. In producing one of his best efforts of the season, Plummer hit 17-of-27 passes for 258 yards and two touchdown passes at St. Louis (12/15). He brought the Cards back from a 24-7 halftime deficit with outstanding third quarter when he completed five-of-five passes for 135 yards, highlighted by an 80-yard scoring connection to Shipp—the longest touchdown pass of his career. Plummer opened the season finale at Denver (12/29) with effective first half of 10 completions in 18 attempts for 91 yards and a 1-yard scoring connection to Kasper to pull the Cards within 9-7 at halftime, but struggled in second half, however, with just three completions in nine attempts before he was pulled for Josh McCown midway through fourth quarter.

2001: Plummer received high marks for exhibiting patience, intelligence and judgement in an efficient season and joined N.Y. Giants passer Kerry Collins as the only two quarterbacks to take every snap from center for their teams. He connected on 304-of-525 pass attempts (57%) for 3,653 yards (6.96 average-per-attempt) with 18 touchdowns and 14 interceptions. Additionally, he rushed 35 times for 163 yards (4.7-yard average) and was sacked 29 times (-204 yards). Plummer finished as the NFL leader with 1,277 fourth-quarter passing yards and threw 10 touchdown passes in the final period to tie with San Francisco's Jeff Garcia for tops in the NFC. At the conclusion of the season, he had a stretch of 142 passes without an interception until a fourth-quarter toss at Washington (1/6) bounced off the hands of an intended receiver into arms of a Redskin defender. The pick marked only his second interception in final 205 attempts of the season. During the season, Plummer engineered his 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th career comeback victories. Plus the four touchdown passes and only one interception vs. Detroit (11/18) helped him finish the season with a +4 touchdown-to-interception ratio, which was the first time it happened in his career. In the season opener vs. Denver, he completed a 26-yard strike to David Boston on the first play of game, where he surpassed the 11,000-yard career passing mark. Plummer finished the game with 16 completions on 28 attempts for 242 yards with one touchdown and one interception. In the game vs. Atlanta (9/30), he had an impressive completion mark of 65.7 percent on 23-of-35 passes for 276 yards, including a stretch of 11 consecutive pass completions. However, this was overshadowed by three interceptions and a fumbled center exchange. Plummer spun his fourth-quarter comeback magic for the 13th time in has career—fifth against the Eagles—with a 21-20 win in Veterans Stadium (10/7). He guided the team on a 74-yard, eight-play drive that took just 64 seconds. With the Eagles leading 20-14, Plummer hit MarTay Jenkins for gains of 16 and 28 yards setting up a first down at Philadelphia's 35-yard line with 28 seconds left. Plummer looked down the left side to a blanketed Boston, then threw a blind pass toward the opposite corner, where Jenkins adjusted to the under-thrown pass, spun away from Pro-Bowl cornerback Troy Vincent at the 3-yard line, and dove across the goal line with nine seconds left in the game. Posting another fine outing, he connected on 16-of-25 passes for 228 yards, with one touchdown, no interceptions and suffered no sacks in the Cardinals' 24-16 win over Kansas City (10/21). Plummer demonstrated impressive game management in the Cardinals' 45-38 win over Detroit (11/18). Compiling his 14th-career comeback victory, he brought the Cards back from a 31-21 deficit in fourth quarter. Plummer was efficient, completing 21-of-33 passes for 334 and four touchdowns as he found Boston, Sanders, and Jenkins for scoring plays with a season best 10.14-yard average-per-attempt. The 45 points tied for the most by a Cardinals team since 49 vs. New Orleans in 1977. Authoring his 15th-career comeback-win at San Diego (11/25), he hit 9-of-13 passes in the fourth quarter for 112 yards and guided his team to a 20-17 victory. Overall in the game, he hit 19-of-31 attempts for 241 yards, including a 37-yard scoring toss to Boston in the second quarter. Plummer etched career comeback No. 16 in the books with a 34-31 overtime victory at Oakland (12/2). Hidden in his 22-of-38 for 249 yard effort was his outstanding second-down numbers of 12-of-14 for 182 yards. He finished the first half 13-of-20 for 136 yards as Cards took 20-7 lead into the locker room. After Oakland took a 24-23 lead with 1:47 left, Plummer needed just 29 seconds to regain the lead as he found Boston on a 50-yard crossing route with 1:26 to play to give Cards a 29-24 advantage. He followed that with key effort on two-point conversion as he slithered into the end zone for a 31-24 advantage, which later sent game into overtime as Raiders scored on 10-play, 78-yard drive with ensuing possession. Arizona went on to win the game in overtime on a field goal in the extra period. Plummer connected on 17 of 31 passes for 144 yards in a 17-10 win over Dallas (12/23), including a key 58-yarder to Frank Sanders in second quarter to set up go-ahead touchdown. He came back the next week at Carolina (12/30) and hit 12-of-23 passes for 173 yards and a pair of scoring passes to Boston to enjoy his third consecutive game without interception and a 30-7 win.

2000: As a 14-game starter, Plummer completed 270-of-475 pass attempts (56.8%) for 2,946 yards with 13 touchdowns and 21 interceptions, and his passer rating of 66.0 was nearly 16 points higher than 1999's 50.8 figure. During the course of the season, Plummer had touchdown passes of 50 yards or more in three consecutive games (weeks 5 through 7), matching the same feat accomplished by Neil Lomax in 1983. Plummer was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week after the Cards' 32-31 win over Dallas (9/10). In the game, he posted a career best 75 percent completion figure (18 completions in 24 attempts) as he brought Cards back from an 11-point deficit with two fourth-quarter touchdown passes for his 12th career comeback victory. Along the way, he twice hit wide receiver Frank Sanders on a third down touchdown passes of 4 and 17 yards, the latter with 1:54 remaining to bump the final margin to 32-31. Plummer had an efficient, mistake-free effort in the Cards' 29-21 victory over Cleveland (10/8), by completing 17-of-30 attempts for 171 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. He had an up-and-down performance vs. Washington (11/5) but finished with 12 completions in 19 attempts for 146 yards and was able to pull out a pivotal 16-15 victory. With those 146 passing yards against Washington , Plummer became the fastest Cardinal to reach 10,000 career passing yards in only his 47th appearance. The next week, he had a solid, mistake-free game at Minnesota (11/12) and completed 19-of-28 passes for 219 yards, suffered two sacks and avoided an interception. He endured a beating at Philadelphia (11/19), leaving the game twice, the final time early in the fourth quarter as back-up quarterback Dave Brown finished the contest. He left that game with bruised ribs and sprained thumb, and was declared the inactive third quarterback vs. the N.Y. Giants (11/26). Back in the lineup at Cincinnati (12/3), Plummer connected on 22-of-44 attempts for 278 yards and a pair of scoring strikes of 38 and 15 yards to Boston. The next week, he again was inactive, this time at Jacksonville (12/10) while recovering from rib/sternum injuries. After a full week of practice, he returned vs.

Baltimore (12/17) and performed impressively against the league's top defense. Plummer concluded a frustrating season with a 14-for-31 effort and 144 yards at Washington (12/24) with three interceptions (2 at the goal line) and lost one fumble.

1999: Plummer suffered a sprained thumb in the second preseason game, a broken finger midway through the year and nagging hip and groin injuries, which all contributed to his 50.8 passer rating. Additionally, a five-week absence contributed to him completing just 201 passes in 381 attempts (52.8%) for 2,111 yards, nine touchdowns, and 24 interceptions. The thumb injury came in the preseason vs. Tennessee (8/20) when early in first quarter while Titans defensive end Mike Jones was sacking Plummer, defensive tackle Jason Fisk slapped at the ball in Plummer's hand and yanked his thumb. He was diagnosed with a sprained thumb, and Plummer saw little or no practice time in the coming weeks while the injury healed. The inactivity was obvious over the first six weeks of the regular season, as he completed just 93 of 181 passes (51.4%) for 928 yards, 3 touchdowns and 14 interceptions. A broken finger vs. Washington (10/17) forced him to miss five starts. On the opening possession of second half, Plummer was sacked by Washington linebacker Shawn Barber, who came in untouched on fierce blindside hit. Plummer's ring finger of his right hand got lodged between Barber's facemask and helmet, and was bent sideways. In-stadium x-rays disclosed a spiral fracture that sidelined Plummer for the next five weeks. Plummer returned to action by opening the second half at the Meadowlands vs. the N.Y. Giants (11/28) in relief of Brown with Cardinals down 10-6 at halftime. On his second possession following a turnover, Plummer guided the Cardinals 16 yards in five plays for a touchdown, with 2-yard toss in left corner of end zone that Moore stole away from a Giant defender to give Cards 13-10 lead. He later connected with tight end Johnny McWilliams for a 9-yard touchdown toss to open fourth quarter and extended their lead to 20-10, completing five consecutive passes on the drive. Plummer again responded with nine-play, 60-yard drive that put the Cardinals up 34-17, in a game they eventually won 34-24. Back in starting saddle the next week vs. Philadelphia (12/5), Plummer had completed just 8-of-15 passes for 53 yards and faced a 17-7 deficit after three quarters. With 10:50 left in the game, the Cards had managed just 79 yards total offense to the Eagles' 252 yards. Plummer rallied the Cards in the fourth quarter with two touchdowns in the final five minutes for his 11th come-from-behind victory by completing 12-of-19 passes for 126 yards, throwing for one touchdown and running for another, in 21-17 win. He came out smoking at Atlanta (12/26) and guided the Cards to scoring drives of 86 yards (13 plays) and 74 yards (8 plays). Finishing the game 11-of-13 for 179 yards, his only misfires were an incompletion and game-ending interception. Plummer concluded an injury-plagued season with career-high 35 completions on 57 attempts for 396 yards (second highest), a pair of touchdowns and three interceptions at Green Bay (1/2). He was excellent on first-down, completing 20-of-29 for 246 yards. After a first half of 15 completions on 27 attempts for 149 yards and two interceptions, Plummer heated up in second half with 20 completions in 30 pass attempts for 247 yards and two scores. Seven times he converted third-down situations with pass completions for first-down yardage, and showed authority on his passes and good decision-making in three second-half scoring drives for touchdowns.

1998: Plummer—second to Green Bay's Brett Favre (347-551) in the NFC with 547 pass attempts and 324 completions—earned Pro Bowl alternate status. He guided the Cardinals to a single-season league record seven wins in eight games decided by three points or less. He opened the season with 14 completions in 36 attempts for 166 yards in a loss at Dallas (9/6), and suffered a sub-par performance at Seattle (9/13) against a fierce Seahawks pass rush that sacked him seven times and pressured him throughout the game. Displaying patience with just 137 yards passing on 35 attempts (21 completions) in the home opener vs. Philadelphia (9/20), Plummer connected on a key 7-yard scoring play to McWilliams on third-and-seven with seven minutes left to give the Cards a 10-3 lead. On the next drive, he found McWilliams again on third down for 26 yards to midfield, as the Cards eventually scored and held on for 17-3 win. Plummer played an efficient, near error-free game at St. Louis (9/27) with 211 yards on 21-of-31 passing with one touchdown and one interception, as Arizona won 20-17. He connected with Sanders for 13-yard scoring play in the second quarter, and later sealed game by completing his final five passes, including 4-for-4 for 21 yards on the game-winning 10-play, 75-yard scoring drive. Against Chicago (10/11), Plummer finished with a 72 percent completion mark on 18-of-25 passes for 157 yards, including outstanding third-down numbers of seven of 10 attempts for 67 yards. Twice he converted fourth-and-short plays with quarterback sneaks of one and three yards, the first of which kept a drive going for an eventual touchdown and 10-0 first-half lead. Plummer later converted a third-and-seven situation at Chicago's 11-yard line with a 9-yard throw to Sanders on crossing pattern, which set up Bates' second score and a 17-0 Cards lead in their eventual 20-7 win. Plummer weathered an inauspicious start at Detroit (11/1) to engineer a hard-fought 17-15 victory against a pressing Lions defense. In the first quarter, he was sacked on three consecutive third-down plays, fumbled twice (losing 1), and tossed an interception to open second quarter which Detroit converted into a field goal and 3-0 lead. After regrouping, he tossed a 16-yard scoring pass to Sanders midway through second period and finished the first half with 5 completions in 9 attempts for 44 yards. Plummer heated up in the second half when he hit Moore for 21 yards, McWilliams for 19, and then found Moore over the middle in the end zone from 36 yards to give the Cards a 14-9 lead. He guided team into field-goal range in fourth quarter, and kicker Joe Nedney booted home the game-winner from 53 yards with 2:46 left. Plummer finished the contest with 15 completions on 25 attempts for 198 yards. After a mediocre first half of six completions in 13 attempts for 48 yards vs. Washington (11/8), Plummer completed a franchise-record 15 consecutive completions to open the second half of the Cardinals' 29-27 win, finishing the second half 16-of-17 for 138 yards. Overall in the contest, Plummer hit 22-of-30 attempts for 186 yards and a single-game best 73.3 completion percentage, including a four-yard touchdown pass to Centers in third quarter. But he saved his best for last when he took the Cardinals 50 yards in five plays and 22 seconds to set up the game-winning field goal with two seconds left. Playing before a national television audience and sold-out Sun Devil Stadium vs. Dallas (11/15), Plummer authored one of the most improbable comeback efforts in recent NFL history as he rallied the Cardinals from a 28-0 deficit. He compiled 465 passing yards—314 in the second half—in a furious comeback to bring Arizona to within 35-28 and the football on the Cowboys' 5-yard line. Had either of the two game-ending end zone incompletion been completed and led to a Cardinals victory, the outcome would have equalled the greatest regular-season comeback in NFL history, matching an effort authored by Joe Montana vs. New Orleans, Dec. 7, 1980, when the 49ers overcame a 35-7 deficit and won 38-35 in overtime. In the second half, he completed 18-of-33 attempts for 314 yards and two touchdowns, and the 465 passing yards set a Sun Devil Stadium NFL high and ranked third overall in Cardinals history, trailing only 522 yards by Boomer Esiason at Washington (1996) and 468 by Neil Lomax at Washington (1984). The 56 attempts rank fourth in team history and the 31 completions rate eighth. Plummer's 465 passing yards is just five yards shy of most by second-year player in NFL history behind Dan Marino (470 in 1984), Vinny Testaverde (469 in 1988) and Johnny Lujack (468 in 1949). The next week at Washington (11/22), Plummer led the Cards to a 31-0 lead in first half, only to see the Redskins stage improbable comeback in a wild 45-42 Arizona victory. He connected on 8-of-16 attempts for 154 yards and a touchdown in first half and added scoring runs of 1 and 10 yards as Arizona vaulted to 31-6 lead at halftime. Washington scored on three consecutive possessions to pull within 38-35 with nine minutes left, but Plummer took the Cards 55 yards in 10 plays, capped by a 1-yard sneak for his third touchdown of the game and a 45-35 advantage. He finished the game with 17 completions on 28 attempts, 251 yards, with two touchdowns and one interception. His three rushing touchdowns were the most by an NFL quarterback since New Orleans' Archie Manning did it against Chicago (10/2, 1977). Plummer waved the magic wand again at Philadelphia (12/13) with his seventh fourth-quarter comeback victory in just 23 NFL starts—a 20-17 overtime win. In the first half, he completed five of nine attempts for 65 yards, then responded in second half with 13 completions in 17 attempts for 169 yards, including eight of final 10 pass attempts in fourth quarter and overtime. Plummer celebrated his 24th birthday (12/19) with another impressive comeback effort as he took the Cards 73 yards on six plays with just 1:21 left to allow kicker Chris Jacke to nail game-winning 36-yard field goal as time expired in a 19-17 win over New Orleans (12/20). He started the game red hot with 22 completions in 30 attempts for 239 yards in first half, including eight connections for 85 yards to Sanders, but the Cards still faced a 10-6 deficit after New Orleans' Sammy Knight returned a second-quarter interception 39 yards for a touchdown. Rising to the challenge in fourth quarter, Plummer faced a 17-16 deficit with 1:21 to play. He backed up to his own 8-yard line, connected with Sanders over the middle for gains of 25 and 28 yards on consecutive plays, and following a procedure penalty that resulted in a second-and-15 near midfield, Plummer scrambled up the middle for 21 yards to the New Orleans 23-yard line. He then ran a quarterback keeper for four yards with 30 seconds left, setting up the game-winning field goal. For his effort, he was honored as the NFL's Player of the Week. Plummer capped an improbable season in unlikely fashion in the finale vs. San Diego (12/27) as he delivered the Cardinals franchise to its first postseason berth since 1982 by completing 10-yard pass to Sanders with three seconds left to set up a 52-yard game-winning field goal by Jacke in the 16-13 win. Postseason: Plummer guided Arizona to its first postseason victory in 51 seasons as he led the way in a 20-7 upset victory in the wild-card playoff win at Dallas (1/2). He connected on 19-of-36 pass attempts for 213 yards while avoiding a sack for only the second time in 1998. The next week, Plummer suffered through a nightmarish start in divisional playoff at Minnesota (1/10) with no completions in four attempts and two interceptions by the midway point of the second quarter. After the Vikings sailed to 17-0 lead, Plummer regrouped to guide Cards on 13-play, 80-yard scoring drive that consumed 7:52 and cut deficit to 17-7. He connected on 5-of-6 passes for 59 yards on the drive, twice hitting receivers to convert third-down yardage and keep drive alive. After posting first-half stats of six completions in 12 attempts for 65 yards with two interceptions, he settled down in second half to complete 17 of 29 passes for 177 yards.

1997: Plummer established himself, to quote former San Francisco 49ers Head Coach and Pro Football Hall of Famer Bill Walsh, as "one of the bright young stars in the NFL in years" with his memorable rookie season. He opened the campaign as the third quarterback behind starter Kent Graham and back-up Stoney Case but after Graham started the first six games and yielded to Case due to a knee injury, Plummer received his first NFL action in Week 7 at Philadelphia (10/19). After that, he never looked back. In 10 appearances (9 starts), Plummer recorded a Cardinals rookie passing records by completing 157-of-296 passes (53%) for 2,203 yards and 15 touchdowns with 15 interceptions. In what amounted to little more than one-half of a season, he nearly equalled the season touchdown pass totals of such marquee quarterbacks as San Francisco's Steve Young (19), Dallas' Troy Aikman (19), Detroit's Scott Mitchell (19), Jacksonville's Mark Brunell (18), Baltimore's Vinny Testaverde (18), Washington's Gus Frerotte (17) and Miami's Dan Marino (16). His average per attempt of 7.44 yards ranked sixth in the league, bettering Denver's John Elway (7.24), New England's Drew Bledsoe (7.10), Seattle's Warren Moon (6.97), Marino (6.90), Pittsburgh's Kordell Stewart (6.86), Mitchell (6.84), Minnesota's Rob Johnson (6.72), Frerotte (6.67), Tampa Bay's Trent Dilfer (6.62), Tennessee's Steve McNair (6.42), Aikman (6.34), Chicago's Erik Kramer (6.31) and the N.Y. Giants' Danny Kanell (5.92). Plummer led the league with an average-per-completion mark of 14 yards, a full one-half yard ahead of Oakland long-baller Jeff George (13.5). In his fourth NFL start against the N.Y. Giants at the Meadowlands (11/16), Plummer set an NFL rookie single-game passing record with 388 yards, breaking Aikman's previous mark (379 yards) established against the Cardinals in 1989. His four touchdown passes vs. Washington (12/7) were most by an NFL rookie since Bledsoe also notched four in 1993. Plummer joined Aikman, Bledsoe and Jim Plunkett as the only NFL quarterbacks to throw four touchdown passes in one game as a rookie, and was named NFC Offensive Rookie of the Month for November with 76 completions in 133 attempts (57.1%) for 1,156 yards and five touchdowns, a passer rating of 82.7. After being the inactive third quarterback for first six games, his first NFL appearance provided a spark at Philadelphia (10/19) as the Cardinals' offense faltered into the fourth quarter. He entered game at 10:26 of the fourth stanza with the ball on the Cards' 2-yard line and marched the Cards 98 yards for a touchdown in 14 plays, the longest touchdown drive in the NFL in 1997. He also became the first NFL quarterback to take his team more than 66 yards for a score in his first possession. Plummer made his second consecutive start vs. the Eagles (11/2), but struggled through three quarters before Graham relieved him in the fourth period of Cards' 31-21 victory. He completed 13 of 22 attempts for 148 yards at Dallas (11/9) and gained 51 yards on seven rushing attempts but suffered eight sacks. The next week, he established an NFL rookie passing mark at N.Y. Giants (11/16) with 388 yards on 22 completions in 33 attempts, including scrambling away from pressure for 70-yard scoring toss to Sanders on third play of the second half—Arizona's longest play from scrimmage in 1997. Plummer fought through a frustrating first half at Baltimore (11/23) with just 7 completions on 15 attempts four 64 yards but responded in second half to connect with Sanders on 4-yard touchdown pass on fourth down with four minutes left in the game. He took the Cards 55 yards in six plays and 34 seconds with four completions in five attempts to set up game-winning 43-yard field goal. Plummer smoked Washington's fourth-ranked pass defense, including talented cornerbacks Darrell Green and Cris Dishman, for 337 yards and four touchdowns while bringing the Cards back from numerous deficits along the way. Facing a 17-0 hole in second quarter, Plummer guided Arizona to two quick scores narrowing the lead to 17-14 at the half. The highlight of the game was a 37-yard touchdown toss to tight end Gedney in third quarter when Plummer rolled out on a naked bootleg, juked a Redskins defender in the flat, and delivered a perfect throw to the middle of the field. Unfortunately, he saw Dishman return a third-quarter interception 29 yards for a touchdown and lost a fumble on a sack midway through the fourth quarter as Washington converted the turnover into a 38-28 lead. Plummer cruised through an impressive first half at New Orleans (12/14) on 13-of-21 passing for 142 yards and just one sack. He guided the Cards on a 15-play, 80-yard scoring march to open the game and stake Arizona to a 7-0 lead. Plummer later scrambled 10 yards for his first rushing touchdown as a pro to cap the drive—in run reminiscent of his Rose Bowl touchdown against Ohio State as he stepped around numerous defenders and dove head first into the end zone. In the second half, however, he managed just four completions in 16 attempts, 38 yards, was sacked four times, fumbled once and threw two interceptions. Plummer recovered and had a memorable performance in the season finale against Atlanta (12/21). Though he completed just 9-of-20 attempts in the first half, he tossed a 1-yard scoring pass to Gedney and vaulted over from the 1-yard line in the second quarter. After a single possession in the third quarter resulted in two incomplete passes and a sack, Plummer stepped up for scintillating fourth-quarter comeback. Trailing 26-14 with less than eight minutes remaining, he guided Arizona 69 yards in eight plays, capped by a 21-yard scoring toss to Moore to cut the lead to 26-21 with five minutes left. He once again worked his magic on a 12-play, 80-yard drive in the final two minutes, highlighted by a 4-yard run converting a fourth-and-one situation with 24 seconds left, then connected with Centers for a 1-yard touchdown pass with nine ticks left on the clock. A two-point conversion run on the following play vaulted the Cardinals to a 29-26 win.

COLLEGE: Plummer captured the hearts and imagination of college football fans nationwide with his exciting, improvisational style that carried Arizona State to an undefeated 1996 regular season and a trip to the Rose Bowl. He finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting, which was the the highest finish for a Pac-10 Conference player since Washington defensive tackle Steve Emtman placed fourth in 1991. A rare four-year starting quarterback as a collegian, he started 40 consecutive games and rolled to a 15-8 record in Sun Devil Stadium (.652). Plummer set ASU career records for completions (632), pass attempts (1,142) and passing yards (8,827) with the latter surpassing the mark (6,717 yards) of future Dallas Cowboy Danny White (1971-73). His 65 touchdown passes also surpassed White's Sun Devil record. Only Steve Stenstrom of Stanford (75 touchdowns, 1991-94) and John Elway of Stanford (77 touchdowns, 1979-82) threw more touchdown passes in Pac-10 Conference history. A consensus All-America selection and unanimous Pac-10 offensive player-of-the-year as a senior, he was the first A.S.U. player named Pac-10 Conference Player of the Year. Plummer completed 198-of-348 passes (56.9%) for 2,776 yards and 24 touchdowns, and also scored four touchdowns on 95 rushing attempts and posted a pivotal 16-yard touchdown reception at UCLA. In addition, he led the Sun Devils to a stunning 19-0 shutout of defending national champion Nebraska at Sun Devil Stadium, completing 20-of -36 passes for 292 yards. It marked the Cornhuskers' first loss since the 1993 Orange Bowl and their first regular-season setback since a 19-10 defeat to Iowa State in 1992. Earning first team all-Pac-10 Conference honors as a junior, he finished with 173 completions on 301 attempts for 2,222 yards and 17 touchdowns. Plummer was the first true freshman quarterback in 1993 to start at Arizona State since John Walker in 1984, and led ASU to a 4-2 record in games he started, including wins in four of the last five outings.

PERSONAL: Plummer was a prep All-American at Capital High School in Boise, Idaho, after passing for 6,097 yards and 68 touchdowns in his final two years. He completed 205 of 297 passes (69%) and rushed for 645 yards and 10 touchdowns as a senior. A two-time All-Idaho selection as quarterback and punter, he captained the football and baseball teams as a senior. His brother, Brett, holds Brown University's 800-meter dash record. Plummer created the Jake Plummer Foundation in 1999, which was founded to provide opportunities for children's causes as well as raise funds and generate awareness for Alzheimer's disease organizations. His foundation holds a bowl-o-rama each spring, and the first five events in 1997-2003 in the Phoenix area raised approximately $450,000 for Children's Hospital, the Alzheimer's Association and Homeward Bound. He held his first event in Denver in 2004, and the proceeds benefited the Alzheimer's Association and Family Tree. Plummer appeared on the "Wheel of Fortune" game show in January 1999 as one of 12 NFL players participating for their charities featured during Super Bowl week, and he won the nationally-televised Quarterback Shootout in 1999 and 2000. He owns two Bassett hounds named Willis and Shelby, and is an avid golfer. Jason Steven Plummer was born on Dec. 19, 1974, in Boise, Idaho.

WHAT IS THE ORIGIN OF THE NAME DENVER BRONCOS?

The name "Denver Broncos" was chosen from 500 entries in a name-the-team contest in January, 1960. The name was suggested by Ward M. Vining of Lakewood. But the football team isn't the first Denver Broncos. Denver's 1921 entry in the Midwest Baseball League was also called the Broncos.

Defensive End

Trevor Pryce, entering his third year since making the switch from defensive tackle to end, continues to be a disruptive force along the Broncos' defensive line and looks to continue to ascend up the team's all-time sack list in 2004. A defensive co-captain last year who has the sixth-most sacks (60) in franchise history, Pryce enjoyed a strong 2003 season that saw him collect 51 tackles (41 solo) and 8.5 sacks (-58.5) while starting all 16 regular-season games. With a sack (-5.5) of Indianapolis quarterback Peyton Manning in late December, he posted his 10th career multi-sack game (third of the season) to tie for the seventh most multi-sack games in franchise history. Pryce has been a constant pass-rushing threat for opponents during his seven years in the NFL. He has established himself as one of the league's elite defensive lineman with 49.5 sacks in the past five seasons, earning four consecutive Pro Bowl trips (1999-2002) and securing spots on several All-NFL and All-Pro teams. Regardless of whether he lines up at end or tackle, Pryce creates havoc for opposing offensive lines. In making a transition in 2002 from right defensive tackle, which he played for his first five seasons in the NFL, he made an impressive adjustment to defensive end by leading Denver with nine sacks (-68 yards) that year. The former Clemson star and All-ACC selection had a breakout year in 1999 when he totaled 13 sacks, the fifth-most in franchise history. He has now played in 103 games (97 starts) with 348 tackles (274 solo), 60 sacks (-394), 10 forced fumbles, four fumble recoveries, a blocked field goal and a touchdown on a fumble return. The Broncos selected Pryce, who entered the draft after his junior season, in the first round (28th overall) of the 1997 NFL Draft.

Pryce started and tallied two solo tackles in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Pryce—voted to start in the Pro Bowl for the fourth consecutive season—started all 16 games at left defensive end and posted 61 tackles (51 solo), including a team-leading nine sacks (-68), which tied for seventh in the AFC, as well as a pass defensed, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. (9/15) to pass Tom Jackson (44) for seventh on the Broncos' all-time sacks list, finishing the day with 44.5 for his career. In Wk. 1 vs. Stl. (9/8), Pryce posted his first sack of the year (43.5 career) to pass Rich Jackson (43) for eighth in team history.

2001: Pryce—voted to start in the Pro Bowl for the third year in a row, while also earning second-team All-NFL honors from the Associated Press and College & Pro Football Newsweekly, and All-AFC kudos from Football News—started all 16 games at right defensive tackle and posted 55 tackles (42 solo), including a team-leading (tie) seven sacks (-50) while also adding three passes defensed and two forced fumbles. (11/5) and caused a fumble that led to a Denver field goal. He posted his fourth sack of the season vs. N.E. for -6 yds., among his three solo tackles. His third sack of the season, vs. K.C. (10/7), raised his career total to 38.5 (42.5 by year's end) to move into ninth on the Broncos' all-time list, ahead of Dave Costa (37.5). Pryce also dropped Trent Green for a 4-yd. loss. His second sack of the season came at Ariz. (9/23) on Jake Plummer for a 3-yd. loss. Pryce's first sack came in the opener vs. the Giants (9/10) on Kerry Collins and resulted in an 8-yd. loss.

2000: Pryce—voted as a Pro Bowl starter for the second consecutive season, while earning second-team All-Pro honors from College & Pro Football Newsweekly and All-AFC nods from Pro Football Weekly and Football News—started at right defensive tackle in all 16 games and posted 44 tackles (36 solo), including a team-leading 12 sacks (-76.5) as well as two forced fumbles and one fumble recovery (at Oak., 9/17) which he returned 28 yds. for his first NFL touchdown. Pryce ranked fifth in the AFC (T9th NFL) in sacks—No. 1 among defensive tackles (No. 3 NFL)—and recorded 5.5 (-33) in the three-game period of Weeks 5-7. His 12th sack came in the finale vs. S.F. It was Pryce's fifth career multi-sack game and gave him 34.5 sacks for his career to move ahead of teammate Maa Tanuvasa (33) for 10th on the all-time franchise list. He missed the second half at Cin. (10/22) with a knee sprain. In Week 7, he dropped Clev. quarterback Tim Couch (10/15) for a 5-yd. loss in Denver's 44-10 win, a week after his stellar performance at S.D. (10/8) when he tied his career high with three sacks of Jim Harbaugh (-17). That performance was preceded by a 1.5-sack effort on New England's Drew Bledsoe (10/1). The San Diego game marked the third time in his career Pryce had posted three sacks in a single game and was his fourth career multi-sack game. He posted a solo sack of Atlanta's Chris Chandler (-8) in Week 2, on which he forced a fumble, and shared a 7-yd. sack of Chandler with Harald Hasselbach later in the game. Pryce started at right defensive tackle in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted a career postseason-high seven solo tackles and a pass defensed.

1999: Pryce was chosen as a starter in his first Pro Bowl appearance; named first-team All-NFL by the Associated Press, Sports Illustrated and College & Pro Football Newsweekly; second-team All-NFL by Football Digest and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly. He started at right defensive tackle in 15 games and ranked eighth on the team — tops among defensive linemen — with 50 tackles (36 solo), including a team-leading and career-high 13 sacks (-75), as well as one interception, three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery. Pryce ranked second in the AFC (5th NFL) in sacks and posted more than any other defensive tackle in the league. His 13 sacks tied for fifth on Denver's all-time single-season list and were the most by a Bronco since Alfred Williams notched 13 in 1996. Pryce's interception came in the backfield at K.C. (9/19) as he pulled the ball out of the air after Elvis Grbac was hit by Neil Smith while trying to throw. It was his second career interception. Pryce's first three sacks came at Tampa Bay (9/26) on Trent Dilfer, establishing a career high. It marked the first time since Oct. 6, 1997, (Maa Tanuvasa) that a Bronco had registered three sacks in one game. He added his fourth a week later (10/3), dropping the Jets' Rick Mirer for a 5-yd. loss and made it three weeks in a row with a sack by dropping Oakland's Rich Gannon for a 9-yd. loss in Denver's 16-13 Week 5 win (10/10). Pryce raised his season total to six sacks vs. Minnesota (10/31) with an 8-yd. sack of Jeff George for a safety to give Denver a 9-0 lead in the 1st qtr. His seventh came at San Diego (11/7) on Jim Harbaugh (-3). Pryce turned in perhaps the most important play of the game in Denver's 27-21 overtime win against Oakland (11/22) on Monday Night Football, stripping the ball from Raiders quarterback Rich Gannon on a sack in overtime and recovering the fumble to give Denver possession at Oakland's 24-yd. line in overtime. Denver's Olandis Gary scored on a 24-yd. run on the next play to win the game. Pryce tied his single-game career high with three sacks (-11) of Mark Brunell at Jacksonville (12/13) and ran his season total to 12 with a 7-yd. sack of Jon Kitna vs. Seattle (12/19). He knocked the ball loose on his first sack to record his third forced fumble of the season. Pryce sustained a knee injury in the Seattle game that was bothersome enough to keep him out of the following week's game at Detroit (12/25). He returned a week later for the season-finale vs. S.D. (1/2) and posted his 13th sack, dropping Moses Moreno for a 3-yd. loss.

1998: Pryce started at right defensive tackle in 15 of the 16 games and ranked seventh on the team — No. 1 among defensive linemen — with 59 tackles (48 solo), including a career-high 8.5 sacks (-56.5) to tie for the team lead and tie for 10th in the AFC. He played but did not start at Seattle (10/11) because the Seahawks opened the game in a three-wide receiver alignment. Pryce's first sack came in Week 3 at Oakland (9/20) on the Raiders' Jeff George (-7) and his second came two weeks later vs. Philadelphia (10/4) when he dropped Bobby Hoying for a 4-yd. loss. He posted his third (-7) a week later at Seattle (10/11) on John Friesz in the fourth quarter, and he followed that with his first career two-sack game vs. Jacksonville (10/25), dropping Mark Brunell for 17 yds. in losses. He ran his sack total to six at Kansas City (11/16) on Monday Night Football, dropping Rich Gannon for a 10-yd. loss midway through the 4th qtr. on a fourth-and-9 play from the Broncos' 10-yd. line and added his seventh the next week on Oakland's Donald Hollas (11/22). He combined with Maa Tanuvasa to sack Giants QB Kent Graham (-11) in the 2nd qtr. at New York (12/13) to raise his total to 7.5 and finished the year with a 4-yd. sack of Seattle's Jon Kitna in the season-finale (12/27). Pryce recorded his first career interception at Washington (9/27), picking off a Trent Green pass in Broncos territory to thwart a Redskins drive just before halftime. His first career blocked field goal came early in the second quarter of the season-opener vs. New England (9/7) when he penetrated the Patriots' line to thwart a 37-yd. attempt by Adam Vinatieri, making the recovery as well, to set up Denver for a drive that would result in a touchdown and a 17-0 lead. Pryce recorded a career-high eight tackles (6 solo) at Cincinnati. Preseason: Pryce started all four games at right defensive tackle and recorded eight tackles (5 solo), in his first preseason as a full-time starter. Pryce saw action at defensive tackle in all three postseason games and started two, making four tackles (1 solo). In the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9), he did not start as the Broncos opened the game in their nickel formation. He did see starter's playing time, however, and made two assisted tackles. He posted one solo tackle in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17) and added one assisted tackle in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31), starting both contests, as Denver repeated as Super Bowl champions.

1997: Pryce played in the final eight games of the season and started three (at San Diego, 11/30; at Pittsburgh, 12/7 and vs. San Diego, 12/21) at right defensive tackle in place of Maa Tanuvasa (ankle). He was declared inactive for the first eight games. For the season he posted 28 tackles (20 solo), including two sacks (-9.5) as he notched a half a sack in each of his first two NFL appearances (Seattle, 11/2 and Carolina, 11/9), and his first solo vs. San Diego (12/21). He split the two sacks with Tyrone Braxton and Mike Lodish, respectively. Pryce saw his first professional action vs. Seattle (11/2) and responded with two tackles, including half a sack (-0.5). He made his first NFL start at San Diego (11/30) and performed well with three solo tackles. Pryce started his second straight contest at Pittsburgh (12/7). His high-tackle games on the season came vs. Oakland (11/24) and at San Francisco (12/15), posting seven stops (5 solo) in each. In the postseason Pryce played in all four games as a reserve defensive tackle and recorded two tackles (1 solo), including a sack of Jacksonville quarterback Mark Brunell in the Wild Card game (12/27/97) and an assisted tackle at Pittsburgh (1/11) in the AFC Championship Game.

COLLEGE: Pryce played one season (1996) at defensive end for Clemson, starting all 11 games and earning first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors after transferring from Michigan, where he played linebacker in 1993-94 (20 games/8 starts). He sat out the 1995 season due to NCAA transfer rules. Pryce finished his collegiate career with 118 tackles (72 solo), including 11.5 sacks (-105 yards) and 24 tackles for loss (-127), as well as 31 quarterback pressures, three forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and two passes defensed. TIGHT END

Jeb Putzier looks to continue his improvement in 2004 and compete for increased playing time at tight end. He capped off the 2003 regular season, his second in the NFL, with a strong finish as he caught his first career reception at Green Bay and added three more receptions that game for a total of 34 yards (8.5). Showing his versatility, he also contributed on special teams in 2003 and returned a kickoff for 16 yards vs. Baltimore. A solid tight end with great size and skill, Putzier saw action in four games last season. He joined the Broncos as a rookie in 2002 and played in three games, including a start. Before his NFL debut, Putzier starred at Boise State, where he caught 128 passes for 2,050 yards during his career and was named All-WAC as a senior. The Broncos selected Putzier, who also lined up at receiver in college, in the sixth round (191st overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

2003: Putzier played in four games and caught four passes for 34 yds. (8.5) with a long of 13. He saw action on special teams in the opener at Cin. (9/7) and in Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), and then saw his first action from scrimmage vs. S.D. (11/16), returning one kickoff for 16 yds. Putzier was active but did not play in three games (at S.D., 9/14; vs. Det., 9/28 and at Oak., 11/30) and was declared inactive nine times (vs. Oak., 9/22; at K.C., 10/5; vs. Pit., 10/12; at Min., 10/19; vs. N.E., 11/3; vs. Chi., 11/23: vs. K.C., 12/7, vs. Cle., 12/14 and at Ind., 12/21). In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), Putzier returned a fourth-quarter kickoff 16 yds. He saw his first play from scrimmage of the year against S.D. (11/16) when he lined up at tight end and split end. In the final game of the season at G.B. (12/28), he made the first reception of his career and went on to finish the game with a team-high four catches for 34 yds. (8.5). Putzier was inactive for the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Putzier played in three games and made one start (at Sea., 11/17) and was declared inactive for 11 of the other 13 games. He made a start at Sea. (11/17) as the Broncos opened the game in a two-tight-end set and also played on offense the next week vs. Ind. (11/24). Putzier saw the first action of his career on special teams at Balt. (9/30), then was active but did not play at N.E. (10/27) and at S.D. (12/1).

COLLEGE: Putzier started all 12 games and caught a career-high 44 passes for 824 yds. (18.7) and 12 touchdowns as a senior at Boise State, most by any tight end in the nation. He was named first-team All-Western Athletic Conference, and posted three 100-yd. receiving games, while ranking sixth in the WAC in receiving yards. As a junior, Putzier earned honorable mention All-Big West consideration at wide receiver, playing in all 11 games and ranking second on the team with 35 receptions for 592 yds. (16.9) and three touchdowns. He ranked seventh in the conference in yards and 10th in receptions, making six catches of 25 yds. or longer on the season. Putzier's sophomore campaign saw him play in all 12 games and earn second-team All-Big West Conference honors in his first year as a wide receiver, catching a team-high 39 passes for 514 yds. (13.2) and two touchdowns. He made five catches of 35 yds. or longer and ranked sixth in the Big West in receptions and eighth in receiving yards. Putzier was a pleasant surprise a tight end as a redshirt freshman, playing in all 11 games and catching 10 passes for 120 yds. (12.0). He was a walk-on to the Boise State program and was redshirted his first season.

PERSONAL: Putzier was a tremendous all-around athlete at Eagle (Idaho) High School, just outside of Boise. He earned two varsity letters each in football and basketball, and one each in track and baseball. Putzier was a first team all-state selection in both football and basketball as a senior, making 54 catches for 1,024 yds. and 13 touchdowns as a wide receiver/tight end. In basketball he averaged 14 points and eight rebounds per game. Putzier also qualified for the state track meet in four events, receiving a medal in the 200-meter dash. In four career games, Quinn has completed 2-of-3 passes for 20 yards and an 85.4 passer rating. He spent the final four games of the 2003 season with Houston after being signed off the Texans' practice squad on Dec. 1. He was with Houston in training camp but was waived before re-joining the club's practice squad (11/17). In 2002, Quinn was Houston's third quarterback, and was inactive for all 16 games. In his seventh year in the NFL, he entered the NFL as an undrafted rookie free agent with Pittsburgh in 1997 and also played two seasons in Dallas (1998-99) and one in Miami (2000). He signed with Denver as an unrestricted free agent (Houston) on March 10. Quinn was a four-year letterman at Stephen F. Austin, where he completed 176 of 272 career attempts for 2,641 yards with 23 touchdowns and 13 interceptions.

2003: Quinn began the season with Houston but was waived in the final cutdown of training camp (8/26). He was resigned to the Texans' practice squad Nov. 17 and was elevated to the active roster when QB Tony Banks broke his hand. Quinn was active at Jacksonville (12/7) but did not play, and was inactive the final three games (Tampa Bay, 12/14, Tennessee, 12/21 and Indianapolis, 12/28).

2002: Quinn was designated as Houston's third QB for the season and was inactive for all 16 games.

2001: Quinn was waived by Miami on Sept. 2 after completing 21-of-38 passes for 223 yards and one touchdown during the preseason and was out of football the remainder of the season.

2000: Quinn joined the Dolphins during the offseason (5/23) and was Miami's third quarterback for 14 regular season games (1 did not play) and two playoff contests. He was released on Nov. 10 but re-signed three days later. Absent from roster for only one of Miami's games, against San Diego (11/12), he came back and served as Jay Fielder's backup at Indianapolis (11/26).

1999: Quinn was Dallas' third quarterback for 14 regular-season contests.

1998: Quinn, claimed by Dallas after being waived by the Colts (9/8), appeared in three games for the Cowboys, all in a reserve role. He attempted one pass, completing it for 10 yards in a Monday night game at Philadelphia (11/2). He was with Pittsburgh during training camp, before signing with the Colts. In the offseason leading up that year, Quinn spent the spring as quarterback for NFL Europe's Rhein Fire, where he earned all-league honors after completing 133-of-264 passes for 1,997 yards, 13 touchdowns and three interceptions. He suffered an ankle injury in the season finale, preventing him from playing in the World Bowl.

1997: Quinn, signed as an undrafted rookie free agent, made Pittsburgh's roster and played in one game, completing 1-of-2 passes for 10 yards vs. Baltimore (11/9). He was designated as the Steelers' third quarterback for the remainder of the season.

COLLEGE: Quinn, a four-year letterman at Stephen F. Austin, completed 176 of 272 career attempts for 2,641 yards with 23 touchdowns and 13 interceptions. He earned All-Southland Conference honors his senior season, leading the Lumberjacks to a 7-4 mark and a No. 21 I-AA final ranking. Quinn graduated with a degree in accounting.

PERSONAL: Quinn attended Robert E. Lee High School in Houston his senior year after moving from Las Vegas. He earned honorable mention all-state and All-Greater Houston honors that year. An activist in the community, Quinn made numerous appearances in Houston community and area schools, as part of the 2002 Texans Outreach Tour. He also participated in Houston Texans Style Show to benefit the Family Services of Greater Houston and Texans Foundation, and he was part of the Share Your Holidays Food Drive. Michael Patrick Quinn was born April 15, 1974, in Houston.

Johnny Rutledge enters his sixth NFL season and will add depth and athleticism to the Broncos' linebacking unit while seeing action on special teams. After joining the Broncos on Nov. 12 last season, he played in the team's final six regular-season games and in the AFC Wild Card game at Indianapolis. He proved to be a reliable special teams contributor in 2003, recording four regular-season tackles and one playoff tackle. For his career, Rutledge has totaled 43 tackles (21 solo) and 22 special teams stops. Before becoming a Bronco, Rutledge spent the 2003 training camp with the Baltimore Ravens before he was waived in the final roster cutdown. He spent his first four seasons in the NFL with the Arizona Cardinals after playing in college at Florida. As a Gator, he earned All-Southeastern Conference first-team honors during his senior season and was one of 10 semifinalists for the Dick Butkus Award, presented annually to the nation's top linebacker. He was drafted by Arizona in the second round (61st overall) of the 1999 NFL Draft.

2003: Rutledge was signed by the Broncos on Nov. 12 and saw action in each of the final six games after being declared inactive for his first game vs. S.D. (11/16). He made his first appearance as a Bronco vs. Chi. (11/23), recording a special teams tackle and tallied another the following week at Oak. (11/30). Rutledge added a special teams stop vs. Cle. (12/14). In the final game of the regular season at G.B. (12/28), he saw his first action from scrimmage, recording one tackle while also adding a special teams stop. Rutledge played on special teams in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and made one tackle.

2002: Rutledge played in nine game and was declared inactive for the other seven while totaling four tackles (2 solo) and two special teams tackles. In the Cardinals game at Kansas City (12/1), Rutledge saw significant action by racking up three tackles, including two solo. He picked up an assist at Denver (10/29).

2001: Rutledge, playing the majority of the season on special teams, appeared in 14 games and totaled six tackles on special teams and two tackles from scrimmage. One significant tackle came vs. Dallas 12/23), and it was a key stop of Dallas running back Emmitt Smith on second-and-goal from 1-yard line in first quarter. The Cardinals eventually forced Cowboy quarterback Quincy Carter to fumble the ball out of the end zone two plays later in an eventual 17-10 victory.

2000: Rutledge played in 11 games, including three starts. On the year, he made 33 total tackles (16 solo), a forced fumble, and one fumble recovery. He added seven tackles on special teams. After sustaining a knee sprain in preseason finale at San Diego (8/25), he was inactive for season opener at the N.Y. Giants (9/3). Back on the field the next week, he sparkled on special teams in 32-31 win over Dallas (9/10) with three solo tackles on kickoff coverage. With Rob Fredrickson (hip) inactive, Rutledge made first NFL start at right linebacker at San Francisco (10/1), and posted eight tackles, including a stop for loss. He moved to left side in place of Ray Thompson (groin) the next week vs. Cleveland (10/8) and provided seven tackles in Arizona's 29-21 victory. Rutledge made six stops in a reserve role vs. Philadelphia (10/15) and again stepped in for Thompson at Dallas (10/22), where he collected five solo stops and a tackle for loss in addition to a pair of tackles on special teams. Rutledge, who was inactive weeks 11-14, came back to impress vs. Baltimore (12/17) with three assists and a forced fumble on running back Jamal Lewis. Late in the fourth quarter, Rutledge disrupted Lewis' completion on a swing pass and made the recovery at the 15-yard line.

1999: Rutledge was inactive for eight of first 10 games. He made his NFL debut vs. Washington (10/17), and his only noteworthy action of the year resulted in two solo tackles and one assist in the season finale at Green Bay (1/2). He finished the year with three tackles from scrimmage and three tackles on special teams.

COLLEGE: Rutledge started 35 games for the Florida Gators and earned All-Southeastern Conference first-team honors as a senior. He was also one of 10 semi-finalists for Dick Butkus Award, annually given to the nation's top linebacker. Rutledge moved to middle linebacker and finished second on the team with 105 tackles (61 solo), while also posting 1.5 sacks and eight stops for losses of 19 yards. As a junior, he was an All-SEC second-team pick and led the Gators with 67 tackles (44 solo) and four sacks for -31 yards.

PERSONAL: Rutledge was a SuperPrep and USA Today All-American selection at Glades Central High School in Belle Glade, Fla. He added All-Florida class 4A and Palm Beach Post Defensive Player-of-the-Year honors as a weak-side linebacker. As a senior, he made 162 tackles and five sacks and rated among the nation's top-5 prep linebackers by the National Blue Chip Recruiting Service. Rutledge is a boyhood friend, as well as high school and college teammate, of Jacksonville running back Fred Taylor. Seven of Rutledge's teammates from Glades Central received scholarships to NCAA Division I colleges, as the high school posted a 35-4 cumulative record during his years there. Rutledge's cousin, Randy Rutledge, played football at Baylor in the 1980s. Born Jan. 4, 1977, Rutledge and his wife, Gia, have one daughter, Jade Elizabeth.

TIGHT END

O.J. Santiago is a six-year NFL veteran who spent last season with Oakland and will add depth to Denver's outstanding tight end ranks. In 12 games (7 starts) with the Raiders last season, he caught five passes for 69 yards, and in 78 career games (60 starts), Santiago has posted 81 receptions for 1,041 yards (12.9) and nine touchdowns. Originally entering the NFL as a third-round (70th overall) pick by Atlanta in 1997, he played three seasons with the Falcons (1997-99). In 2000, he was traded to Dallas and played 10 games for the Cowboys before being waived and later was picked up by Cleveland, where he was inactive for the final four games. After 2001—a season in which he played 12 games for the Browns—Santiago was out of football in 2002 before signing with Oakland in 2003. He signed with Denver as an unrestricted free agent (Oak.) on March 15.

2003: Santiago, who signed with the Raiders in the offseason, played 12 games (7 starts) for Oakland and made five catches for 69 yards for a 13.8 average. He made his first two catches of the season for 53 yards vs. Minnesota (11/16) and caught one pass in three of the last four regular season games of the year at Pittsburgh (12/7), vs. Baltimore (12/14) and at San Diego (12/28).

2002: Santiago, who played with Cleveland the previous season, was out of football in 2002.

2001: Santiago played in 14 games (12 starts) with Cleveland and caught 17 passes for 153 yards and two touchdowns. At Chicago (11/24), he caught two balls for 26 yards and followed that up with two catches for 14 yards and a touchdown vs. Pittsburgh (11/11). He made two catches for 11 yards at New England (12/9) and posted three more catches for 23 yards vs. Jacksonville (12/16). At Tennessee (12/30), Santiago hauled in three passes for 27 yards and his second touchdown of the season.

2000: Santiago began the year with Atlanta in training camp, and was traded to Dallas on Aug. 27 for a fourth-round draft choice in 2001 and a seventh-round draft choice in 2002. He played in 10 games for the Cowboys during the regular season mainly on special teams. At Carolina (10/1), he recorded his first-career kickoff return for 13 yards following a squib kick, and at Philadelphia (11/5) saw second-half action helping with the blocking that sprang Emmitt Smith for 134 yards on 26 carries. Santiago was waived by Dallas on Nov. 21 and was claimed by Cleveland via waivers on Nov. 22. He was inactive the final four games of the season with Cleveland.

1999: Santiago started 14 games for Atlanta, missing two with a shoulder injury. He caught 15 passes for 174 yards (11.6) with a long of 46 yards on the season. Against Minnesota (9/12), Santiago tied a career high with 53 receiving yards on two catches, including a career-long 46-yarder, the second longest of his career. He hauled in four passes—the second-most in a game in his career—at St. Louis (9/27) for 29 yards. He was inactive against New Orleans (12/5) due to a shoulder injury that was suffered during practice the week before the game and ended a streak of 27 consecutive starts dating back to 1997. He was forced to miss the next game at San Francisco (12/12) due to the lingering shoulder problem. Coming back from the injury, he helped produce the team's best offensive effort of the year against Arizona (12/26) as the Falcons managed season highs in points (37), total yards (393), time of possession (35:20) and rushing yards (163). He ended the season with his second-most productive game of the year with three receptions for 37 yards vs. San Francisco (1/3).

1998: Santiago started all 16 regular-season games and the Falcons' three post-season contests. He finished the regular season with 27 receptions for 428 yards and five touchdowns, adding four receptions for 67 yards in the postseason. He caught two passes for 27 yards but made key blocks that enabled him to win offensive player of the game honors by the Falcons' coaching staff vs. Philadelphia on (9/13). Against Carolina (10/4), he caught a 26-yard touchdown pass from QB Chris Chandler, and had the first two-touchdown performance of his career in the Falcons' 41-10 victory at New England (11/8) with touchdown receptions of 7 and 22 yards. In the regular-season finale vs. Miami (12/17), Santiago hauled in a career-high 62-yard touchdown pass from Chandler and added a 3-yard touchdown pass for his second two-touchdown game of the season. In his four postseason receptions, he had three for 54 yards vs. Minnesota (1/9) in the NFC Championship Game and caught a key 26-yard pass to get the Falcons into Vikings territory during the game-winning drive in overtime.

Santiago was named player of the game by the coaches for his performance vs. Oakland (9/14) when he hauled in five passes for 40 yards, including his first-career touchdown on a 10-yard pass from QB Chris Chandler.

COLLEGE: Santiago became the first tight end ever drafted out of Kent State and the highest player taken from the school since Jack Lambert and Gerald Tinker in 1974. While with the Golden Flashes, Santiago caught 62 passes for 730 yards for an 11.8 career average and four touchdowns. He started 22 of 33 career games and was named to the MAC All-Academic First-Team three consecutive seasons and was a GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-District First-Team member. Santiago tied for team honors as a junior when he hauled in 28 receptions, and combined with his 26 catches as a senior, totaled 54 in his final two seasons. He opened up holes for the second ranked offense in the Mid-American Conference in 1996 as RB Astron Whatley posted two 1,000-yard rushing seasons and 3,113 rushing yards in three seasons.

PERSONAL: Santiago was an All-Canadian first-team tight end at St. Michael's High School in Toronto and led his school to two district titles while being selected to the Toronto Star and Toronto Sun all-star teams. WIDE RECEIVER

Rod Smith, the Broncos' leading receiver for the past seven seasons and one of the NFL's best wideouts during that period, will see an increased role in 2004 as both a leader and producer following the retirements of Shannon Sharpe and Ed McCaffrey. Ever the tireless worker, whether in the offseason or during the season, Smith has set a high standard for himself and teammates with his approach to the game. Each season, he manages to take his play to levels few but himself thought possible when he entered the NFL as a rookie free agent in 1994. Most recently, the veteran enjoyed a stellar 2003 campaign as he recorded team-highs in receiving yards (845) and catches (74). Smith's play continued to impress in the postseason as he caught a team-best five passes for 66 yards at Indianapolis, including his fourth career postseason touchdown that tied him with Vance Johnson for the franchise record. The 10th-year pro has now played in 135 games and started 110, catching 633 passes for 8,628 yards (13.6) with a franchise-record 52 touchdowns and a long of 78 yards. Smith ranks first in Broncos history in career receiving yards and second in both career receptions and receiving touchdowns. He also holds the Nos. 1, 2, 6 and 7 spots on the Broncos' all-time single-season receiving-yardage list with his 2000 total of 1,601 yards at the top, followed by 1,343 yards in 2001; 1,222 yards in 1998 and 1,180 in '97. Smith holds the franchise single-game record for receptions with 14, and his combined five-year regular-season receiving total of 6,367 yards from 1997-2001 is the best over a five-year span in franchise history. Smith has also played in 10 postseason games (9 starts) and caught 32 passes for 604 yards (18.9) and four touchdowns with a long of 80, which went for a touchdown in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta. The 80-yard score tied for the second-longest play from scrimmage in a Super Bowl game and ranks as the longest play from scrimmage in Broncos postseason history. Smith's 152 yards in Super Bowl XXXIII are the fourth-highest receiving figure in Super Bowl history and placed him into second place on Denver's all-time postseason receiving chart. He also ranks fourth in receptions (32), tied for first in receiving touchdowns (4) and seventh in avg. yds. per catch (18.9). Smith's first NFL touchdown in 1995—on his first NFL reception—may forever remain his most memorable as he outleaped Washington Redskins future Hall-of-Famer Darrell Green to haul in a 43-yard Elway pass in the end zone as time expired, giving Denver a 38-31 victory. Smith entered the NFL in 1994 as a rookie free agent with the Broncos out of Missouri Southern. He spent that season on the practice squad before making the 53-man roster for the first time in 1995.

with 58 yds. on four catches (14.5) vs. N.E. (11/3). He recorded a season-high 10 catches for 84 yds. (8.4) vs. S.D. (11/16) while becoming the 31st player in NFL history to record 600 or more receptions. He reached the milestone on his second catch of the game, a 7-yd. grab from Plummer at 8:51 of the 1st qtr. Smith also scored his first career touchdown via a punt return with a 65-yd. return for a score in the 2nd qtr., punctuating a stellar day with three returns for 93 yds. (31.0). Coupled with Deltha O'Neal's 57-yd. return for a touchdown in the Broncos' previous game (vs. N.E., 11/3/03), it marked the first time in NFL history that a team has had a punt returned for a touchdown in back-to-back games by different players. He led the team with nine receptions for 86 yds. (9.6) and a touchdown vs. Chi. (11/23). The touchdown catch, his second of the season, came on a 1-yd. pass from Plummer in the 1st qtr. Versus K.C. (12/7), Smith tallied seven receptions for 85 yds. (12.1) and rushed twice for 32 yds. (18.0) with a long of 23 yds., to pass Floyd Little (8,741) for second on the Broncos' all-time list for total yds. from scrimmage. He also resumed punt return duties for the day, fair catching three kicks in place of Deltha O'Neal, who was away from the team to be with his ill father. Smith caught four passes for 41 yds. (10.3) vs. Cle. (12/14). He added four more receptions at Ind. (12/21) for 42 yds. (11.4) and one rush for a 13-yd. gain. On Smith's first catch of the night he gained 9 yds. and surpassed Terrell Davis (8,887) to claim first place on the Broncos' all-time yards-from-scrimmage list. He was inactive at G.B. (12/28) after the Broncos clinched a playoff spot a week earlier. Smith started and led the team in receiving with five catches for 66 yds. (13.2) and a touchdown in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4). He passed Steve Sewell (31) for fourth place in postseason receptions by a Bronco (now 32), and with the touchdown, tied Vance Johnson (4) for the franchise postseason record.

2002: Smith—voted offensive captain by his teammates-started all 16 games and led the team with 89 receptions for 1,027 yds. (11.5) with a long of 46 and a team-leading five touchdown receptions. He posted his sixth consecutive 1,000-yd. receiving season and sixth total, extending franchise records in both cases. Smith tied for eighth in the AFC in receptions (11th NFL) and ranked tied for ninth in receiving yards. He is the Broncos' all-time leader in receiving yards (7,783), receiving touchdowns (49) and 100-yd. games (27); ranks second in receptions (559) and third in total touchdowns (51). Smith caught at least seven passes in four consecutive games (Mia., 10/13-Oak., 11/11) in the middle of the season, and caught at least five passes in 13 of the 16 games. He caught five passes for 62 yds. (12.4) in the season finale vs. Ariz. (12/29), including a 10-yd. touchdown pass from Steve Beuerlein. The touchdown was his fifth of the season, 49th of his career through the air to extend his franchise record, and the 51st total of his career (includes one by rush and one by fumble recovery). Smith's longest reception of the season came vs. K.C. (12/15), on a 46-yd. pass from Brian Griese en route to three catches for 83 yds. on the day (27.7). At the Jets (12/8), he passed Lionel Taylor (543) for second place in career receptions by a Bronco as he caught six passes for 38 yds. (6.3). Versus Ind. (11/24), Smith became the Broncos' all-time receiving yards and touchdown receptions leader, passing teammate Shannon Sharpe in both categories. At Sea. (11/17), Smith caught a 14-yd. touchdown pass from Steve Beuerlein with 5:20 remaining in the game, his third of the season and the 47th scoring reception of his career to tie Shannon Sharpe for the franchise record. He also passed Sammy Winder (48) for third place in total touchdowns by a Bronco. He caught a season-high nine passes for 88 yds. (9.8) vs. Mia. (10/13), surpassing the 500-catch plateau for his career. His 500th catch came on a 10-yd. toss from Brian Griese with 2:25 remaining in the 1st qtr. He attempted a pass at Balt. (9/30), which fell incomplete, the second pass attempt of his career, following a 14-yd. completion to John Elway in 1998 vs. Oak. (11/22). Versus Buf. (9/22) he caught a then-season-high seven passes for a season-high 94 yds. (13.4) and a touchdown and passed Lionel Taylor (6,872) for second place in Broncos history for receiving yards. The score also allowed him to tie Sammy Winder (48) for third in total touchdowns by a Bronco.

2001: Smith—voted to play in the Pro Bowl for the second year in a row, and first time as a starter, and also named second-team AP All-NFL, first-team Football Digest All-Pro and Pro Football Weekly All-AFC, while also being voted a team captain by his teammates—played in 15 games and started 14, missing only the Miami game (12/2) because of a sprained left ankle and playing but not starting at K.C. (12/16) because the Broncos opened the game with an extra tight end. He led the NFL in receptions with a franchise-record 113 and ranked third in the AFC in receiving yds. (1,343; 6th NFL), for an 11.9 average with 11 receiving touchdowns. He became one of only six players in NFL history to catch 100 or more passes in back-to-back seasons (Jerry Rice, Herman Moore and Marvin Harrison-3; Cris Carter, Sterling Sharpe and Smith-2), and his 1,343 receiving yds. were the second most in a season by a Bronco, behind only his franchise-record 1,602 yds. in 2000, giving Smith four of the top seven single-season marks in franchise history. Smith ranked second in the AFC (3rd NFL) in receiving touchdowns, fifth (T7th NFL) in total touchdowns and fifth (8th NFL) in scoring (non-kickers) with 68 points. Smith also tied for eighth (16th NFL) in total yds. from scrimmage (1,370); fifth (T8th NFL) in total first downs (77); tied for first (M. Harrison-IND) in the NFL in receiving first downs (75) and tied for the NFL lead in third-down receptions (30-286-9.5-4TDs) with Minnesota's Randy Moss. His 67 receptions through the first eight games were the most ever by an NFL player at that stage of a season, breaking the record of 60 held by Minnesota's Cris Carter (1994) and Phoenix's J.T. Smith ('89). Smith capped off the season at Ind. (1/6) the way he began it, leading the team in receptions. On the afternoon, he caught seven passes for 92 yards (13.1), with a long of 20. The seven catches gave him 113 on the season, the most in the NFL and the best ever by a Bronco. The 1,343 yards were good for second best in a season, passing Ed McCaffrey's 1,317 set last season. Smith continued to carve out his place in the Broncos' record book vs. Oak. (12/30), catching eight passes for 56 yards (7.0) and scoring one touchdown. His eight catches on the day give him 106 for the season, a new franchise single-season high, breaking the old record of 101 set last season by McCaffrey when Smith caught 100. Smith's record-breaking 102nd catch came on a 5-yd. pass from Brian Griese with 5:12 remaining in the 3rd qtr. He became the first Bronco in history to catch 100 passes in consecutive seasons and just the sixth in NFL history. The touchdown catch was the 11th of the season for Smith (one shy of his career best, set in 1997) and the 44th of his career to tie the franchise record shared by Lionel Taylor, Haven Moses, Shannon Sharpe and Ed McCaffrey. Smith hit the century mark in receiving yds. for the fifth and final time in 2001 at K.C. (12/16), extending his franchise career record to 26. On the day he caught eight passes for 100 yds. (12.5) and a touchdown. Smith's 11-yd. TD reception from Gus Frerotte in the 2nd qtr. was his 10th of the season and 43rd of his career. Smith returned to the starting lineup vs. Sea. (12/9) and caught a game-high eight passes for 66 yds. (8.3) with a long of 12 after missing the previous game, at Mia. (12/2), because of a severely sprained left ankle suffered at Dal. (11/22). Smith played in his 100th career NFL game at Dal., catching seven passes for 81 yds. (11.6) with a long of 23 yds. He saw little playing time vs. Wash (11/18) because of a sprained ankle suffered the week before vs. S.D. (11/11) but caught three passes for 25 yds (8.3), including a 1-yd. touchdown in the 2nd qtr. to raise his career total to 42, passing Riley Odoms for fifth place all-time in touchdown receptions by a Bronco. Smith continued his steady pace vs. S.D. (11/11), catching five passes for 74 yds. (14.8), with a long of 32. He left the game with a twisted ankle late in the 3rd qtr. and did not return. Smith was once again the go-to guy for the Broncos at Oak. (11/5), catching 10 passes for 91 yds. and two touchdowns to tie Riley Odoms for fifth on the Broncos' career receiving touchdowns list. His first came on a 2-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 3rd qtr., and his second came on a 26-yd. toss from Gus Frerotte in the 4th. Smith also caught a two-point conversion from Griese. In the 2nd qtr. at Oak. (11/5), Smith caught his fourth pass of the night, the 416th of his career, moving him into third place on the franchise list, ahead of Vance Johnson (415). Smith posted his fourth 100-yd game of the season vs. N.E. (10/28), catching six passes for 159 yds. and one touchdown, which came on a season best 65-yd. pass play. The 100-yd game was the 25th of Smith's career, giving him the franchise record, passing Lionel Taylor. He also passed Steve Watson (6,112) for third place on the Broncos' all-time list for receiving yards, finishing the day with 6,171. The 159-yd. effort was his second best of '01, fifth best of his career. Smith caught his 400th career pass in the 1st qtr. at S.D. (10/21)—an 8-yd. reception from Brian Griese—and topped the 6,000-yd. career receiving mark in the 4th qtr. on a 13-yd. reception from Griese. At Sea. (10/14), Smith claimed sole possession of sixth place on the Broncos all-time list for touchdown receptions, catching his 38th to break a tie with Vance Johnson. He also moved into fourth on the club's career receptions list in the Sea. contest, passing Riley Odoms (396). Smith posted his third 100-yd receiving game of the season vs. K.C. (10/7), catching eight passes for 110 yds. (13.8) and a touchdown. It marked the first time he had 100 yds. receiving in three of the season's first four games and was also his 24th career 100-yd game (regular season), tying him with Lionel Taylor for the franchise record. Smith led the team vs. Balt. (9/30), catching five passes for 83 yds. (16.6), with a long of 31 yds. to move into fourth on Denver's career receiving yds. list, passing Riley Odoms (5,755) and Vance Johnson (5,695). He continued to be the go-to guy in Wk. 2 at Ariz. (9/23), catching a franchise-record 14 passes for 162 yds. (11.6) with two touchdowns, one a fingertip grab in the back of the end zone and other his longest catch of the night, a 34-yarder. He broke the club record of 13 catches in a game, which he shared with three others. It was also his second consecutive 100-yd. game to open the season, the first time he has started the season in such a manner and only the second time a Bronco has done so (Mike Pritchard, 1994). Smith's second touchdown of the Arizona contest was the 36th of his career, tying Steve Watson for seventh place in Bronco annals. His 162 receiving yds. represent his third best single-game total. Smith started the season opener against the Giants (9/10) and caught nine passes for 115 yds. with one touchdown. He also rushed twice for 24 yards. He finished the season ranked third on the Broncos' career receiving yds. list (6,756); third in career receptions (470) and tied for first in receiving touchdowns (44).

2000: Smith—voted to play in his first Pro Bowl; named second-team All-NFL by the Associated Press; named first-team All-Pro by USA Today, College & Pro Newsweekly and Football Digest and All-AFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News—started at wide receiver in all 16 games and led the AFC in receiving yards (2nd NFL) while ranking third in the AFC (4th NFL) in receptions with a career-high 100 catches for a franchise-record 1,602 yds. (16.0), an average of 100.1 yards per game. He also had eight receiving touchdowns with a long of 49 yds. and had one touchdown rushing (50 yds.) among his six carries for 99 yds. (16.5). Smith's 100 receptions tied for second most by a Bronco in a single season, trailing only teammate Ed McCaffrey's franchise-record 101 this year and matching the previous standard held by Lionel Taylor (1961). It made him the 28th player in NFL history to reach 100 in a season, and made Smith and McCaffrey the second tandem in NFL history each catch 100 passes in a season (Detroit's Herman Moore-123 and Brett Perriman-108 did so in 1995). Meanwhile, his 1,602 receiving yards tied for ninth most in a season in NFL history (with San Diego's Lance Alworth, 1965). Smith was named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November when he caught 26 passes for 479 yds. (18.4) and one touchdown, and rushed three times for 78 yds. (26.0) and a score to help the Broncos to a 4-0 record. It was the first such honor of his career. Smith ranked third in the AFC (8th NFL) in yds.-per-catch avg.; tied for sixth in the AFC (T11th NFL) with eight receiving touchdowns; ranked fifth in the AFC (10th NFL) in total yards from scrimmage (1,701); led the NFL in receiving first downs (77) while ranking seventh (11th NFL) in total first downs (80); tied for eighth in the AFC (T12th NFL) in third-down receiving (22-408-18.5-LG49-3TD) and tied for the NFL lead in pass receptions of 20 yards or longer with 28 (Torry Holt). Stretching back to the 1999 season Smith finished 2000 on a tear in his last 25 games, averaging 6.4 receptions for 93.1 yds. per game (160-2,328). Smith caught eight passes for 80 yds. in the finale vs. S.F. (12/23) to reach 100 catches for the season, becoming just the 28th player in NFL history to accomplish the feat in a single season. He also moved past Steve Watson (353) for sixth place on Denver's all-time receptions list (now 357). Smith claimed several more milestones at K.C. (12/17) with his club-record eighth 100-yd. receiving game of the season (6-101), breaking the previous standard of seven set by Taylor in 1960. It was also the 21st of his career, second most in franchise history (Lionel Taylor-24). He had another strong performance vs. Sea. (12/10) with 82 yds. on five receptions (16.4), and also rushed for a first down on a 5-yd. carry out of the backfield. In Denver's 38-31 win two weeks earlier at Sea. (11/26), Smith broke Steve Watson's franchise record for receiving yards in a season (1,244) by catching four passes for 82 yds. (20.5) to reach 1,314 yds. for the year, with four games remaining. He also had the best rushing day of his career at the Seahawks with three carries for 78 yds. (26.0), including a career best 50-yd. run for a touchdown. Smith was key to the Broncos' 38-37 win over S.D. (11/19), hauling in a game-high 11 receptions for a career-high 187 yds. (17.0), the second highest total in club history. It was Smith's seventh 100-yd. receiving game of the season, tying the previous club record. Smith caught his eighth touchdown pass of the season in the S.D. game, a 26-yarder from Gus Frerotte to trigger a 21-point 4th-qtr. outburst that propelled Denver to the dramatic come-from-behind win. It was the 33rd receiving TD of his career, moving him into sole possession of eighth place on the Broncos' all-time list. Smith also went over the 5,000-yd. receiving mark for his career in the game. In the 10th game, vs. Oak. (11/13), Smith went over the 1,000-yd. mark for the season, his fourth consecutive 1,000-yd. campaign to extend his own franchise record. Additionally, his four career 1,000-yd. receiving seasons ties the franchise record held by Lionel Taylor (1960-61, '63, '65). A week earlier at the Jets (11/5) Smith tied a franchise record with his third straight 100-yd. receiving game (Taylor-1961, Mark Jackson-1988 and Anthony Miller-1994), catching five passes for a game-high 134 yds. In the contest, he passed Mark Jackson (4,746) for seventh place on the club's all-time receiving yards list and now has 5,413. He eclipsed the 100-yd. receiving mark for the second consecutive week at Cin. (10/22) with 110 yds. and a

It marked the second consecutive week both Smith and Ed McCaffrey topped the 100-yard receiving mark, just the second time in franchise history that feat has occurred, and the first since 1962. A week earlier vs. Cleve. (10/15), he caught a career high three touchdown passes on a day in which he moved past Haven Moses (302) for seventh place on the Broncos' all-time career receptions list. Smith caught five passes for 111 yds. (22.2) vs. the Browns and rushed once for 8 yds. and recorded his seventh career multiple-touchdown game (1 with 3 TDs, 6 with 2). It was his 14th career 100-yard game and catapulted him over the 4,000-yard mark in career receiving. In the opener at St. Louis (9/4) Smith caught three passes for 88 yds. (29.3) with a long of 47 and one touchdown and rushed once for 8 yds. Smith's touchdown came on a 25-yd. pass from Brian Griese in the 2nd qtr. to put Denver ahead 17-14. Smith started in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and caught three passes for 58 yds. (19.3) with a long of 24. He also rushed twice for three yds. (1.5) with a long of 7.

1999: Smith started 15 games and led the team with 79 receptions for 1,020 yds. (12.9) and four touchdowns with a long of 71. He ranked fifth in the AFC in receptions and ninth in receiving yards and was magnificent over the final nine games, catching 60 passes for 726 yds., an average of 6.7 and 80.7 per game. By finishing with 1,020 yards, Smith became the first player in franchise history to post three consecutive seasons with 1,000 or more receiving yards, and together with Ed McCaffrey (1,018) made it two consecutive seasons with two receivers topping 1,000, and the fourth time overall in franchise history. Smith missed the Kansas City game (9/19) due to a groin injury suffered late in the 1st half of the opener vs. Miami (9/13). His first two catches of the season came in Week 3 at Tampa Bay (9/26), and he added three more for a season-high 90 yds. vs. the Jets (10/3). Smith's total vs. the Jets included a 71-yd. reception from Brian Griese in the 1st qtr. He topped all receivers at Oakland (10/10) with 79 yds. on seven receptions (11.3), including his first touchdown of the season, on a 3-yd. toss from Griese just before halftime, despite being hampered by a sore groin. Smith posted his highest yardage total of the season vs. Minnesota (10/31) with seven catches for 117 yards—his 10th career 100-yd. game and first of the year. He led all receivers the following week at San Diego (11/7) with five catches for 70 yds. He was outstanding in the season-finale vs. S.D. (1/2), tying his career high with nine receptions for a game-high 106 yards (11.8), pushing him over the 1,000-yard receiving mark for a franchise-record third consecutive season. It was Smith's third 100-yard game of the season and the 12th of his career. Smith was recognized by his teammates for his toughness and dedication by being chosen as the team's nominee for the Ed Block Memorial Award for Courage.

1998: Smith—named second-team All-NFL by College & Pro Football Newsweekly—started at wide receiver in all 16 games and continued to establish himself as one of the league's most productive receivers with a team-leading 86 receptions (fourth best in club history) for 1,222 yds. He tied his then-career high for receptions vs. Philadelphia (10/4) with seven for a then-season-high 95 yds. (13.6) and his first two touchdowns of the season. The first score came on an 8-yd. toss from Bubby Brister in the 1st qtr. and a 31-yarder in the 3rd. A week later at Seattle (10/11), Smith shattered his previous career bests with a game-high eight receptions for 136 yards (17.0) and a touchdown, on a season best 50-yd. reception from John Elway in the first quarter. He posted six catches for 95 yds. (15.8) and a touchdown (28 yds., 4th qtr.) vs. Oakland (11/22) but made the day even more memorable by throwing a pass back to Elway for a 14-yd. completion after taking the ball on a reverse. It was Smith's first career pass completion in the NFL, though he was a part-time quarterback in college. Smith would later haul in a 28-yd. TD pass from Elway in the 4th qtr. to increase Denver's lead to 26-14. At San Diego (11/29), Smith tied his then-career high with 8 receptions and posted his eighth career 100-yd. game (101), while adding a TD on a 13-yd. pass from John Elway in the 2nd qtr. He would post back-to-back 100-yd. games for the first time in his career by virtue of his career-high-tying eight receptions for a career-high 165 yds. (20.6) the next week vs. Kansas City (12/6), which included his longest catch of the season (58 yds. from Elway). It was Smith's ninth career 100-yd. game and his third in '98, as he joined Ed McCaffrey (103 yds.) to give Denver two 100-yd. receivers in the same game for the first time since Nov. 20, 1994 vs. Atlanta (Cedric Tillman—175, Anthony Miller—102). He closed the regular season on a high note vs. Seattle (12/27), catching a career-high nine passes for 158 yards (17.6) and a touchdown with a long of 36. His touchdown came on a 33-yd. pass from Elway in the 2nd qtr. to tie the score at 7. Smith started at wide receiver in all three postseason games and was the Broncos' leading receiver with 12 receptions for 260 yds. (21.7) and two touchdowns, including an 80-yard score in Super Bowl XXXIII vs. Atlanta (1/31). His previous postseason long accounted for his other touchdown, on a 28-yd. strike from John Elway in the AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Miami (1/9). In that contest, he caught four passes for a team-high 71 yards, including the 28-yd. touchdown reception from Elway early in the 4th qtr. Smith added three more receptions for 37 yds. (12.3) with a long of 15 in the AFC Championship Game vs. the Jets (1/17). But he saved his best for last with a five receptions for a game-high 152 yards in the Super Bowl, including the 80-yd. scoring reception from Elway in the 2nd qtr. to give Denver a 17-3 lead. It tied for the second longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history and the longest pass play in Broncos postseason history, and was the longest in the club's Super Bowl history. Additionally, Smith's yardage total was the fourth-highest in a Super Bowl game, and moved him into second place (from seventh) on the Broncos' postseason career list (480).

1997: Smith started all 16 games at wide receiver and finished second on the team in receptions with 70 for a team-leading 1,180 yards (16.9) with a long of 78 yards and 12 touchdowns in his first year as a full-time starter. The yardage and touchdown totals both represented the third-highest single-season totals in franchise history at the time. He also carried the ball five times on reverses for a net total of 16 yards rushing (3.2), with a long of 21 (at San Diego, 11/30). Smith's 16.9 yards per catch average ranked third in the NFL, and he also ranked fourth in the AFC (T8th NFL) in receiving yardage, tied for 10th (T18th NFL) in receptions, tied for first in the AFC (T2nd NFL) in receiving touchdowns, tied for third (T5th NFL) in total touchdowns and points scored by a non-kicker (T6th NFL), and 11th in total yards from scrimmage (1,143). Smith posted six 100-yard receiving performances in 1997, the second-highest total in franchise history behind Lionel Taylor's seven in 1960. He posted back-to-back two-touchdown games in Weeks Four and Five, and he added two more multi-TD games (at Pittsburgh, 12/7 and vs. San Diego, 12/21). Smith posted nine receptions of 30 yards or longer during the regular season (30, 37t, 40, 41, 43, 47, 59t, 72t and 78), plus two more in postseason play (43t and 40). His 72- and 78-yard receptions represent the two longest completions by Elway to the same receiver in a single season. Smith also returned one punt for 12 yards against St. Louis (9/14). It all began on opening day for Smith vs. Kansas City (8/31) when he set then-career highs with five receptions for 122 yards to lead both teams. His total included a career best 78-yard reception from John Elway late in the second quarter to set up a Denver field goal. It was the third longest non-scoring reception in Broncos history. Versus St. Louis (9/14), he caught four passes for 126 yards and two scores (from 72 and 38 yards out) in Denver's 35-14 victory. Smith set a career high for receptions (7) in Week Four vs. Cincinnati (9/21)—a feat he would match at Kansas City on 11/16—on 82 receiving yards in Denver's 38-20 victory. He also caught two touchdowns in the game from 1 and 8 yards out for his second consecutive two-TD game. Smith posted a new career high with 130 yards on five receptions in the Broncos' 34-13 Monday Night win over New England in Week Six (10/6). He registered his first NFL rushing attempt at Oakland (10/19), gaining 14 yards on a reverse, to go along with five passes for 58 yards (11.6). His next 100-yard game came vs. Seattle (11/2) when he caught five passes for 114 yards (22.8), including a 59-yard touchdown reception from Elway in the third quarter to put Denver ahead 27-20. It was Smith's fourth 100-yard game of '97, the most by a Bronco since Anthony Miller had five in 1994. Smith also carried once on a reverse and gained three yards. The next Sunday vs. Carolina (11/9), Smith caught four passes for 40 yards (10.0), including his sixth touchdown of the season on a 20-yard pass from John Elway in the third quarter of Denver's 34-0 romp. At Kansas City (11/16), he tied his career high with a game-high seven receptions for 114 yards, including a long of 43, to notch his fifth 100-yard game of the season, tied for second most in franchise history. His 43-yarder in the first quarter will likely be remembered as one of the most outstanding the league has seen in recent years as Smith showed remarkable concentration while drawing a pass interference call and nearly being tripped as the ball neared his hands. Smith's seventh touchdown (15 yds.) came vs. Oakland (11/24) on Monday Night Football, and he added his eighth the following week at San Diego (11/30) on a 5-yard reception from Elway, in addition to a career best 21-yard rushing gain on a reverse. Smith came up big at Pittsburgh (12/7), catching four passes for 115 yards with a long of 41 and two touchdowns, his third two-touchdown game of the season. His scores came on a 37-yard pass play from Elway in the first quarter and a 25-yard play from Elway in the second, as he eclipsed the 1,000-yard receiving mark for the season. He closed the regular season on a high note vs. San Diego (12/21) with his fourth two-TD game, catching four passes for 53 yards and scoring on tosses of 11 and 15 yards from Elway. In the postseason Smith started all four games at wide receiver and caught 11 passes for a team-leading 205 yards (18.6) with a long of 43 yards, which accounted for his only postseason touchdown. The play came in the first quarter of Denver's Wild Card win over Jacksonville (12/27/97) and gave the Broncos a 14-0 lead. He would catch three passes for 99 yards and one TD on the day. All three receptions came in the first half, and came on third down, including a later 40-yard reception on 3rd-and-6 from the Broncos' 12-yard line. That kept the drive alive, as Denver went on to score for a 21-0 lead. His and Ed McCaffrey's blocking from the wide receiver position helped turn reasonable gains on the ground into long ones as Denver racked up 310 yards rushing in the contest, a franchise postseason record and the fifth most ever in a playoff game. In Denver's 14-10 AFC Divisional Playoff win at Kansas City (1/4/98), he caught two passes for 19 yards. His longest reception, of 17 yards, came on a 3rd-and-7 play late in the second quarter and spotted the Broncos at the Chiefs' 4-yard line, from which they would punch it in to produce their first touchdown of the day and take a 7-0 lead. In Denver's 24-21 AFC Championship Game victory at Pittsburgh (1/11/98), he caught a career playoff-high six passes for 87 yards to lead all Broncos receivers. His longest catch covered 20 yards. Smith started at wideout in Super Bowl XXXII vs. Green Bay (1/25/98), but he did not catch a pass, only recording a fair catch on a punt in the ballgame.

1996: Smith handled the role of No. 3 receiver for much of the season and caught 16 passes for 237 yards (14.8) and two touchdowns, returned 23 punts for 283 yards (12.3) with a long of 36 and posted one special teams tackle after beginning his season late (vs. Baltimore, 10/20) because of injury. Smith's 12.3-yard punt return average was second best in the AFC and fourth in the NFL. His first touchdown of the year was the game-winner in Game 9 at Oakland, as he hauled in a 49-yard John Elway pass with 4:14 remaining to give the Broncos a 22-21 win on Monday Night Football. On the night, he finished with a career-high four receptions for 72 yards. It was the second time in his two seasons that Smith had caught a game-winning pass, following the dramatic final-play 43-yard touchdown grab from Elway to push the Broncos over the Redskins 38-31 (9/17/95) during his rookie season. His other 1996 touchdown came against Oakland in Denver's 24-19 victory Dec. 15. Smith was inactive for the first six games of the season while recovering from a broken collarbone suffered in the preseason at Dallas (8/17). He saw his first action of the regular season vs. Baltimore (10/20), catching one pass for 35 yards and returning a kickoff for 29 yards. Smith regained his No. 1 punt returner job before the Kansas City game (10/27), in which he fielded seven punts for 99 yards, including a 36-yarder in the first quarter. He also caught two passes for 22 yards against the Chiefs. Smith began throwing and catching again during the week of the Tampa Bay game (9/15). Before the injury, Smith was pushing Ed McCaffrey in competition for a starting wide receiver spot, and was the No. 1 punt returner. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff Game vs. Jacksonville, Smith caught one pass for 15 yards, returned two punts for 12 and made two special teams stops.

1995: Smith was used in all 16 games both at wide receiver and on special teams, where he recorded six tackles and forced a fumble. On the season he had six catches for 152 yards (25.3) with a long of 43, and returned four kickoffs for 54 yards (13.5) with a long of 17. Smith's spectacular game-ending 43-yard touchdown reception from John Elway in Week Three gave the Broncos a 38-31 win over Washington (9/17), and was the first of his NFL career. Smith out-jumped and out-dueled Redskins All-Pro Darrell Green for the ball before landing just inside the end zone as time expired. He recorded his first career kickoff return, for 16 yards, at New England (10/8), and forced a fumble on special teams coverage vs. San Diego (11/19). Smith had his best all-around performance in the season-finale at Oakland (12/24), starting at wide receiver as the Broncos opened in a four-wide receiver set. He caught two passes for 56 yards, including a 26-yarder in the fourth quarter on a third-and-10 play, helping the Broncos continue their game-tying drive, en route to a 31-28 come-from-behind victory.

1994: Smith spent the season as a member of the Broncos' practice squad, showing steady improvement each week, after being signed as a rookie free agent.

COLLEGE: Smith enjoyed a stellar career at Missouri Southern, finishing with league records in career receiving yards (3,043) and touchdowns (34). He also broke the school's reception record (153) and was named first-team All-America by the Associated Press, Kodak, Football Gazette and NCAA Div. II sports information directors after his senior year. In his final season, Smith caught 63 passes for 986 yards and 13 touchdowns, and was a finalist for the Harlon Hill Award, given annually to the top football player at the Division II level. He was named Missouri Southern's Outstanding Graduate in 1994 after completing his collegiate studies with three degrees, in economics and finance, general business, as well as marketing and management.

PERSONAL: Smith was all-league, all-area, all-state and an Arkansas all-state game choice as a senior at Texarkana High School in Texarkana, Ark. He lettered twice in football and basketball and once in baseball. A 1994 graduate of Missouri Southern, Smith holds three different degrees: economics and finance, general business, as well as marketing and management. He began supporting an orphanage in Mexico City in 1994 and in August 1997 had the opportunity to meet the children when the Broncos traveled to Mexico City for a preseason American Bowl game. Rod hosted a group of the children for several hours at the team hotel and donated Broncos hats and T-shirts to more than 400 others. Smith has two sons, Devin and Roderick Jr., and a daughter, Vanessa. He was born May 15, 1970, in Texarkana, Ark. Smith makes his home in Parker, Colo.

Cornerback

Jimmy Spencer will not only play as a defensive back in 2004; he also will help teach the position. For the second consecutive year, he will balance his role as the Broncos' assistant defensive backs coach with his playing responsibilities. Spencer, in his 13th season and fifth with the Broncos, last year became the first person in the NFL to perform a player/coaching role since Dan Reeves did so with the Dallas Cowboys in 1970-71. The veteran adjusted well to his new role last season, appearing in all 16 regular-season games (2 starts) with 11 tackles (10 solo) and seeing considerable time at right cornerback in the AFC Wild Card game at Indianapolis after an injury to Kelly Herndon. Additionally, he was a regular contributor to Denver's special teams unit. He has played in 177 career games (81 starts) with the Saints (1992-95), Bengals (1996-97), Chargers (1998-99) and Broncos (2000-present). He has 26 career interceptions and 127 passes defensed to go along with 446 tackles (387 solo). In college, Spencer started every game for Florida during a solid senior season that saw him collect 29 tackles and one interception. He entered the NFL in 1991 as an eighth-round selection (215th overall) of the Washington Redskins and spent his rookie season on the club's practice squad.

2003: Spencer saw action primarily on special teams in all 16 games but also made two starts and saw action as either a nickel or dime back in 12 of 16 games. Spencer recorded his first two solo tackles of the season vs. Pit. (10/12) in Wk. 6 and made another solo tackle in Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19). He saw action as the nickel back at Balt. (10/26) and recorded a solo tackle as the dime back vs. N.E. (11/3). Spencer recorded his first pass break up of the season against S.D. (11/16) after moving into the nickel back position full-time, and added a special teams tackle vs. Chi. (11/23). He tallied two pass deflections from his nickel back spot at Oak. (11/30). Spencer saw considerable action vs. K.C. (12/7) and recorded a season-high four tackles and added another solo tackle and another pass deflection vs. Cle. (12/14). He started at Ind. (12/21) when the defense began the game in a nickel package and made one assisted stop from scrimmage while adding two more on special teams. At G.B. (12/28), Spencer started the game at right cornerback in place of the inactive Kelly Herndon (hand). He saw considerable time at right cornerback after replacing the injured Kelly Herndon (hand) in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Spencer played in five games and was declared inactive for the other 11. He made all four of his tackles for the season at Oak. (12/22). He recorded his first pass defense of the season vs. K.C. (12/15), a week after seeing his first defensive action at the Jets (12/8). Before New York, his only playing time came on special teams at K.C. (10/20).

2001: Spencer played in all 16 games and started one (vs. Oak. 12/30), posting 23 tackles (21 solo), three interceptions, nine pass defensed and a fumble recovery while adding eight more stops on special teams. Spencer posted a season-high five tackles vs. Oak. (12/30), starting his only game of the season in place of Denard Walker (sprained knee) at right cornerback. He made his second interception in as many weeks—and his third of the season—at K.C. (12/16) with 14 seconds remaining in regulation, and returned it 18 yards. It was his 26th career interception and came after Spencer had played most of the game at right cornerback because Walker left the game in the 1st qtr. with a knee injury. He made his second interception of the season—in the 3rd qtr. vs. Sea. (12/9) a week earlier while also posting two tackles. Spencer registered a then-season-high three solo tackles at Mia. (12/2) and deflected a pass, one week after posting a season-high four passes defensed at Dal. (11/22), along with two solo tackles. He made one tackle vs. Wash. (11/18) and recovered a fumble at the Redskins' 37-yd. line, while also adding a special teams stop and two passes defensed. Spencer had an outstanding game vs. S.D. (11/11), registering two solo tackles and grabbing an interception. He played only on special teams at Ariz. (9/23), at Sea. (10/14) and at S.D. (10/21). Spencer replaced Walker after the starter left with a concussion vs. K.C. (10/7).

2000: Spencer saw action in all 16 games and made six starts, posting 40 tackles (35 solo), including a sack (-1), six passes defensed, a forced fumble and three interceptions (career-high 102 return yds./2 TDs). He also had three tackles and a fumble recovery on special teams. Spencer started four games late in the season (at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3; vs. Sea., 12/10 and at K.C., 12/17) in place of the injured Ray Crockett (hamstring) and when not starting was the team's nickel back. Spencer picked off a pass in three consecutive games (at Sea., 11/26; at N.O., 12/3 and vs. Sea., 12/10)—one shy of the team record (Tyrone Braxton, 1996)—and returned two for touchdowns. His 79-yd. return of a Jon Kitna pass vs. Sea. (12/10) was the third longest in franchise history and the longest of his career, and was his third NFL touchdown. With it, he became the first Bronco since Mike Harden in 1986 to score twice on interception returns in the same season, and the fourth in club history to do so (also John Rowser, 1976 and Nemiah Wilson, 1967). His other scoring return (21 yds.) came at Sea. (11/26) in a 38-31 Denver win, and was the first of his career. Spencer forced a fumble at N.O. (12/3) in the same game in which he recorded his second interception of the year. His sack—the first of his career—came vs. Oak. (11/13) as he dropped Rich Gannon for a 1-yd. loss among his season-high seven tackles. He also started vs. Cleve. (10/15) as the Broncos opened the game in a nickel defensive alignment and started at Oak. (9/17) in place of Crockett. Crockett was injured on the opening kickoff, but entered the game on the first series and Spencer returned to his nickel back role. Spencer saw action in a reserve role in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31). He signed with the Broncos as a free agent March 6, after being releases by the Chargers Feb. 10.

1999: Spencer tied for the San Diego team lead with four interceptions and led the squad with 16 passes defensed despite missing the final two weeks of the season. He also ranked fifth on the team with 48 tackles. Spencer started seven of the 14 games in which he played before being placed on injured reserve Dec. 20. He notched his first interception of the season in Week Two against Indianapolis, then two weeks later, he replaced Charles Dimry in the starting lineup at Detroit and racked up a career-high 12 tackles and two pass breakups in a 20-10 victory. Spencer recorded six tackles and his second interception of the season in Week Six against Green Bay and added his third pick of the year in Week 12 against Cleveland. Spencer had a solid all-around game in Week 13 at Seattle in a 19-16 win, recording his fourth interception of the year to go along with four tackles and two pass breakups.

1998: Spencer signed as free agent with San Diego Sept. 1 and saw action in 15 games with four starts, missing only the opener vs. Buffalo (9/6). He finished the season with 29 tackles (all solo), one interception and eight passes defensed, and added seven tackles on special teams. His three starts came in games 12-14 at right cornerback. Spencer also started at the third cornerback spot and had an interception vs. Oakland (12/20). Spencer had five tackles vs. Denver (11/29) and had a season-high six tackles at Seattle (12/13).

1997: Spencer played in all 16 games and started nine at right cornerback for Cincinnati, posting 38 tackles, one interception and 12 passes defensed. He had the Bengals' first interception of the season in the opener vs. Arizona (8/31), tipping a second-quarter pass intended for Rob Moore and catching his own deflection. He also added seven tackles in the contest. Spencer tied for the team lead with nine tackles at Baltimore (9/7).

1996: Spencer started 14-of-15 games at right cornerback for the Bengals and posted a career-high 73 tackles while tying his career high with five interceptions and recovering a fumble. Spencer led the Bengals with a career-high 21 passes defensed, which was one better than teammate and Pro Bowl starter Ashley Ambrose. He scored his first career touchdown on a 59-yd. fumble return vs. Houston (10/6) and added a 19-yd. interception return to set up a Cincinnati field goal. Spencer also intercepted a Steve Young pass at Cincinnati's 2-yd. line in the fourth quarter at San Francisco (10/20). He intercepted a Vinny Testaverde pass in end zone in the second quarter at Baltimore (11/3) and had a season-high 34-yard return on an interception against Jim Kelly at Buffalo (11/17). Spencer was limited to a reserve role in Game 4 because of a thumb injury and was also inactive for Game 16 at Houston due to a sprained knee, breaking a string of 79 consecutive games played. He originally joined the Bengals as an unrestricted free agent on March 21, 1996.

1995: Spencer started 15 of 16 games for New Orleans and led the team with four interceptions while also tallying 66 tackles and 16 passes defensed. The latter figure led the team and was seven more than the next-highest player. He was awarded a game ball for the Oct. 29 win at San Francisco when he had one interception, three passes defensed and seven solo tackles. Spencer had two interceptions, both of which led to scores, in a victory vs. Carolina (11/26) and tied his career high with nine tackles at the Jets (12/24) while adding one interception and two passes defensed. He became the first Saint to lead the team in interceptions for two straight seasons since Dave Waymer in 1985-86.

1994: Spencer earned the starting left cornerback job for all 16 games and set a career high with five interceptions while adding 19 passes defensed. He led the team in both interceptions and passes defensed and earned a game ball vs. the Giants (10/2) when he had first career interception and four passes defensed. Spencer intercepted two passes vs. the Rams (10/23), including one on the final series to clinch a 37-34 victory.

1993: Spencer was the Saints' nickel back for the second consecutive year, starting against multiple-wide receiver sets. He played in all 16 games (3 starts), posting 25 tackles and six passes defensed. Spencer also tied for the team lead with three fumble recoveries, including one he returned 53 yards in a season-opening win over Houston. His special teams play included a blocked PAT at Philadelphia (12/26).

1992: Spencer started four of 16 games for New Orleans in his first season of NFL action. He was signed by the Saints on April 12 and saw considerable action, playing cornerback in nickel and dime packages. He had 38 tackles and tied for fourth on the team with nine passes defensed. Spencer's four starts came in games when the Saints opened with five or six defensive backs. He had a season-high six tackles vs. Chicago Sept. 13. In the Saints' Wild Card Playoff loss to Philadelphia, Spencer recorded one tackle and one special teams tackle.

1991: Spencer entered the NFL as an eighth-round selection of the Washington Redskins (215th overall) in the 1991 NFL Draft. He spent his entire rookie season on Washington's practice squad.

COLLEGE: A three-year letterman at Florida, Spencer started every game as a senior. He collected 29 tackles and one interception as a senior. He also stood out on special teams where he had three blocked kicks, including two place kicks and one punt. Spencer majored in sociology.

PERSONAL: Spencer was a first-team all-state Class 3A choice at defensive back and Palm Beach County Player of Year at Glades Central High School in Belle Glade, Fla. He also played quarterback, throwing for 1,137 yards and seven touchdowns as senior. Spencer was selected by a committee appointed by former Florida Governor Bob Martinez to attend a youth leadership conference at the University of Tampa in 1986. He spends time during the offseason speaking in schools about education, drug abuse and religion. James Arthur Spencer Jr., was born March 29, 1969, in Manning, S.C. LINEBACKER

Donnie Spragan emerged as a reliable option at linebacker in 2003, finishing third on the team in tackles, after beginning his career as an undrafted free agent in 1999. During his second full season last year with the Broncos, he played in 16 regular-season games (8 starts) and made 76 tackles (56 solo). He is a valuable special teams player who recorded nine tackles covering kickoffs and punts in 2003. For his career, Spragan has played in 32 games. Spragan originally signed with the Broncos on Dec. 11, 2001, and spent the final four weeks of the season on the practice squad before signing a new contract that off-season. He entered the NFL in 1999 as an undrafted free agent with New Orleans and spent his rookie season on injured reserve. After a successful season in 2001 with the Amsterdam Admirals in NFL Europe, Spragan spent the summer in Green Bay's training camp and a month on Cleveland's practice squad before signing with Denver. He played two years at Stanford, winning the Jim Reynolds Award as the team's most inspirational senior, after transferring from Pacific when the school dropped its football program.

2003: Spragan saw action in all 16 games and started eight, ranking third on the team with 76 tackles (56 solo) while adding six pass deflections, a fumble recovery and nine more stops on special teams. In Wk. 1 at Cin. (9/7), he tallied two tackles. Early in the season, Spragan recorded a special teams tackle in three consecutive games (Wks. 3-5). In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), he saw his first action on defense after entering the game at weakside linebacker with 6:31 remaining in the first quarter when Ian Gold was injured (right ACL). He responded in a big way by posting a then career-high 12 tackles (8 solo)-the first tackles of his career-and his first career pass deflection. In Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), Spragan collected a season-high three special teams tackles. In Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), he replaced an injured John Mobley at weakside linebacker with 1:37 remaining in the second quarter. Spragan ended the game with three tackles (2 solo) and a special teams stop. He recorded his first career start at weakside linebacker the next week vs. N.E. (11/3), replacing Mobley (neck), and tallied four tackles (2 solo) before leaving the game in the third quarter with a sprained foot. Spragan made his second start against S.D. (11/16), recording three tackles (2 solo) and a pass deflection. He registered nine tackles (7 solo) and two pass deflections in making his third consecutive start vs. Chi. (11/23). At Oak. (11/30), Spragan recorded a career-high 13 tackles (11 solo) along with two pass deflections and a fumble recovery as the Stanford product played in front of a "home" crowd from nearby Union City, Calif. He recorded another nine tackles (7 solo) vs. K.C. (12/7) and a team-high 10 tackles (7 solo) vs. Cle. (12/14). Spragan tallied six tackles (5 solo) at Ind. (12/21) and recovered a fumble on special teams. He added seven more tackles (5 solo) in the final game of the season at G.B. (12/28). Spragan started at weakside linebacker in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and made five tackles (3 solo).

2002: Spragan played on special teams in all 16 games and tied for second on the team with 13 tackles. At Oak. (12/22) he made two special teams tackles and forced a fumble by Raiders kick returner Marcus Knight that was recovered by Reuben Droughns. Spragan saw his only defensive plays from scrimmage—and first of his career—at Sea. (11/17).

2001: Spragan spent a month on Cleveland's practice squad before signing with Denver on Dec. 11, where he was on Denver's practice squad for the last four weeks of the season. Before the season, he was selected in the third round of the 2001 NFL Europe League free agent draft by Amsterdam. He finished the Admirals' season with 44 tackles (36 solo), including 3 1/2 sacks, plus two forced fumbles and one pass defensed.

2000: Spragan re-signed with New Orleans before training camp (July 15) but was released a month later. He then spent the remainder of that season out of football.

1999: Spragan was signed by New Orleans as an undrafted rookie free agent and spent the entire season on injured reserve after suffering a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his knee during the preseason.

COLLEGE: Spragan was a two-year starter and three-time letterwinner at Stanford (32 games/21 starts), earning All-Pac-10 honors as a senior. He finished his career with 103 tackles (75 solo), five sacks, three interceptions and 12 stops for loss. In his final year, he won the Jim Reynolds Award as the team's most inspirational senior. Spragan transferred to Stanford after Pacific dropped its football program following the 1995 season. While at Pacific, he appeared in nine games and recorded 20 total tackles, one stop for a loss and one fumble recovery.

PERSONAL: A civil engineering major who received his bachelor's degree from Stanford, Spragan was all-league at linebacker and quarterback at Logan High School in Union City, Calif., where he also lettered three times in basketball and twice in track. Donald Spragan was born July 12, 1976, in Oakland, Calif.

Jamain Stephens joins the Broncos with hopes of adding depth to the offensive live. He was out of football in 2003 after being released by Cincinnati before training camp. He spent the 2002 season on the Bengals' reserve/injured list after suffering a shoulder injury. Stephens was claimed by Cincinnati off waivers from Pittsburgh in 1999 and played in 21 games (4 starts) in three seasons (1999-2001). A first-round (29th overall) selection in the 1996 NFL Draft by Pittsburgh, Stephens played three years for the Steelers (1996-98) and made 11 starts in 19 games played.

2003: Stephens was out of football after being released by Cincinnati before training camp.

2002: Stephens was on Cincinnati's reserve/injured list after suffering a shoulder injury in training camp.

2001: Stephens was inactive for seven of the first eight games but played in all of the last eight. He saw action on special teams only in Games 9-12 but added offensive duties in Games 13-16. Stephens made two starts-as a blocking tight end-on at Baltimore (12/23) and vs. Pittsburgh (12/30). He made his 2001 debut in Week 7 at Detroit (10/28) replacing RT Willie Anderson for five snaps in the second half.

2000: Stephens was active but did not play in the first three games of the regular season. He saw his first action in Week 4 vs. Miami (10/1), replacing the injured Willie Anderson. He again was active but did not play in Games 5-11. Stephens saw his first pro action at guard vs. Pittsburgh (11/26) while getting a brief tryout at RG in relief of starter Mike Goff. He played on special teams vs. Arizona (12/3) and was a second-half injury replacement for Anderson at RT at Tennessee (12/10). He again was a second-half injury replacement for Anderson at RT in the season finale at Philadelphia (11/24).

1999: Stephens opened training camp with Pittsburgh but was released Aug. 2. He was acquired by Cincinnati off waivers Aug. 3 and played in all four Bengals preseason games. He did, however, miss Weeks 1-4 of regular season while on Reserve/Commissioner's Suspension list for violation of NFL's substance abuse policy (violation occurred while with Steelers). He returned to the Bengals' 53-man roster on Oct. 11 and made his 1999 debut in Week 7 at Indianapolis (10/24). Stephens went on to play in seven games, making two starts.

1998: Stephens continued to show considerable improvement as a third-year player with Pittsburgh and moved into the staring lineup when injuries opened a spot. He was a starter at RT for 10 of the 11 games in which he played. Stephens was inactive for Games 1-4, and missed season finale with a right calf muscle injury. He made his first start of season at Cincinnati (10/11) and aided a season-high 386-yard offensive effort. Stephens was credited for a solid performance against All-Pro DE Reggie White vs. Green Bay (11/9), allowing White only one sack and three tackles. He started vs. Cincinnati (12/20) but was sidelined in the second quarter with a calf injury that would cause him to miss the season finale at Jacksonville (12/28).

1997: Stephens played in eight games for Pittsburgh after making his NFL debut vs. Dallas (8/31). He earned his first career start at New England (12/13) but was forced to sidelines in final quarter with an ankle injury. He was inactive for both Steelers' postseason games, due to the injury.

1996: Stephens was selected by Pittsburgh in first round (29th overall) of the 1996 NFL Draft, but was inactive for all 16 games.

COLLEGE: Stephens rose to prominence as a senior at North Carolina A&T by registering 69 knock-down blocks for an offense that totaled 4,128 yards and was named first-team All-Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference team. He started his college career as a defensive lineman but was switched to offense just before beginning of his junior season.

PERSONAL: Stephens played both offense and defense at Lumberton High School, in his home town of Lumberton, N.C., where he still resides in the offseason. LINEBACKER

Jashon Sykes made a huge leap from year one to year two by jumping from Denver's practice squad into the starting lineup as a linebacker. After spending 2002 on the practice squad, Sykes played in 16 games last season and became a starter at weakside linebacker in Week 7 after Ian Gold was placed on injured reserve. Sykes registered 64 tackles (49 solo) and a forced fumble in 2003, and he looks to take his game to new heights this season. What makes Sykes' rise more impressive was that he came back from a serious neck injury suffered his senior season at Colorado, which cut his season down to just four games. While at Colorado, Sykes played in 37 games (28 starts), posting 330 tackles (212 solo), including 12.5 sacks and 33 tackles for loss, as well as one interception, seven forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries.

2003: Sykes saw action in all 16 games, starting eight, and registered 64 tackles (49 solo) and a forced fumble while also tying for fourth on the team with 12 special teams tackles, recovering a fumble and blocking a punt on special teams. He moved into the starting lineup at weakside linebacker in Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19) after Ian Gold was placed on injured reserve. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), he recovered a fumble on a kickoff. Sykes recorded his first special teams tackle at S.D. (9/14). In Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22), he registered his first multi-tackle game with two stops on special teams. Sykes added a special teams tackle in Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28) and in Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12). In Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19) Sykes moved into the starting lineup, but did not register a start in the game because the Broncos opened defensively in a nickel package. He did, however, see the first defensive action of his career as the weakside linebacker and recorded five tackles (3 solo) against the Vikings. Sykes notched his first career start in Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26), registering a career-high 10 tackles (8 solo) and a caused fumble when he jarred the ball loose from Jamal Lewis on the 1-yd. line, a fumble that the Ravens would recover. He started at strongside linebacker vs. N.E. (11/3), recording eight tackles (6 solo) and two special teams stops and added two more special teams tackles vs. S.D. (11/16). Sykes tallied seven tackles (5 solo) vs. Chi. (11/23) and added six tackles (5 solo) and a special teams stop at Oak. (11/30) the following week. He registered six solo tackles vs. K.C. (12/7) and added nine tackles (7 solo) and a special teams stop vs. Cle. (12/14). At Ind. (12/21), Sykes was the primary weakside linebacker but didn't start when the defense began the game in the nickel and tallied one solo tackle while also adding a special team stop. He also recorded his first blocked kick when he blocked the 3rd-quarter punt of Colts punter Hunter Smith. The following week at G.B. (12/28), he registered nine tackles and tied a career high with eight solo stops. Sykes started and tallied four tackles (2 solo) and a pass deflection in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Sykes—after joining the Broncos as an undrafted rookie free agent out of Colorado—spent the entire season on Denver's practice squad.

COLLEGE: Sykes played in 37 games (28 starts) at Colorado, posting 330 tackles (212 solo), including 12.5 sacks and 33 tackles for loss, as well as one interception, seven forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries. As a senior, he started the first four games of the season, but an MRI on Oct. 4 revealed that he had a herniated disc (C 3-4 vertebrae, the upper neck area); further evaluations dictated that surgery was his best option, and he underwent a delicate fusion procedure on Oct. 19 in Los Angeles to mend the area, which included a bone graft from his hip. In those four games, he was the team's leading tackler with 33 at the time of his injury. He had five tackles for loss, including three-and-a-half sacks, and opened with 12 tackles against Fresno State and followed that up with 10 against Colorado State (with three for losses and a third down stop). As a junior, Sykes earned second-team all-Big 12 honors from the Houston Chronicle, and was an honorable mention selection by the Associated Press. For the year, he was second on the team in tackles with 111 (78 solo), a figure that tied him for fifth in the Big 12 Conference (10.1 per game, ranking him third among all linebackers). He led the team in third down stops with 13, had six tackles for loss including three-and-a-half sacks, four hurries, two pass deflections and interception (against Missouri). Sykes blossomed into one of the nation's top linebackers at CU as a sophomore and capped the year by earning defensive MVP honors in the Insight.com Bowl when he had nine tackles and returned an interception for a touchdown against Boston College. He earned second-team All-America honors from both BCS Online and the Football News, with the Associated Press selecting him first-team all-Big 12 (though the coaches placed him on their second team). Sykes led the team and was second in the Big 12 in tackles with 134 (including 82 solo), as he started all 11 games and played the second most snaps on defense (677). It was the first time a sophomore led CU in tackles since 1990 and only the fifth sophomore to lead the Buffs since tackles started being tracked in 1965. As a true freshman, Sykes played in all 12 games and started four of the last five, including the Aloha Bowl. He finished seventh on the team in tackles with 52 (31 solo), but he had 28 in the last four regular season games including a career-high 14 at Nebraska. He had 10 solo stops in that game including three tackles for loss, two quarterback sacks and three third down stops. He had seven tackles for loss on the season, including 2.5 sacks, with six third stops, a pass broken up and an interception. The 52 tackles were the most by any freshman since 1991 when Ted Johnson had 53 as a redshirt freshman.

PERSONAL: Sykes earned numerous All-America honors at Serra (Calif.) High School, where, as a senior, he made 137 tackles (62 solo), with 36 tackles for loss, five interceptions and seven fumble recoveries, and added 37 receptions for 417 yds. and 10 touchdowns on offense. Sykes also lettered three times in track and once in basketball. Since his junior year of high school, Sykes has played with a small bible on the left side of his football pants. His grandmother on her deathbed gave it to him. He also has a brother, Kelron, who played at Oregon State. Jashon was born Sept. 25, 1979, in Los Angeles.

CORNERBACK

Scott Turner will add depth to the Broncos' secondary in 2004, his first full season with the team. He joined Denver as a free agent Oct. 14, 2003, and remained on its roster for the duration of the season. Entering his ninth year, Turner also has played for Washington (1995-97) and San Diego (1998-01), totaling 91 total tackles (71 solo) with five interceptions in 101 games (3 starts) for his career. Turner began last season in Buffalo's training camp before being released. Before his stint with the Bills, he was out of football during the 2002 campaign. Following his three years with Washington, Turner was claimed off waivers by San Diego on Aug. 31, 1998. At Illinois, he was the fastest player on the Illini and started every game as a cornerback in 1994. Washington selected Turner in the seventh round (226th overall) of the 1995 NFL Draft.

2003: Turner played on special teams in nine games after signing with the Broncos Oct. 14 when linebacker Ian Gold was placed on injured reserve (knee). He was inactive in his first game as a Bronco in Wk. 7 at Min. (10/19), then saw his first action a week later at Balt. (10/26) and had one special teams stop. Turner added a special teams tackle vs. S.D. (11/16) and another one at Oak. (11/30). He recorded two special teams tackles vs. K.C. (12/7) and another one vs. Cle. (12/14). Turner played in his 100th game at Ind. (12/21) and recorded a pair of special teams tackles. He saw action on special teams in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4).

2002: Turner was out of football after being released by the San Diego Chargers.

2001: Turner signed with San Diego for the final four games of the year, and played in all four, starting in the finale vs. Seattle (12/30), and recorded two total tackles on defense.

2000: Turner saw action in all 16 games with two starts for San Diego, finishing the season with eight tackles, one interception and one pass defensed. He was also one of the team's top cover men on special teams, finishing the season with nine solo tackles. Turner started the season opener at right cornerback in place of injured DeRon Jenkins at Oakland (9/3) and again started in Week 3 at Kansas City (9/17). He recorded a season-high five solo tackles in Week 2 vs. New Orleans (9/10) and registered his first career interception return for touchdown when he stepped in front of a Gus Frerotte pass, returning it 75 yards for a score at Denver (11/19).

1999: Turner saw action in 15 games with San Diego, serving as one of the team's top "gunners" on special teams coverage units, recording nine solo tackles and one fumble recovery. He also added eight tackles while seeing action as the third corner in nickel and dime coverages. Turner opened the year with a team-high four tackles and one fumble recovery on special teams in the opener at Cincinnati (9/19), and had a season-high three defensive tackles vs. Chicago (11/21).

1998: After being claimed by the Chargers off waivers from Washington on Aug. 31, 1998, Turner played in all 16 games and recorded one start. He finished the season with seven solo tackles, one interception, one sack, one forced fumble and one pass defensed. He also ranked second on the team with 10 special teams tackles and recorded his first interception with the Chargers in a 38-37 win vs. Kansas City (11/22). Making his first career start, Turner had three tackles and one sack at Seattle (12/13).

1997: Seeing action in nine games with Redskins, Turner participated in 150 of Washington's 431 special teams plays. He had his season shortened by a pair of ankle sprains and finished the year with seven tackles on special teams and one pass defensed on defense. After being sidelined for the first five weeks of the season with an ankle sprain, Turner returned in Week 6 against the Cowboys to contribute on special teams, and saw action in nine consecutive games after that. Against the Rams in Week 13, he totaled three tackles on special teams. After suffering an ankle sprain before Week 15, Turner was placed on injured reserve for the remainder of the season.

1996: Turner recorded a career-high two interceptions and 31 total tackles while playing in all 16 games for Washington. He also recorded 10 tackles on special teams and scored his first NFL touchdown—vs. Arizona (12/15), after recovering a muffed punt in the end zone. Following that performance, Turner recorded an interception in the Redskins' victory over Dallas in the last game at RFK Stadium in Week 16. He also had an interception in Week 3 against the Giants and recorded a season-high six tackles in Week 5 against the Jets.

1995: Turner saw action in all 16 games as rookie and finished the season with a career-high 33 tackles. In Week 7 against Arizona, he recorded his first career sack and forced one fumble in addition to recording three tackles and one pass defensed. The following week against Detroit, he recorded a career-high seven tackles and his first career interception against Carolina Week 16.

COLLEGE: A four-year letterman at Illinois, Turner started every game at cornerback as a senior in 1994 recording two interceptions. He shared the team's special teams Player of Year award and was the fastest player on the Illini roster. Making a successful transition from offense to defense as a junior, Turner moved from split end to cornerback, shuffling back and forth from offense to defense then back to offense as a freshman. He opened his freshman year moving from wide receiver to cornerback, then was moved back to wide receiver when injuries hurt that unit, catching four passes for 43 yards and returning four kickoffs for 55 yards.

PERSONAL: Eric Scott Turner was an outstanding student and standout football player for J.J. Pearce High School in Richardson, Texas, before moving on to the University of Illinois. He earned his bachelor's degree in speech communication before the start of his final collegiate football season at Illinois and needs one more class to obtain his master's degree in human resource management. Turner was the Big Ten Indoor Track and Field Freshman of Year in 1991 while earning conference 400-meter sprint champion twice. His best 400-meter time was 45.6, and in 1993, he was part of a first place 4x400 meter relay team in the USA vs. Great Britain track meet. Turner also anchored the 4x400 meter U.S. Gold Medal-relay team in the World University Games in 1993. This past offseason, he was an NFL-Congressional Intern for Duncan Hunter (R-Calif.) in Washington. Turner and former San Diego Chargers teammate Terrell Fletcher attended a special assembly in Littleton, Colo., for students of Columbine High School with 40 other professional athletes from around country during the 1999 offseason. His wife's name is Robin. He was born Feb. 26, 1972, in Richardson, Texas.

He was a standout at Boston College, where he played two years (21 games/16 starts) and recorded 84 tackles (64 solo), including four sacks, as well as nine interceptions, 17 pass breakups and one touchdown on an interception return.

2003: Walls started all 16 games at left cornerback and ranked fifth on the team with 68 tackles (58 solo), and led the team with 20 pass breakups, the most by a Bronco since Ray Crockett had 21 in 1997. (9/22), Walls registered one tackle and a crucial pass break up on a 4th-and-10 Joey Harrington pass during the Lions' final drive to give the ball back to the Broncos and secure the 20-16 win. In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), he recorded two solo tackles, three pass deflections and a fumble recovery. The fumble recovery came late in the fourth quarter after Kelly Herndon stripped Chiefs running back Priest Holmes, and was the first recovered fumble of his career. LINEBACKER

Pro Bowl Selections (3) 2001-03

Al Wilson has been selected to three consecutive Pro Bowls and will be the emotional leader of an upgraded Broncos defense that added Champ Bailey and John Lynch in the off-season. Developing a reputation for his hard-hitting style and relentless pursuit of ball-carriers, Wilson has rapidly emerged as one of the best linebackers in the NFL during his five seasons in Denver. Voted a defensive captain by his teammates in 2003, Wilson started all 16 games at middle linebacker and led the team in tackles for the second consecutive year with 128 (99 solo), including one sack. He recorded double-figures in tackles in six games, and his seven pass deflections were fourth most on the team. As a result of his success on the field, Wilson was selected to represent the AFC in the Pro Bowl as its "need player" in 2003. His strong performance last year followed up an impressive 2002 Pro Bowl campaign during which his 199 tackles (158 solo) ranked seventh all-time on Denver's all-time single-season list and were the highest total for a Bronco since since Randy Gradishar posted 224 in 1983. Wilson burst onto the scene as a rookie in 1999, assuming a starting role in week three when John Mobley was placed on injured reserve, and finished the season third in tackles with 88 (70 solo). For his career, Wilson has played in 79 games (73 starts), registering 647 tackles (498 solo), 15 sacks (-97) and three interceptions. Before joining the Broncos, Wilson helped lead Tennessee to a 13-0 record and a National Championship as a senior. He was honored with a first-team All-Southeastern Conference selection, and the Football News tabbed him a second-team All-American during his final year of college. The Broncos selected Wilson in first round (31st overall) of the 1999 NFL Draft.

2003: Wilson—voted defensive captain by his teammates, and chosen to play in the Pro Bowl as the AFC "need player," making his third consecutive appearance in Honolulu—started all 16 games at middle linebacker and led the team in tackles for the second year in a row, with 128 (99 solo), including one sack (-5), and added two fumble recoveries and seven pass deflections, fourth most on the team. He recorded double figures in tackles in six games and registered 11 games total in which he made at least eight stops. In the opener at Cin. (9/7), Wilson recorded a team-high 10 tackles (9 solo) and one pass deflection. At S.D. (9/14), he led the team again with nine tackles (7 solo) and one pass deflection. Versus Oakland in Wk. 3 (9/22), he led the team with nine tackles (5 solo). Wilson led the team in tackles for the fourth consecutive game in Wk. 4 vs. Det. (9/28) when he registered a season-high 11 tackles (10 solo). In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), he tallied nine tackles (5 solo) and a pass deflection, which came on a play downfield against Chiefs wide receiver Marc Boerigter, as he ran stride for stride with Boerigter. In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), Wilson recorded a season-high 15 tackles (10 solo) to help lead a dominant Denver defensive performance. He recorded his first sack of the season in Wk. 8 at Balt. (10/26) when he sacked Kyle Boller (-5) on the Ravens first drive of the second half. Wilson finished the game with 12 tackles (11 solo), including the sack, and a pass break up. He added another 10 tackles (7 solo) vs. N.E. (11/3). Against S.D. (11/16), Wilson recorded two solo tackles, a pass deflection and his first fumble recovery of the year on a botched snap to Doug Flutie. He tallied another 10 tackles (6 solo) vs. Chi. (11/23), and a week later recovered his second fumble of the season at Oak. (11/30). Wilson recorded seven tackles (6 solo) vs. K.C. (12/7), including a half-sack of Chiefs quarterback Trent Green (-2.5). He made eight tackles (7 solo) and deflected a pass vs. Cle. (12/14). Wilson started at middle linebacker in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and recorded seven tackles (6 solo).

2002: Wilson—voted to his second consecutive Pro Bowl and named second-team All-NFL by Football Digest—played in all 16 games at middle linebacker and started 15. He led the team with a career-high 199 tackles (158 solo), including five sacks (-35) to tie his career high, as well as four passes defensed, a forced fumble and two fumble recoveries. Wilson's 199 tackles rank seventh on Denver's all-time single-season list, and are the most by a Bronco since Randy Gradishar posted 224 in 1983. He posted double figures in tackles in 12 of the 16 games and had three sacks in a four-game stretch in mid-season. Wilson posted 16 tackles (14 solo) for the second consecutive week at Oak. (12/22) after recording his fifth sack of the season (-5) among his 16 stops (12 solo) at the Jets (12/8), getting to Chad Pennington for a 5-yd. loss. Wilson was not credited with a start at S.D. (12/1) but did play every snap after the first series and posted a career-high 21 tackles (18 solo), his second 20-tackle effort of the season. Versus Ind. (11/24), he recovered a Peyton Manning fumble, his second, in the 2nd qtr. which led to a Broncos touchdown. Wilson added his fourth sack of the season at Sea. (11/17), dropping Matt Hasselbeck for an 8-yd. loss. He posted his third sack of the season at N.E. (10/27) when he dropped Tom Brady for an 8-yd. loss among his 13 tackles (9 solo). He also forced a fumble in the game and posted his first two pass breakups of the season. Wilson had a then-career-high 20 tackles (17 solo) at K.C. (10/20), including a sack (-5) of Trent Green. He recovered his first fumble by Chargers' running back LaDainian Tomlinson in Wk. 5 (10/6), after it was stripped by Izell Reese. Wilson's first sack came in the opener vs. StL. (9/8) when he dropped Kurt Warner in the 3rd qtr. for a 9-yd. loss.

2001: Wilson—selected to play in the Pro Bowl for the first time in his career—started all 16 games at middle linebacker and ranked second on the team with a career-high 128 tackles (98 solo), including three sacks (-25), while also adding seven passes defensed and a forced fumble. He was voted a co-defensive captain for the second half of the season, along with fellow linebacker John Mobley. They joined Bill Romanowski who was selected at the beginning of the year. Wilson made at least five tackles in every game of the season. Wilson posted 11 tackles (8 solo) in the season finale at Ind. (1/6)—his second-highest total of the season—and deflected one pass. He recorded his second nine-tackle performance in as many weeks vs. Sea. (12/9) to raise his season total to 102, topping the 100-tackle plateau for the second year in a row. Wilson posted nine tackles (8 solo) at Mia. (12/2) after recording a team-high seven stops at Dal. (11/22), with one pass defensed. He had nine tackles vs. Wash. (11/18) while forcing one fumble and knocking down one pass. Versus S.D. (11/11), he led the team for the second week in a row, registering seven tackles (6 solo) to go along with a pass breakup, following an eight-tackle (6 solo) effort on Monday Night Football at Oak. (11/5). At S.D. (10/21) Wilson tallied nine tackles (7 solo), including one sack of Doug Flutie for a loss of 7 yds. He made a season high 14 tackles at Sea. (10/14), including one tackle for a loss. In Wk. 4 vs. K.C. (10/7) Wilson registered four tackles and a sack of Trent Green for 10 yds. His first sack came in Wk. 2 at Ariz. (9/23), as he dropped Jake Plummer for a loss of 8 yds. Wilson posted eight tackles (6 solo) in the season opener vs. the Giants (9/10).

2000: Wilson played in 15 games and started 14 at middle linebacker, ranking fourth on the team with a career-high 104 tackles (73 solo), including a career-high five sacks (-31) while also adding one forced fumble, six passes defensed and three interceptions. He posted a career-high 15 tackles at K.C. (12/17) for his first career double-digit tackle effort. Wilson's third interception of the season came vs. Sea. (12/10) and was returned 20 yds. to the Seahawks' 7-yd. line to set up Denver's first touchdown in a 31-24 win. He raised his sack total to five when he dropped San Diego's Ryan Leaf for a 6-yd. loss (11/19) in Denver's 38-37 win. Wilson posted a sack in back-to-back games when he dropped Cincinnati's Scott Mitchell for a 9-yd. loss in Week 8. A week earlier vs. Cleve. (10/15), he sacked Tim Couch for an 11-yd. loss. Wilson raised his season sack total to 2 by sharing a sack of Drew Bledsoe with Trevor Pryce vs. N.E. (10/1). He returned to action in Wk. 3 at Oak. (9/17) after missing a game (vs. Atl., 9/10) with a dislocated shoulder and posted six tackles (4 solo), including 1.5 sacks (-5) of Raiders QB Rich Gannon. He also forced a fumble in the game. Wilson started at middle linebacker in the opener at St. Louis (9/4) and was spectacular, posting his first two career interceptions. His first came at the Denver 7-yd. line with St. Louis threatening, and his second came in the end zone early in the 4th qtr. as he ran stride-for-stride with Marshall Faulk and held perfect position. Wilson also added four tackles (3 solo). He dislocated his left shoulder in the contest and was inactive for Denver's Week 2 contest vs. Atlanta (9/10). Wilson did not start but played the entire Cleve. game (10/15) because the Broncos opened the game in a nickel defensive package. Wilson started at middle linebacker in the AFC Wild Card Game at Balt. (12/31) and posted six tackles (4 solo) in his first postseason game.

1999: Wilson played in all 16 games and started 12, ranking third on the team in tackles with 88 (70 solo), including one sack (-1), as well as six passes defensed, a forced fumble and two fumble recoveries. He also has three special teams tackles. Wilson moved into a starting role at middle linebacker in Week 3 after John Mobley was placed on injured reserve. He played the full game but did not start vs. the Jets (10/3) and Seattle (12/19) because the Broncos opened both games with an extra defensive back (Chris Watson/Tory James). After Mobley's injury in Week 2, Glenn Cadrez moved from the middle to fill Mobley's weakside spot, opening the door for Wilson. Wilson played primarily in goal-line situations and on special teams in the season-opener vs. Miami (9/13), but saw extensive action at middle linebacker at K.C. (9/19) after Mobley left the game in the 1st qtr, and posted nine tackles (8 solo). Wilson put together the finest all-around game of his young career at Oakland (10/10), matching his previous high-tackle total with 9 (8 solo), and adding a sack, a forced fumble and a pass defensed. He tied his career high again at New England (10/24) with nine stops (5 solo). Wilson recovered his first NFL fumble at San Diego (11/7), at the Chargers' 31-yd. line to set up a Broncos touchdown. His second fumble recovery came vs. Seattle (12/19) and set up a Broncos field goal after a Maa Tanuvasa sack of Jon Kitna, which produced the fumble.

SAFETY

Chris Young looks to make the Broncos' 2004 roster using some of the experience he picked up as a reserve for the squad last season. He saw action on special teams in 11 games in 2003, recording four tackles, and played sparingly on defense. Young, who will enter his third training camp with the Broncos, spent the 2002 season on the team's practice squad. He followed that up with a solid performance in NFL Europe as a member of the Frankfurt Galaxy. Previously, he was a team-captain and three-year starter at Georgia Tech, where he had a stretch of 35 consecutive starts for the Yellow Jackets. Although he started his collegiate career as a safety, he converted to cornerback midway through his junior season. The Broncos selected Young in the seventh round (228th overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

2003: Young saw action on special teams in 11 games and made four tackles while also seeing some action on defense. He was declared inactive in Wk. 3 vs. Oak. (9/22), Wk. 12 vs. Chi. (11/23), Wk. 13 at Oak. (11/30), Wk. 15 vs. Cle. (12/14) and Wk. 16 at Ind. (12/21). Young recorded his first career special teams tackle in Wk. 2 at S.D. (9/14). In Wk. 5 at K.C. (10/5), Young saw his first action from scrimmage, replacing injured S Nick Ferguson for one play. In Wk. 6 vs. Pit. (10/12), he recorded two special teams tackles and followed with another special teams stop a week later at Min. (10/19). In the final game of the season at G.B. (12/28), Young saw his first action on defense and recorded the first tackle of his career. He played on special teams in the Broncos' AFC Wild Card game at Ind. (1/4) and made one tackle.

2002: Young—Denver's seventh-round selection (228th overall) in the 2002 NFL Draft—spent the season on the practice squad. Following that season, he spent the offseason playing for the Frankfurt Galaxy in NFL Europe.

COLLEGE: A three-year starter at Georgia Tech, Young started 35 consecutive games, beginning with the final game of his true freshman season. Also a team captain, Young finished his career ranked 10th among all-time Georgia Tech defensive backs in career tackles with 219 (154 solo). His statistics also included four interceptions, five sacks (-47), nine tackles for loss (-47), two forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and 26 pass deflections. Young began his career as a strong safety but switched to cornerback midway through his junior season and remained at the position for the rest of his career.

PERSONAL: Young was rated one of the Top-20 wide receivers in the Southeast by Prep Star at East Coweta High School in Sharpsburg, Ga. As a senior he recorded 102 solo tackles, 45 assists, one interception and four forced fumbles—one of which he returned for a touchdown—to earn all-area and all-region honors. Young also rushed for 252 yards on 36 carries and three scores and had 10 receptions for 180 yards and three more touchdowns, en route to team MVP honors. Christopher Lamont Young was born Jan. 23, 1980, in Senoia, Ga.

RUNNING BACK

Tatum Bell, a fine combination of size, strength and speed, comes to the Broncos as the team's first of two second round selections (41st overall) in the 2004 NFL Draft. With the departure of Clinton Portis (in a trade to Washington for four-time Pro Bowl cornerback Champ Bailey), Bell has the opportunity to compete for a starting role during his rookie campaign. A three-year starter at Oklahoma State, Bell rushed 634 times for 3,409 yards (5.4) and 34 touchdowns in 41 career games (29 starts). He added 258 yards and a pair of touchdowns on 36 receptions (7.2). Bell's 3,409 rushing yards rank sixth in school history, and the 216 points he scored during his career ranks seventh on the school's career list. Bell leaves OSU ranked sixth on the Big-12 Conference's all-time career rushing list, fifth in touchdowns and sixth in carries. Additionally, he joined Terry Miller, Thurman Thomas and David Thompson as the only players in school history to rush for more than 1,000 yards in a season twice in a career.

2003: A unanimous All-Big 12 first-team selection, Bell led Oklahoma St. with a career-high 1,286 yards (6.0 avg) on 213 carries and 16 touchdowns. His 2003 rushing total ranks 10th on the school's season-record list and his 16 touchdowns at OSU are topped only by Thurman Thomas (17 in 1987) and Terry Miller (19 in 1976). Against Texas A&M, Bell rushed for 196 yards on 29 attempts and three touchdowns and carried 22 times for 122 yards against Oklahoma. Feeling the effects of an ankle injury that forced him to miss the final two regular season games, Bell came back with 46 rushing yards on 14 carries and a touchdown in the Cotton Bowl vs. Mississippi.

2002: Bell was an All-Big 12 second-team selection by the league's coaches after playing in 11 games, leading the team with 1,096 yards and 11 touchdowns on 175 carries (6.3). He added four receptions for 59 yards (14.8) and a pair of touchdowns, and on the year, scored 78 total points. Bell played sparingly in the first three contests, including missing the season opener with an ankle sprain. His first significant action of the year came vs. Texas where he rushed five times for 59 yards and a 45-yard touchdown. Against Kansas State, he picked up 63 yards on 15 carries and then rushed 33 times for a season-high 182 yards vs. Nebraska. In the next game vs. Texas A&M, Bell had 143 yards on 25 attempts, including three touchdowns (64, 5 and 2 yards). He eclipsed the 100-yard mark vs. Texas Tech (165 yards on 22 carries, two touchdowns), becoming the first Cowboy since David Thompson (1996) to rush for over 100 yards in three-straight games. Against Baylor, Bell ran for 106 yards on 14 attempts and three touchdowns, and followed that with 106 yards on 22 attempts vs. Oklahoma. In the Houston Bowl vs. Southern Mississippi, Bell gained 160 yards rushing and scored on a 22-yard touchdown.

WIDE RECEIVER

Darius Watts—Denver's second of two second-round selections (54th overall)—will utilize his long frame and top-notch speed to help make an instant impact on the Broncos' receiving corps. He owns several school and Mid-American Conference receiving records, and his 272 career receptions ranks him fifth all-time in NCAA Division I-A history. With some making the comparisons to former Marshall wide-out Randy Moss, Watts burst onto to the collegiate scene in 2001, becoming one of the top receivers in college football. In his first season as a starter, Watts became one of 11 finalists for the Biletnikoff Award and became a first team All-MAC selection. That season, Watts finished fourth in the nation in receptions per game and sixth in yards per game. His 18 touchdown receptions also led the nation, making Watts one of the most dangerous down-field threats in all of college football. In his final two seasons, while serving as team captain, he posted 71 and 74 catches respectively for 1,030 and 968 yards. He also caught 23 touchdown passes in his final two years.

2003: Watts, a team captain for the second consecutive season as a senior, caught 74 passes for 968 yards and 11 touchdowns. He finished his career with 272 catches, setting school and Mid-American Conference records, and ranked sixth all-time in NCAA Division 1-A history. In the touchdown category, only Troy Edwards of Louisiana Tech (50, 1996-98) had more scoring grabs in a career in NCAA Division I-A annals than Watts' 47, and only Mike Barber (4,262, 1985-88) gained more yards receiving in Marshall history than Watts' 4,031.

2002: A preseason All-America selection and picked at team captain, Watts was hampered all season by a shoulder separation he suffered in training camp that forced him to miss the season-opener. He finished the year with 71 catches for 1,030 yards, 12 touchdowns and posted four 100-yard receiving games. A first-team All-MAC selection, Watts became the MAC's all-time touchdown receptions leader with his 40-yard game-winning TD reception against Toledo in the MAC title game. He posted another huge game with 149 yards and three scores against Miami, and he recorded 135 yards and two scores in the regular-season matchup against Toledo.

2001: Watts, as a sophomore, was a first team All-MAC selection and was one of 11 semifinalists for the Biletnikoff Award, given to the nation's best wide reciever. He posted career bests in receptions (91) and receiving yards (1,417) to go along with 18 touchdowns. He finished fourth in the nation in receptions per game and sixth in the nation in yards per game, and his 18 touchdown receptions ranked first among all receivers in college football. He posted 100 yards receiving in nine of 12 games for the Thundering Herd, including a season-high 198 yards against Bowling Green. Watts finished fourth all-time at Marshall in single season receptions and posted the most catches in a season since Marshall returned to Division I-A, surpassing the 90 catches by Randy Moss in 1997. Additionally, his touchdown total is third on the Marshall single-season list, with only Moss in front of him. His season will also go down in MAC annals as one of the best in league history. He tied for the second-most receptions in league history, his yardage total was third best and his touchdown total ties him for the second best in league history.

2000: Watts, one of only two true freshmen to see playing time for Marshall, started four of the 12 games he played. On the year, he had 36 catches for 616 yards (17.1) and six touchdowns, and finished among the top four freshman receivers in the country in both receptions and receiving yards. He also took the kickoff return duties for the Herd, returning 10 kicks for 203 yards with a long return of 51 yards. Watts exploded onto the scene at North Carolina with four receptions for 74 yards and a touchdown in his collegiate debut. For his efforts, he was selected as the Mid-America Conference's Offensive Player of the Week. He suffered a high ankle sprain late in the year that cut his production and forced him to miss one game. In the MAC Championship game, he had four catches for 94 yards, including a 44-yard touchdown reception.

HIGH SCHOOL: Watts was a four-year letter winner at Banneker (Ga.) High School and also lettered in basketball and track.

PERSONAL: Darius Orlando Watts, who was born Dec. 19, 1981, in Atlanta, was nicknamed "Spider" by his high school teammates. He is the son of Yukon and Joanna Watts, and has two siblings. Watts chose to attend Marshall because he believed the school would challenge him to be his best and do his best.

1 DENVER 30, CINCINNATI 10

Sun., Sept. 7, 2003 • 1:05 p.m. EDT • Paul Brown Stadium • Cincinnati, Ohio

Weather: Partly Cloudy & Fair, 72º, Wind E 6 mph • Attendance: 63,820 • Time: 3:04*

The Broncos started the 2003 season in good form with a decisive 30-10 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals at Paul Brown Stadium before a crowd of 63,820.

Denver's defense, backed by two Trevor Pryce tackles, forced the Bengals to go three-and-out on their opening drive and gave the Broncos good field position on their own 40. Denver's offense was able to capitalize on the field position with a 52-yard field goal by Jason Elam that put the Broncos up 3-0. Neither team would score for the remainer of the first quarter.

The Broncos marched 46 yards on their first drive of the second quarter as the Bengals were unable to stop the powerful Clinton Portis. The drive was capped by a Portis 2-yard rushing touchdown. Cincinnati finally got points on the scoreboard two possessions later after a 26-yard Shayne Graham field goal. Denver would score two more times before the half. Another rushing touchdown by Portis and a 27-yard Elam field goal with 15 seconds left in the half gave the Broncos a commanding 20-3 lead at halftime.

After Denver was unable to score on its first possesion of the second half, Ian Gold intercepted a Jon Kitna pass intended for Corey Dillon and returned it for 12 yards and a Broncos touchdown. Pryce put great pressure on Kitna at the goal line to force the errant throw. Neither team was able to score again until a 39-yard Elam field goal increased the Broncos lead to 27 late in the fourth quarter.

Cincinnati put together one more drive, culminating with a 41-yard touchdown pass from Kitna to Chad Johnson to make the score 30-10 with 3:04 remaining in the game. Denver ran the game clock down to 41 seconds, and the Bengals were unable to score again before the end of the game.

Clinton Portis had a game-high 120 yards rushing and two touchdowns on 24 carries to post the best rushing total by a Broncos player in a season-opening game. It marked just the sixth time a Bronco has rushed for 100 or more yards in Week 1 and the first such achievement in an opener on the road. The Broncos sacked Kitna four times, with Bertrand Berry tying a career high with two. Their defense forced three fumbles and two interceptions, holding the Bengals to 51 yards rushing.

2 DENVER 37, SAN DIEGO 13

Sun., Sept. 14, 2003 • 1:15 p.m. PDT • Qualcomm Stadium • San Diego, Calif.

Weather: Clear & Sunny, 73º, Wind WSW 8 mph • Attendance: 65,445 • Time: 3:09

For the first time since 1983, the Broncos opened the season with back-to-back road wins after defeating the San Diego Chargers 37-13 at Qualcomm Stadium before a crowd of 65,445. The 24-point margin of victory by the Broncos was their largest ever against the Chargers in the 87-game series, which began in 1960. A huge first-half performance by second-year running back Clinton Portis was the key to the Broncos' victory although he left the game after the second quarter with a bruised sternum.

Portis dominated the game early, rushing for 110 yards on seven carries during Denver's first two possessions. On the Broncos' opening drive, Portis led the team into the red zone after running for 41 yards, including a 25-yd run. The drive was capped with a 12-yard touchdown pass from Jake Plummer to Reuben Droughns to give the Broncos an early 7-0 lead. The touchdown pass was Plummer's first as a Bronco. On San Diego's first possession of the game, a big stop on third down by Broncos linebacker Al Wilson on Denver's 1-yard line forced the Chargers to settle for a field goal, a 19-yarder by Steve Christie. Denver found the end zone again on its next series after Portis broke free and rushed 58 yards to the Chargers' 16-yard line, setting up a 1-yard touchdown pass from Plummer to Shannon Sharpe to put the Broncos up 14-3. Midway through the second quarter after Plummer rushed for a first down on fourth-and-one at the Chargers' 5-yard line to keep the drive alive, Denver struck again, this time on a 6-yard reception from Plummer to guard/tackle Cooper Carlisle. Carlisle's catch was the first touchdown reception by a Broncos offensive lineman since tackle Dave Studdard's on Sept. 21, 1986 against Philadelphia. Plummer diving out of bounds to get the first down proved costly, however, as the quarterback left the game with what was diagnosed as a first-degree separation of his right shoulder and did not return. San Diego moved the ball down the field and was able to score late in the half on a 23-yard pass from Drew Brees to Eric Parker, cutting Denver's lead to 21-10. With one minute remaining in the half backup quarterback Steve Beuerlein marched the Broncos 56 yards to San Diego's 12-yard line, where they added a 30-yard Jason Elam field goal to make the score 24-10 at the half.

The Chargers scored on their first series of the second half on a 25-yard field goal by Steve Christie after another strong defensive stance by the Broncos in the red zone prevented a San Diego touchdown. Denver quickly countered with a 51-yard scoring drive of its own. Highlighted by Shannon Sharpe's spectacular one-handed catch at the Chargers' 3-yard line, the drive ended with a 1-yard Mike Anderson rushing touchdown that increased the Broncos' lead to 31-13. After forcing the Chargers to punt, the Broncos drove to San Diego's 27-yard line and added a 45-yard Elam field goal with 1:09 remaining in the third quarter. Broncos defensive end Bert Berry's tip on a Brees pass was intercepted by linebacker Ian Gold, and the turnover led to one more Elam field goal (34 yards) to give Denver its ultimate margin of victory at 37-13.

Portis finished the game with 129 yards rushing on 12 carries, and Mike Anderson added 65 yards on 16 rushes in his relief effort. Plummer posted an impressive, albeit brief, performance by completing 9 of 13 passes for 94 yards and three touchdowns to finish with a 129.5 quarterback rating. Denver's offense posted 382 total yards (6.1) and 24 first downs. The defense, though allowing 303 total yards, held the Chargers to just 1 for 11 on third down and 0 for 3 in the red zone.

3 DENVER 31, OAKLAND 10

Mon., Sept. 22, 2003 • 7 p.m. MDT • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Clear, 72º, Wind E 7 mph • Attendance: 76,753 • Time: 3:12*

The Broncos improved to 3-0 with an impressive 31-10 win over division-rival Oakland Raiders in front of 76,753 fans and a national television audience on Monday Night Football in their home opener at INVESCO Field at Mile High.

Denver was unstoppable early in the game shutting out Oakland 24-0 in the first half. By the end of the first quarter, the Broncos offense had scored three touchdowns and accumulated 170 yards and seven first downs. Denver's defense held the Raiders to just 7 total offensive yards in the first quarter and only 74 yards in the first half. Despite coming into the game with a first-degree separation of his right shoulder, Jake Plummer had an outstanding game in his first regular season home game as a Bronco, throwing for 197 yards and two touchdowns for a 128.5 passer rating. Plummer also broke the Broncos' record for the longest ever rush from scrimmage by a quarterback when he dashed for a career-best 40 yards in the second quarter to set up a Jason Elam field goal.

The Broncos' defense set the tone for the game when Bertrand Berry sacked Rich Gannon for a 6-yard loss on the opening play from scrimmage. The Raiders were forced into third-and-long situations on their first three possesions of the game and failed to post one first down in the first quarter. After securing good field position on their first three possessions, the offense did its part as Denver scored on each, the first on an 18-yard pass from Plummer to Shannon Sharpe to put the Broncos up 7-0. Clinton Portis keyed the drive by carrying the ball on five of Denver's first six plays and picking up 34 yards, opening up the passing game. The score was quickly 14-0 after Plummer connected with Ashley Lelie on a 44-yard touchdown pass on Denver's next series. Plummer took care of the third touchdown himself, rushing in from the 6-yard line to give the Broncos a commanding 21-0 lead late in the first quarter. The Broncos added a field goal by Jason Elam that gave Denver a solid 24-0 lead just before the half after a 12-play, 78-yard drive that was highlighted by Plummer's record-setting 40-yard rush to Oakland's 15-yard line.

Denver did not let up and struck on their first series of the second half when Mike Anderson broke free for 44 yards to the Oakland 1-yard line. One play later, Anderson rushed 1 yard for the touchdown, putting the game out of reach for the Raiders with the Broncos up 31-0. Oakland would finally get on the scoreboard on their next possession with a 4-yard touchdown run by Zack Crockett, and then early in the fourth quarter, the Raiders added a field goal to narrow the margin to the eventual final score of 31-10.

Ashley Lelie posted three receptions for a career-high 108 yards and a touchdown to lead all receivers. The Broncos' offense finished with 383 total yards and was 3-for-4 in the red zone. For the Denver defense, Bertrand Berry and Reggie Hayward each tallied 2.5 sacks and Kelly Herndon added an interception. The defense held the Raiders to just 4 of 15 in third down efficiency and allowed only 39 yards rushing.

4 DENVER 20, DETROIT 16

Sun., Sept. 28, 2003 • 2:15 p.m. MDT • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Clear/Sunny, 66º, SE 9 mph • Attendance: 75,719 • Time: 3:11*

Denver improved to 4-0 for the first time since 1998 after escaping with a 20-16 win over the Detroit Lions at INVESCO Field at Mile High in front of 75,719 fans. After getting off to a slow start, the Broncos fought off numerous charges by the persistent Lions—including a stop on the Lions final drive late in the fourth quarter—to secure the win.

On its opening drive of the game, Detroit took a 7-0 lead when Joey Harrington connected with Charles Rogers for a 33-yard touchdown pass. The Broncos answered back on their second possession of the game with a 29-yard touchdown pass from Jake Plummer to Ashley Lelie to tie the game. Plummer was a perfect 5-for-5 passing, which accounted for 79 of the drives' 80 total yards.

After forcing the Lions three-and-out, Plummer led the Broncos in to the end zone again; this time on a 1-yard pass to Shannon Sharpe giving the Broncos their first lead of the game at 14-7. The Lions fought back and pulled to within four points, after a 53-yard Jason Hanson field goal with 4:36 left in the first half. During Denver's next drive, Plummer hit Sharpe for his 16th consecutive completion of the game, surpassing his previous career-high 15 with Arizona on Nov. 11, 1998. The string of 16 consecutive pass completions tied the fourth longest streak in franchise history (third longest in the same game).

Stingy defense paced the third quarter with neither team scoring until the Broncos capped off a nine-play, 57-yard drive with a 37-yard Jason Elam field goal, increasing their lead to 17-10. Through the first three quarters, Denver allowed Detroit just 66 yards passing and 116 yards rushing.

The Lions threatened Denver's lead early in the fourth when Harrington connected with Scotty Anderson on a 43-yard touchdown pass. Holder John Jett could not handle a low snap by center Bradford Banta, and kicker Jason Hanson missed the extra point attempt, and left the Lions down 17-16.

After Denver was forced to punt on its next possession, the defense came up big again, stopping the Lions on their own 42-yard line. Elam gave Denver some breathing room after the Broncos marched down and capitalized on a 41-yard field goal increasing the lead to 20-16. Detroit had one last chance to come back as it was successful on a 4th-and-8 for a first down on its own 32-yard line. But Denver's pass defense stepped on the next four plays and held Detroit without a first down. Denver took over the ball and ran out the clock, securing its fourth consecutive win of the season.

With seven receptions in the game, Sharpe surpassed Hall of Fame wide receiver James Lofton (764) and moved into 10th place all-time in career receptions with 766. Denver amassed 332 total offensive yards, with 253 coming in the air, as Plummer posted a 116.9 passer rating on 25-of-34 throwing for 277 yards. Ashley Lelie led all receivers in yards with four receptions for 76 including the 29-yard touchdown catch.

5 KANSAS CITY 24, DENVER 23

Sun., Oct. 5, 2002 • 11:00 a.m. MDT • Arrowhead Stadium • Kansas City, Mo.

Weather: Clear, 69º, Wind W 8 mph • Attendance: 78,903 • Time: 3:12*

The Denver Broncos suffered their first loss of the season and fell to 4-1 after dropping a 24-23 decision against Kansas City at Arrowhead Stadium in front of 78,903 fans. While the Broncos dominated the game statistically, they could not overcome missed opportunities while the Chiefs made big plays at critical times to secure the win. The win for the Chiefs was capped off by Dante Hall's 93-yard punt return for a touchdown with 8:20 remaining, which proved to the be the game winner.

On the second posession of the game for Denver, quarterback Jake Plummer handed a reverse off to Rod Smith, who connected with Clinton Portis on a 72-yard pass play, bringing the Broncos to the Chiefs' 8-yard line. Two plays later, Plummer found Dwayne Carswell on a 6-yard touchdown pass to give the Broncos a 7-0 lead. But, Kansas City answered with a 20-yard touchdown pass from Trent Green to Tony Gonzalez to tie the game at 7.

The Broncos capitalized on Dethla O'Neal's interception, and the good field position led to a 48-yard Jason Elam field goal, which put Denver up 10-7 in the second quarter. Kansas City tied the game on the strength of a 23-yard Morten Anderson field goal on its next posession. Just before halftime, Denver regained the lead by driving 63 yards in 1:21 for Jason Elam's second field goal of the game.

Denver opened the second half with a 65-yard Portis touchdown, which increased the Broncos' lead to 20-10. The 65-yard rush was a career-high for Portis and the longest run from srimmage since Mike Anderson ran 80-yards for a touchdown against Seattle in 2000. The Chiefs were quick to respond, this time on a 28-yard touchdown pass from Green to Johnnie Morton, cutting the lead to just three points. Early in the fourth quarter, the Broncos capped a 15-play, 68-yard drive with Jason Elam's third field goal, a 21-yarder, making Denver's lead 23-17.

Kansas City stopped Denver's next offensive possession, opening the door for Dante Hall. Broncos punter Micah Knorr kicked the ball to the Chiefs' 7-yard line and Hall scampered 93 yards for a touchdown. The touchdown was Hall's fourth kick return for a touchdown in four consecutive games, an NFL record.

On its next drive, Denver's attempt to regain the lead fell short and wide left as Elam missed a 53-yard field goal attempt. Kansas City threatened to score the final knock-out blow late in the fourth quarter after marching deep into Broncos' territory. But cornerback Kelly Herndon forced a Priest Holmes fumble, and Lenny Walls recovered it on the 8-yard line. Denver, however, was unable to the drive, and Kansas City forced a turnover on downs. The Chiefs ran out the clock and held on in the 24-23 win.

The Broncos compiled 469 total offensive yards compared to just 261 yard for the Chiefs. Portis led the Broncos' rushing attack with a season-high 141 yards on 23 carries, including the 65-yard touchdown run. In addition, he added 79 receiving yards on five catches with 72 coming on the pass from Smith. Plummer threw for 221 yards and one touchdown, and Smith led all receivers with eight catches for 131 yards.

6 DENVER 17, PITTSBURGH 14

Sun., Oct. 12, 2003 • 2:15 p.m. MDT • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 73º, Wind S 5 mph • Attendance: 75,974 • Time: 3:15*

Denver escaped with at 17-14 victory against the Pittsburgh Steelers and their No. 1-ranked defense at INVESCO Field at Mile High in front of 75,974 fans. With the win, Denver improved to 5-1 on the season. Jason Elam connected on a 47-yard field goal as time expired giving the Broncos the win. Starting for the injured Jake Plummer, back-up quarterback Steve Beuerlein finished with 172 yards, including touchdowns to tight end Shannon Sharpe and wide receiver Rod Smith.

After an impressive stop by Denver's defense, its offense got off to a shaky start when Beuerlein threw an interception on his first pass of the game to Steelers cornerback Chad Scott that was returned 24 yards to Denver's 9-yard line. The defense stepped up again and held Pittsburgh out of the end zone, forcing the Steelers to settle for a 24-yard field goal by Jeff Reed.

Denver's offense finally found its groove early in the second quarter when Sharpe hauled in a 10-yard touchdown pass from Beuerlein, giving the Broncos their first lead of the game. The drive was highlighted by Smith's run for 26 yards on an end-around, which took them to the Pittsburgh 38-yard line. The eight-play, 64-yard drive was capped by the touchdown. On their ensuing possession, the Steelers threatened to regain the lead by driving deep into Denver territory but were held out of the end zone once again by a stingy Broncos defense. Pittsburgh added its second field goal of the game, a 26 yarder by Reed, cutting Denver's lead to 7-6 which also served as the haftime score.

With no scoring in the entire third quarter as both defense rose to the challenge, Denver was able increase its lead on its second possession of the fourth quarter. Smith made a spectacular over-the-shoulder sideline catch on a 38-yard pass from Beuerlein, giving Denver a first down on on Pittsburgh's 10-yard line. Smith made another impressive catch two plays later when Beuerlein found him in the end zone for an 11-yard strike. The touchdown padded the Broncos' lead to 14-6.

Pittsburgh responded, however, by marching 74 yards and scoring on a 1-yard touchdown run by Jerome Bettis. Electing to go for the two-point conversion, the Steelers tied the game after Bettis plunged over the right side with just 2:41 remaining in the game.

With a little more than two minutes remaining, Beuerlein rallied the offense and led Denver on a final drive 10-play, 51-yard drive to Pittsburgh's 29-yard line, giving the Broncos a 47-yard chance to win the game. With five seconds on the clock, Elam hit the game-winning field goal, giving the Broncos the 17-14 win. The kick was the 13th game-winning or game-saving field goal of Elam's career.

The Denver defense sacked Steelers quarterback Tommy Maddox seven times with Mario Fatafehi and Trevor Pryce each posting two. In addition, the defense held Pittsburgh to just 215 total yards on offense with linebacker Al Wilson, safety Nick Ferguson and linebacker Donnie Spragan leading all defenders with 15, 12, and 12 tackles, respectively.

7 MINNESOTA 28, DENVER 20

Sun., Oct. 19, 2003 • 12 p.m. CDT • H.H.H. Metrodome • Minneapolis, Minn.

Despite the Broncos scoring 10 unanswered fourth-quarter points, the Minnesota Vikings were able to hold off Denver's late charge and remain undefeated. The Broncos suffered their second loss of the season, falling 28-20 at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome before a crowd of 64,381 fans. Starting in place of quarterback Jake Plummer, back-up Steve Beuerlein was knocked out of the the game near the end of the third quarter with a dislocated pinkie finger on his right hand. Third-string quarterback Danny Kanell was forced into the game, his first action NFL game since Nov. 12, 2000, with the Atlanta Falcons. In a little over one quarter of work, Kanell threw for 112 yards on 12-of-18 passing, including a 1-yard touchdown pass to fullback Mike Anderson.

On Minnesota's second drive of the game, the Vikings came up with a key fourth-down conversion to keep their drive alive and found the end zone two plays later. Quarterback Daunte Culpepper hit Kelly Campbell on a 47-yard pass for a touchdown to take the early 7-0 lead. Denver mustered some momentum and started a drive on the following possession, but Beuerline's pass intended for Rod Smith was intercepted by Brian Russell on Minnesota's 8-yard line.

Early in the second quarter after forcing a Vikings punt, Denver was facing third-and-long at midfield when Beuerlein was intercepted for the second time—this time by safety Corey Chavous. A strong effort by Denver's defense forced another Minnesota punt, and the Broncos took over at their own 17-yard line. Denver tied the scored 7-7 after its nine-play, 83-yard drive was capped by 4-yard touchdown run by Clinton Portis. The teams appeared to be headed to halftime tied before wide receiver Randy Moss heroics broke the tie. As time ran out in the first half, Culpepper connected on a long pass to Moss 44 yards down field. As he was being tackled by a pair of Broncos defenders, he lateralled to Moe Williams, who ran 15 yards for a touchdown as time expired.

Minnesota's momentum continued on the opening drive of the second half as the Vikings drove 71 yards in 10 plays to score on a 5-yard run by Onterrio Smith. On the ensuing drive, Beuerlein's third interception of the game was returned 33 yards for a touchdown by linebacker Lance Johnstone, giving Minnesota a 28-7 lead.

Denver finally got the gears turning on its next series and drove 48 yards on eight plays, setting up a 46-yard Jason Elam field goal. After another defensive stop, the Broncos set up on their own 37-yard line, but on the first play, Beuerlein suffered a dislocated pinkie on his right (throwing) hand and did not return. Danny Kanell came in and drove the team into field-goal range, where Elam hit his second 46-yard field goal of the game to cut the lead to 28-13.

Denver got the ball back, and Kanell again led the Broncos to a score (61 yards in 12 plays) after he found Anderson in the end zone on a 1-yard touchdown pass. Denver's defense held once again and gave the offense one last chance to tie the game. Starting the drive at its own 33-yard line, Denver moved the ball down to Minnesota's 25. After two incomplete passes, a false start penalty and after Portis being held for no gain, Johnstone came up big again for the Vikings as he knocked down the final pass attempts, securing the 28-20 win.

8 BALTIMORE 26, DENVER 6

Sun., Oct. 26, 2003 • 1:00 p.m. EST • M & T Bank Stadium • Baltimore, Md.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 67°, Wind SW 18-20 mph • Attendance: 69,721 • Time: 3:14*

Behind 17 unanswered fourth-quarter points, Baltimore handed Denver its second consecutive loss, 26-6, at M&T Bank Stadium in front of 69,721 fans. The Broncos fall to 5-3 on the season. Starting in place of the injured Jake Plummer, Danny Kanell and the rest of the offense struggled to get in gear against one of the NFL's best defenses. Additionally, the Broncos' defense suffered an additional blow when starting linebacker John Mobley left the game late in the second quarter with a spinal cord contusion.

Denver grabbed the early lead, scoring on a 28-yard Jason Elam field goal on its second series of the game. The field goal capped a nine-play, 55-yard drive to put the Broncos up 3-0. The Ravens answered early in the second quarter after securing great field position. Baltimore's defense stopped Denver on a 4th-and-1 attempt at its own 48-yard line and took over with short field ahead of them. The Ravens drove inside Denver's 20-yard line and appeared to score a touchdown on tight end Todd Heap's 11-yard touchdown reception, but after a coaches' challenge by Denver, the catch was determined to be incomplete. Baltimore settled for Matt Stover's 25-yard field goal to tie the game. Baltimore tacked on another field goal on its next possession after Denver's defense was able to stop the Ravens on the Broncos' 21-yard line. Stover's 39-yard field goal gave Baltimore its first lead of the game, 6-3.

Denver's linebacking corps was handed another loss, when with 1:55 remaining in the first half, Mobley suffered a spinal cord contusion while making a tackle on running back Jamal Lewis. Mobley was held overnight at the University of Maryland hospital for observations, but all tests came back "normal," according to Denver's training staff. Baltimore added a 22-yard field goal as time expired in the first half, to go into the locker room up 9-3.

Denver was able to cut into Baltimore's lead early in the second half after Kanell drove the Broncos 58 yards in 11 plays to Baltimore's 4-yard line. Unable to get into the end zone, Denver settled for a 22-yard Jason Elam field goal, making the score 9-6.

In the fourth quarter, Baltimore's defense stepped up and enabled the Ravens to seize control of the game. Kanell was intercepted twice in the final quarter, leading to 17-unanswered Ravens' points to put the game out of reach. Baltimore scored its first touchdown on a 5-yard pass from Boller to Terry Jones, and then added a 29-yard field goal two possessions later to increase their lead 19-6. With 2:03 remaining, Lewis scored on a 28-yard touchdown run, securing the 26-6 win for Baltimore. It was the third consecutive time in regular-season play that the Ravens defeated the Broncos, including two in a row in Baltimore.

9 NEW ENGLAND 30, DENVER 26

Mon., Nov. 3, 2003 • 7 p.m. MST • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Foggy, 35º, Wind 0 mph • Attendance: 76,203 • Time: 3:23*

The Broncos suffered their third consecutive loss falling 30-26 to the New England Patriots at INVESCO Field at Mile High in front of 76,203 fans and a nation television audience on ABC's Monday Night Football. Denver held a three-point lead late in the fourth quarter, but New England came back and scored the go-ahead touchdown with 36 seconds remaining in the game.

In his second start of the season in place of the injured Jake Plummer, quarterback Danny Kanell threw for 163 yards and a touchdown. Running back Clinton Portis chipped in with 111 yards rushing and a touchdown, the first 100-yard rushing performance by a back against New England this season. Unfortunately, however, the injury bug again hit Denver, when kicker Jason Elam pulled a hamstring in the first half and did not return, and starting linebacker Donnie Spragan—playing for the injured John Mobley—left the game in the third quarter and did not return.

Safety Kenoy Kennedy gave the Broncos the first break of the game when he recovered a Tom Brady fumble on New England's 28-yard line. Four plays later, Portis rushed up the middle for a 15-yard touchdown and a 7-0 lead. On the Patriots' next possession, Tom Brady's pass intended for David Givens was intercepted by Kennedy, giving Denver the ball at New England's 35-yard line. Denver was unable to capitalize on the turnover as Jason Elam's 44-yard field goal missed wide left.

On their first play of the Patriots' next drive, Brady hit Deion Branch in stride for a 66-yard touchdown. The Broncos responded early in the second quarter after securing good field position near midfield. Elam kicked a 43-yard field goal to give the Broncos a 10-7 lead. Elam would not return to the game after that kick. The Patriots answered on their next series to tie the game with Adam Vinatieri's 40-yard field goal.

Kanell led the Broncos 58 yards in seven plays and capped the drive with a 1-yard touchdown pass to Mike Anderson with 28 seconds left in the half. Denver appeared to poised to take a 17-10 lead into to the locker room, but on the kickoff New England's Bethel Johnson sprinted 63 yards to the Denver's 36-yard line. New England was successful on a 46-yard field goal by Vinatieri to cut the lead to 3 at the half.

Midway through the third quarter, New England took a 20-17 when Brady threw his second touchdown of the game, a 6-yarder to tight end Daniel Graham. After forcing New England to punt, Deltha O'Neal returned it 57 yards for a touchdown giving the Broncos the lead 24-20 lead. The Patriots added a field goal early in the fourth quarter, closing the gap to just one point.

With a little more than three minutes remaining in the game, punter Micah Knorr pinned the Patriots on their own 1-yard line. A strong defensive stance by the Broncos led to a Patriots punt, but the ball was snapped and hit the cross bar for a safety and a 26-23 Denver lead. Off the free kick, Denver took over at its own 15-yard line but was unable to move the football. With 2:15 remaining in the game, Denver was forced to punt, giving New England good field position at its own 42-yard line. Brady found Givens in the end zone for an 18-yard touchdown with 36 seconds left in the game, giving the Patriots an eventual 30-26 win.

10 DENVER 37, SAN DIEGO 8

Sun., Nov. 16, 2003 • 2:05 p.m. MST • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 52º, Wind NE 6 mph • Attendance: 75,217 • Time: 3:09*

The Broncos ended their three-game losing streak, with an outstanding defensive effort and the return of Jake Plummer, by defeating the San Diego Chargers 37-8 in front of 75,217 fans at INVESCO Field at Mile High to improve to 6-4 on the season. In the game, tight end Shannon Sharpe, who caught three touchdown passes, broke Jerry Smith's (60) record for all-time touchdown receptions by an NFL tight end. Sharpe finished the game with 101 yards receiving on seven catches and the three scores. Additionally, in his first game since Week 5, Jake Plummer returned to the starting lineup and threw for 253 yards and three touchdowns. Defensively, Denver held San Diego to just 96 total offensive yards and five first downs—the second lowest total by an opponent in franchise history.

Denver caught an early break when linebacker Al Wilson recovered Doug Flutie's fumble on the second play of the game at San Diego's 23-yard line, but the Broncos were unable to capitalize after San Diego stopped them on 4th-and-1 at the Chargers 14-yard line. Flutie fumbled again on the Chargers' next possession, and Trevor Pryce recovered. Denver, this time, was able score when Plummer found Sharpe in the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown pass. After a strong defensive stand, Denver took over near midfield, and pushed the scored to 10-0 on Jason Elam's 42-yard field goal. Midway through the second quarter, Denver scored again, this time on a 22-yard Elam field goal, which capped a 15-play, 86-yard drive. After holding the Chargers to a three-and-out, Denver's special teams blew the game wide open. Wide receiver Rod Smith fielded the punt at his own 35-yard line, and raced 65 yards for a touchdown, and a 20-0 lead. The scoring would continue late in the first half as Sharpe tallied his second touchdown catch of the game—on a 26-yard strike from Plummer—giving Denver a 27-0 halftime lead.

The Broncos continued where they left off late in the third quarter when Plummer hit Sharpe for a 26-yard touchdown connection, the tandem's third of the day. With the score, Sharpe moved passed Jerry Smith for first place all-time among NFL tight ends in touchdown receptions (61). After adding another field goal in the fourth quarter—a 27 yarder by Micah Knorr who kicked in place of Elam after he aggravated a groin injury—Denver had its biggest lead of the game, 37-0. With 10:19 left in the game, San Diego ended Denver's hopes of a shutout when Doug Flutie hit Kassim Osgood for a 19-yard touchdown. A successful two-point conversion attempt closed out the scoring and Denver came away with the 37-8 win.

In the win, Smith finished with a game-high 10 catches for 84 yards, while Sharpe added seven catches for 101 yards and the three touchdowns. Running back Clinton Portis rushed for 106 yards on 25 carries—his fourth consecutive 100-yard against San Diego. On the defensive side of the ball, the Broncos stifled San Diego, allowing just 40 yards rushing and 56 yards passing. Smith's second-quarter touchdown marked the second consecutive game the Broncos have returned a punt for a touchdown. Coupled with Deltha O'Neal's punt return for a touchdown in the previous week, Rod Smith's return made NFL history as it marked the first time two different players returned punts for touchdowns in consecutive weeks. It was only the second time in franchise history that Denver has returned punts for touchdowns in back-to-back games. In 1976, Rick Upchurch accomplished the feat Sept. 26 vs. Cleveland and Oct. 3 vs. San Diego.

11 CHICAGO 19, DENVER 10

Sun., Nov. 23, 2003 • 2:05 p.m. MST • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 18º (wind chill 8º), Wind SE 8 mph • Attendance: 75,540 • Time: 3:09*

The Broncos suffered a 19-10 loss at the hands of the Chicago Bears in front of 75,540 fans at INVESCO Field at Mile High, despite Clinton Portis' 165 yards rushing on 14 carries (11.79 per carry). With his effort, Portis set a Broncos record for the highest average per carry for a single game (minimum eight rushes). The previous mark (11.0) was set by David Rollle against Oakland on Oct. 2, 1960. Portis' 165 yards also propelled him past the 1,000-yard mark on the year (1,064).

Denver forced the Bears to punt on their first possession of the game and took over on its own 22-yard line. Its offense marched 78 yards in 12 plays to score on a 1-yard touchdown pass from Jake Plummer to Rod Smith, giving Denver the early 7-0 lead. The highlight of the drive came when Quentin Griffin broke free and rushed for 23 yards to the Chicago 1-yard line.

The Bears answered on the ensuing possession after securing good field position at the Denver 45-yard line. With a 33-yard field goal by Paul Edinger, Chicago closed to within 4. Chicago added two field goals, from 23 and 54 yards, in the final two minutes of the first half to give the Bears a 9-7 lead at halftime.

The Broncos got back on track in the second half by capping off their opening drive of the half with a 25-yard Jason Elam field goal. During the drive, Portis sprinted 49-yards to the Chicago 11-yard line, but Denver was unable to punch it in the end zone. A defensive battle ensued for much of the remaining third quarter as both teams failed to put together a scoring drive.

Early in the fourth quarter, Chicago drove deep into Denver's territory and faced 1st-and-goal on the 3-yard line. After Denver's defense came up big on the first three plays, quarterback Kordell Stewart punched it in from the 1-yard line on 4th-and-goal, and Chicago took a 16-10 lead. Denver was unable to get a first-down on its next possession, and Chicago capitalized by adding a 47-yard Edinger field goal to make the score 19-10. Denver mounted a drive, but after unsuccessfully getting into the end zone,however, the Broncos opted to kick a field goal on fourth down from the Bears' 22-yard line. Punter Micah Knorr fumbled the snap, and his pass attempt to Dwayne Carswell was incomplete. Chicago was able to hold onto the ball for much of the remaining time, and Denver could-n't score on its final possession.

Portis' 165 yards rushing was the third consecutive 100-yard game for the second-year back. Plummer finished the game with 19-of-35 passing for 176 yards and one touchdown with a 77.8 passer rating. Rod Smith led the Broncos in receiving with game-highs in both receptions (9) and receiving yards (86).

12 DENVER 22, OAKLAND 8

Sun., Nov. 30, 2003 • 1:15 p.m. PST • Network Associates Coliseum • Oakland, Calif.

Weather: Light rain, 55º, Wind N 8 mph • Attendance: 57,201 • Time: 3:01*

On the strength of a season-high 170 yards rushing and two touchdowns by running back Clinton Portis, the Broncos overcame a 5-point first-quarter deficit to beat the Oakland Raiders 22-8 in front of 57,201 fans at Network Associates Coliseum. Denver completed the season sweep against Oakland for the sixth time in Head Coach Mike Shanahan's nine years and improved to 7-5 on the season. The Broncos' defense also stepped up by limiting the Raiders to just 262 yards of total offense and kept them out of the end zone. It was the first time since Nov. 17, 2002, (at Seattle) that the Broncos have prevented an opposing team from scoring a touchdown.

Denver's offense struggled early, and on its second possession, Micah Knorr's punt from the Broncos' 20-yard line was blocked by O.J. Santiago and rolled out of the end zone for a safety. On the ensuing drive, the Raiders drove 34 yards in eight plays and took a 5-0 lead on Sebastian Janikowski's 46-yard field goal.

Early in the second quarter, the Broncos got on track and scored on a 13-play, 65-yard drive when quarterback Jake Plummer hit tight end Shannon Sharpe for a 4-yard touchdown pass, giving Denver a 7-5 lead. Oakland came right back on Janikowski's 48-yard field goal regaining the lead. Later in the second quarter, the Broncos took advantage of good field position at the Raiders' 40-yard line and drove 60 yards in nine plays for a 1-yard touchdown run by Portis and a 14-5 halftime lead.

Denver put the game out of reach late in the fourth quarter when Portis scored his second rushing touchdown of the game from 1 yard out. On the drive that went 68 yards in 10 plays, Portis rushed eight times for 62 yards and gave the Broncos a 22-8 lead after he successfully got into the end zone for the two-point conversion.

On his way to the season-high in yards (170), Portis posted a career-high with 34 carries and brought his season total to 1,234 yards on 230 carries (5.4). Add that to the 1,508 yards rushing he gained last season and Portis now owns the franchise record for most rushing yards in the first two years of a career (2,742). He passed Terrell Davis' total of 2,655 set in 1995-96. Plummer completed 11 of 20 passes for 105 yards with one touchdown and one interception, and Ed McCaffrey's presence was again felt, as he led Denver with four catches for 39 yards.

13 DENVER 45, KANSAS CITY 27

Sun., Dec. 7, 2003 • 2:15 p.m. MST • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver, Colo.

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 63º, Wind W 8 mph • Attendance: 76,403 • Time: 3:08*

By rushing for 218 yards on 22 carries (9.9 avg.) and a franchise-record five touchdowns, running back Clinton Portis led the Broncos to a 45-27 win over the division-leading Kansas City Chiefs at INVESCO Field at Mile High in front of 76,403 fans. With the win, Denver improved to 8-5 and kept its playoff hopes alive. Portis recorded the sixth 200-yard rushing game in Denver history, and second of his career.

Denver jumped out to an early start by driving for a touchdown on its opening possession. Quarterback Jake Plummer drove the Broncos 74 yards in 10 plays, setting up Portis' 11-yard touchdown run. Kansas City answered its first drive of the game when running back Priest Holmes evened the score at 7 with a 2-yard touchdown run. Early in the second quarter, Denver drove the length of the field allowing Portis to score his second touchdown of the game, on a 1-yard run. After Dante Hall's 61-yard punt return gave the Chiefs the ball at Denver's 36-yard line, Kansas City tied the game at 14 on a 1-yard touchdown run by Holmes. Denver regained the lead with a 47-yard Jason Elam field goal, but with 1:26 left in the first half, Chiefs quarterback Trent Green found Eddie Kennison on a 42-yard touchdown pass to give the Chiefs a 21-17 halftime lead.

The second half, however, was a completely different story for the Broncos. The defense stepped up and stopped Kansas City on the opening drive of the second half, giving the offense momentum to get rolling. From the 5:58 mark in the third quarter to the 7:58 mark in the fourth quarter, Denver scored 28 unanswered points—including three Portis touchdown runs—to build a 45-21 lead. Fullback Reuben Droughns started the barrage with a 3-yard touchdown catch from Plummer. Later in the third quarter, Portis busted through the Chiefs' defense and sprinted 59 yards for his third touchdown of the game. On the Broncos' next drive, Portis scored on a 28-yard run and closed out his scoring-fest with a 53-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

With his performance—one of the best by a Broncos running back—Portis set a franchise record with five touchdowns (all rushing) and became only the second Bronco to score at least four rushing touchdowns in a game (Mike Anderson had four at New Orleans in 2000). The five touchdowns also tied for the fourth most in NFL history (three players have scored six: Ernie Nevers, Dub Jones and Gale Sayers), and Portis is the 12th player to score five in an NFL game. Additionally, it was Portis' fifth consecutive game with more than 100 yards (9 this season) and the 17th of his career. In two games against the Chiefs in Denver, Portis has 43 rushes for 348 yards (8.1 avg.), five receptions for 111 yards and nine touchdowns (8 rushing/1 receiving). In the second half alone, Portis rushed 11 times for 188 yards—the most in a single half in the NFL Nov. 11, 2001, when Seattle's Shaun Alexander had 192 against Oakland. The 188 yards in a a half is a Broncos record as it topped the 168 Terrell Davis had in the first half against Philadelphia on Oct. 4, 1998.

14 DENVER 23, CLEVELAND 20 (OT)

Sun., Dec. 14, 2003 • 2:05 p.m. MST • INVESCO Field at Mile High • Denver, Colo.

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 52º, Wind S 6 mph • Attendance: 75,358 • Time: 3:25*

Led by Jake Plummer, who turned in his first fourth-quarter comeback as a Bronco, Denver forced overtime to defeat Cleveland 23-20 on Jason Elam's 25-yard field goal in front of 75,358 fans at INVESCO Field at Mile High. The kick secured the win as the Broncos improved to 9-5 and strengthened their bid for a playoff spot.

It was Elam's 14th career game-winning or game-saving field goal and marked the first time in Elam's career that he sent a game to overtime, and won it in overtime with field goals. With 11 points, Jason Elam became the first player in NFL history to score 100 or more points in each of his first 11 seasons and reached 1,300 career points, the fastest in NFL history (170 games). Shannon Sharpe (8-97) also had a record day, topping the 10,000-yard plateau for his career. Clinton Portis carried the ball a career-high 38 times (second in Broncos history) for 139 yards and two touchdowns, but suffered a sprained knee and ankle in overtime.

Denver got off to an early 10-0 lead but struggled with penalties and a sputtering offense that allowed Cleveland to get back into the game. After losing the coin toss, Denver's defense forced Cleveland into a fourth-and-two on their own 38-yard line. The Broncos then snuffed Cleveland's fake punt attempt and took over on downs with great field position. Powered by Portis, Denver marched down the field and got on the scoreboard with a 1-yard touchdown run by the running back. After Cleveland's Brett Conway missed a 38-yard field goal attempt, the Broncos marched 39 yards in 11 plays to score on a 51-yard Jason Elam field goal to go up 10-0 at the end of the first quarter. Cleveland fought back in the second quarter with a 39-yard field goal and then put together a 10-play, 87-yard drive to add a touchdown just before the half to tie the game at 10.

Neither team was able to score in the third quarter as Denver's only threat was thwarted when Jake Plummer was intercepted in the end zone by Robert Griffith to end the Broncos' opening drive. Denver regained the lead early in the fourth quarter when Portis rushed for a 13-yard touchdown to put Denver up 17-10. Cleveland answered when Tim Couch found Andre' Davis on a 35-yard touchdown pass that was challenged and upheld, knotting the score at 17. Denver failed to score on its next possesion and Clevland took over with 4:15 remaining in the game on its own 28-yard line. The Browns drove to the Broncos' 30-yard line and kicked a 48-yard field goal to take its' first lead of the game with a little more than one minute remaining in the game. With no timeouts, Jake Plummer connected with Ashley Lelie three straight times; the third was a scrambling 46-yard bomb that Lelie artfully caught over his head to bring Denver to Cleveland's 17-yard line. Elam's 36-yard field goal sent the game to overtime tied at 20.

In overtime, Cleveland won the toss but couldn't capitalize as the Broncos defense did not allow any positive yardage and the Browns were forced to punt. Denver took over on its own 47-yard line and on the opening play of the drive Jake Plummer ran a 23-yard bootleg to bring the Broncos withing scoring range. Portis then rushed six consecutive times to reach the Cleveland 7-yard line but suffered his injury on the play, and Elam came on to convert a 25-yard field goal for the win.

Portis notched his sixth consecutive 100-yard game and with his effort joined Eric Dickerson and Edgerrin James as the only players in NFL history to gain 1,500-plus yards in the first two seasons of an NFL career.

15 DENVER 31, INDIANAPOLIS 17

Sun., Dec. 21, 2002 • 8:35 p.m. EST • RCA Dome • Indianapolis, Ind.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 57,149 • Time: 2:57*

The Broncos clinched their first playoff birth since 2000 with a 31-17 win against Indianapolis at the RCA Dome in front of 57,149 fans. The Broncos, who bolted to 28 first-half points, domintated the game's time of possession, aided by rookie running back Quentin Griffin's 136 yards rushing on 22 carries in relief of the injured Clinton Portis. Wide receiver Ashley Lelie added 115 yards receiving and quarterback Jake Plummer threw for 238 yards as the offense racked up 465 total yards, including 227 on the ground.

Denver got off to a frightening start when Plummer threw an interception that was returned 31 yards for a touchdown on the team's opening drive. On their next drive, however, the Broncos quickly got back on track after Plummer hit Lelie for a 60-yard pass on Denver's first play, and five plays later, scored on a 2-yard Mike Anderson touchdown run to tie the game at seven. After forcing the Colts to go three-and-out, Denver took over on its own 43-yard line and drove 57-yards, scoring on Plummer's 6-yard quarterback draw, and taking a 14-7 lead.

When Indianapolis tied the game at 14 early in the second quarter on a 16-yard run by Edgerrin James, the rest of the half belonged to the Broncos, as Denver added two touchdowns. The first capped a 12-play, 81-yard drive that consumed almost eight minutes and was culminated by a 1-yard Plummer run. The second touchdown—set up by Griffin's 22-yard run down to the Colts' 16-yard line—came after Plummer floated a 15-yard touchdown pass to Rod Smith, giving Denver a 28-14 lead. The Colts added a 40-yard Mike Vanderjagt field goal late in half, and Denver led 28-17 going into the locker room at the half.

In the second half, Denver's defense took control and held the Colts without a score. The Broncos held the Colts to just 98 second-half yards, including just 20 on the ground. Denver added a field goal late in the fourth quarter bringing its lead to 31-17.

A huge key for the Broncos was their domination in time of possession. Denver held the ball for a team-record 44:58 minutes and limited the Colts to just 15:02. Denver also doubled Indianapolis in total yards, outgaining the Colts 465 to 183.

The playoff berth—Denver's first since 2000—is the fifth by the Broncos in Head Coach Mike Shanahan's tenure (1995-present).

16 GREEN BAY 31, DENVER 3

Sun., Dec. 28, 2003 • 3:15 p.m. CST • Lambeau Field • Green Bay, Wis.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 45º, Wind S 15 mph • Attendance: 70,299 • Time: 2:54*

With a wild card berth solidified after Denver's win at Indianapolis last week, the Broncos opted to rest few key players and as a result suffered a 31-3 loss to the Green Bay Packers in front of 70,299 fans at Lambeau Field in Green Bay, Wis. Among the inactives for Denver were quarterback Jake Plummer, wide receiver Rod Smith, tight end Shannon Sharpe and running back Clinton Portis.

Green Bay found the end zone first, scoring on the game's opening drive. Linebacker Jashon Sykes deflected Brett Favre's pass and the ball floated into the hands of Bubba Franks for a 2-yard touchdown. Toward the end of the second quarter, the Packers drove deep into Broncos territory and threatened to score another touchdown, but defensive end Reggie Hayward's sack of Brett Favre on third down forced Green Bay to settle for a 33-yard Ryan Longwell field goal. Denver made one last attempt to get on the scoreboard late in the second quarter, but Green Bay's defense stopped the Broncos when it intercepted a last-second bomb, giving Green Bay a 10-0 lead.

A 27-yard punt return by Deltha O'Neal gave Denver its best field position of the game at Green Bay's 48-yard line midway through the third quarter, and the Broncos capitalized with a 31-yard field goal from Jason Elam. On the Packers' next series, however, offense got rolling paced by Ahman Green's 47-yard run to Denver's 7-yard line. Two plays later, Green scored on a 2-yard touchdown, increasing Green Bay's lead to 17-3. Wide receiver Adrian Madise found a hole in the Packers' special teams coverage and returned the kickoff 83 yards to Green Bay's 12-yard line. Facing 4th-and-goal from the 2-yard line, Danny Kanell's pass intended for Charlie Adams fell incomplete and the Packers took over on downs. On the next play, Green broke free and ran 98-yards for a touchdown to put Green Bay ahead 24-3. Green's run from scrimmage was the longest play from scrimmage (run or pass) against Denver in franchise history. After the ensuing kickoff return was fumbled by Madise, the Packers recovered it in the end zone and took a 31-3 lead.

The Broncos finished in second place in the AFC West with a 10-6 record, earning a Wild Card berth—the team's first trip to the playoffs since 2000. On the year, Denver's rushing attack posted, broke or neared a few franchise records, including setting the record for yards rushing (2,629) in a season, finishing second all-time in yards per carry (4.84) and third in attempts (543). Additionally, the offensive line—anchored by center Tom Nalen, who earned his fifth-career Pro Bowl berth—finished tied for fourth in franchise history for fewest sacks allowed (25).

INDIANAPOLIS 41, DENVER 10

Sun., Jan. 4, 2004 • 4:30 p.m. EST • RCA Dome • Indianapolis, Ind.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 55,331 • Time: 2:39*

Denver suffered a 41-10 loss to Indianapolis in the AFC Wild Card Playoff Game in front of 55,331 fans at the RCA Dome in Indianapolis. The Colts jumped out to a 14-3 first-quarter lead and never looked back, outscoring the Broncos 31-3 in the first half.

On the game's opening drive, Peyton Manning led the Colts 70 yards and capped the drive when he found Brandon Stokley for a 31-yard touchdown and an early lead. Denver answered on its first drive but could only manage a 49-yard Jason Elam field goal after penalties caused the drive to stall.

Late in the first quarter, Manning hit Marvin Harrison, who fell near the Colts' 29-yard line, and after not being touched by a Broncos' defender, got up and ran the ball in for a touchdown, and a 14-3 lead. With Denver unable to sustain a drive after picking up two holding penalties, Indianapolis took possession on its 20-yard-line after a Broncos punt. Manning engineered another successful touchdown drive (8 plays, 80 yards), culminating in a 23-yard touchdown pass to Harrison. After another Denver punt, Manning hit Stokley in stride and scampered 87 yards for a touchdown, giving the Colts a 28-3 lead with less than two minutes remaining in the half. Denver began to mount a drive, but Plummer's pass, intended for Rod Smith, was intercepted by David Macklin and returned 21 yards to the Colts' 42-yard-line. Indianapolis drove down, and Mike Vanderjagt's 27-yard field goal gave the Colts a 31-3 halftime lead.

On their first drive of the second half, Plummer connected with Rod Smith for a 34-yard reception, moving the Broncos to the Colts' 27-yard line, but Elam's 28-yard field goal attempt was blocked and the Colts took over on their own 36-yard line. Indianapolis was able to add to its lead by capping a 64-yard drive with a 7-yard touchdown pass from Manning to Reggie Wayne. Plummer—when hit from behind by Dwight Freeney—fumbled on Denver's next possession, and the ball was recovered by Rob Morris on Denver's 20-yard line. Indianapolis settled for a 20-yard field goal and a 41-3 lead. Midway through the fourth quarter—after recovering a Colts' fumble on its 38-yard-line—Denver finally found the end zone on the game's final score when Plummer found Rod Smith for a 7-yard touchdown.

Plummer completed 23-of-30 passes for 181 yards and a touchdown but tossed a pair of interceptions. Clinton Portis led the Broncos with 68 yards rushing, and rookie Quentin Griffin added 60 yards on six carries. Smith pitched in with five catches for 66 yards, and Shannon Sharpe also caught five balls for 31 yards. Stokley and Harrison each reached the 100-yard receiving plateau, gaining 144 and 133 yards respectively, and Manning completed 22-of-26 passes for 377 yards, five touchdowns and a 158.3 passer rating.

The term NFL ROOKIE is defined as a player who is in his first season of professional football and has not been on the roster of another professional football team for any regular-season or postseason games. A ROOKIE is designated by an "R" on NFL rosters. Players who have been active in another professional league or players who have NFL experience, including their preseason training camp or being on an Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform for fewer than six regular season games, are termed NFL First-Year Players. An NFL First-Year Player is designated by a "1" on NFL rosters. Thereafter, a player is credited with an additional year of experience for each season in which he accumulates six games on the Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Injured or Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform.

Denver Broncos Starters, 1960-2003

Listed below are the usual starters, by position, for the Denver Broncos on a season-by-season basis from 1960-2003. A player must have been the starter for the majority of the games that season to be designated as the starter. If the number of starting assignments at a position were virtually equal, two players have been listed, with the player who had the greater playing time listed first. The term "Ret" is used to designate someone who was a kick return specialist.

2003 AFC WILD CARD PLAYOFF GAME

INDIANAPOLIS 41, DENVER 10

Sun., Jan. 4, 2004 • 4:35 p.m. EST • RCA Dome • Indianapolis, Ind.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 55,331 • Time: 2:39*

Denver suffered a 41-10 loss to Indianapolis in the AFC Wild Card Playoff Game in front of 55,331 fans at the RCA Dome in Indianapolis. The Colts jumped out to a 14-3 first-quarter lead and never looked back, outscoring the Broncos 31-3 in the first half.

On the game's opening drive, Peyton Manning led the Colts 70 yards and capped the drive when he found Brandon Stokley for a 31-yard touchdown and an early lead. Denver answered on its first drive but could only manage a 49-yard Jason Elam field goal after penalties caused the drive to stall.

Late in the first quarter, Manning hit Marvin Harrison, who fell near the Colts' 29-yard line, and after not being touched by a Broncos' defender, got up and ran the ball in for a touchdown, and a 14-3 lead. With Denver unable to sustain a drive after picking up two holding penalties, Indianapolis took possession on its 20-yard-line after a Broncos punt. Manning engineered another successful touchdown drive (8 plays, 80 yards), culminating in a 23-yard touchdown pass to Harrison. After another Denver punt, Manning hit Stokley in stride and scampered 87 yards for a touchdown, giving the Colts a 28-3 lead with less than two minutes remaining in the half. Denver began to mount a drive, but Plummer's pass, intended for Rod Smith, was intercepted by David Macklin and returned 21 yards to the Colts' 42-yard-line. Indianapolis drove down, and Mike Vanderjagt's 27-yard field goal gave the Colts a 31-3 halftime lead.

On their first drive of the second half, Plummer connected with Rod Smith for a 34-yard reception, moving the Broncos to the Colts' 27-yard line, but Elam's 28-yard field goal attempt was blocked and the Colts took over on their own 36-yard line. Indianapolis was able to add to its lead by capping a 64-yard drive with a 7-yard touchdown pass from Manning to Reggie Wayne. Plummer—when hit from behind by Dwight Freeney—fumbled on Denver's next possession, and the ball was recovered by Rob Morris on Denver's 20-yard line. Indianapolis settled for a 20-yard field goal and a 41-3 lead. Midway through the fourth quarter—after recovering a Colts' fumble on its 38-yard-line—Denver finally found the end zone on the game's final score when Plummer found Rod Smith for a 7-yard touchdown.

Plummer completed 23-of-30 passes for 181 yards and a touchdown but tossed a pair of interceptions. Clinton Portis led the Broncos with 68 yards rushing, and rookie Quentin Griffin added 60 yards on six carries. Smith pitched in with five catches for 66 yards, and Shannon Sharpe also caught five balls for 31 yards. Stokley and Harrison each reached the 100-yard receiving plateau, gaining 144 and 133 yards respectively, and Manning completed 22-of-26 passes for 377 yards, five touchdowns and a 158.3 passer rating.

BALTIMORE 21, DENVER 3

Sun., Dec. 31, 2000 • 12:35 p.m. EST • PSINet Stadium • Baltimore, Md.

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 22º (wind chill 5º), Wind NNW 20-25 mph • Attendance: 69,638 • Time: 2:54*

The Broncos' season ended in a disappointing 21-3 defeat at the hands of the Baltimore Ravens in an AFC Wild Card Playoff Game at PSINet Stadium in Baltimore on a blustery New Year's Eve day. Denver's offense managed just 177 yards—the club's third lowest output in 28 postseason games—and nine first downs against a record-setting Ravens defense, which put an end to the Broncos' seven-game postseason win streak.

After a scoreless first quarter, Baltimore put the first points on the scoreboard when Jamal Lewis' reach the end zone from 1 yard out early in the second quarter to cap a 10-play, 75-yard drive. The Broncos answered with a 31-yard Jason Elam field goal to narrow the deficit to 7-3 when a promising 12-play, 68-yard drive stalled after a 3rd-and-1 opportunity at the Ravens' 12-yard line. What followed would prove to be the play of the game, if not one of the more bizarre plays of the year.

The Ravens' Corey Harris returned the ensuing kickoff 15 yards to the Baltimore 42-yard line. On 1st-and-10, Baltimore's Trent Dilfer attempted a screen pass to Lewis, who tipped the ball into and out of the hands of Denver cornerback Terrell Buckley. The loose ball was grabbed out of the air by former Broncos tight end Shannon Sharpe who dashed 58 yards for a touchdown, boosting the lead to 14-3.

Baltimore increased its halftime lead to 21-3 late in the third quarter when Lewis ran 27 yards for this second touchdown of the day to cap the scoring.

Denver managed just 83 yards on its eight second-half possessions and was held scoreless to preserve the lowest scoring output (3) in franchise postseason history. The Broncos penetrated Ravens territory just once all day and ran just seven plays on the Baltimore side of the field.

Broncos quarterback Gus Frerotte, subbing for the injured Brian Griese, completed 13-of-28 passes for 124 yards with one interception, while Ed McCaffrey led all receivers with eight catches for 75 yards. Mike Anderson led the Broncos in rushing with 40 yards on 15 carries. Safety Billy Jenkins and defensive end Maa Tanuvasa each had sacks for the Broncos' defense, which held Baltimore to 244 yards total offense and forced 10 punts.

DENVER 34, ATLANTA 19

Sun., Jan. 31, 1999 • 6:25 p.m. EST • Pro Player Stadium • Miami, Fla.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 73º, Wind E 10 mph • Attendance: 74,803 • Time: 3:18*

The Denver Broncos clinched their second consecutive World Championship with a 34-19 victory over the Atlanta Falcons in Super Bowl XXXIII before 74,803 at Miami's Pro Player Stadium and millions more watching around the world. With the win, Denver joined just five other franchises that have won back-to-back Super Bowl titles and posted just the seventh repeat championship in Super Bowl history. The win also gave Denver 33 wins in the past two seasons and 46 wins in the past three, both NFL records.

Quarterback John Elway claimed the game's Most Valuable Player award by completing 18-of-29 passes for 336 yards (3rd-most in Super Bowl history), including an 80-yard touchdown toss to Rod Smith in the second quarter that tied for the second-longest TD pass in Super Bowl history. He also ran for a 3-yard score in the fourth quarter, making him the the oldest player (38) to score a touchdown in the Super Bowl, eclipsing the record he set a year earlier by scoring in Super Bowl XXXII.

Elway's accurate passing and Terrell Davis' effective running (25 carries, 102 yards) kept the Falcons off balance all day. The Broncos' defense chipped in, as well, with two sacks and four forced turnovers, including two interceptions by Darrien Gordon, who set Super Bowl records for most interception-return yards in a game (108).

Atlanta took the opening kickoff and capped its drive with a 32-yard Morten Andersen field goal before Denver answered with the game's next 17 points. The first score came on a 1-yard run by fullback Howard Griffith that capped a 10-play, 80-yard opening drive by the Broncos, and the lead was increased to 10-3 on a 26-yard Jason Elam field goal that capped Denver's third possession. After Andersen missed a 26-yard field goal attempt, the Broncos answered with the Elway-to-Smith 80-yard score on the next play to push the lead to 17-3. The Falcons narrowed the margin to 17-6 at halftime with a 28-yard Andersen field goal.

After a scoreless third quarter, Denver took advantage of Gordon's first interception by capping a short 24-yard drive with another Griffith 1-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter. Gordon's second pickoff set up Elway's 3-yard touchdown run that put Denver ahead 31-6 with 11:20 remaining. Two late touchdowns by Atlanta, sandwiched around a 37-yard Elam field goal, produced the final margin.

Davis set an NFL record with his seventh consecutive 100-yard game in the postseason, defensive tackle Mike Lodish set a record by playing in his sixth Super Bowl and Bill Romanowski became just the second player to win back-to-back titles with two different teams.

DENVER 23, NEW YORK JETS 10

Sun., Jan. 17, 1999 • 2:15 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 41º, Wind NW 24 mph (wind chill 18º) • Attendance: 75,482 • Time: 3:16*

The Broncos clinched their AFC-record sixth berth in a Super Bowl by defeating the New York Jets 23-10 in the AFC Championship Game before a crowd of 75,482 at Mile High Stadium and a CBS national TV audience. The win was Denver's 19th consecutive at home including postseason.

After not scoring in the first half, the Broncos scored 20 third-quarter points and reached the Super Bowl for the second consecutive season—matching the back-to-back AFC Championships of the 1986 and '87 Broncos.

The Jets had taken a 10-0 lead on a John Hall 32-yard field goal and a 1-yard Curtis Martin touchdown run that was set up by a blocked punt at the Broncos' 1-yard line. That touchdown proved to be just the wake-up call that Denver needed to ignite its offense as well as the unusually quiet Mile High crowd. On 1st-and-10 from the 36-yard line, John Elway connected with Ed McCaffrey on a 47-yard pass play and two plays later found fullback Howard Griffith with an 11-yard touchdown pass to get Denver on the board and narrow the Jets' lead to 10-7.

Then, a wind-stifled kickoff was recovered by Keith Burns and turned into a 44-yard Jason Elam field goal. Another Elam kick of 48 yards gave Denver the lead, and then a 31-yard touchdown run by Terrell Davis gave the Broncos a 10-point cushion they never relinquished.

The Broncos defense—which deserved credit for keeping the Broncos in the game in the first half while the offense sputtered—forced six turnovers (including two interceptions by Darrien Gordon) on the day and held the Jets to 14 yards rushing on 13 carries. The four opponent fumbles recovered by Denver set a franchise postseason record.

Davis set numerous records during the contest, including passing his own NFL-record total of 2,331 yards rushing in an entire season (regular and postseason combined) set in 1997 and rushing for 100 yards for the sixth consecutive postseason game, tying John Riggins for the most all-time. He also passed Larry Csonka and Riggins for seventh and sixth place in career postseason rushing yards. Tight end Shannon Sharpe tied Vance Johnson (40) for the most receptions in postseason by a Bronco. Elam's three field goals tied a Denver single-game postseason record. The Broncos maintained a perfect record (10-0) in the postseason when outrushing their opponent and a perfect mark (12-0) when leading after three quarters.

DENVER 38, MIAMI 3

Sat., Jan. 9, 1999 • 2:15 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 49º, Wind W 13 mph • Attendance: 75,729 • Time: 2:48*

The Denver Broncos won their fifth consecutive postseason contest and advanced to the AFC Championship Game for the second year in a row with a record-setting 38-3 win over Miami in an AFC Divisional Playoff Game played before 75,729 raucous fans at Mile High Stadium.

The 35-point differential represented Denver's largest margin of victory in a postseason game and was punctuated by a defensive effort that limited Miami to just 14 yards on 13 carries for an average of 1.1 yards per rush—all of which set new franchise records. The three points allowed were also the fewest allowed by Denver in a postseason game.

The Broncos offense was just as sharp, putting points on the board in all four quarters, including 14 in both the first and fourth quarters. Denver's two first quarter TDs both came courtesy of T.D. himself—Terrell Davis—who scored on runs on 1 and 20 yards, the latter of which would qualify for any highlight film as Davis juked two Dolphins defenders with separate moves as he dashed to the end zone. Davis was, unequivocally, the offensive star, posting a franchise-record 199 yards on 21 carries, which also represented the fourth-highest single-game total in NFL postseason history. Davis, who moved into eighth place all-time in NFL postseason rushing in just his sixth game, had rushed for 129 yards by halftime to notch his first 100-yd. half in the postseason, to go along with 10 in the regular season.

Miami closed the gap to 14-3 in the second quarter, scoring its only points of the game on a 22-yd. Olindo Mare field goal, but Denver answered with an 11-play, 87-yard drive capped by Derek Loville's 11-yard TD run to increase the lead to 21-3 at halftime. The Broncos pushed the margin to 24-3 early in the third quarter when Jason Elam converted a 32-yd. field goal and put the game far out of reach early in the fourth quarter when John Elway hooked up with Rod Smith for a 28-yd. touchdown play that was his 25th career postseason TD, tying him for fourth-place all-time.

The icing on the cake was provided when Neil Smith picked up a fumble forced by Darrius Johnson at the Broncos' 21-yd. line and ran it back 79 yards for his first career postseason and a 38-3 Broncos lead that would stand up over the final 9:49 for Denver's most lopsided postseason win.

Shannon Sharpe led all Denver receivers with five catches, while Smith was the top yardage-gainer through the air with 71 on four catches. Defensively, Darrius Johnson and Bill Romanowski each intercepted Dan Marino, with Johnson returning his pickoff 48 yards for the second-longest interception return in franchise postseason history.

SUPER BOWL XXXII

DENVER 31, GREEN BAY 24

Sun., Jan. 25, 1998 • 3:24 p.m. PST • Qualcomm Stadium • San Diego, Calif.

Weather: Clear and Sunny, 67º, Wind WSW 8 mph • Attendance: 68,912 • Time: 3:25*

The Denver Broncos won their first Super Bowl and became the first representative from the American Football Conference in 14 years to claim the Vince Lombardi trophy as they used a powerful running game and a solid defensive performance to dethrone the defending Super Bowl champion Green Bay Packers 31-24 in front of 68,912 at Qualcomm Stadium in San Diego.

Denver running back Terrell Davis, playing in his hometown, was named the game's Most Valuable Player in recognition of his 157-yard rushing effort on 30 carries, which included a Super Bowl-record three rushing touchdowns, each from 1 yard out. Davis' three total touchdowns and 18 points each tied Super Bowl records and were made even more remarkable by the fact that he missed almost the entire second quarter when he was sidelined by the onset of a migraine headache.

Both offenses displayed their talents immediately, as Super Bowl XXXII became the first ever in which each team scored a touchdown on its opening possession. The Packers struck first when Brett Favre connected with Antonio Freeman on a 22-yard scoring pass to cap a 76-yard, 8-play opening drive. The Broncos answered by driving 58 yards in 10 plays the first time they touched the ball, culminating in a 1-yard Davis touchdown run with 5:39 remaining in the first quarter.

The Broncos turned two Packers turnovers into 10 more points to take a 17-7 lead early in the second quarter, making them the fourth team in Super Bowl history to score on each of its first three possessions. The first opportunity was created when strong safety Tyrone Braxton intercepted a Brett Favre pass, and eight plays later, John Elway rushed around right end for a 1-yard touchdown. Free safety Steve Atwater sacked Favre on the next Green Bay possession, forcing a fumble that was recovered by defensive end Neil Smith. Four plays later Jason Elam converted a 51-yard field goal, the second-longest in Super Bowl history.

Green Bay pulled to within 17-14 with a touchdown just before halftime and tied the score early in the third quarter on a 27-yard Ryan Longwell field goal. Denver broke the tie late in the third quarter on a 1-yard Davis touchdown run and looked to increase the lead after recovering a Green Bay fumble on the ensuing kickoff, but Elway was intercepted by the Packers' Eugene Robinson in the end zone on the next play. Green Bay would move 85 yards in just four plays to tie the game at 24, setting the stage for Davis' late-game heroics.

After the Denver defense turned back the Packers on their next two possessions — including one advance to the Denver 39-yard line that was thwarted when Steve Atwater broke up a potential first-down pass to Robert Brooks — the Broncos set up shop at the Packers' 49-yard line for their game-winning drive. Five plays later Davis scored his third touchdown of the day, from 1 yard out, giving Denver a 31-24 lead that would hold up over the final 1:45 for the victory.

DENVER 24, PITTSBURGH 21

Sun., Jan. 11, 1998 • 12:35 p.m. EST • Three Rivers Stadium • Pittsburgh, Pa.

Weather: Sunny, 38º, Wind SW 3 mph • Attendance: 61,382 • Time: 2:59*

The Denver Broncos advanced to their fifth Super Bowl—and their first since 1989—with a 24-21 victory at Pittsburgh in the AFC Championship Game, in front of 61,382 fans at Three Rivers Stadium. The Broncos became just the fifth Wild Card team to advance to the Super Bowl, since the Wild Card format was established in 1970.

The passing of John Elway and the running of Terrell Davis, along with a defensive effort that included big play after big play, combined to propel Denver to a 24-14 halftime lead, that they rode to a 24-21 win.

Elway was intercepted by Levon Kirkland on the game's second play, but the Steelers failed to answer when Norm Johnson's 38-yard field goal attempt sailed wide to the left. Denver then got on the board when Davis—who would rush for 139 yards and become the club's all-time postseason rushing leader—capped a six-play, 72-yard drive with an 8-yard touchdown run on the Broncos' second possession.

Pittsburgh evened the score on its next possession, as quarterback Kordell Stewart rushed 33 yards around right end for a touchdown to punctuate a 6-play, 65-yard drive that covered 3:02 on the clock. The Steelers then broke the deadlock early in the second quarter when Jerome Bettis powered his way into the end zone from 1-yard out to put the finishing touches on an 11-play, 68-yard drive.

But the Broncos would score the game's next 17 points, and, in effect, put the game away as the defense held up its end of the bargain down the stretch. The scoring began with a 43-yard Jason Elam field goal with 8:20 remaining in the half. After each team punted on its next possession, Denver got the ball back when Ray Crockett intercepted a Stewart bomb in the end zone, setting up a 14-point assault that would send Denver to the locker room ahead 24-14. Elway hit Howard Griffith for a 15-yard touchdown with 1:47 remaining, and Denver then forced a Pittsburgh punt and found the end zone again when Elway connected with Ed McCaffrey for a 1-yard touchdown with 13 seconds left in the half.

Denver rode that 24-14 lead into the fourth quarter before the Steelers scored the only points of the second half on a 14-yard Stewart-to-Charles Johnson touchdown pass with 2:46 remaining. But the Broncos succeeded in running out the clock on their final possession and established a new franchise record with their 15th win of the season.

Elway tied Roger Staubach for fourth place on the NFL's all-time list for postseason touchdown passes (24) with his two on the day, and the Broncos' three interceptions tied the franchise postseason record for most in a game.

DENVER 14, KANSAS CITY 10

Sun., Jan. 4, 1998 • 3 p.m. CST • Arrowhead Stadium • Kansas City, Mo.

Weather: Overcast, 32º (wind chill 26º), Wind NW 6 mph • Attendance: 76,965 • Time: 2:59*

The Denver Broncos posted their first road playoff win in 11 years—and only the second in franchise history—with a 14-10 victory over Kansas City in front of 76,965 at Arrowhead Stadium. Denver advanced to its first AFC Championship Game since the 1991 season on the strength of two Terrell Davis touchdowns—tying the franchise postseason record for the second week in a row—and a defensive effort that limited the Chiefs to just 10 points, tying for the fewest in club playoff history.

Davis broke a scoreless tie late in the second quarter, plowing into the end zone from 1 yard out to give Denver a 7-0 lead with 1:56 remaining in the half, capping an 8-play, 65-yard drive that covered 4:51 on the clock. Key to the drive was a 17-yard John Elway completion to Rod Smith on a third-and-seven play that gave the Broncos a first down at the Kansas City 4.

The Chiefs, limited to 58 yards total offense in the first half, came out strong after the break, moving the ball to the Denver 6-yard line, before settling for a 20-yard Pete Stoyanovich field goal. Kansas City struck again late in the quarter when Elvis Grbac found tight end Tony Gonzalez in the back of the end zone for a 12-yard score and the Chiefs' only touchdown of the day.

The Broncos, however, would answer on their ensuing possession, driving 49 yards in 6 plays for what would prove to be the game-winning touchdown. The key play of the drive was a 43-yard Elway-to-Ed McCaffrey completion on third-and-five from the Chiefs' 44-yard line, which gave Denver a first down at the Chiefs' 1-yard line. After two unsuccessful attempts from close range, Davis muscled his way through the middle of the Chiefs' line for his second touchdown of the day and the fifth of his career in the postseason to establish a new franchise record.

Kansas City would have possession three more times in the game but would be turned back each time by the Broncos' defense after reaching Denver's 31 (punt), their own 36 (punt) and the Broncos' 20 with 0:19 left (downs). The final play was a pass to the end zone on 4th-and-2 that was knocked down by Darrien Gordon, ending the Chiefs' hopes, and propelling Denver to the AFC title game.

Elway, with 170 passing yards on the day, moved into second place in NFL postseason history in that category, supplanting both Terry Bradshaw (3,833) and Jim Kelly (3,863) to finish the day at 3,940.

DENVER 42, JACKSONVILLE 17

Sat., Dec. 27, 1997 • 2:05 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Partly Cloudy, 44º (wind chill 19º), Wind N 30 mph • Attendance: 74,481 • Time: 3:02*

The Denver Broncos advanced to the AFC Divisional playoffs by literally running the Jacksonville Jaguars out of town as they piled up a club postseason-record 310 rushing yards en route to a 42-17 victory in front of 74,481 at Mile High Stadium. The Broncos set numerous other postseason records during the contest, including new standards for rushing attempts (49), total yards (511), points in a quarter (21; 4th qtr.), total points (42), first downs (28), rushing first downs (18) and third-down efficiency (75%), while the 237 yards allowed by the defense was the second-lowest total in Denver's 21-game playoff history.

The Broncos scored touchdowns on each of their first three possessions, racking up a 21-0 lead on 32 offensive plays, during which time the Jaguars ran only six. Terrell Davis capped Denver's opening drive with a 2-yard touchdown run, and Rod Smith punctuated the next when he reeled in a 43-yard touchdown pass from John Elway. The lead was increased to 21-0 when Davis—who set franchise postseason records for rushing attempts (31), rushing yards (184) and longest run from scrimmage (59) before leaving in the third quarter with bruised ribs—tied the franchise records for rushing touchdowns and total touchdowns in a postseason game with his second of the day, this one from 5 yards out.

The Jaguars answered by scoring the game's next 17 points, courtesy of a 1-yard Natrone Means touchdown run before the half, a 38-yard Mike Hollis field goal early in the third quarter and a blocked punt by Travis Davis, which the Jacksonville safety returned 29 yards for a touchdown to pull the Jaguars to within 21-17.

But the Broncos dominated from there as Derek Loville took over for the injured Davis and slashed his way to 103 yards (second-most by a Bronco in postseason) on 11 attempts, and scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns on runs of 25 and 8 yards to tie the club touchdown record already achieved in the game by Davis. Vaughn Hebron then got into the act, scoring Denver's fifth rushing touchdown of the day on a 6-yard run with 1:11 remaining, to push the lead to its final margin of 42-17. With Davis' 184 rushing yards and Loville's 103, Denver became just the third team in NFL postseason history to boast two 100-yard rushers in the same game. Additionally, Denver's 40 minutes and 59 seconds of possession time and their 310 rushing yards both were the fifth-highest recorded in an NFL playoff game.

1996 AFC Divisional Playoff Game

Jacksonville 30, Denver 27

Sat., Jan. 4, 1997 • 2:05 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 46º, Wind NW 15 mph • Attendance: 75,678 • Time: 3:02*

The Broncos' most successful season since 1991 came to a surprising end at the hands of the Jacksonville Jaguars in an AFC Divisional Playoff game in front of 75,678 stunned fans at Mile High Stadium by a final score of 30-27. The loss was Denver's first of the season at home and only their second ever at home in the postseason.

The contest began on a promising note for the Broncos as they scored on two of their first three possessions to take a 12-0 lead into the second quarter. First, Vaughn Hebron scored his first-ever postseason touchdown on a 1-yard plunge on fourth down. During that drive, Terrell Davis set a franchise record for the longest postseason run with a 47-yard scamper. On Denver's next possession, Shannon Sharpe hauled in an 18-yard pass from John Elway to produce the 12-point margin.

The Jaguars then proceeded to score on their next six possessions with the first five being unanswered by the Broncos, producing a 23-12 advantage for Jacksonville. The Broncos responded with a 9-play, 57-yard drive, capped by a 2-yard touchdown run by Davis, who then tacked on the two-point conversion himself to cut the deficit to three. But then Mark Brunell, who threw for 245 yard and two touchdowns on the day, connected with Jimmy Smith on a critical third-and-five play at the Broncos' 16-yard line with 3:39 remaining in the game to restore a 10-point advantage.

The Broncos again pulled to within three points when Elway found Ed McCaffrey in the end zone for a 15-yard touchdown with 1:50 left, but Denver's magic ran out as the Jaguars held on for the 30-27 win.

During the contest, Elway—who played in his franchise-record 15th postseason game—passed Terry Bradshaw for fourth place on the all-time NFL postseason list for pass attempts. Natrone Means, who led Jacksonville's 203-yard ground attack, rushed for 140 yards on 21 carries. Brunell added 44 more on seven rushes.

1993 AFC WILD CARD GAME

LOS ANGELES RAIDERS 42, DENVER 24

Sun., Jan. 9, 1994 • 1 p.m. PST • Los Angeles Coliseum • Los Angeles, Calif.

Weather: Sunny, 76º, Wind 0 mph • Attendance: 66,094 • Time: 3:36*

The Broncos returned to the playoffs after a one-year hiatus and faced the L.A. Raiders for the second time in as many weeks, but unlike the previous week, this time it was a do-or-die situation for both teams.

Early on the game looked to have the makings of a defensive struggle with both teams going four downs and out on their first possession, but the game's pace quickly picked up on the second possession. The Raiders struck first on a 7-play, 80-yard drive that was capped with a nine-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jeff Hostetler to tight end Ethan Horton.

Quarterback John Elway and the Broncos responded with a drive of their own, going 63 yards in 7 plays, as Elway hooked up with tight end Shannon Sharpe for a 23-yard touchdown. The Raiders bounced back with a 65-yard touchdown toss to wide receiver Tim Brown to take a 14-7 lead. The Broncos responded by driving 64 yards in 11 plays setting up a 16-yard touchdown toss from Elway to tight end Reggie Johnson to tie the score. Hostetler continued to be red hot on the Raiders' next possession, leading the club 84 yards in just five plays. Wide receiver James Jett helped pad Hostetler's totals by catching a 54-yard touchdown pass in the five-play drive.

As bad as the Broncos defense looked in three straight possessions, the Broncos offense picked up the slack. In the Broncos' last drive of the half, the offense chewed up nearly seven minutes and went 77 yards to tie the score 14-14. Wide receiver Derek Russell caught a 6-yard scoring pass that tied the score, but the real hero of the drive was John Elway, who completed passes to six different receivers and showed his versatility by running twice.

The two teams combined for nearly 500 yards of total offense by halftime, but only the Raiders continued that pace in the second half. After receiving the opening kickoff, the Broncos failed to move the ball on their first three possessions, giving the Raiders great field position after three punts that averaged 30 yards by Tom Rouen. The Raiders took advantage, starting drives at the Denver 43 and 35, and their own 48, and parlayed two of those into touchdowns on drives of three and five plays to take a commanding 35-21 lead.

The Broncos made a dent in the score at the beginning of the fourth period on a 33-yard field goal by Jason Elam, but the Raiders responded to that with a 10-play, 76-yard drive that was capped by Napoleon McCallum's third touchdown of the game from one yard out. That would prove to be all of the scoring as the Raiders walked away with a 42-24 victory.

BUFFALO 10, DENVER 7

Sun., Jan. 12, 1992 • 12:35 p.m. EST • Rich Stadium • Buffalo, N.Y.

Weather: Sunny, 42º, Wind SSW 15 mph • Attendance: 80,272 • Time: 2:59*

The Broncos were denied their fifth AFC Championship, losing 10-7 to the Bills before 80,272 in Rich Stadium. Denver's defense shut down the high-powered Buffalo offense, limiting it to just 213 total yards and only 12 first downs, but the Broncos' offense failed to capitalize on several first-half opportunities.

Buffalo punted on its first two drives after a total net of -2 yards and had its third drive ended when nose teackle Greg Kragen tipped and then intercepted a pass on the Buffalo 29. But Denver could not take advantage as David Treadwell's 47-yard field goal attempt sailed wide right. The defense rose up again to thwart the Bills and the Broncos began their next drive on their own 24 but would later stall when Treadwell missed again, hitting the right upright from 42 yards out.

Once again the Bills punted after failing to get a first down, and a 10-yard punt return by Vance Johnson set Denver up on the 50. On first down, quarterback John Elway threw a middle screen to running back Steve Sewell, who gained 26 yards to the Buffalo 24. The Broncos could move no closer than the 20, and David Treadwell's 37-yard attempt hit the right upright, ending the last scoring threat of the first half. Through the first two quarters Denver outgained the Bills 123 yards to 58, had nine first downs to Buffalo's three, and had a time of possession of 20:19, but at halftime the score stood at 0-0.

The Bills' second drive of the third quarter began at their 20, and 11 plays later, they faced a third-and-seven on Denver's 26. Kelly attempted to hit wide receiver James Lofton but cornerback Tyrone Braxton intercepted the ball and returned it to the Denver 19. On 2nd-and-10, Elway attempted another middle screen to Sewell, but linebacker Carlton Bailey picked off the pass and ran 11 yards for a touchdown.

The Broncos' first possession of the fourth quarter began with Gary Kubiak at quarterback, replacing Elway, who left the game with an injured thigh muscle. Kubiak drove Denver from its 21 to the Buffalo 23, but the Broncos failed to convert a fourth-down attempt. The Bills then drove 50 yards in 9 plays to score on a 44-yard field goal by Scott Norwood. Now down 10-0, Kubiak engineered a frantic drive in which Denver covered 85 yards in 8 plays, and Kubiak scored a 3-yard quarterback draw to pull Denver within 3 points.

The ensuing onside kick was recovered by the Broncos' Steve Atwater, and Denver began its last-chance drive on its 49 with 1:43 left on the clock and two time-outs. On first down, Kubiak hit Sewell for seven yards, but cornerback Kirby Jackson stripped the ball away and he recovered on the Buffalo 44. The Bronco defense forced the Bills to punt, but Denver could only reach the 50 as time ran out. Kubiak, playing his final game as a pro, outgained both Elway and Kelly, completing 11-of-12 passes for 136 yards.

DENVER 26, HOUSTON 24

Sat., Jan. 4, 1992 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 36º, Wind W 14 mph • Attendance: 75,301 • Time: 3:09*

The Denver Broncos advanced to their fourth AFC Championship Game in six years after defeating Houston 26-24 before 75,301 in Mile High Stadium. David Treadwell's 28-yard field goal with 20 seconds remaining capped a 12-play, 78-yard drive in which the Broncos converted two fourth-down plays.

Houston quarterback Warren Moon drove his team 70 yards in four plays—highlighted by a 49-yard strike to Haywood Jeffires, who would also haul in the touchdown pass from 15 yards—to put Houston up 7-0 with only 1:46 gone in the game. After a Denver punt, Moon again drove his team down the field and threw his second touchdown pass, this one for 9 yards to wide receiver Drew Hill.

The Broncos started their next possession on their 35 and covered 65 yards in 8 plays to score on a 10-yard pass from quarterback John Elway to wide receiver Vance Johnson, but a fumbled snap on the conversion attempt left the score 14-6. On the sixth play of the ensuing Oilers' drive, Moon was intercepted by free safety Steve Atwater, but a roughing the passer call nullified the effort. Three plays later, Houston scored on a 6-yard pass from Moon to wide receiver Curtis Duncan.

The next Oilers' possession ended when Atwater intercepted a pass and gave Denver the ball on its own 12 with 6:03 left in the half. In a drive that saw Elway complete all 6 passes for 64 yards and Steve Sewell complete one to Johnson for 10, the Broncos covered 88 yards in 12 plays to score on a 1-yard run by running back Greg Lewis, cutting the Houston lead to 21-13. After a missed Houston field goal attempt, the Broncos drove from their 20 to Houston's 31 and David Treadwell nailed a 49-yard field goal, the longest in Denver postseason history. Now up by only five at 21-16, the Oilers reached the Broncos' 7 on their next drive, but had to settle for a 25-yard field goal.

Denver started on its 20 and 9 plays later faced a fourth-and-four from the Houston 41. Elway threw a short pass to wide receiver Michael Young, who broke two tackles and was finally brought down on Houston's 15, for a gain of 26 yards. Three plays later, Lewis bowled over from one for his second touchdown of the day, making the score 24-23 in favor of Houston. The Oilers' next drive stalled and Greg Montgomery punted to the Denver two. With 2:07 and no time outs remaining, Elway hit Young for a 22-yard gain on first down, but three plays later, the Broncos had a fourth-and-six on the 28. Elway dropped back, then scrambled left upfield and ran out of bounds a yard past the first-down marker. Three consecutive incompletions again left Denver with a do-or-die fourth-down situation. Elway again dropped back and scrambled left, but as he headed upfield he tossed a pass to Johnson, who ran to the Houston 21 for a 44-yard gain. Running back Steve Sewell ran for 10 yards on first down, and two plays later, Treadwell came on for the winning kick.

SUPER BOWL XXIV

SAN FRANCISCO 55, DENVER 10

Sun., Jan. 28, 1990 • 4:23 p.m. CST • Louisiana Superdome • New Orleans, La.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 72,919 • Time: 3:21*

The San Francisco 49ers captured their fourth World Championship with a 55-10 victory over Denver in Super Bowl XXIV, played in the Louisiana Superdome. San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana completed 22-of-29 passes for 297 yards and five touchdowns—three to wide receiver Jerry Rice.

The Forty-Niners scored two touchdowns in every quarter and outgained the Broncos 461 yards to 167. After stopping Denver on the game's initial possession, San Francisco drove 66 yards in 10 plays, scoring on a 20-yard pass from Montana to Rice. The Broncos' next possession covered 49 yards in 10 plays and resulted in a 42-yard field goal by David Treadwell.

After limiting the Niners to four yards on their next drive, Denver took possession on its own 49, but on first down, running back Bobby Humphrey fumbled and defensive end Kevin Fagan recovered for San Francisco on the Niners' 46. That turnover led to a 7-yard touchdown pass from Montana to tight end Brent Jones, and after a failed extra point attempt, San Francisco led 13-3 with 3 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Broncos failed to cross mid-field in the second period while the Niners scored on a one-yard run by running back Tom Rathman and a 38-yard pass from Montana to Rice. San Francisco was unable to move the ball on the initial drive of the second half, but Elway was intercepted on the first play of Denver's next drive and the Niners took possession on the Broncos' 28. On first down, Montana threw a touchdown pass to Rice to put his team up 34-3. The next Denver drive also ended with an interception, leading to a 35-yard scoring pass from Montana to wide receiver John Taylor. The Broncos, spurred by a 34-yard run by Humphrey, moved 61 yards in 5 plays and a penalty to score on a 3-yard run by Elway. San Francisco roared back with an 11-play, 75-yard drive that ended with a 3-yard touchdown run by Rathman. Following another Broncos fumble, running back Roger Craig plowed 1 yard into the end zone to round out the scoring.

DENVER 37, CLEVELAND 21

Sun., Jan. 14, 1990 • 11:30 a.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 53º, Wind W 10 mph • Attendance: 76,005 • Time: 3:28*

The Denver Broncos won their third American Football Conference Championship in four years with a dynamic 37-21 victory over Cleveland before 76,005 fans in Mile High Stadium. Broncos quarterback John Elway threw for 385 yards and three touchdowns, running back Sammy Winder tied a Denver postseason record with two touchdowns, and strong safety Dennis Smith nabbed two of the Broncos' three interceptions. Denver had 497 yards of total offense to the Browns' 256 and had a time possession of 36:53.

The Broncos took the opening kickoff and drove to the Cleveland 1, but on third down, Elway's pitch to running back Bobby Humphrey was fumbled and the Browns' Andrew Stewart recovered on the 8. With 5 minutes left in the first quarter, Smith picked off a Bernie Kosar pass and returned it to the Cleveland 32. Denver moved to the Cleveland 12 but had to settle for a 29-yard field goal by David Treadwell.

Neither team mounted scoring drives until the Broncos took possession on their own 18 with 6:54 left in the half. On first down Elway hit wide receiver Mark Jackson for 12 yards, and three plays later he connected with wide receiver Michael Young for a 70-yard touchdown play. The Browns took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove 70 yards in 6 plays, scoring a 27-yard pass from Kosar to Brian Brennan. Denver roared right back on its next possession, going 80 yards in 6 plays and scoring on a 5-yard pass from Elway to tight end Orson Mobley. The key play on that drive was a 53-yard pass from Elway to Young. Cleveland was unable to move the ball and punted back to Denver. The Broncos moved from their own 40, and buoyed by a 25-yard run by Elway, covered 60 yards in 6 plays and scored on a 7-yard run by Winder, making the score 24-7.

The Browns needed just 6 plays to go 72 yards and score on a 10-yard Kosar-to-Brennan pass, and two plays into Denver's next drive, Cleveland's Felix Wright recovered a Denver fumble and returned it to the Broncos 1. On second down, Tim Manoa barreled over from the 2, cutting Denver's lead to 24-21 with one second left in the third quarter. The Broncos shut out the Browns in the final quarter while posting 13 points. Their initial drive of the quarter covered 80 yards in 6 plays and ended with a 39-yard touchdown pass from Elway to Winder. Denver's Kip Corrington intercepted Kosar to set the Broncos up on the Cleveland 39. Denver got as far as the Browns' 17 but had to settle for a 34-yard Treadwell field goal. Smith grabbed his second interception to end the Browns' next drive, leading to a 31-yard field goal.

Denver 24, Pittsburgh 23

Sun., Jan. 7, 1990 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 55º, Wind W 6 mph • Attendance: 75,868 • Time: 2:57*

The Denver Broncos advanced to their third AFC Championship Game in four years with a come-from-behind 24-23 victory over the Steelers before 75,868 in Mile High Stadium. Although Pittsburgh held the upper hand in total yards (404 to 364) and time of possession (34:14 to 25:46), Denver was able to mount a late fourth quarter drive and score the winning touchdown with just 2:27 remaining.

The Steelers took the opening kickoff return and drove 65 yards in 13 plays, scoring on a 32-yard Gary Anderson field goal. Late in the opening quarter, Pittsburgh took possession at its own 7-yard line, but after a 45-yard run by Merril Hoge and a 33-yard Bubby Brister to Tim Worley pass play, Pittsburgh was knocking on the door and scored three plays later on a 7-yard run by Hoge to put Pittsburgh up 10-0.

The Broncos took their first possession of the second quarter and drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score on a 1-yard plunge by running back Mel Bratton on third-and-goal. The Steelers roared back, traveling 77 yards in 12 plays to score on a 9-yard pass from Brister to wide receiver Louis Lipps. The Broncos got the ball back on their own 33 with 20 seconds left in the half. On first down, quarterback John Elway and wide receiver Mark Jackson combined for 26 yards, and then Elway fired a 15-yard pass to wide receiver Ricky Nattiel, putting Denver at the Pittsburgh 26 with 2 seconds left. David Treadwell kicked a 43-yard field goal to pull Denver within 17-10 at the half.

Early in the third quarter, Denver NT Greg Kragen forced a Tim Worley fumble and CB Tyrone Braxton recovered for the Broncos on the Steelers 37. On first down Elway, hit wide receiver Vance Johnson for a touchdown, tying the score at 17. Pittsburgh's next two possessions ended in Anderson field goals and the Steelers held a 23-17 lead in the early stages of the fourth quarter. After an exchange of punts, the Broncos took possession on their own 29 with 7:06 left in the game. After a first down penalty, making it first-and-19 from the 20, Elway hit Jackson for 18 yards. Elway then handed off to running back Bobby Humphrey, who pitched the ball back to Elway, and he threw a 36-yard strike to Johnson, giving Denver a first down on the Steeler 26. Humphrey ran on the next four plays, gaining 24 yards and taking the ball to the 2. On third-and-goal from the 1, Bratton scored again and Treadwell's extra point gave Denver its first lead of the game with 2:27 left. Pittsburgh got the ball on its own 20, but on third down Brister's signals were drowned out by the crowd and he mishandled the snap. Randy Robbins recovered for Denver on the Pittsburgh 18 and the Broncos were able to run out the clock.

SUPER BOWL XXII

Sun., Jan. 31, 1988 • 3:20 p.m. PST • Jack Murphy Stadium • San Diego, Calif.

Weather: Mostly Cloudy, 61º, Wind SW 5 mph • Attendance: 73,302 • Time: 3:40*

The Washington Redskins scored 35 points in the second quarter to power their way to a 42-10 victory over the Broncos in Super Bowl XXII, played at San Diego's Jack Murphy Stadium.

Super Bowl MVP Doug Williams of Washington completed 18-of-29 passes for 340 yards and four touchdowns, while rusher Timmy Smith gained 204 yards on 22 carries, scoring twice, and wide receiver Ricky Sanders caught 9 passes for 193 yards and two touchdowns.

Overall, the Redskins gained 602 yards of total offense to Denver's 327. The Broncos took the early lead on their first play from scrimmage, a 56-yard bomb from John Elway to Ricky Nattiel, coming with 1:57 gone in the game. Denver's next possession stalled at the Redskins' 7-yard line as Rich Karlis put the Broncos up 10-0 with a 24-yard field goal.

In the second quarter, however, Denver's dreams of a World Championship were blown apart by the Redskins. On Washington's first play of the quarter, Williams and Sanders combined for an 80-yard touchdown to bring the score to 10-7. The Redskins took the lead for good on the fifth play of their next possession when Williams hit Gary Clark for 27 yards and a score.

Denver got as far as the Washington 26 on its next drive, but Karlis' 43-yards field goal attempt sailed wide left. Two plays later, Timmy Smith scored on a 58-yard run to increase the Washington lead to 21-10. The Redskins' next possession ended with a 50-yard Williams-to-Sanders TD pass, and minutes later, Williams and Clint Didier combined for a 7-yard touchdown pass to give the Washington Redskins a 35-10 lead at halftime.

The Broncos could move only as far as the Redskins' 48-yard line in the second half, and Washington closed out the scoring late in the game on a 4-yard run by Smith.

DENVER 38, CLEVELAND 33

Sun., Jan. 17, 1988 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 44º, Wind NE 8 mph • Attendance: 75,993 • Time: 3:37*

Denver's Jeremiah Castille recovered a Cleveland fumble on the Denver 3-yard line with just over a minute left in the game, halting a desperate drive by the Browns and preserving a victory for Denver. With the win, Denver became the first AFC Champion since the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1978-79 to win the conference in consecutive seasons.

The Broncos were presented with the game's first scoring opportunity when Freddie Gilbert caught a deflected Bernie Kosar pass on the contest's third play. Denver took 4 plays to go 18 yards, scoring on an 8-yard pass from John Elway to Ricky Nattiel. The Browns' next drive reached the Bronco 45 before Kevin Mack fumbled, and it was recovered by Steve Wilson on the Denver 40. Two plays later Gene Lang took off on a 42-yard run that would stand for nine years as the longest in postseason history for Denver, taking the ball to the Cleveland 11. Six plays later, on third-and-goal from the 3, Elway's threw incomplete into the end zone, but Cleveland was penalized for holding, giving the Broncos new life at the Browns' 1. Steve Sewell scored on first down to give Denver a 14-0 lead with 11 minutes gone in the first quarter.

The Browns took 13 plays to move 64-yards for their first points of the game, scoring on a 24-yard Matt Bahr field goal. Elway responded by moving the Broncos 80 yards in 11 plays, capped by a 1-yard Gene Lang touchdown run to up Denver's lead to 21-3. Both teams missed field goals in the latter part of the first half, and the Broncos took their 18-point lead into the dressing room at halftime.

After Elway was intercepted by Felix Wright four plays into the second half, Cleveland needed just three plays to go 35 yards and score on an 18-yard pass from Bernie Kosar to Reggie Langhorne. The Broncos answered four plays into their next drive, when on third-and-10 from the Denver 20, Elway scrambled right and threw to Mark Jackson, who caught the ball at the Broncos 25, evaded two tackles and sprinted for a touchdown to complete an 80-yard scoring play and give the Broncos a 28-10 lead. Kosar and the Browns roared right back, moving 80 yards in 5 plays to score on a 32-yard Kosar-to-Earnest Byner pass.

After a Broncos punt, Cleveland engineered another scoring drive, going 42 yards in 4 plays and scoring on a 4-yard run by Byner to narrow the Bronco lead to 28-24. Just before the end of the third period, Rich Karlis capped off a Denver possession with a 38-yard field goal. The Browns, however, moved 86 yards in 9 plays to tie the score at 31-31 on a 4-yard pass from Kosar to Webster Slaughter. After an exchange of punts, Denver began a drive at their own 25 with 5:14 left in the game. A pair of 26-yard pass plays to Ricky Nattiel put Denver at the Cleveland 20, set up a 23-yard Elway-Sammy Winder pass play for a touchdown to put the Broncos up 38-31 with just over 4 minutes left. Kosar and the Browns advanced to the Denver 8-yard line with 1:12 remaining when Byner ran to the 3, but had the ball stripped by Castille, who recovered for the Broncos. Denver was forced into a fourth down situation with 13 seconds left, and punter Mike Horan carried the ball out of the back of the end zone for a safety, making the score 38-33 in Denver's favor. After the ensuing free kick, Cleveland attempted one pass before time ran out.

1987 AFC Divisional Playoff Game

Denver 34, Houston 10

Sun., Jan. 10, 1988 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 45º, Wind E 6 mph • Attendance: 75,968 • Time: 3:07*

The Denver Broncos advanced to the AFC Championship game after beating the Oilers 34-10, the largest margin of victory ever for the Broncos in postseason play. The Broncos were led on defense by Mark Haynes and Karl Mecklenburg, who both picked up key interceptions, and on offense by quarterback John Elway (14 of 25, 259 yards, two TDs) and receivers Vance Johnson (4 catches for 105 yards) and Clarence Kay (3 catches for 57 yards and two TDs).

Punter Mike Horan put the Oilers in a hole after the Broncos' first drive stalled, sending a punt to the Houston 5-yard line, where two plays later, a lateral pass from Warren Moon to Mike Rozier was fumbled, and Steve Wilson recovered for Denver on the 1. Gene Lang scored two plays later to give the Broncos an early 7-0 lead. Houston's next drive reached the Broncos 20-yard line before Mecklenburg intercepted a pass and returned it to the Denver 28. Elway hit Kay for 29 yards on the next play to move into Houston territory, and five plays later the same connection was made for a 27-yard touchdown pass, giving the Broncos a 14-0 lead.

Both teams added field goals on their first drive of the second quarter to make the score 17-3 in Denver's favor. On the fourth Denver play after Houston's field goal, Elway threw a 55-yard bomb to Johnson to move the ball to the Oiler 11. Five plays later Elway hit Kay, again for a touchdown on a 1-yard pass to up the lead to 24-3 with less than 2 minutes left in the half.

Denver's first possession of the second half resulted in a Rich Karlis field goal. Houston then took 10 plays to reach the Denver 7, but Mark Haynes picked off a Moon pass in the end zone and returned it 57 yards, a Broncos playoff record. Houston's next drive reached the Broncos 11 but a pass on fourth down fell incomplete. The Oilers got the ball back three plays later when Patrick Allen intercepted an Elway pass, and that led to a 19-yard touchdown pass from Moon to Ernest Givins, cutting Denver's lead to 27-10. The Broncos' Kevin Clark recovered the onside kick that followed, and Denver moved 52 yards in 7 plays to score the final points of the game on a 3-yard run by Elway.

SUPER BOWL XXI

NEW YORK GIANTS 39, DENVER 20

Sun., Jan. 25, 1987 • 3:13 p.m. PST • Rose Bowl • Pasadena, Calif.

Weather: Sunny, 76º, Wind W 2-5 mph • Attendance: 101,063 • Time: 3:25*

The New York Giants broke open a close game with 24 unanswered points to open the second half, capturing a 39-20 win over the Broncos in Super Bowl XXI. The game, played before a crowd of 101,063 in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, featured outstanding performances by the two quarterbacks, Super Bowl MVP Phil Simms of New York (22-25, 268 yds., 3 TDs) and Denver's John Elway (22-37, 304 yds., 1 TD).

The Broncos drove to the Giants' 31-yard-line on their opening drive and took a 3-0 lead when Rich Karlis booted a Super Bowl record-tying 48-yard field goal. New York answered with a 9-play, 78-yard scoring drive that culminated with a 6-yard touchdown pass from Simms to tight end Mark Bavaro.

With five-and-a-half minutes remaining in the first quarter, the Broncos took possession on their own 42 after a 28-yard kickoff return by Ken Bell. Elway completed passes on the first three plays of the drive as Denver reached the New York 33. Two Giants penalties left the Broncos with a first-and-10 at the 12, and on third down, Elway called his own number, scoring from 4 yards out on a quarterback draw to give Denver a 10-7 lead. The Giants' next drive stalled and the Broncos got the ball back at the 14-minute mark of the second quarter. On the third play of the drive, on third-and-18, Elway unleashed a 54-yard bomb to Vance Johnson, giving the Broncos a first down on the Giants 28. Seven plays later, Denver had a first-and-goal at the New York 1 but failed to score in three plays and Karlis was wide right on a 23-yard field goal attempt.

Denver's Orange Crush defense stifled the next Giant drive at the New York 47, and after a punt, the Broncos got the ball back on their own 15. Controversy entered the game when, on second-and-twelve, Elway threw an apparent completion for a first down to Clarence Kay. The pass was ruled incomplete, a call that was upheld after review of the television replay. On the next play, Giant defensive end George Martin sacked Elway in the end zone for a safety to pull New York within a point of Denver at 10-9. The Denver defense held again, giving Denver the ball at its own 37. Elway quickly hit Steve Watson for 31 yards and Gerald Willhite for 11 more to give the Broncos a first-and-10 at the Giants' 21 with 43 seconds left in the half. Denver reached the 16-yard-line, but Karlis was wide right on a 34-yard field goal attempt with 13 seconds left in the half.

New York scored on all three third-quarter drives and outgained Denver in the period 163 yards to 2. With the score at 26-10, the Giants mounted a scoring drive on their first possession of the fourth quarter, and they went up 33-10 after Phil McConkey caught a deflected pass in the end zone, Simms' third touchdown strike of the day. Denver got the ball back at its own 16 and Elway moved the squad to the New York 10, as Karlis kicked a 27-yard field goal to make the score 33-13. The Giants took only 5 plays to move 46 yards for their next touchdown, a 2-yard run by Ottis Anderson, which made the score 39-13. Elway took Denver down the field again and hit Vance Johnson with a 47-yard touchdown pass for the game's final points.

DENVER 23, CLEVELAND 20

Sun., Jan. 11, 1987 • 12:30 p.m. EST • Cleveland Stadium • Cleveland, Ohio

Weather: Solid Overcast, 30º, Wind NW 14 mph (-5º) • Attendance: 79,915 • Time: 3:50*

Rich Karlis kicked a 33-yard field goal 5:48 into overtime to give the Broncos a 23-20 victory over the Browns. The game was played before a crowd of 79,915 people, who braved a wind-chill of 5 degrees.

Cleveland took an early 7-0 led when Bernie Kosar threw a 6-yard touchdown pass to Herman Fontenot with 5:19 left in the first quarter to cap a 14-play, 86-yard drive. The Broncos stopped the next two Cleveland drives with interceptions, the first by Ricky Hunley and the second by Jim Ryan, who returned the ball 26 yards to the Cleveland 9. Four plays later Karlis nailed a 19-yard field goal to make the score 7-3. Denver got another break on Cleveland's next play when Kevin Mack fumbled and Ken Woodard recovered the ball on the Browns' 37. On first down, John Elway rambled 34 yards, and two more rushes got Denver to the 1-yard line. On fourth-and-goal Gerald Willhite plunged into the end zone to give the Broncos a 10-7 lead.

Cleveland kicker Mark Moseley tied the score at 10 with a 29-yard field goal with 20 seconds left in the first half. Both teams saw their first two possessions of the second half end in punts before Denver scored on a 26-yard Karlis field goal 12 minutes into the third quarter, capping an 11-play, 61-yard drive. The Browns responded as Mack rushed for 34 yards in a 10-play, 76-yard drive that culminated with a 24-yard Moseley field goal, knotting the score at 13-13. The Broncos' next two possessions ended in punts, and Cleveland followed the second with a 48-yard touchdown strike from Kosar to Brian Brennan on a third-and-six play to put Cleveland ahead 20-13 with 5:43 left in regulation.

The ensuing kickoff rolled to the Denver 2-yard line where Gene Lang fell on it. Pro Bowl-bound Elway then engineered the longest and most important drive of his four-year career. On the fifth play of the drive (2nd-and-7 from the Broncos' 15), Elway rushed for 11 yards and a first down. He then hit Steve Sewell for a 22-yard gain, followed by a 12-yard strike to Steve Watson to give Denver a first down on the Cleveland 40. After an incompletion and an 8-yard sack, Elway threw a 20-yard pass to Mark Jackson, moving the team to the Cleveland 28. Another incompletion was followed by a 14-yard Elway-to-Sewell pass, giving the Broncos a first down on the Brown's 14 with 57 seconds left. After an imcompletion Elway ran 9 yards to the Cleveland 5-yard line. On the next play, he hit Jackson for a touchdown, and Karlis's extra point tied the score at 20 with 37 seconds left. Cleveland was unable to move the ball as time ran out in the fourth quarter.

The Browns won the overtime coin toss and elected to receive. Three plays into the drive, (on third-and-two from the Cleveland 38), the Orange Crush rose up to snuff Herman Fontenot for no gain. Cleveland punted and Willhite returned it to the Broncos 25, where the Denver juggernaut revved it up again. On second-and-five, Elway hit Orson Mobley for a 22-yard gain, and three plays later Elway threw a 28-yard pass to Watson. With a first down on Cleveland's 22-yard line, the Broncos rushed three times to get to the 15, and on fourth down, Karlis hit the 33-yard game-winner. Elway accounted for 300 total yards in the game, rushing for 56 and completing 22 of 38 passes for 244 yards. The Broncos kept alive a 1986 record of 13-0 when they scored 20 or more points. Denver also notched its 11th win on natural turf, losing only to San Diego at home on grass.

DENVER 22, NEW ENGLAND 17

Sun., Jan. 4, 1987 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 65º, Wind S 9 mph • Attendance: 76,105 • Time: 3:09*

Rulon Jones sacked Tony Eason in the end zone for a safety with 1:37 left on the clock to put Denver up 22-17 and halt the Patriots' final comeback drive. The playoff victory was the first since Jan. 1, 1978, for the Broncos when they defeated Oakland for the AFC Championship.

The two teams traded punts for the first 9 minutes of the game before Denver posed the initial scoring threat. Starting at their own 20, the Broncos took four plays to reach the New England 7, behind John Elway completions of 39 and 21 yards. On second-and-goal from the 4, Elway rolled around the left side and was hit just short of the goal line. He was penalized (delay of game) for spiking the ball after the play, and that sent Denver back to the 6. Two plays later, Rich Karlis nailed a 27-yard field goal to give Denver a 3-0 lead.

New England mounted a 7-play, 87-yard drive later in the quarter, with Eason hitting Stanley Morgan for a 19-yard touchdown. The Broncos roared right back with a 13-play, 82-yard drive that was punctuated by a 22-yard touchdown run by Elway, giving Denver a 10-7 lead midway through the second quarter. The Patriots tied the score on the last play of the half with a 38-yard Tony Franklin field goal.

Denver received the kickoff to open the second half and proceeded to chew up more than 9 minutes off of the clock. The Broncos ran the ball 11 times on the drive, which stalled on the Patriots 5. Karlis' 22-yard field goal put Denver up 13-10.

Five plays into the next New England drive, the Patriots took a page out of Dan Reeve's bag of tricks, scoring on a flea-flicker that ended with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Eason to Morgan to give New England its first lead of the game at 17-13. Denver jumped right back on top, traveling 86 yards in 6 plays to score on a 48-yard Elway-to-Vance Johnson pass on the last play of the third quarter.

The two teams both punted three times in the fourth quarter, and the last one, a Mike Horan punt of 54 yards, backed New England to its own 10. On first down, Eason dropped back to pass but was sacked for a safety by Rulon Jones. Denver recovered the onside free kick and held on to the ball to preserve the win.

Pittsburgh 24, Denver 17

Sun., Dec. 30, 1984 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 52º, Wind N 7 mph • Attendance: 74,981 • Time: 3:11*

Denver had two possessions in the final two minutes of the game but failed to score as Pittsburgh advanced to the Conference Championship game, ending a Broncos season in which they had compiled a franchise-best 13-3 regular season record.

Denver's opportunistic defense recovered two Steelers fumbles in the first quarter. The first one resulted in a Rich Karlis field goal attempt, but it sailed wide right. Pittsburgh fumbled on the next play, and the Broncos recovered again. That turnover led to a 7-yard touchdown pass from John Elway to Jim Wright.

Pittsburgh scored on a 28-yard field goal on the first play of the second period, and just before intermission, the Steelers took the lead on Frank Pollard's 1-yard touchdown plunge.

Denver tied the game early in the third quarter on a 21-yard Karlis field goal. The Broncos regained the lead on their next possession, scoring on a 20-yard pass from Elway to Steve Watson. For the game, Watson gained 177 yards on 11 receptions.

The Steelers then mounted a scoring drive of their own, tying the game at 17-17 on a Mark Malone to Louis Lipps pass late in the quarter. Later, Pittsburgh's Eric Williams intercepted an Elway pass and returned it to the Denver 2-yard line with only 2:45 left in the game. Pollard scored two plays later to give the Steelers the lead at 24-17. Denver couldn't move the ball on its final two possessions as time expired.

SEATTLE 31, DENVER 7

Sat., Dec. 24, 1983 • 1 p.m. PST • Kingdome • Seattle, Wash.

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 60,752 • Time: 2:53*

Seattle broke open a close contest with two second-half Dave Krieg touchdown passes as the Seahawks beat Denver 31-7 in the AFC Wild Card playoff game.

Seattle scored on its first possession of the day with a 17-yard pass from Krieg to Steve Largent. Later in the first quarter, Denver mounted a 9-play, 76-yard drive, scoring on a 13-yard pass from Steve DeBerg to Jesse Myles. Seattle cornerback Kerry Justin intercepted a DeBerg pass on Denver's next drive, and the Seahawks drove to the Denver 20-yard line with Norm Johnson converting a 37-yard field goal.

Denver then drove to the Seattle 4-yard line, but Gerald Willhite fumbled and Seattle recovered, and then ran the remaining time off the clock. The second half belonged to the Seahawks as Krieg passed for two touchdowns and running back David Hughes ran for another, making the final score 31-7.

HOUSTON 13, DENVER 7

Sun., Dec. 23, 1979 • 3 p.m. CST • Astrodome • Houston, Texas

Weather: Indoors • Attendance: 48,776 • Time: 2:59*

Toni Fritsch kicked two field goals to provide the margin of victory as the Houston Oilers played strong second-half defense and defeated the Broncos 13-7, earning the Oilers' advancement in the American Football Conference playoffs.

Fritsch opened the scoring with a 31-yard first period field goal, but Denver came back to take a 7-3 lead on a 7-yard pass from Craig Morton to running back Dave Preston on an 80-yard drive that took the Broncos 13 plays.

Houston went ahead to stay on a 3-yard burst by Earl Campbell at 14:14 of the second period. However, Campbell was injured on the play and did not return to action in the second half. Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini and wide receiver Ken Burrough also left the contest due to injuries, both early in the second half, putting a severe crimp in the Houston attack. But the Broncos were able to move the ball for only 216 yards total offense, and the tenacious Houston defense sacked Morton times for 40 yards in losses as the Oilers held on to win.

Linebacker Bob Swenson intercepted a Gifford Nielsen pass at the Oiler 26-yard line midway through the fourth period, but two sacks of Morton led to a 50-yard field goal attempt by Fred Steinfort. Steinfort's kick hit the upright, and the Oilers later drove for a second field goal by Fritsch, this one of 20 yards, providing the final victory margin.

Denver drove to the Houston 27 at the 2-minute mark, but the Oiler defense again rose to the occasion to stifle the threat and secure the win, eliminating the Broncos from the playoffs.

1978 AFC Divisional Playoff Game

Pittsburgh 33, Denver 10

Sat., Dec. 30, 1978 • 2 p.m. MST • Three Rivers Stadium • Pittsburgh, Pa.

Weather: Light Rain, 33º, Wind S 5 mph • Attendance: 48,921 • Time: 3:02*

Two fourth-quarter touchdown passes by Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw lifted the Steelers to a 33-10 victory over the Denver Broncos and into the American Football Conference Championship game.

Bradshaw's scoring tosses included a 45-yard bomb to John Stallworth and a 38-yarder to Lynn Swann, capping a brilliant performance by the Pittsburgh passer.

The Broncos took the early lead on a 37-yard Jim Turner field goal, but Pittsburgh's Franco Harris ran for two touchdowns—a 1-yarder and an 18-yarder—and Roy Gerela kicked a 24-yard field goal to give the Steelers a 16-3 advantage. Denver cut the margin to 16-10 on a 3-yard Dave Preston touchdown run, but Gerela kicked another field goal to make the halftime margin 19-10.

Denver threatened to come closer in the third period, but Turner's 29-yard field goal attempt was blocked, and Bradshaw's passing sealed Denver's fate early in the final stanza.

The Steelers rolled to 425 yards total offense with Bradshaw accounting for 272 through the air—156 on 10 receptions by Stallworth.

The eventual World Champion Steelers limited the Broncos' ground game to just 87 yards in earning the right to play the Houston Oilers for the AFC crown the following week.

The Dallas Cowboys evened their Super Bowl record at 2-2 by defeating the Denver Broncos 27-10 before a sell-out crowd of 76,400, plus 90 million television viewers, the largest audience ever to watch a sporting event.

Dallas converted two pass interceptions—by safety Randy Hughes and cornerback Aaron Kyle—into 10 points and Efren Herrera added a 35-yard field goal to give the Cowboys a 13-0 half-time advantage. The Denver offense had trouble getting in gear against the hard-hitting Cowboy defense. The Broncos lost three fumbles and were intercepted twice on their last five possessions of the first half.

The Broncos came back momentarily at the outset of the third period. Craig Morton engineered a drive to the Cowboys 30-yard line from where Jim Turner booted a 47-yard field goal to make the score 13-3. After an exchange of punts, Dallas wide receiver Butch Johnson made a spectacular diving catch in the end zone to complete a 45-yard pass from Roger Staubach to put the Cowboys ahead 20-3.

However, the momentum swung back to the Broncos as Rick Upchurch returned the kickoff 67 yards to the Dallas 26. On the second play of the series, Norris Weese relieved Craig Morton at quarterback. Morton, who was intercepted only eight times during the regular season, had thrown a Super Bowl record four interceptions. Weese guided the Broncos to a touchdown—a 1-yarder by Ron Lytle—to cut the Dallas lead to 20-10 with 5:39 left in the third quarter.

But Dallas clinched the victory when running back Robert Newhouse threw a 29-yard touchdown pass to Golden Richards on an option play with 7:04 remaining in the game. It was the first pass thrown by Newhouse since the 1975 regular season. The Cowboys' offense amassed 325 yards while the defense limited the Broncos to 156 in a game that saw the Cowboys control the ball 38:34 to Denver's 21:26.

Roger Staubach completed 17 of 25 passes for 183 yards while Harvey Martin and Randy White—who were named co-MVPs—led the Cowboys defense which recovered four fumbles and intercepted four passes.

DENVER 20, OAKLAND 17

Sun., Jan. 1, 1978 • 12 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Mostly Sunny, 18º, Wind NE 3 mph • Attendance: 74,982 • Time: 2:55*

Denver quarterback Craig Morton threw two touchdown passes to Haven Moses as the Broncos defeated the defending NFL Champion Oakland Raiders 20-17 and moved into their first Super Bowl.

Morton, who was drafted and spent nine-and-a-half years with the Cowboys, would face his former Dallas teammates after completing 10-of-20 passes for 224 yards. It would be the second meeting in five weeks for these two teams—Dallas won 14-6 in the regular season finale as Morton played only the opening series due to a bruised hip.

On a sunny, 18-degree day before 74,982 Denver fans, the Raiders scored on their initial possession as Errol Mann kicked a 20-yard field goal to climax an 18-play drive. Morton hit Moses for their first scoring hookup two plays later on a 74-yard touchdown bomb, and the Broncos were on top to stay.

Denver took advantage of two Oakland turnovers in the second half to win its second game in three meetings with Raiders during the 1977 season. Defensive end Brison Manor recovered running back Clarence Davis' fumble at the Oakland 17, and running back Jon Keyworth scored from the 1-yard line to increase the margin to 14-3 in the third quarter.

Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler hit tight end Dave Casper on the first of two scoring passes to narrow the lead to 14-10 with 39 seconds elapsed in the final period. But on Oakland's next possession, linebacker Bob Swenson intercepted a Stabler pass and ran to the Raiders' 14. Morton then threw 12 yards to Moses for the Broncos' final touchdown. Oakland finished the scoring on the next series as Stabler threw 17 yards to Casper for the game's last touchdown.

Denver controlled the ball for the final 3:08 and gave Red Miller the AFC title in his first year as head coach. Moses, a 10-year veteran, had 5 receptions for 168 yards. The Denver defense, which was No. 1 against the rush in the NFL during the regular season, held the Raiders to 94 yards on the ground.

1977 AFC Divisional Playoff Game

Denver 34, Pittsburgh 21

Sun., Dec. 24, 1977 • 2 p.m. MST • Mile High Stadium • Denver

Weather: Sunny, 43º, Wind E 9 mph • Attendance: 75,011 • Time: 3:15*

After ties at 7, 14 and 21, veteran Jim Turner kicked a 44-yard field goal to put Denver ahead to stay as the Broncos—in their first playoff game ever—beat the perennial AFC Central Champion Steelers.

Leading 24-21, the Broncos capped their victory with two fourth-quarter interceptions by linebacker Tom Jackson, the last of which set up Craig Morton's 34-yard game-clinching touchdown pass to Jack Dolbin.

Denver capitalized on a blocked punt and a fumble recovery for two scores in the first half, which ended 14-14. Morton and Steelers quarterback Terry Bradshaw traded touchdown passes in the second half before Turner's kick, Jackson's interceptions and Morton's arm kept Pittsburgh from the AFC title game for the first time in four years.

The Denver victory set up a third game between the AFC Western Champion Broncos and the AFC Wild Card Raiders, who split two regular-season games.

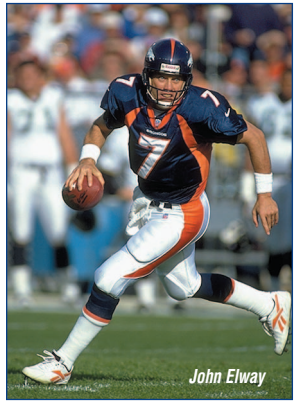
RETIRED JERSEY NUMBERS

The Denver Broncos have retired three jersey numbers in their 44-year history: the No. 7 worn by John Elway, the No. 18 worn by quarterback Frank Tripucka and the No. 44 worn by running back Floyd Little. The most recent addition was Elway's, retired Sept. 13, 1999, in a ceremony at halftime of the Broncos' season-opening game vs. Miami.



John Elway

John Elway, who wore number 7 from 1983-98, led the Broncos to five Super Bowl appearances and two World Championships, and retired ranked second in nearly every all-time NFL passing category. Inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2004, he passed for 51,475 yards and 300 touchdowns in his 16-year career, and retired as the all-time winningest starting quarterback in NFL history with a career mark of 148-82-1 (.643). Elway was named Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, leading Denver to its second consecutive World Championship with a 34-19 defeat of the Atlanta Falcons, becoming the only player in NFL history to close his career by earning Super Bowl MVP honors in his final game. His image was forged early in his career as he developed a reputation for leading the Broncos to victory against seemingly insurmountable odds. Elway directed the Broncos on an NFL-record 47 fourth-quarter or overtime, game-winning or game-saving drives in his legendary career. Elway was inducted into the Denver Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1999—the first inductee for whom the customary five-year waiting period was waived. The only other players to wear No. 7 in franchise history were quarterbacks Mickey Slaughter (1963-66) and Craig Morton (1977-82).

Frank Tripucka

Frank Tripucka, who wore number 18 from 1960-63, was Denver's first quarterback and helped lay the foundation for the club's future success. He played in the American Football League all-star game in 1962 and passed for 7,676 yards in his Denver career. Tripucka's passing total still ranks fourth in franchise history, and his single-game record of 447 yards at Buffalo, Sept. 15, 1962, remained the franchise record until broken in 2000. He also ranks fourth in completions (662) and attempts (1,277), fifth in touchdown passes (51) and guided Denver to its first .500 season, with a 7-7 mark in 1962. Tripucka was inducted into the Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1986.

Floyd Little

Floyd Little, who wore number 44 from 1967-75 with the Denver Broncos, as well as during his legendary college career at Syracuse, retired as the club's all-time career leader in rushing yards (6,323) and total touchdowns (54). He held both marks until 1998 when they were eclipsed by Terrell Davis. Little was All-AFL in 1969 and played in two AFL all-star games (1968, 1969) and three Pro Bowls (1971, 1972, 1973). He is still ranked second in career rushing attempts (1,641) by a Bronco, and his 89-yard kickoff return in 1968 is the longest non-scoring kickoff return in club history. When Little retired, he ranked among the top 10 rushers in NFL history. Little joined the Broncos in 1967 as the club's No. 1 draft choice, becoming the first No. 1 pick to sign with the team in its eight-year history. During his career, Little helped the Broncos to their first winning seasons in 1973 and '74 with back-to-back 7-5-2 and 7-6-1 marks, and he retired in 1975 with Denver just two years away from its first Super Bowl appearance. He was inducted into the club's Ring of Fame as part of its inaugural class in 1984. The only other player to wear No. 44 in franchise history was defensive back Miller Farr in 1965.

Broncos in the Pro Football Hall of Fame

John Elway — QB — Inducted: 2004

Quarterback John Elway is the Broncos' first inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame to have spent his entire career with the club, playing a franchise-record 16 seasons (1983-1998). Elected on Jan. 31, 2004, as a "first-ballot" Hall of Famer, Elway is arguably the best quarterback to have played the game. Whether judged by wins (he is the NFL's career quarterback leader with 148), championships (he capped his career with back-to-back Super Bowl wins, and started in an NFL quarterback-record five Super Bowl games), statistical achievement (he ranks No. 2 in NFL history in passing yards, attempts and completions) or his flair for the dramatic (he holds the NFL record with 47 fourth-quarter or overtime game-winning or game-tying drives) Elway's combined accomplishments are unparalleled in the history of pro football. He is the only player in NFL history to pass for 3,000 yards and rush for 200 yards in the same season seven consecutive times, and is only the second player in NFL history to record 40,000-plus passing yards and 3,000-plus yards rushing during his career.

Elway was selected to nine Pro Bowls, tied for most ever by a quarterback (Dan Marino and Warren Moon); was named first- or second-team All-Pro three times and was voted first- or second-team All-AFC five times. He was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1987; was AFC Offensive Player of the Year in 1993; was voted the NFL's All-Decade Team of the 1990s and was chosen Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, his final NFL game. Elway is the only player in NFL history to win that honor in his final NFL game.

Reflective of the rare place he holds in the history of the National Football League and in the hearts of Broncos fans around the world, Elway's uniform number seven was retired by Broncos owner Pat Bowlen in 1999. At that time, he was also inducted into the Broncos' Ring of Fame as the only member of the now 19-member group for whom the customary five-year waiting period was waived.

Tony Dorsett — RB — Inducted: 1994

Running Back Tony Dorsett, though best known for his brilliant 11-year tenure with the Dallas Cowboys, was a Denver Bronco during the 1988 and 1989 seasons. He joined the Broncos in 1988 and went on to lead the club in rushing that season with 703 yards on 181 carries. He spent the 1989 season on injured reserve before his retirement and was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1994.

Dorsett finished his career ranked second on the all-time NFL rushing list with 12,739 yards and now ranks fifth on that list. He captured rookie of the year honors in 1977 with the Cowboys, en route to four Pro Bowl selections (1978, 1981-83). His highest rushing total came in 1981 when he ran for 1,646 yards, just one of eight 1,000-yard seasons during his brilliant career. Dorsett also caught 398 passes for 3,554 yards (8.9) and accounted for 91 total touchdowns (77 rushing, 13 receiving, 1 fumble recovery).

Dorsett was a college star at the University of Pittsburgh where he won the Heisman Trophy in 1976 while leading the Panthers to the national title.

Willie Brown — CB — Inducted: 1984

Cornerback Willie Brown, inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1984, played for the Broncos from 1963-66 and was named All-American Football League in 1964. He intercepted nine passes that season, including a team-record four in one game (vs. New York, 11/15/64), and was named the outstanding back in the AFL All-Star game in January, 1965.

The 6-foot-1, 195-pound Brown, who played his college ball at Grambling, joined the Broncos as a free agent in Aug. 1963 and played four seasons with the club. In 50 games, he intercepted 15 passes and tallied 195 yards in returns, while also returning three punts for 29 yards (9.7) and three kickoffs for 70 yards (23.3).

Brown was traded to Oakland in 1967 and played 12 seasons with the Raiders (1967-78). He was an all-league performer every year from 1968-73, while making three AFL All-Star game (1967-69) and four Pro Bowl (1970-73) appearances. In 16 seasons, Brown played in 204 games and intercepted 54 passes and returned two for touchdowns.

Other Hall of Fame members with ties to the Denver Broncos:

- Stan Jones—Inducted 1991: Honored for his 12-year playing career, he coached Denver's defensive line for 18 years (1967-71, 76-88).
- Doak Walker—Inducted 1986: Honored for his 6-year playing career, he coached Denver's wide receivers in 1966.
- Fred Gehrke—Hall of Fame Pioneer Award, 1972: Sixteen-year team employee and Broncos General Manager 1977-80. As a Los Angeles Rams halfback in 1948 he pained golden rams' horns on his team's helmets and thus started the trend toward today's colorful, uniquely-decorated helmets worn by all NFL teams.

Denver Broncos Ring of Fame Profiles

The Denver Broncos Ring of Fame was created in 1984 by team owner Pat Bowlen to honor former players and administrators who played significant roles in the franchise's history.

The Denver Broncos Ring of Fame roster grew to 19 in 2003 when tackle Gary Zimmerman (1993-97) joined the Ring's distinguished membership. Before Zimmerman's induction, the most recent additions came in 2001 when linebacker Karl Mecklenburg (1983-94) and safety Dennis Smith (1981-94) were enshrined.

Quarterback John Elway (1983-98) was inducted into the Ring of Fame in 1999 in a ceremony held at halftime of the Broncos' season-opening Monday Night game vs. Miami, Sept. 13, 1999. As testament to the legend he established during his 16-year career, Elway is the only inductee for whom the customary five-year waiting period was waived.

Elway's induction was the first since 1993 when cornerback Louis Wright (1975-86) joined the Ring of Fame, a year after linebacker Tom Jackson (1973-86) entered the Ring in 1992.

Linebacker Randy Gradishar (1974-83) was the only 1989 inductee, following the 1988 inductions of quarterback Craig Morton (1977-82), wide receiver Haven Moses (1972-81) and kicker Jim Turner (1971-79).

Former defensive back Bill Thompson (1969-81) was honored in 1987, and three players joined the elite group in 1986: quarterbacks Frank Tripucka (1960-63) and Charley Johnson (1972-75), and defensive end Paul Smith (1968-78).

In 1985, former owner Gerald H. Phipps became the first non-player to have his name placed on the Ring.

The Ring of Fame was established in 1984 with an inaugural class of four members: running back Floyd Little (1967-75), defensive end Rich Jackson (1967-72), wide receiver Lionel Taylor (1960-66) and safety Austin "Goose" Gonsoulin (1960-66).

Quarterback

CAREER—REGULAR SEASON: John Elway capped his brilliant career in 1998 by winning Most Valuable Player honors in Super Bowl XXXIII, leading the Denver Broncos to their second consecutive World Championship. He also posted the highest quarterback rating of his career (93.0) in his final campaign. At the close of the 1998 season, Elway ranked second among active NFL players for number of appearances with one team (234) and retired having played in and started more games (231) in more seasons (16) than any player in Denver Broncos history. Elway, the NFL's all-time winningest starting quarterback (148-82-1; .643), was voted to a franchise-record nine Pro Bowl appearances (1986 season, '87, '89, '91, '93, '94, '96, '97 and '98)—tied for the most ever by a quarterback (Marino, Moon)—and as a starter six times ('87, '89, '93, '96, '97 and '98). He was the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1987 and AFC Player of the Year in 1993, and was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week 15 times and AFC Offensive Player of the Month twice. Elway was named the Edge NFL Man of the Year for 1992, and was inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 1999, while also being named to the NFL's All-Decade team for the 1990s (first team). He ranks second behind Dan Marino in most major NFL career passing categories, including passing yards (51,475), attempts (7,250), completions (4,123) and total offense (54,882). He also figures fourth in total touchdowns (behind Marino, Fran Tarkenton and Brett Favre) with 334 (300 passing/33 rushing/1 receiving), fourth in passing touchdowns with 300 and leads all NFL quarterbacks in career rushing attempts (774), while figuring fourth in rushing yards (3,407). Elway is the only player in NFL history to pass for more than 3,000 yards and rush for more than 200 yards in the same season for seven consecutive years (1985-91). He generated 4,771 of the 5,806 points (82.2%) scored by the Broncos during his 16-year tenure with the club. Elway ranks No. 1 in NFL history in fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives with 47 (46-0-1 record), and had 36 career 300-yard passing games in the regular season, third among active quarterbacks at the time of his retirement (Marino, Moon). He also caught three passes in regular season play for 61 yards, including a touchdown of 23 yards from Steve Sewell in 1986. In 1997 Elway broke his franchise record for consecutive passes without an interception, with the streak reaching 189 attempts. For his career, Elway had 19 games in which he completed 70 percent or more of his passes (min. 20 att.) and fashioned a 17-2 record in those games. He started 2,595 drives as a pro and was replaced just 10 times due to injury (.039%).

CAREER—POSTSEASON: Elway played in a franchise-record 22 postseason games (including five Super Bowls), with 21 starts, and produced a 14-7 record (9-2 at home, 3-2 on the road and 2-3 at neutral sites). He is the only quarterback ever to start in five Super Bowls, and has the NFL's all-time best record as a starting quarterback in Conference Championship Games, at 5-1. The other quarterbacks with four Super Bowl starts are Joe Montana, Terry Bradshaw, Roger Staubach and Jim Kelly. Elway owns or shares 18 Broncos' postseason records, including most passing yards, most touchdown passes and total offense (combined rushing and passing yards). He completed 355 of 651 passes (54.5%) for 4,964 yards, 27 touchdowns and 21 interceptions. He also rushed 94 times for 461 yards (4.9 avg.) and six touchdowns and caught one pass for 23 yards in postseason play. Elway ranks second in NFL postseason history in passing yardage (trailing only Montana-5,772), third in pass attempts (Montana-734, Marino-687), fourth in completions (Montana-460, Marino-385, Favre-379) and fifth in passing touchdowns (Montana-45, Marino-32, Favre-32, Bradshaw-30). In Super Bowl play Elway ranks No. 1 in pass attempts (152), No. 3 in completions (76), No. 2 in passing yards (1,128) and tied for second in rushing TDs (4) with Franco Harris and Thurman Thomas (Emmitt Smith has 5). Six of Elway's NFL-record 47 fourth-quarter, game-winning or game-saving drives came in the postseason.

1998: Elway was selected to his ninth Pro Bowl (tying Dan Marino and Warren Moon for most by a QB)—his sixth as a starter and his third consecutive selection—while being inducted in the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame with the Class of 1999 after a season in which he played in 13 of the 16 games (12 starts) and showed that he still ranked among the NFL's most dangerous signal-callers, completing 210 of 356 passes (59.0) for 2,806 yards and 22 touchdowns with 10 interceptions. He was sacked 18 times (-135) and his longest completion was a 58-yd. toss to Rod Smith in Week 14 vs. Kansas City, 12/6). Elway also rushed 37 times for 94 yards (2.5) with a long of 16 (at Miami, 12/21) and one touchdown (vs. Dal., 9/13/98), and caught a 14-yd. pass from Smith (vs. Oak., 11/22). Elway ranked second in the AFC (5th NFL) in passer rating (93.0), first in average gain per attempt (7.88; 4th NFL), while also figuring third in completion pct. (11th NFL), fourth in TD passes (9th NFL) and sixth (12th NFL) in passing yards. He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week and Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week for his 400-yard passing performance Dec. 6 vs. Kansas City, marking the 15th time in his career he has earned the AFC honor chosen by the NFL. Elway started all three playoff games and completed 45 of 86 passes (52.3%) for 691 yards and three touchdowns with one interception and a long of 80 yds. (TD), and was awarded the Pete Rozelle Trophy as Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XXXIII, the only player ever to win such honors in his final game. Elway's performance, which lifted Denver to its second consecutive title, was his best performance in a league-record five Super Bowl starts. Setting a record by being the oldest quarterback to start a Super Bowl (38 years, 7 mos.), Elway completed 18 of 29 passes (.621) for 336 yards—the fourth-highest total in Super Bowl history (third at the time)—and a touchdown with one interception, en route to becoming the first No. 7 in the championship game's history—and the oldest player—to be named MVP. Elway cemented the honor by rushing for a 3-yd. touchdown in the 4th qtr. to give Denver a 31-6 lead, making Elway the oldest player in Super Bowl history to score a touchdown, adding a year onto the record he set with his rushing TD in Super Bowl XXXII. Elway's passing touchdown was perhaps the play of the game, however, as he found Rod Smith deep down the middle of the field in the 2nd qtr. for an 80-yd. scoring play to put Denver on top 17-3. It tied for the second-longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history, and was the longest by a Bronco in a Super Bowl.

1997: Elway enjoyed yet another stellar season, quarterbacking the Broncos to the first World Championship in franchise history with a 31-24 win over Green Bay in Super Bowl XXXII. He was voted to his eighth Pro Bowl (fifth as a starter), and was named to the All-AFC team by Pro Football Weekly and Football News, and was named second-team All-Pro by College and Pro Football Newsweekly. Elway was also the recipient of the NFL Players Association's Mackey Award as the top quarterback in the AFC. For the year he completed 280 of his 502 pass attempts (55.8%) for 3,635 yards, 27 touchdowns and 11 interceptions. The 27 passing touchdowns set a new franchise record, and his 28 total touchdowns (one rushing) were the second-most of his career (30 in 1996). Elway also had 50 carries for 218 yards rushing (4.4 avg.) on the season, posted a quarterback rating of 87.5 (4th-best in the AFC, 7th in the NFL), and was 10th in the AFC in completion percentage. His third-down passer rating of 87.7 ranked 3rd in the AFC (5th NFL) as did his 27 touchdown passes (4th NFL). Elway helped Denver lead the NFL in total offense (second consecutive season) and in scoring offense for the 1997 season. He was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week for Week 10 (Nov. 2) when he moved into second place all-time in passing yardage and eclipsed 50,000 yards in total offense for his career in a win over Seattle. Elway would later be named AFC Offensive Player of the Month for November (92-149, 61.7%, 1,231 yards, 8 TDs, 0 INT) as the Broncos went 4-1, marking his second such award ever (October 1996). Elway started all four postseason games and engineered the Denver offense on its four-game run to the World Championship, completing 56 of 96 passes (58.3) for 726 yards and three touchdowns, with two interceptions. He was sacked six times (-44) and carried the ball nine times for 25 yards (2.8) with a long of 10 yards and one touchdown.

1996: Elway put together one of the finest seasons of his phenomenal 14-year career, being voted to his seventh Pro Bowl (third as a starter); named second-team All-Pro by AP, College & Pro Football Newsweekly and Football Digest and first-team All-AFC by UPI, Pro Football Weekly and Football News; voted second in the AP NFL Most Valuable Player balloting; voted AFC Player of the Year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus; AFC Offensive Player of the Year by the Kansas City 101 Club; Mackey Award winner for highest quarterback rating in the AFC and AFC MVP by the NFL Players Association. He started 15 of the 16 regular season games and completed 287 of 466 pass attempts (61.6) for 3,328 yards and 26 touchdowns with 14 interceptions, and also rushed 50 times for 249 yards (5.0) with a long of 22 and four touchdowns. His 26 touchdowns tied a career high and franchise record set in 1995. Elway led the AFC in quarterback rating (89.2; 4th NFL), was second in completion percentage (61.6; 5th NFL), third in touchdown passes (26; 4th NFL) and fifth in passing yardage (3,328; 7th NFL), completions (287; 8th NFL) and attempts (466; 9th NFL). His start at Seattle (9/8) marked the 192nd game he has played in his career, most by any player in Broncos franchise history, surpassing Tom Jackson who played in 191 games from 1973-86. In Denver's AFC Divisional Playoff loss to Jacksonville (1/4/97), Elway started and completed 25 of 38 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns with a long of 18. He also rushed five times for 30 yards with a long of 19.

1995: Elway started all 16 games, completing 316 of 542 passes (58.3%) for 3,970 yards, a then-career-best 26 touchdowns and 14 interceptions. He threw for more than 300 yards on five occasions, also a career best. It was the 10th time in his 13-year NFL career that he had topped the 3,000-yard mark, joining him with Dan Marino (11) as the only quarterbacks in NFL history to accomplish that feat 10 or more times. He also rushed 40 times for 179 yards (4.5) and one touchdown with a long of 15. He led the AFC (tied for 5th NFL) in passing yards, finished third (8th NFL) in completions and was third (8th NFL) in pass attempts. Meanwhile, his fourth-quarter passer rating of 95.2 ranked third in the AFC and fifth in the NFL.

1994: Elway earned his sixth AFC Pro Bowl berth though he missed two of the final three games (at Los Angeles and vs. New Orleans) due to a strained left knee. He finished the season second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in passer rating with an 85.7, and third in the AFC in passing yards (3,490), attempts (494) and completions (307), with a 2.0 interception percentage. His 62.1 completion percentage was second in the AFC and sixth overall. Elway went over the 3,000-yard passing mark for the ninth time in his career, second only to Dan Marino's 10, and went over the 40,000-yard career total-offense mark. He rushed for 235 yards (second on the team and his ninth 200-yard season), giving him a season total offense figure of 3,725 in the 14 games he played.

1993: Elway was named AFC Most Valuable Player (NFL Players Association), AFC Offensive Player of the Year (UPI, and the Kansas City 101 Club) and AFC Player of the Year (Football News) in 1993. Elway performed at an MVP-pace all year, earning all-AFC (UPI, Football News) and second-team All-NFL (AP, College and Pro Football Newsweekly, and Football Digest), and he was the starting quarterback in the 1994 Pro Bowl (fifth Pro Bowl berth) after a regular season that saw him lead the AFC in all six major quarterback stats categories. Elway's 1993 stats and rankings included a 92.8 rating (first in the AFC, third in the NFL), 551 attempts (first in the entire NFL), 348 completions (first in the entire NFL), a 63.2 completion percentage (first in the AFC and third in the NFL), 25 TD passes (first in the AFC and second in the NFL), 4,030 yards (first in the AFC). Elway's 1.8 interception avoidance percentage was fourth in the AFC but stands as the best in Denver history for any quarterback with more than 75 single-season attempts. In 1993 he set new personal and Denver records for total yards offensively (4,183), completions (348), passing yards (4,030), TD passes (25), and completion percentage (that 63.2 mark tied the figure set by Norris Weese in 1978). The 1993 season was Elway's first 4,000-yard campaign and his eighth 3,000-yard season. He also rushed for 153 yards. Elway was named the AFC Offensive Player of the Week twice and was named by his teammates as Denver's offensive MVP.

1992: Elway completed 174 of 316 passes for 2,242 yards, with 10 touchdowns and 17 interceptions. He gained 94 yards and scored twice on 34 rushing attempts. He missed games 11 through 14 because of a bruised tendon in his right shoulder, suffered while running for a first down against the Giants (11/15). Elway earned two AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for the year.

1991: Elway completed 242 of 351 passes for 3,253 yards, a total ranked sixth in the AFC and ninth in the NFL, as he was voted to his fourth career Pro Bowl berth. He threw 12 touchdown passes and tied a career low with just 12 interceptions. He had 36 pass completions of 20+ yards, nine of 40+, five of 50+, and four of 60+. Elway was third on the team with 258 yards rushing, and his six TDs led the team and set a new career single season high. He was bothered throughout the second half of the season by a shoulder problem that was corrected by arthroscopic surgery in the 1992 offseason. Elway started both of Denver's playoff contests, completing 30 of 54 passes (55.6%) for 378 yards and one touchdown with two interceptions. He also rushed 10 times for 49 yards (4.9). Elway completed 11 of 21 passes for 121 yards and an interception before leaving the AFC Championship Game in the fourth quarter with a thigh injury.

1990: Elway completed 294 of 502 passes in 1990 (a .586 completion percentage that stood as the highest over the first 10 years of his career) for 3,526 yards, 15 touchdowns, and 14 interceptions. He gained 258 yards on 50 rushing attempts and scored three touchdowns on the ground.

1989: Elway led Denver to its third AFC Championship in four years and earned his third career Pro Bowl invitation. He completed 223 of 416 passes for 3,051 yards, with 18 touchdowns and 18 interceptions, and he rushed for 244 yards on 48 carries, scoring three times. Elway started all three Denver playoff games, including Super Bowl XXIV vs. San Francisco, and completed 42 of 82 passes (51.2%) for 732 yards and four touchdowns with three interceptions, while also rushing for 91 yards on 16 carries (5.7) with a long of 32 and one touchdown.

1988: Elway threw for 3,309 yards and rushed for 234 yards despite being bothered for most of the season by several nagging injuries. He was voted by teammates as Denver's most valuable offensive player for the fourth consecutive year, sharing the award with running back Sammy Winder, following a campaign in which he completed 274 of 496 passes, with 17 touchdowns and 19 interceptions to earn his second consecutive Pro Bowl invitation.

1987: Elway was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player (AP) and the AFC's starting quarterback in the Pro Bowl after turning in a tremendous season in 1987, a year in which he became the first AFC signal-caller since Terry Bradshaw (1978-79) to lead his team to consecutive conference crowns. Elway was named All-NFL (The Sporting News, NEA, AP-second team) and All-AFC (UPI, Pro Football Weekly, The Football News), in addition to being tabbed as the AFC MVP (NFLPA), AFC Player of the Year (The Football News), AFC Offensive Player of the Year (UPI, Kansas City 101 Club), and Colorado Pro Athlete of the Year (Colorado Sports Hall of Fame), as well as earning his second Pro Bowl invitation. He was voted the Broncos' offensive MVP for a regular season performance in which he completed 224 of 410 passes for 3,198 yards, an average of 267 yards per game, with 19 TD passes. He led all AFC quarterbacks in rushing for the fourth consecutive season was second on the team with a career-high 304 yards, scoring four times. Elway started all three of Denver's playoff contests, including Super Bowl XXII vs. Washington, and completed 42 of 89 passes (47.2%) for 797 yards and six touchdowns with five interceptions, while also rushing 18 times for 76 yards (4.2) with a long of 21 and one touchdown. His 56-yard scoring strike to Ricky Nattiel on Denver's first play from scrimmage provided the earliest touchdown in Super Bowl history (elapsed time of 1:57).

1986: Elway led the Broncos to their first AFC Championship in nine seasons in 1986, while earning his first Pro Bowl berth. He was honored with the Seattle Gold Helmet Award (Professional Football Player of the Year) and received the King of the Hill award from the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, in addition to being named honorable mention All-NFL (AP) and All-AFC (UPI-second team). Along with his 18 TD passes that year, Elway also scored on an 11-yard run and a 23-yard pass reception from Steve Sewell that is the longest TD catch by a full-time starting QB in NFL history. For the year he completed 280 of 504 passes (55.6%) for 3,485 yards and 19 touchdowns with 13 interceptions, while also rushing 52 times for 257 yards (4.9) with a long of 24 and one touchdown. In the postseason, he added 805 more yards on 57 of 107 passing efficiency (53.3%), with three touchdowns and four interceptions, while rushing 15 times for 101 yards (6.7) with a long of 34 and two touchdowns. Elway directed one of the greatest drives in NFL postseason history in pacing Denver to a 23-20 overtime win over Cleveland for the AFC title. He completed 22 of 38 passes for 244 yards and a TD, that coming on a five-yard strike to Mark Jackson that capped a 15-play, 98-yard drive that tied the game at the end of regulation. In overtime Elway drove the team 60 yards in nine plays to the winning field goal.

1985: Elway took some spectacular steps forward in 1985 as he re-wrote the Denver record book. Elway set Broncos single season records for attempts (605, which led the NFL and fell just four passes short of the NFL record of 609 held by Dan Fouts), completions (327, second in the NFL), passing yards (3,891, second in the NFL), total rushing and passing plays (656, first in the NFL), and total offense (4,414, also first in the league).

1984: Elway led the Broncos to a 12-2 record in his 14 regular season starts in 1984. He completed 214 of 380 passes for 2,598 yards, with 18 TDs and 15 interceptions. Not only was his passing a factor in his leadership of the offense, but he finished third on the team in rushing with 237 yards.

1983: Elway started 10 games in 1983, including the first five before being replaced by Steve DeBerg, and five more after DeBerg was injured. While Elway did not have impressive stats as a rookie, finishing 17th among AFC passers, he carried a tremendous emotional burden, having come to the NFL as the most publicized college prospect since Joe Namath in 1965. Elway was the first player chosen in the 1983 draft and joined the Broncos by trade with Baltimore on May 2. The Broncos, in return, gave the Colts quarterback Mark Herrmann, the rights to OL Chris Hinton and a first-round pick in the 1984 Draft (G Ron Solt). He was also chosen by the Oakland Invaders in the 1983 USFL territorial draft.

COLLEGE: Elway concluded his college career with five major NCAA Division I-A records and nine major Pac-10 marks. He completed 62.1 percent of his career passes (774 of 1,243, both NCAA highs) for 9,349 yards and 77 touchdowns, while setting an NCAA record for the lowest percentage of passes intercepted in a career (3.13 percent). As a senior, Elway was a consensus All-American and finished second in Heisman Trophy balloting while setting virtually every Pac-10 and Stanford career record for total offense and passing. A two-sport star, he played baseball for the New York Yankees' Oneonta (N.Y.) single-A farm club in 1982, hitting for a .318 average and knocking in a team-high 25 RBI in 42 games. Elway, who batted left-handed and threw right-handed, was the Yankees' first selection in the 1981 summer draft (June 8). He hit .349 with nine homers and 50 RBI in 49 games in his final college baseball season as a sophomore. Elway has a degree in economics from Stanford.

PERSONAL: Elway officially announced his retirement from the Denver Broncos on May 2, 1999 in a press conference at the Inverness Hotel and Golf Club in suburban Denver. He is now President and Chief Executive Officer of the Colorado Crush of the Arena Football League, a franchise that he co-owns with Pat Bowlen and Stan Kroenke. The team was formed in June 2002 and began play in 2003. In addition to the considerable time he has spent on the football field and with his various business endeavors, John has poured a great deal of energy into The Elway Foundation—an organization that contributes funds and resources to the prevention and treatment of child abuse. He owned and operated seven automobile franchises in the Denver area until selling them in late 1997 and now is associated with 17 John Elway AutoNation dealerships in the Denver area. A native of Port Angeles, Wash., Elway was the most highly recruited prep athlete in the nation in 1979 and was listed on Parade, Scholastic Coach, Football News and National Coaches Association All-America teams. He had an unparalleled football and baseball career at Granada Hills High School. John was 129 of 200 for 1,837 yards and 19 TDs as a senior, while leading the baseball team to the Los Angeles City championship with a .491 batting average and a 4-2 pitching record. He completed 60 percent of his high school passes for 5,711 yards and 49 touchdowns. The football field at Granada Hills High School was re-named in John's honor in a ceremony June 5, 1998. The Kansas City Royals selected him in the 18th round of the 1979 summer draft (June 5), although he already had signed a national letter of intent with Stanford. John's late father, Jack, coached his son in the East–West Shrine contest in which John earned Offensive MVP laurels. Jack, who passed away in 2001, retired from the Broncos in 2000 after seven years with the club, the last five as the Director of Pro Scouting. John has four children: daughters Jessica Gwen (18), Jordan Marie (17) and Juliana (13), and a son, Jack (14).

(—the second number is the percentage the quarterback has put his team in position to score, allowing for missed field goal and subtracting those drives ended by the clock and replaced due to injury. #—drives for 1984 add to one more than drives started because Elway replaced Kubiak on one drive.)*

DRIVE-ENGINEERING NOTES:

- For his career, he directed Denver to scores in better than 3 in 10 drives; when you adjust the figure as stated above, the figures work to just over 40 in 100).
- In 2,608 career drives started, he was replaced only 10 times due to injury (based on if a replacement QB earned at least one first down on the drive; that's 0.383 percent, or 3.83 in 1,000).
- As far as drive efficiency is concerned, Elway had his best seasons in 1995 and '98.

JOHN ELWAY'S FOURTH-QUARTER HEROICS

In his career (1983-98) John Elway engineered 47 fourth-quarter or overtime, game-saving or game-winning drives for the Broncos, and the team had a record of 46-0-1 in those contests. Those games include:

- 40 fourth-quarter or overtime, game-winning drives (marked below with an asterisk). The Broncos scored the winning points 23 times with fewer than three minutes remaining, 21 times under two minutes and 13 times with less than a minute left.
- seven fourth-quarter, game-tying drives. Denver went on to win six of those contests in regulation or overtime, and one game ended in a tie. The Broncos won in regulation vs. New England (11/4/84) and at Seattle (12/20/85). In overtime, Elway directed the game-winning drive in the AFC Championship Game at Cleveland (1/11/87), while the defense and special teams set up OT wins vs. San Diego (11/17/85), at San Francisco (10/9/88) and at Seattle (10/22/89). The game at Green Bay (9/20/87) ended in a tie.

Elway vs. Hall of Fame Quarterbacks

At the time of his retirement, after 16 seasons, John Elway had thrown and completed more passes, and thrown for more yards than all 18 quarterbacks then enshrined in the Hall of Fame at the equivalent point in each of their careers. He also ranked first in rushing attempts and total offense (combined rushing and passing yards), second in rushing yards, tied for second in rushing touchdowns, second in completion percentage and second in touchdown passes. Among those enshrined in Canton, only Fran Tarkenton had thrown more touchdown passes in his first 16 seasons than Elway, and only Otto Graham had more rushing touchdowns.

Elway Named 1992 Edge NFL Man of the Year

John Elway was named the 1992 Edge NFL Man of the Year for his work with the Elway Foundation, a non-profit organization that has raised millions of dollars that have been directed toward the prevention and treatment of child abuse throughout Colorado.

Among the groups assisted by the Elway Foundation are Family Focus and the Kempe Children's Foundation. The Elway Foundation in 1991 alone raised over $400,000.

Elway was also a member of the Mayor's Council on Physical Fitness and has served as chairman of the National Kidney Foundation for the Rocky Mountain region.

The NFL Man of the Year award is truly unique in that it is the only league-sponsored award that recognizes a player's off-the-field community service work as well as his playing excellence. Perhaps the most prestigious of all NFL awards, it has been in existence since 1970.

Known as "Tombstone," Jackson was the first Bronco to be named to the All-NFL first team in 1970. He entered the AFL in 1966 with Oakland, playing in five games, before spending the next six seasons with Denver. Jackson posted his career high in quarterback sacks in 1969 with 11 and had 10 sacks in both 1968 and 1970. He was voted All-AFL in 1968 and '69, in addition to starting in the 1970 Pro Bowl. He made the Pro Bowl again in 1971 despite playing in only seven games due to a knee injury that eventually forced him out of football. Jackson played the first four games of 1972 season with the Broncos before being traded to Cleveland for a 1973 third-round draft choice (Paul Howard). He played in each of the final 10 games for the Browns in his last NFL season. Gerald Phipps

Year Inducted: 1985

Owner

Then: Gerald H. Phipps became the first and only non-player to be inducted into Denver Broncos' Ring of Fame in 1985. Under the guidance of Phipps and his brother Allan, the Broncos rose from their less than auspicious beginnings to the top of the American Football Conference. In 1977, the Broncos laid claim to their first ever AFC Championship, won the Western Division title in 1977 and 1978, and made three consecutive playoff appearances (1977-79). Under Phipps, the Broncos ultimately rose to a position as one of the NFL's most stable franchises. With the success of the Broncos, the doors were opened for other major league teams from other sports to grab a piece of the Denver sports pie. Following the takeover by the Phipps brothers, Denver Broncos season ticket sales improved from 8,002 in 1964 to 22,905 in 1965. Before purchasing the Broncos on Feb. 15, 1965, Phipps was the president of the Gerald H. Phipps Inc. Construction Company, which he continued to operate. Phipps was born March 4, 1915 in Denver.

Mr. Phipps passed away Aug. 6, 1993.

Tripucka's best statistical season came in 1960 when he completed 248 of 478 passes (51.9%) for 3,038 yards and 24 touchdowns. His 447 yards passing against Buffalo (9/15/62) stood as the team record until 2000, and he shares the team record for most touchdown passes in a game with five (10/28/62 vs. Buffalo). Tripucka also played in the AFL All-Star Game in 1962.

Now: Tripucka is a retired beer distributor. He currently resides in New Jersey.

Jim Turner

15

Kicker

Then: Jim Turner, a 1988 inductee into the Ring of Fame, ranks as one of the most prolific kickers of all time in professional football. At the time of his retirement, Turner ranked second in NFL career scoring with 1,439 points as well as second in field goals with 304. Turner kicked 521 extra points and was the fourth player to ever reach the 500 mark. He never missed a game as a pro and finished with a streak of 228 consecutive appearances, including 130 as a Bronco, for whom he scored 742 points, easily establishing himself as Denver's all-time scoring leader until Jason Elam eclipsed his mark in 1999. He once had a string of 221 consecutive extra points, which was then the second-longest streak in NFL history. Before joining the Broncos in 1971, Turner was an outstanding kicker for the New York Jets, helping lead the club to a victory in Super Bowl III. He was a three-time letterman as a quarterback at Utah State in the early 1960s.

Now: Turner resides in the Denver area and is active in the community. He is an academic tutor at Jefferson Senior High School and is involved with the NFL's Play it Smart program.

Louis Wright

Year Inducted: 1993

Years With Broncos: 1975-86

Cornerback

Then: Louis Wright was the most recent inductee into the Broncos' Ring of Fame before John Elway (1999), entering the Ring in 1993. Wright enjoyed a stellar career at cornerback for Denver, playing in 166 games (163 starts, seventh on all-time Broncos list), reeling in 26 interceptions—one of which he returned for a touchdown—and 11 fumble recoveries. Wright was named to the Pro Bowl five times in his career (1977-79, '83 and '85). He was named All-NFL by The Sporting News and Pro Football Weekly and the NEA in 1977. He also received All-AFC honors from UPI in 1985. Wright was named Most Valuable Defensive Player by his teammates on two different occasions. He played collegiately at San Jose State, where he lettered twice as a defensive back. He also won two letters in track and once ran the 100 in 9.6 seconds.

Now: Wright was a very successful head football coach at Montbello High School in Denver and is now an assistant coach at Rangeview High School. He also teaches physical education at Martin Luther King Middle School. Wright resides in Aurora, Colo.

Gary Zimmerman

Tackle

Then: Gary Zimmerman, a 2003 inductee into the Ring of Fame, is the first offensive lineman in the history of the Broncos to be honored with inclusion in the Ring. A Bronco from 1993-97, he played 12 seasons in the NFL (1986-97), and in that time, became one of just a few players ever to be named to two National Football League All-Decade teams. Zimmerman earned first- or second-team All-Pro honors eight times and was selected to play in seven Pro Bowls. The 6-6, 294-pound tackle, who played for the Minnesota Vikings from 1986 to 1992 and for the Denver Broncos from 1993 to 1997, was selected to the 1980s and 1990s all-decade squads. Selected in the first round (3rd player overall) of the 1984 supplemental draft by the New York Giants, his signing rights were traded to the Vikings for two second-round picks in the 1986 draft. He spent two seasons with the L.A. Express of the USFL before reporting to the Vikings, where he began a streak of 169 consecutive starts that lasted until 1996 when surgery sidelined him. Zimmerman anchored an offensive line that helped the Vikings lead the NFC in rushing in 1991. He was acquired by the Broncos in a trade before the start of the 1993 season, and with Zimmerman blocking, the Broncos recorded the most successful offensive output in franchise history. Denver led the AFC in total combined yards in 1995, and led the NFL in the same category in 1996 and 1997. Additionally, Zimmerman helped the Broncos lead the NFL in rushing in 1996. Equally adept at pass blocking, he protected the quarterbacks in Minnesota and Denver enough to enable them to lead their respective conferences in passing in 1986, 1988, 1993 and 1996.

Now: Zimmerman and his family make their home in Bend, Ore.

The Denver Broncos' Pledge to Community Development

The Community Development Department, in collaboration with the Denver Broncos Charities Fund, strives to improve the quality of life for Coloradoans through youth, health and hunger initiatives, with a secondary focus on individuals with special needs and disabilities.

Denver Broncos Charities Fund

The Denver Broncos Charities Fund was established in 1994 as a charitable trust of the McCormick Tribune Foundation. Daily, the DBCF attempts to touch the lives of many through several community organizations in Colorado. Annually, through the DBCF, the Denver Broncos strive to improve the quality of life for the youth, hungry, homeless and disabled in Colorado. With each dollar raised by the Fund, a portion is matched by The McCormick Foundation.

Youth Programs

Denver Broncos Branch of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Metro Denver

The Denver Broncos Boys and Girls Club, located in Montbello, was established in August 2003 with a $1.2 million investment over a minimum of five years. Additionally, the Broncos assisted and supported the Club with educational and recreational programs, volunteer resources, and player invlolvement. To date, the Club has swelled to more than 1,000 members between the ages of 6 and 18 from northeast Denver neighborhoods that have committed to improving their lives. Broncos Ring of Famer Billy Thompson heads the organization's efforts, and he was a product of the national Boys and Girls Club system.

Gatorade Junior Training Camps

In an effort to expose more children to the game of football and provide a safe venue to learn the game, the Denver Broncos and Gatorade have joined forces to offer Junior Training Camps to schools and youth-serving organizations.

Designed to deliver a fun and memorable football experience to youth ages 6 to 12, the free camps have attracted thousands of Denver area youth. The camps provide an opportunity for children to learn about basic health and fitness, encourage teamwork and experience football in a fun environment. Steve Sewell, former Broncos running back and Director of Community Outreach, "coaches" this grassroots program.

Kids Caravan

Designed to be a fun and entertaining day for kids, Kids Caravan travels to bring the excitement of the Denver Broncos to the young fan base in the Colorado community. Broncos players, cheerleaders and Miles are just a few of the perks of the Caravan. Gatorade Jr. Training Camps, along with organized activities and inflatables, round-out an action-packed day for kids of all ages.

Read Like A Pro

Since 2001, the Denver Broncos have partnered with U.S. Bank to design a program that encourages reading amongst elementary school-aged children statewide. Schools throughout Colorado may have access to special reading tools, including football-themed worksheets, "good job" stickers, a supplemental teaching video highlighting Broncos alumnus Steve Sewell and Miles and special bookmarks, all in the spirit of kids' reading achievement. New in 2004, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Metro Denver and Denver Public Schools will benefit from special reading activities and fun competitions among young readers in support of Read Like a Pro.

Health Programs

Tackling Prostate Cancer

Completing his third season as spokesperson for the Denver Broncos prostate cancer campaign, Broncos linebacker Al Wilson is dedicated to do his part to fight this deadly disease. The drive collaborates with the Prostate Cancer Education Council and is highlighted by a week-long period in the fall that provides men with free screening for the disease. Al visits screening sites to sign autographs, take pictures and encourage men to come out and get tested.

DRIVE FOR LIFE

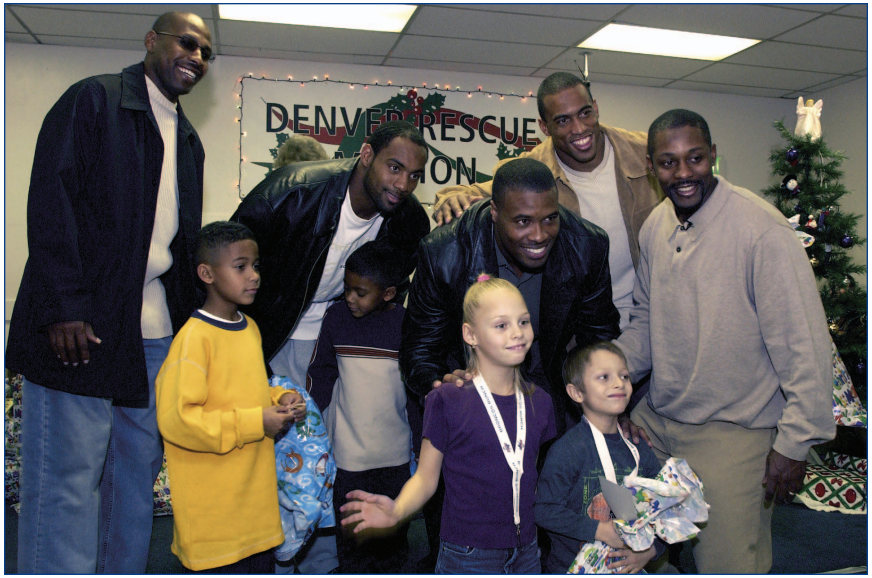
Since 1998, The Denver Broncos Community Blood Drive, "Drive For Life," has been held on a Tuesday in October at INVESCO Field at Mile High. Working in conjunction with Bonfils Blood Center, Drive For Life has grown into one of Denver's best Broncos traditions, with record numbers of donors helping to bolster Colorado's blood supply just in time for the difficult winter months. "Drive for Life" has become the largest single-day blood drive in the history of Colorado and one of the largest in the nation. Wide receiver Rod Smith has been the spokesperson for the effort since the blood drive began. Smith's own daughter, Vanessa, has received blood transfusions all of her life in her battle with sickle cell anemia. Many Broncos teammates come out to support Smith and the effort.

HUNGER PROGRAMS

BRONCOS WIVES FOOD DRIVE

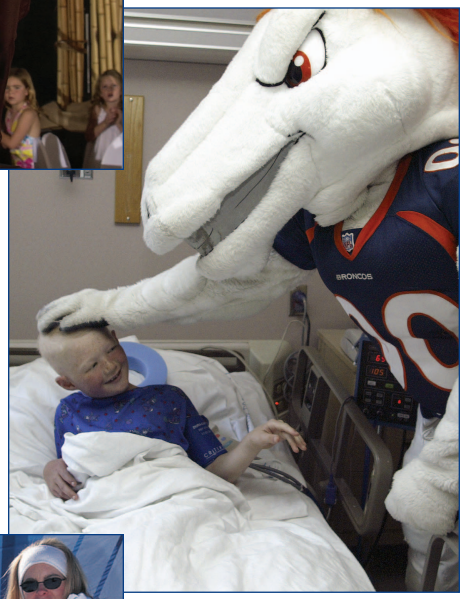
The annual Broncos Wives Food Drive is perhaps the best-known DBCF program benefiting Colorado's hungry and homeless. Since 1981, the wives of Broncos players, coaches and staff have collected cash donations and non-perishable food items outside the gates of the stadium from generous Broncos fans before a home football game.

COMPA Food Ministry helps the Broncos Wives distribute the non-perishables to area food pantries, while cash donations are matched by the McCormick Tribune Foundation through DBCF and granted to COMPA Food Ministry and other area agencies that assist the hungry and homeless.



DENVER BRONCOS HOLIDAY PROGRAM

This year marks the first year that the popular Denver Broncos Holiday Program will be held at INVESCO Field at Mile High. Jimmy Spencer heads the event designed to provide families in need with some holiday cheer, a festive meal, and gifts for the children. Spencer's teammates add atmosphere to the event by playing Santa's Helpers. The Broncos are connected with the families by the Denver Rescue Mission and other local hunger-relief agencies.



CHAMPIONS IN THE COMMUNITY

The Denver Broncos Cheerleaders

In 2003, the 29 members of the Denver Broncos Cheerleading squad divided more than 800 hours of civic involvement amongst 70 Colorado organizations. Many associations from Children's Hospital to the Race for the Cure were visited by members of last year's team. For the upcoming season, the squad will continue to promote community involvement as its number one commitment.

Last year the Denver Broncos Cheerleaders began an annual tradition of hosting a High School Cheerleading competition. The winners performed during a Denver Broncos halftime show and were awarded cash prizes to help support their school programs. The first year was a great success with more than 600 participants and 1,200 spectators throughout the day.

Entering their 12th season, the Denver Broncos Cheerleaders are one of the premier teams in the National Football League. The Broncos brought back cheerleaders in 1993 after a 17-year absence and are proud of the work the team does both on the field and most importantly in the community.

The Broncos Cheerleaders are selected through auditions held each spring. This year, 350 women tried out for the 34 available positions. Auditions focus primarily on dance ability, however, appearance, personal accomplishments, and community involvement are also contributing factors.

Known for their distinctive western uniforms, the Cheerleaders wear long leather chaps and jackets in the fall months, ski-wear for cold games and a more traditional cheerleading leather skirt and vest in the summer months. The three uniform changes give them flexibility with the rapidly-changing Colorado weather.

In 2004, the cheerleaders will have a calendar, poster and other merchandise available for sale. For more information on the cheerleaders, contact Teresa Schroeder at (720) 258-3176, or look up their page on the official Denver Broncos website at www.DenverBroncos.com.

Mascots

"Thunder"

The Denver Broncos are notorious for having thunderstorms throughout the fall and winter. That is Thunder storming the field. Thunder is a 21-year-old purebred Arabian stallion that acts as the team's mascot. Following every Broncos touchdown, Thunder displays his impressive canter from one end zone to the other.

Thunder, provided by Magness Racing Ventures of Denver, will be entering his 12th year during the Broncos 2004 season. Throughout his first 11 seasons, Thunder has entertained millions of fans. Thunder loves children and makes several annual appearances at children's events and schools throughout Colorado each year.

Although Thunder's registered name is JB Kobask, he was given the "stage name" Thunder for his mascot duties. Thunder made his Mile High debut Sept. 12, 1993 during a Broncos victory over the San Diego Chargers. In addition to his appearances at all Broncos home games, Thunder also appeared at Super Bowls XXXII in San Diego, Calif., and XXXIII in Miami, Fla.

Thunder is trained and ridden by Ann Judge-Wegener of Magness Racing Ventures. She is an accomplished equestrian.

"Miles"

The Denver Broncos also have an official mascot, Miles, introduced in 2001 when the Broncos began play in INVESCO Field at Mile High.

Popular with all fans, and especially children, Miles entertains the Broncos faithful at every home game and makes numerous appearances throughout the Denver community year-round.

If you would like to inquire about scheduling Miles to appear at your next event, please contact Joel Darby in the Broncos marketing department at (720) 258-3114.

INVESCO Field at Mile High

The Denver Broncos began a new era in 2001 as they took to the field in a new stadium, INVESCO Field at Mile High. Built adjacent to their previous home of 41 years, Mile High Stadium, the new stadium features first-class, state-of-the art amenities for the teams and fans alike.

With seating capacity set at 76,125, INVESCO Field at Mile High is one of the largest stadiums in the National Football League. It includes 1.7 million square feet of space (approximately twice that of Mile High Stadium), providing the ultimate in comfort and convenience—including wider concourses, wider seats, more restrooms, elevators and escalators and full-service accommodations for people with disabilities.

INVESCO Field at Mile High features 132 luxury suites on two levels, as well as 8,800 club seats. It is highlighted by an emphasis on state-of-the-art technology while maintaining the traditional aspects of Mile High Stadium that gave the Broncos a decided home-field advantage over the years. Those features include the close proximity of the seats to the field as well as steel treads and risers that fans utilize to create the same deafening roar that characterized Mile High Stadium.

The stadium was designed and built by Turner/Empire/Alvarado Construction and HNTB Architects, in association with Fentress Bradburn Architects and Bertram A. Bruton Architects. Numerous Colorado companies and hundreds of professional designers, engineers and construction tradesmen were involved in the construction of the new state-of-the-art facility.

Construction began during the summer of 1999 and official groundbreaking was held Aug. 17, 1999. The Broncos won the first game ever played in the new stadium, 31-24, over New Orleans on Aug. 25, 2001, and won the first regular season game, 31-20, over the New York Giants on Sept. 10, 2001.

Broncos Stadium History

The Denver Broncos played nearly all of their home games for the first 41 seasons of club history in one building. Known since 1969 as Mile High Stadium, the facility opened in 1948 as Bears Stadium for the Denver Bears of baseball's old Western League, with long range plans to utilize it for football as well. When Denver became a charter member of the American Football League in 1959, the south stands (8,100 seats) and portable east stands (9,616 seats) were added to give a capacity of 34,657 for football. The Broncos began play in 1960.

After Denver voters turned down a stadium bond issue to build an all-purpose metropolitan stadium in 1967, a non-profit group began a fund-raising drive with the goal of purchasing the stadium for the city. In February 1968, the group bought the stadium from Rocky Mountain Empire Sports for $1.8 million and presented it to the city of Denver. A 16,000-seat upper deck was immediately constructed over the west stands, raising the capacity to over 50,000 for the 1968 season. In December 1968, the stadium was renamed Denver Mile High Stadium.

The Broncos posted a home record of 191-109-7 (.634) in 41 seasons of play from 1960-2000. With the exception of two games played at the University of Denver Stadium (1962 and '63 home openers; 1-1 record), every Broncos home game was played in the single facility known either as Bears Stadium or Mile High Stadium, with the club posting a 190-108-7 record (.638) in the building. The Broncos went 19-40-2 (.328) from 1960-68 in Bears Stadium, then 171-68-5 (.711) from 1969-2000 after the named was changed to Mile High Stadium.

The stadium was filled for every regular season game from the beginning of the 1970 season through its final season in 2000. The Broncos sold out 237 consecutive regular season games, and with postseason contests the total reached 250 over the 31-year period.

Expansion of Mile High Stadium, begun in 1975, was completed for the 1977 season to give the Broncos the seventh-largest home facility in the league. Denver voters passed a $25 million bond issue in 1974 to expand and improve the stadium from its capacity of 51,706 to 75,100. The stadium held 63,532 for the 1976 season, halfway through the project.

Bringing the stadium to its final capacity of 76,098 in 1986 was the construction of 60 Penthouse Suites atop the west stands.

One of the unique aspects of Mile High Stadium was its movable east stands. The massive single section, when fully extended, formed a horseshoe configuration for football, and when retracted, was in position for baseball. The three-tiered structure, measuring 535 feet in length, 135 feet in height and 200 feet in depth, weighed nearly nine million pounds and was moved a distance of 145 feet between the two configurations. The move was facilitated by a process involving a thin layer of water on which the structure moved. Water was pumped onto more than 90,000 square feet of runways and formed a .003-inch sheet upon which the stands rested. Hydraulic rams then pushed the stands forward at the rate of three feet per minute, making the move last somewhere around two hours.

Demolition of Mile High Stadum was completed in March 2002.

The Broncos played their home games at Mile High Stadium from inception in 1960 until 2000. The facility, built in 1948, was known as Bears Stadium until 1969.

It's a Rocky Mountain tradition: 850 KOA and the Denver Broncos. For the 35th consecutive season, Denver's 50,000-watt station serves as the flagship for the Denver Broncos game broadcast network.

Dave Logan is in his eighth full season as voice of the Broncos, following seven years as color analyst on the broadcasts. Logan's background reads like an All-American dream: A Colorado native and 1971 winner of the Denver Post Gold Helmet Award, he is one of two athletes (along with Dave Winfield) drafted by franchises in Major League Baseball, the NBA and the NFL. Logan chose the latter, starring for the Cleveland Browns from 1976-83, and ascending into the top five of virtually every receiving category in the franchise record books. He played his final season in Denver in 1984.

Since then, Logan has brought his love for sports and knowledge of the games to Colorado radio listeners as co-host of KOA's award-winning talk show, the Sports Zoo, weekdays from 3-7 p.m. He was named 1997 Broadcast Citizen of the Year in Colorado, and has been Colorado Sportscaster of the Year three times, in 1992, '93 and '98. Logan also is one of the most accomplished prep football coaches in Colorado state history, coaching two high school football teams to state championships, and taking a third, his current school, Mullen to the state semifinals in his first year at the helm in 2003. He is in his second year as head coach at Mullen in 2004, after leading Chatfield (2000-02) to a state title in 2001 and Arvada West (1993-99) to a title in 1997.

Scott Hastings joins Logan in the booth for his eighth year as color commentator, having proved himself a savvy and thorough analyst, complementing Logan's play-by-play. An 11-year veteran of the National Basketball Association, Hastings was a member of the Detroit Pistons' 1989-90 World Champion squad.

In addition to his co-hosting duties on KOA's Sports Zoo, Hastings provides analysis on professional and college basketball and football for Fox Sports Net Rocky Mountain and TNT, and is in his second season as girls basketball coach at Arapahoe High School in Littleton, Colo.

Medical Glossary

AC Joint — Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abduct — Movement of any extremity away from the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an abductor muscle.

Abrasion — Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Abscess — An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Adduct — Movement of an extremity toward the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an adductor muscle.

Adhesion — Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic — Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anabolic Steroids — Steroids that promote tissue growth by creating protein in an attempt to enhance muscle growth. The main anabolic steroid is testosterone (male sex hormone).

Anaerobic — Exercise without use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercises.

Anaphylactic Shock — Shock that is caused by an allergic reaction.

Anterior Compartment Syndrome — Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg jeopardizes the viability of muscles, nerves and arteries that serve the foot. In severe cases, emergency surgery is necessary to relieve the swelling and pressure.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) — A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Anterior Talofibular Ligament — A ligament of the ankle that connects the fibula (lateral ankle bone) to the talus. This ligament is oft times subject to sprain.

Anteriogram — A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dye.

Arthrogram — X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Anthroscope — An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy — A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means for viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Aspiration — The withdrawal of fluid from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus, such as a syringe.

Atrophy — To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis — Death of a part due to lack of circulation.

Avulsion — The tearing away, forcibly, of a part or structure.

Baker's Cyst — Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the posterior knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

Bone Scan — An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labeled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bony injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Brachial Plexus — Network of nerves originating from the cervical vertebrae and running down to the shoulder, arm, hand, and fingers.

Bruise — A discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of blood into the underlying tissues.

Bursa — A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Capsule — An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Cartilage — Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

CAT Scan — Use of a computer to produce a cross sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from X-ray data.

Cellulitis — Inflammation of cellular or connective tissue.

Cervical Vertebrae — Group of seven vertebrae located in the neck

Charley Horse — A contusion or bruise to any muscle resulting in intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.

Colles' Fracture — A fracture of the distal end of the radium with the lower end being displaced backward.

Concentric Muscle Contraction — A shortening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to move a resistance.

Concussion — Jarring injury of the brain resulting in dysfunction. It can be graded as mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Contusion — An injury to a muscle and tissues caused by a blow from a blunt object

Cortical Steroids — Used to suppress joint inflammation.

Costochondral — Cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cryokinetics — Treatment with cold and movement.

Cryotherapy — A treatment with the use of cold.

Cyst — Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.

Degenerative Joint Disease — Changes in the joint surface as a result of repetitive trauma

Deltoid Ligament — Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side. Is sprained less frequently than other ankle ligaments.

Deltoid Muscle — Muscles at top of the arm, just below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions to the front, side and back

Disc, Intelvertebral — A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. The disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Disc, Intervertebral — A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. This disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Dislocation — Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Eccentric Muscle Contraction — An overall lengthening of the muscles as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; oft times referred to a "negative" contraction in weight training.

Eccymosis — Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect

Effusion — Accumulation of fluid, in various spaces in the body, or the knee itself. Commonly, the knee has an effusion after an injury.
Electrical Galvanic Stimulation (EGS) — An electrical therapeutic modality that sends a current to the body at select voltages and frequencies in order to stimulate pain receptors, disperse edema, or neutralize muscle spasms among other functional applications.
Electromyogran (EMG) — Test to determine nerve function.
Epicondylitis — Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse.
Ethyl Chloride — "Cold spray," a chemical coolant sprayed onto an injury site to produce a local, mild anesthesia.
Fat Percentage — The amount of body weight that is adipose, fat tissue. Fat percentages can be calculated by underwater weighing, measuring select skinfold thickness, or by analyzing electrical impedance.
Femur Thigh bone; longest bone in the body.
Fibula — Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.
Flexibility — The ability of muscle to relax and yield to stretch forces.
Flexibility Exercise — General term used to describe exercise performed by a player to passively or actively elongate soft tissue without the assistance of an athletic trainer.
Fracture — Breach of continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress, or transverse.
Gamekeeper's Thumb — Tear of the ulnar collateral ligament of the metacarpophalangeal joint of the thumb.
Glycogen — Form in which foods are stored in the body as energy.

Patellofemoral irritation can lead to chondromalancia, which in its most chronic condition, could require surgery.

Broncos Future Opponents

The National Football League realigned its divisional and conference structure in 2002 with the introduction of the Houston Texans as an expansion franchise, and with that adopted a scheduling format that determines the majority of each team's opponents through the 2009 season. The formula, for each team, includes home and away games against each division foe (6 games), one game against each team in another division within a team's conference (4 games), one game against each team in a division from the other conference (4 games) and two games against conference opponents to be determined by a team's division finish the previous year. For example, in a year when the Broncos are playing each team from the AFC East (as in 2004), their two additional AFC opponents would be the teams from the South and North who finished second in their division (as the Broncos did in the West).
